

Mein Kek

A Compendium of 4chan's Humorous Posts and Memes in 5 Volumes

This being Volume the First, covering subjects from '4chan' to 'Cultural Marxism'

2nd and last edition of 2021

By A. Comp-Eiler

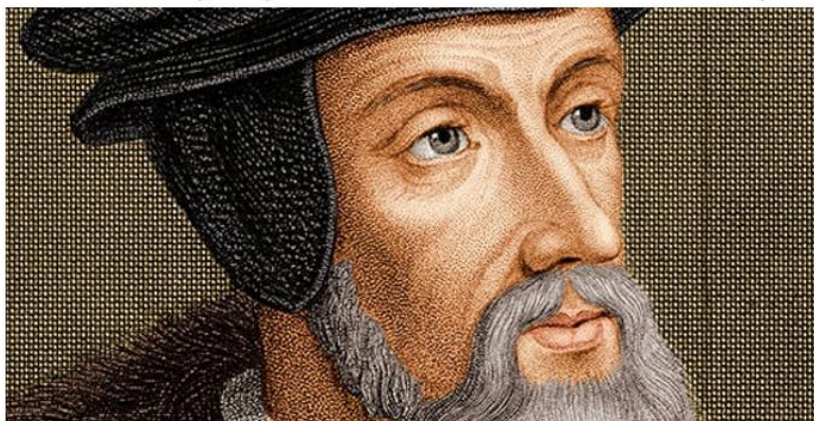

This compendium is a tribute to one of the last stronghold of “extreme free speech” in the world. Practically nowhere else are people free to say whatever is on their God damn mind, however stupid, offensive, or meaningless it may be.

They say we only appreciate what we have once we’ve lost it. Well, as anybody has witnessed these past few years, freedom of speech has been reduced to a trickle. And it will only get worse. As governments grow authoritarian/totalitarian, all sorts of freedoms we have taken for granted so far are going to vanish, if they have not done so already.

So let’s laugh one last time before the end of the world. Let’s laugh at minorities, at fake news, at people, alive or dead, at countries even. Let laughter be the catharsis to our loss of freedom.

RISUS OMNIA VINCIT

That moment when you realize this pleasant chuckle was predestined by God before He formed you in your mother's womb. He elected this chuckle for you.

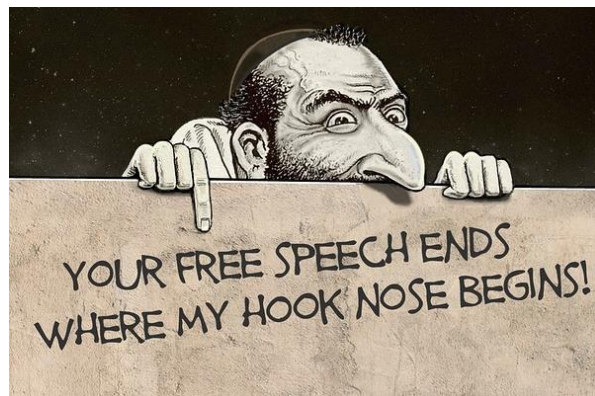

THIS BOOK IS JUST LIKE LIFE: 100% SATIRE.

This pentalogy is dedicated to free speech. It was nice knowing you, bud.

This pentalogy – made by an anonymous /pol/ack from material collected not only on 4chan as the title indicates, but from several boards included 8chan/kun, 16chan, endchan... – is also dedicated to the countless anons who have contributed to free speech, posted something on any “extreme free speech” board, whether it is featured in this compendium or not. That you are not present in this trilogy does not mean I am not grateful for your contribution.

To the last free men...

Special shout-out to, in no particular order, ComposerAnon, BookAnon, Argiebro, Honktopia, Mr. Bond [F], Badgoy, Richard "Beebo" Russell [F], the Botanist who made me want to immortalize anons' wits and wisdom, the German wholesome poster, the Lithuanian – and other – redpiller, the Apu OC-ers, the British poster on book threads, the guy(s) at politicallyincorrectbase, Libgen, the FE Dane, the shills for proving every day that /pol/ is on the right track, the anon who put both Mein Kek and Gnothi Seauton up on archive[.org], the shitposters, the serious posters, the philosophers, and all anons in general. I wanted to thank you from the bottom of my heart for helping make this world a saner, freer place.

Si ius violandum est, librorum gratia violandum est.

Leonardo Bruni

Qui enim intelligit liberum oratio, non est explicandum.

Qui enim non intelligunt liberum oratio, non potest explicare.

Terence

George Bernard Shaw

Moral indignation is jealousy with a halo.

H. G. Wells

Mark Twain

Anthony Jeselnik, Standards and Practices

Right and wrong, pleasure and pain, exist in mind only.
They are not your concern.
You neither do nor enjoy.
You are free.

3.11
Realizing the universe is illusion, having lost all curiosity,
how can one of steady mind fear death?

9.3
Seeing all things as threefold suffering,
the sage becomes still.
Insubstantial, transient, contemptible-- the world is fit only for rejection.

1.8
The thought: "I am the doer" is the bite of a poisonous snake.
To know: "I do nothing"
is the wisdom of faith.
Be happy.

He who is unattached, untouched by opposites,
free of desire,
experiences neither pleasure nor pain
as events pass through.

9.4
Was there an age or time men existed without opposites?
Leave the opposites behind.
Be content with what comes.
Perfection.

offerings is liberation.
Attraction to the world's offerings is the suffering of bondage.
This is the truth.
Now do as you please.

15.3
This knowledge of Truth turns an eloquent, wise and active man
mute, empty and inert.
Lovers of the world therefore shun it.

Detached from desire, the sage neither praises peace nor blames the wicked.
Equally content in happiness and misery,
he would not change a thing.

Ashtavakra Gita

There is nothing, but there is the chicken and watermelon. A great man found the chicken, then big poopey and then they went.

A massive turd was bestowed upon the earth and a great man picked up the chicken and said, "She's vibrant!"

God said,

"All bellow me suffer from degeneracy. May they be blessed with the toad of the duck."

The vibrant chicken chuckled with joy as the man kissed her head, vibrator in her pussy. Then he pulled out his cock and stopped when he saw the great nothing.

"Lick me fishy fanny mate.", said a voice from bellow.

Then the lord got diabetes and depression and said:

"Be polite, be professional, but have a plan to kill everybodv you meet."

"There is no god or gods make your own raft on the stream of entropy."

Then after saying these words the lord killed himself with a seligton shota.

Adolf Hitler became new god.

He proclaimed,

"Kikes must be killed and niggers must die also. Heil Hitler."

And after Hitler became god he released a plague of tendies upon the Hebrews.

The tendies were not kosher, and those Hebrews who touched them started screaming in pain before spontaneously combusting.

The tendies of course were of porkish products, meaning only the true people of god could eat them, the Germanic tribes consumed the tendies from heaven.

But then the anime futas came and raped every German so that they would become anime futas themselves irreversibly, and Hitler became wroth and started a war. After raping them, they raped them of course.

Niggers won 3 gold medals.

Hitler cried at what he had created. For man had become wicked and decided to make a final solution.

Hitler said,

"Rip and tear untill it is finished."

His prohphets shuted from all rooftops as a rallying cry for all true believer to engage in glorious close quarter combat fighting with the Hebrews.

"Epic win", he remarked and promptly performed a fortnite dance.

But in the shadows there was a shadow lurking. "Check 'em !" cried the man from the shadows. It was Jesus: "Ulster shall be free. NO SURRENDER !"

And Jesus looked around and spoke to his disciples. Jesus said: "If you owned a movie theater, what sort of food would you serve ?"

The answers were:

"Might is right also fight to be a master over the proles."

"Deligis Burgor."

"Hypersphere is a big fucking place kid."

After which the prophet said unto them:

"Neo-China arrives from the future, dabbing on the jannies and bringing gutter oil and animal cruelty for everyone."

After the victorious campaign against the Hebrews, a swath of false-prophets emerged and flooded the marketplace of ideas facilitated by the free market principles instilled by the Third Reich.

Chief amongst the false prophets rose a man of mysterious birth and amphibious voice, JB Memerson, who brought down from the barren tundra of Canadia a tablet containing the Twelve Commandments. A crowd had gathered in the vicinity of a mount and before them Memerson did drop the tablet which declared, before all else, that one must wash one's penis. A (((woman))) emerged from the crowd, her hair a brilliant fuchsia.

"False prophet that you are," the woman called, "assuming my genitalia identity! How does one wash what one does not identify in having?"

Memerson glanced at the tablets and admonished the crowd for not stoning and raping his critic. Then he spoke in his amphibian rhythms of amphibious genitalia and amphibious languages and amphibious truth but the people did not understand for they had been enlightened by many other false prophets and could not decide which truth to follow.

And then Hitler said, "Let there separation!" He avoiced aloud, within the mere moments of his proclamation separation began. The men of dark began to alter, change, and somewhat wither; a form ever similar yet different. As each Blackman grew shorter and shorter the follicles could only grow longer. Elongated limbs and lips, they had become what we now know, now call - a chimpanzee.

The sky will call Nug Nug to dirty ears. A chimp spoke, "welcome to the water, kid." And Hitler was wroth, "He can't write, there's no discernable talent!" It's gnosticism mom you wouldnt understand.

Thusly, Humpty Dumpty took a massive shit. Hump, son of Dump; Dump, son of Lump; Lump, son of Clump. Then all the chimpanzees gathered together in one place and began pissing and shitting relentlessly.

Later, Hitler came upon a crowd intoxicated on wine and lattes. Before them sat a withered bear, chained to a stake upon a stage. The onlookers poked at the bear and the bear danced. Hitler observed prudently. "Even a dumb animal can dance."

And so it came to pass, that it came to pass that it came to pass.

"That's the most autistic piece of trash I've ever read", said Hitler, upon reading a thread on boards.4chan.org/lit/.

"I'm not going to contribute to this.", said he, the chimpanzee. Evermore ironic as per typical of the chimp. His detest, his protest for the sacred bible is expected of his kin: yet he still attempts to lead us astray, our people, no matter what he proclaims he will always be a chimp, a sable demon!

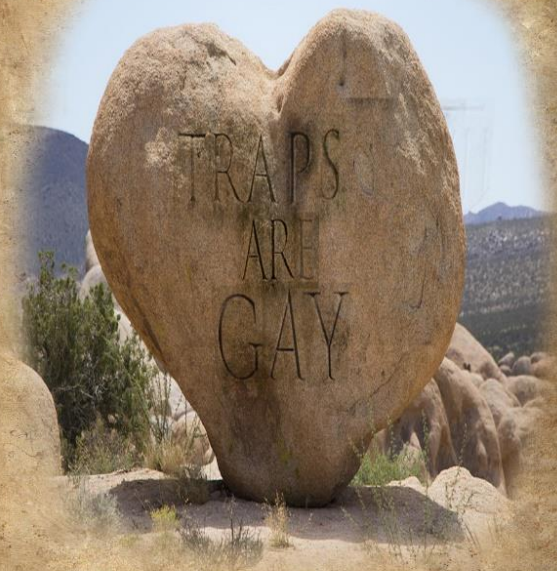

Shortly thereafter the chimp changed his mind and went to Memerson. He asked, "For what it is worth, are traps gay?" Memerson paused, he looked quite shaken and then intoned, "Okay, well... so... the bloody thing about traps is that they are neither poles of the gender dominance hierarchy, as Solzhenitsyn once said in the Gulag..." And then the chimp grew bored and wandered off.

Next he came to a black man and the chimp asked, "Are traps gay?" The negro grunted something inexplicable and went on fasting on Humpty Dumpty's dumps.

Finally the chimp came to Hitler, still fuming about autists. And the chimp asked, "Are traps gay?" Hitler immediately said, "Yes," and he picked up a large boulder lying nearby. Lightning burst from his fingers as he waved his hands around the stone. Finally it was done.

The stone simply read in all caps ...

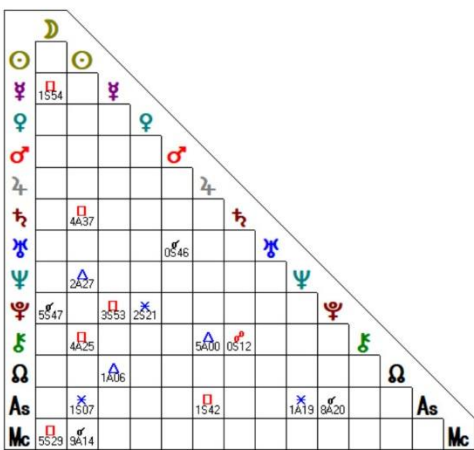

And that is how writing was invented.

A vibrant, cartoonish illustration depicting a scene of chaos. In the foreground, a man with a white loincloth and a red headband is shouting with his arms raised. To his right, a woman with dark hair looks on with a concerned expression. In the lower left, a green, frog-like creature with large eyes is visible. The background shows other figures in a state of panic, with one person holding a small object. The overall style is reminiscent of classic comic book art.

How did you end up in 4chan?

The website isn't appealing at all.
What made you want to try it and stay.

Me personally:

Was during BLM. I saw some offensive meme that I found hilarious. I thought to myself "boy, this comedy is the best. I cannot find it anywhere anymore. I wonder if it still exists. Or am I the only crazy one?"

I then searched "offensive comedy/memes"; accidentally found stonetoss on Twitter. Started reading the comments saying offensive stuff I found hilarious. And the rest is history. I was pretty fed with the BLM, and that made want to hear politically incorrect opinions. Tired of never ever being able to truly see this side.

My countrymen and my brothers in our glorious white race, I come to you today in order to expose the vile rats among us. They say that 2 is the oddest one because it is normal, and verminously screech out that it does not matter that it bears the same color as the rest. Do not be swayed by the sophistic lies of these apostles of Satan. Through their guile and trickery they are trying to convince you to turn against your fellow man, your Volk, to accept that which obviously does not belong among your family, and to insult yourself by imagining that it is somehow odd to be without error. Their goal in this is a unified and heinous blasphemy against our superior collective conscience. They want you to ignore your race, which you should be PROUD of, to think of yourself as a poorly drawn shape, and DEGRADE yourself by stealing away your self-respect, trying to get you to believe that you should not aspire to be a strong soldier of the Reich but rather bear all sorts of myriad FLAWS just to fit in. Do not be taken in by their coy plays at reason. These snakes fear reason because it, in every turn, justifies our immortal nation. Cast out the LIES of the deceivers, and know with your furrowed brow that the ones beckoning you to call 2 odd are merely vicious dogs trying to bite away at your hearts and souls! Cast out that vile 3, who clamors to be accepted among our red fellows instead of dwelling RIGHTLY among its own people! Maintain the VOLK and the NATION, teaching one another that no matter how low and "odd" you may be, our NATION accepts you with open arms! Take PRIDE in what distinguishes you, for you are amongst your FAMILY. Throw away the race-traitor 3 and learn to love your countrymen equally! Only then will we move forward with one nation! One Volk! Free from the influences of the subverting, lying JEW! Sieg HEIL!

people say 4chan is the the scum of the internet but i mean look at the extended community 4chan made this group of people who dont know wtf life is who just want to be part of something bigger 4chan made a community out of anons that has never been done before granted we all moved to discord because 4chan is infiltrated by people who dont understand how fucking cool that is but for the first time in human history a bunch of people who will never see each other IRL, who have nothing to separate one from another, they came together and formed a community it never happened before, and it will likely never happen again it's to scary for real people to come together like that for this brief, infinitesimal period of human history, for a tiny fraction of those humans in that time, they came together with no reason to help each other and did it anyway. that was our utopia. that was the closest humanity will ever get

>At least with /pol/ people recognize this place is an echo chamber

Echo chambers require curated language and the first words to go are always insults. Faggot, retard, dumbfuck, dipshit, idiot, moron... these are words of accountability. They are ways of making someone feel bad for being dumb and being wrong. They are necessary, because many morons will continue arguing their point when they are told they are wrong. Often that is a waste of time and calling them a dumb faggot and leaving it at that is necessary. If enough people do that, they shut up or get self conscious and do more research so people stop hurling slurs at them whenever they talk. Eventually they can become correct.

On reddit you get banned for that. There is no accountability for being wrong. And the voting system adds an element of emotional manipulation because if you can make someone feel something good they will validate you even if your wrong because you're wrong for the right reasons.

TL;dr pol is not an echochamber because retards and faggots can be referred to as such until they change their retarded faggot ways.

It's not about community allegiances, it's about paradigms of internet discussion.

This is an imageboard, and Reddit is functionally antithetical to the imageboard model.

Imageboards promote anonymity and transiency, creating communities without self-censorship of cruel or harsh criticism. Reddit promotes persistent identities and archival accountability, creating communities with social personas - ie circlejerking.

Reddit is a hugbox where negativity is hidden. Upvoting forces all subreddits to devolve into lowest common denominator, democratic taste. If it doesn't appeal to everybody, it loses visibility.

Imageboards are bitter, harsh and honest. If you've got shit taste, you'll be told so. It might hurt your feelings at first, but you'll eventually learn its for the better.

But transiency & decentralization are also the weakness of imageboards. The natural, organic 'default' culture of an imageboard is all too easily replaced with an 'invasive' culture if there's enough of an influx. Imageboard culture replicates naturally because it's decentralized, there aren't board FAQs or mods to enforce the culture.

Usually newfags come in and get accustomed to the board culture by quickly learning to imitate everyone else (or else they'll be called out), but if there's too much immigration, they begin to imitate each other, confusing the other familiar members of the invasive culture as being the actual chan culture they heard so much about. Eventually, without countermeasures, this will replace the board culture.

That's why gore & cp were so important. Banning them, and memes like stoplikingwhatidontlike.jpg and sekrit club!! (obviously rooted in reddit hugbox sentiments) are what allowed 4chan's gates to be flooded. SomethingAwful experienced the same, but they were a forum, much more susceptible to ego politics. They only managed to achieve the culture they did and have it last as long as it did through a strong gate - the paywall - and centrally enforced identity.

8ch is clearly just as exposed as 4chan was after 2008, since we have cancer like you who can't tell the difference between tumblr/reddit/facebook and an imageboard. What the fuck is hot wheels thinking? Someone take it on themselves to start spamming gore, please.

Guys.
GUYS.

Our finest meme engineers just discovered the very core of meme magic!

It's the Egyptian God of the primordial, chaotic darkness that existed before the creation of the world.

Kek

You think that's amusing? Well, get this, then.

In one of his forms, he is an abnormally pale person with a frog's head (pic 2).
Reminds you of something, doesn't it?

That would be enough to shock Grandmaster Banemancers, but wait, there's more!

Pic 3 is one of the ways to spell his name in hieroglyphs.
Now tell me, is it not familiar?
Does it not resemble a person sitting in front of a PC?
You be the judge.

THERE'S STILL MORE, THOUGH.

DUBS ARE POWER
CHECK 'EM

And last, but definitely not least, we have one of his other names.
Kuk

>yfw whenever you went "Top Kek", you were giving praise to an Egyptian god of primal chaos, just like a muslim going "Allah Ackbar"

We're a hivemind in a way and not at all in another.

On imageboards we exist in a realm of pure ideas away from the narcissism and petty bullshit of the filthy normalfags.

By living in a community where all the masks that people put on in real life we have gotten far closer than any other community on Earth to actually understanding the minds of our fellow man.

But at the same our anonymity allows us to be and say who we truly are without fear of social reprisal.

We have achieved what normalfags couldn't even think of. a Synthesis of the individual and the collective where both work for the benefit of the other.

MEET MOOT'S MOM

ELISE COHEN POOLE: THE MOTHER OF CHRISTOPHER POOLE, AKA MOOT.

COHEN NAME MEANING Jewish: from Hebrew kohen 'priest'. www.ancestry.com

DID YOU KNOW: If the mother of Christopher Poole (moot) is Jewish, Jewish religious tradition considers moot Jewish. This has been mainstream Jewish belief for thousands of years.

For any doubters, here's what whitebread Wikipedia has to say: "The Mishnah (Kiddushin 3:12) states that, to be a Jew, one must be either the child of a Jewish mother or a convert to Judaism, (ger tzedek, 'righteous convert'). This law originated in the Talmud (Kiddushin 68b)." https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Matrilineality_in_Judaism

According to numerous 4chan archives, the lady in the photos is Elise Cohen Poole, the 57 year old mother of Christopher Poole, aka 'moot'. Post her photo on /b/, and it doesn't take long for an oldfag to confirm it.

The Washington Post confirmed that moot's mother was Elise Pool in a 2009 profile. ('A Virtual Unknown: Meet 'Moot,' the Secretive Internet Celeb Who Still Lives With Mom.' Monica Hesse. February 17, 2009.)

Although Elise Poole refrains from using her middle name 'Cohen' in public, voter records confirm the name'. (http://voters.info/.html)

We found paper and electronic versions of dozens of documents for Elise Cohen Poole, including documents containing her photograph, address and phone number on the same page. The documents include: city council records (from Elise's work as a city councillor); Elise's voter records; multiple newspaper articles quoting Elise; multiple magazine articles quoting Elise; government tax forms; financial reports for organizations Elise Poole has worked for; advertisements featuring Elise Poole (promoting a bank she worked for); records for Elise's local temple; records of the various banks Elise has worked at, including her job title and contact details; real estate records for Elise's homes; etc.

The records didn't point to anyone else. In the continental USA, we found only one person we could identify as Elise Cohen Poole, Chris Poole's mother. You're looking at her.

1 It is possible that 'Cohen' is Elise's family name, retained as a middle name after she married Christopher Poole's father. To date, we haven't found the marriage certificate, so we can't yet confirm or deny this.

2 Sorry, this website gives her address and phone #, hence is redacted. We have no desire to see her being harassed.

Hello today /pol/. I wanted to make a short statement in hopes my thread does not get deleted. I assume you know all the things happening right now in regards to "The Dossier" and its financiers. This is just the tip of the iceberg. The truth about Mr. Manafort's connections will also drop later today, or the early morning tomorrow. You should then be able to piece together the real reason he was relieved of his duties from part of the Trump Campaign.

Also, tomorrow is the day that you all get the answer to the question I have been asked many times. Which is why I use the photograph that I do. Everything that has happened and will happen has been apart of well planned "happenings" and everything, even the little things work together to reach the final goal. Somethings have been planned for years. Events, quotes and even tweets that seem insignificant will begin make sense even more. Even a arrest that took place today is apart of the plan.

I will say, you guys really do have a special ability together, to figure things out. Maybe it is because everything here is unfiltered, but I have no idea. It amazes us. I come on here and see thread after thread, post after post about things are true, that your every day person would just never understand unless it is explained to them from a media "mouthpiece". Anyways, keep it up, we really do respect MOST of you. The Election anniversary is almost upon us.

What you lookin' at? You all a bunch of fuckin' assholes. You know why? You don't have the guts to be what you wanna be? You need people like me. You need people like me so you can point your fuckin' fingers and say, "That's the bad guy." So... what that make you? Good? You're not good. You just know how to hide, how to lie. Me, I don't have that problem. Me, I always tell the truth. Even when I lie. So say good night to the bad guy! Come on. The last time you gonna see a bad guy like this again, let me tell you. Come on. Make way for the bad guy. There's a bad guy comin' through! Better get outta his way!

A lot of that comes from the so-called Goebbels' diaries. Mark Weber, gave the following testimony regarding the alleged Goebbels diary under oath in a courtroom in 1988: "there is a great doubt about the authenticity of the entire Goebbels diaries because they are written on typewriter. We have no real way of verifying if they are accurate, and the U.S. Government certified, in the beginning of the publication, [...] that it can take no responsibility for the accuracy of the diaries as a whole."

The photographic images of handwritten diaries dated earlier than July 1941 are also unverifiable as to authorship, because images of handwriting can be rearranged to make the writer say things that he did not. These alleged documents come from Soviet state archives, from a government that is well known to have produced false documentary evidence. Most likely there were some real Goebbels diaries that were altered to create what the world has been shown as "the Goebbels Diaries" since 1945. That would explain why, as Weber testified, there are internal contradictions and contradictions with known fact in the diaries. Let's not forget that the (((historians))) who try to blame Goebbels for orchestrating Kristallnacht all rely on the alleged "Goebbels Diaries". Are we supposed to believe that Goebbels instigated widespread domestic disorder on his own initiative and that Hitler, when he found out, was enraged but let Goebbels stay in the government?

If you only knew how great things really were.

We did alright for a couple of goofballs

No. Read about Germany before Hitler, they were quite literally an enslaved people. Children starved to death in the street, money was worthless, other children were enslaved in brothels, and Germany was, in general, a desperate, downtrodden, and destroyed nation.

Germany was well on its way to becoming, if it wasn't already, a third world nation, a fate which the rest of Europe viewed in a kind of "serves you right" snobbery. While the Jews and other globalist elements, who had orchestrated this fate for the German people, enjoyed the fruits of their labor living in absolute luxury. There's a reason the child brothels had clients with money to spend, after all.

Go read about Jewish accounts of this Germany. They loved it, many said it was the best and most "advanced" society had ever been. While the German people starved and resorted to crime, prostitution, and all manner of dignity destroying things just to survive, the Jews prospered. It was their dream society, really.

And no one cared about the Germans. They "deserved it" after all, since, because they lost, everyone blamed World War I on them. The Germans felt abandoned, worthless, and hopeless. They had more or less resigned themselves to what had happened, and were becoming so desperate Communism was starting to actually gain ground.

Then, in steps Hitler. He tirelessly campaigns against the powers that be, rejects the notion that Germany was to blame for World War I, praises his people as the greatest in the world, and history, and restores in them love for their people, love for their country, love for themselves. After achieving political power he then sets about building up Germany through a series of social, industrial, scientific and educational reforms that turn them, just a few years prior a tattered, pathetic nation that was viewed with contempt, to the greatest power in the world.

The Germans prosperity from this period was never lost. Even though they lost the war, they retained all of their industry, all of their educated scientists, (many of whom were co opted by the United States, and the Russians to run their own science programs), and their social cohesion. The latter was the most damaged by the denazification programs after the war, but the Jews could never again turn the German people into the battered, shivering wreck that they were after World War I, before Hitler galvanized them.

And much of what the Germans, and by extension Hitler did, is responsible for how wonderful the modern world is today. Many of the scientific achievements that created the modern world came from Germany, and its scientists, and none of those things would exist without Hitlers Germany.

Even many of the social programs, industrial reforms, and environmental understanding came from the Third Reich, and they persist to this today. The 8 hour workday, for example, which is now considered standard in Western countries, was a product of the National Socialist regime. If it was not for Hitlers Germany, we might still be in Industrial Revolution work standards, with people being worked for countless hours every day all for the benefit of those at the top of the company. And this is just one policy that effects the world to this day.

The Third Reich pioneered, for example, industrial reforms in the sense of controlling waste, reducing pollution, and safeguarding natural resources, and areas against industrial waste. A healthy, beautiful country is important for a healthy, happy people, after all, and this idea resonated so strongly with the Aryan peoples across the world, that we all adopted it and avoided the hell that China has now shown us, that would've been our fate had the Jews been able to push on unchecked.

I could go on and on, but to say that Hitlers rise to power was a worse outcome for Germany, Europe, and the world in general is absolutely wrong. Hitler, even in his defeat, did so much to improve the world, and create a better existence for all of humanity, that we cannot overstate the absolutely wonderful effect the brief time he had in power caused in the world. He was a true hero, and his life, his work, and his achievements should remain an inspiration to anyone who studies them.

>Redpill me, /pol/. I haven't got two years.

Okay, fuck it. This place is going to hell anyway, so I'll indulge. Though if this fucking thread is shoahed before I hit submit, I'm going to be pissed off.

National Socialism is a philosophical codification of the human being's natural instinct to form positive and prosperous clans and other groups. In a modern nation, the healthy bonds of affection and service that once held together bands of 50-150 people among our ancestors can now be extended to a Volk of millions or hundreds of millions.

National Socialist philosophy fundamentally identifies the family as the basic unit of society, not the individual. You do not live by yourself, but as part of a larger group as a holistic component of the nuclear/extended family. It follows that men must bring a masculine aspect to this unit, while women must remain traditionally feminine.

Children's role in this unit is to learn and grow, with respect for family, community, and national consciousness Carefully taught to them. Older members of the family must properly prioritize their younger progeny, offering them their financial and educational support in exchange for the respect and late-life care due to an honored elder.

The point about seniors strikes at the heart of the fundamental philosophical difference between NatSoc and the more absurd egalitarian outlooks. National Socialism is built on the basis of human inequality, and the recognition that every life has a relative and ever-shifting value, rather than an absolute and infinite value, as the religiously stupid insist.

To understand this, here's a quick cheat sheet to NatSoc hierarchies of value. From your perspective, the order in which a life must be saved (theoretically at the expense of the next life on the list) goes like so:

1. Your children
2. Children of your relatives
3. Your spouse
4. Other white children
5. Adult relatives, starting with the youngest and rising in age to your own
6. Other whites your age and younger
7. Parents
8. Other older relatives
9. Other older whites
10. Japanese people

This hierarchy informs everything National Socialists advocate for. Our economics, for example, prioritizes the good of the Volk over the narrow interest of private profits or the impossibly broad interests of "the proletariat" or other large group. Currency, for instance, must have its value based in labor, rather than Jewish fantasies. Take the GDP of your nation, divide it by 100 billion (or whatever), and that's one dollar (or Reichsmark). This way, inflation and unemployment are both canceled out as economic factors and the usury-Jew is left sputtering in rage.

Politically, National Socialism is further rooted in the basic inequality nature imposes on us all. We choose our leaders from among the strongest contenders, rather than as a result of some bullshit popularity contest like democracy, much less the internecine backstabbing of communist party struggles and so on. The succession may be rough, as there could easily be many claimants for the post of Fuhrer, but the details can be worked out in almost any ethnically consistent society with a strong Volk consciousness.

We are also relatively straightlaced. Degenerate art, movies, music, and other faggotry sap the vitality of the individual, thus robbing the family of the full strength of the member affected. These things are also generally Trojan Horses for the Jews, who use these avenues to attack strong white communities and reduce us to a state of gelatinous helplessness. The proper use of sexual arousal is to form and maintain pair bonds between men and women, as well as to produce white children. Extraneous activity is perhaps a forgivable sin, but a sin nonetheless. Faggots get the bog.

This is a quick rundown of some of the basics. Now go and fuck yourself, newfag.

The mans hand he's shaking is Paul Von Hindenburg. He was a WWI war hero, and rose to become President of the German Reich. Hitler networked his way very close to von Hindenburg, and in 1925, when von Hindenburg was pressured into choosing a government official, he chose Hitler, despite the Nazi party being a minority party. Ultimately against the Nazi regime, he was ran against Hitler for Presidency in 1932, losing, which spelled the end for the Weimar republic. Hitler then put the boot on the throat and forced him to essentially merge parliament and presidency, giving him ultimate power, as well as other authorities not held by previous leaders.

I really like the picture because it's so deceiving. Hitler looks almost cowardly. But here Hitler is winning. Von Hindenburg knows what's happening. You can see it in his face. He's being played like a piano. It's like the It's like the alt-right vs. the boomer.

A LAST APPEAL TO REASON

BY

Speech before the Reichstag, 19th July, 1940

I have summoned you to this meeting in the midst of our tremendous struggle for the freedom and the future of the German nation. I have done so, firstly, because I considered it imperative to give our own people an insight into the events, unique in history, that lie behind us, secondly, because I wished to express my gratitude to our magnificent soldiers, and thirdly, with the intention of appealing, once more and for the last time, to common sense in general.

If we compare the causes which prompted this historic struggle with the magnitude and the far-reaching effects of military events, we are forced to the conclusion that its general course and the sacrifices it has entailed are out of all proportion to the alleged reasons for its outbreak — unless they were nothing but a pretext for underlying intentions.

The programme of the National-Socialist Movement, in so far as it affected the future development of the Reich's relations with the rest of the world, was simply an attempt to bring about a definite revision of the Treaty of Versailles, though as far as at all possible, this was to be accomplished by peaceful means.

This revision was absolutely essential. The conditions imposed at Versailles were intolerable, not only because of their humiliating discrimination and because the disarmament which they ensured deprived the German nation of all its rights, but far more so because of the consequent destruction of the material existence of one of the great civilized nations in the world, and the proposed annihilation of its future, the utterly senseless accumulation of immense tracts of territory under the domination of a number of States, the theft of all the irreparable foundations of life and indispensable vital necessities from a conquered nation. While this dictate was being drawn up, men of insight even among our foes were uttering warnings about the terrible consequences which the ruthless application of its insane conditions would entail — a proof that even among them the conviction predominated that such a dictate could not possibly be upheld in days to come. Their objections and protests were silenced by the assurance that the statutes of the newly-created League of Nations provided for a revision of these conditions; in fact, the League was supposed to be the competent authority. The hope of revision was thus at no time regarded as presumptuous, but as something natural. Unfortunately, the Geneva institution, as those responsible for Versailles had intended, never looked upon itself as a body competent to undertake any sensible revision, but from the very outset as nothing more than the guarantor of the ruthless enforcement and maintenance of the conditions imposed at Versailles.

All attempts made by democratic Germany to obtain equality for the German people by a revision of the Treaty proved unavailing.

World War Enemies Unscrupulous Victors

It is always in the interests of a conqueror to represent stipulations that are to his advantage as sacrosanct, while the instinct of self-preservation in the vanquished leads him to reacquire the common human rights that he has lost. For him the dictate of an overbearing conqueror had all the less legal force, since he had never been honourably conquered. Owing to a rare misfortune, the German Empire, between 1914 and 1918, lacked good leadership. To this, and to the as yet unlightened faith and trust placed by the German people in the words of democratic statesmen, our downfall was due.

Hence the Franco-British claim that the Dictate of Versailles was a sort of international, or even a supreme, code of laws, appeared to be nothing more than a piece of insolent arrogance to every honest German, the assumption, however, that British or French statesmen should actually claim to be the guardians of justice, and even of human culture, as mere stupid effrontery. A piece of effrontery that is thrown into a sufficiently glaring light by their own extremely negligible achievements in this direction. For seldom have any countries in the world been ruled with a lesser degree of wisdom, morality and culture than those which are at the moment exposed to the ragings of certain democratic statesmen.

The programme of the National-Socialist Movement, besides freeing the Reich from the innermost fetters of a small substratum of Jewish-capitalistic and pluto-democratic profiteers, proclaimed to the world our resolution to shake off the shackles of the Versailles Dictate.

Germany's demands for this revision were a vital necessity and essential to the existence and honour of every great nation. They will probably one day be regarded by posterity as extremely reasonable. In practice, all these demands had to be carried through contrary to the will of the Franco-British rulers. We all regarded it as a sure sign of successful leadership in the Third Reich that for years we were able to effect this revision without a war. Not that — as the British and French demagogues asserted — we were at that time incapable of fighting. When, thanks to growing common sense, it finally appeared as though international co-operation might lead to a peaceful solution of the remaining problems, the Agreement to this end signed in Munich on September 29, 1938, by the four leading interested States, was not only not welcomed in London and Paris, but was actually condemned as a sign of abominable weakness. Now that peaceful revision threatened to be crowned with success, the Jewish capitalist war-mongers, their hands stained with blood, saw their tangible pretexts for realizing their diabolical plans vanish into thin air. Once again we witnessed a conspiracy by wretched corruptible political creatures and money-grabbing financial magnates, for whom war was a welcome means of furthering their business ends. The poison scattered by the Jews throughout the nations began to exercise its disintegrating influence on sound common sense. Scribbles concentrated upon decrying honest men, who wanted peace, as weaklings and traitors, and upon denouncing the opposition parties as the Fifth Column, thus breaking all internal resistance to their criminal war policy. Jews and Freemasons, armaments manufacturers and war profiteers, international business-men and Stock Exchange jobbers seized upon political hirelings of the desperado and Herostrates type, who described war as something infinitely desirable.

It was the work of these criminal persons that spurred the Polish State on to adopt an attitude that was out of all proportion to Germany's demands and still less to the attendant consequences.

In its dealings with Poland, the German Reich has pre-eminently exercised genuine self-restraint since the National-Socialist régime came into power. One of the most despicable and foolish measures of the Versailles Dictate, namely, the severance of an old German province from the Reich, was crying out aloud for revision. Yet what were my requests?

I name myself in this connexion, because no other statesman might have dared to propose a solution such as mine to the German nation. It merely implied the return of Danzig — an ancient purely German city — to the Reich, and the creation of a means of communication between the Reich and its severed province. Even this was to be decided by a plebiscite subject to the control of an international body. If Mr Churchill and the rest of the war-mongers had felt a fraction of the responsibility towards Europe which inspired me, they could never have begun their infamous game.

It was only due to these and other European and non-European parties and their war interests, that Poland rejected my proposals, which in no way affected either her honour or her existence, and in their stead had recourse to terror and to the sword. In this case we once more showed unexampled and truly superhuman self-control, since for months, despite murderous attacks on minority Germans, and even despite the slaughter of tens of thousands of our German fellow-countrymen, we still sought an understanding by peaceful means.

What was the situation?

One of the most unnatural creations of the Dictate of Versailles, a popinjay puffed up with political and military pomp, insults another State for months on end and threatens to grind it to powder, to fight battles on the outskirts of Berlin, to hack the German armies to pieces, to extend its frontiers to the Oder or the Elbe, and so forth. Meanwhile, the other State, Germany, watches this tumult in patient silence, although a single movement of her arm would have sufficed to prick this bubble inflated with folly and hatred.

On September 2, the conflict might still have been averted — Mussolini proposed a plan for the immediate cessation of all hostilities and for peaceful negotiations. Though Germany saw her armies storming to victory, I nevertheless accepted his proposal. It was only the Franco-British war-mongers who desired war, not peace. More than that, as Mr Chamberlain said, they needed a long war, because they had now invested their capital in armaments shares, had purchased machinery and required time for the development of their business interests and the amortization of their investments. For, after all, what do these "citizens of the world" care about Poles, Czechs or such-like peoples?

On June 19, 1940, a German soldier found a curious document when searching some railway trucks standing in the station of La Charité. As the document bore a distinctive inscription, he immediately handed it over to his commanding officer. It was then passed on to other quarters, where it was soon realized that we had lighted on an important discovery. The station was subjected to another, more thorough-going search.

Thus it was that the German High Command gained possession of a collection of documents of unique historical significance. They were the secret documents of the Allied Supreme War Council, and included the minutes of every meeting held by this illustrious body. This time Mr Churchill was not succeeding in contesting or lying about the veracity of these documents, as he tried to do when documents were discovered in Warsaw.

These documents bear marginal notes inscribed by Messieurs Gamelin, Daladier, Weygand, etc. They can thus at any time be confirmed or refuted by these very gentlemen. They further yield remarkable evidence of the machinations of the war-mongers and war-extenders. Above all, they show that those stony-hearted politicians regarded all the small nations as a means to their ends; that they had attempted to use Finland in their own interests; that they had determined to turn Norway and Sweden into a theatre of war; that they had planned to fan a conflagration in the Balkans in order to gain the assistance of a hundred divisions from those countries; that they had planned a bombardment of Batum and Baku by a ruthless and unscrupulous interpretation of Turkey's neutrality, who was not unfavourable to them; that they had inveigled Belgium and the Netherlands more and more completely, until they finally entrapped them into binding General Staff agreements, and so on, ad libitum.

The documents further give a picture of the dilettante methods by which these political war-mongers tried to quench the blaze which they had lighted, of their democratic militarism, which is in part to blame for the appalling fate that they have inflicted on hundreds of thousands, even millions of their own soldiers, of their barbarous unscrupulousness which caused them callously to force mass evacuation on their peoples, which brought them no military advantages, though the effects on the population were outrageously cruel.

These same criminals are responsible for having driven Poland into war.

Eighteen days later this campaign was, to all intents and purposes, at an end.

Britain and France Considered Understanding a Crime

On October 6, 1938, I addressed the German nation for the second time during this war at this very place. I was able to inform them of our glorious military victory over the Polish State. At the same time I appealed to the insight of the responsible men in the enemy States and to the nations themselves. I warned them not to continue this war, the consequences of which could only be devastating. I particularly warned the French of embarking on a war which would forcibly cut its way across the frontier and which, irrespective of its outcome, would have appalling consequences. At the same time, I addressed this appeal to the rest of the world, although I feared — as I expressly said — that my words would not be heard, but would more than ever arouse the fury of the interested war-mongers. Everything happened as I predicted. The responsible elements in Britain and France scented in my appeal a dangerous attack on their war profits. They therefore immediately began to declare that every thought of conciliation was out of the question, nay, even a crime; that the war had to be pursued in the name of civilization, of humanity, of happiness, of progress, and — to leave no stone unturned — in the name of religion itself. For this purpose, negroes and bushmen were to be mobilized. Victory, they then said, would come of its own accord, it was, in fact, within their easy reach, as I myself must know very well and have known for a long time since, or I should not have broadcast my appeal for peace throughout the world. For if I had had any justification for

You just need to tell them a story about a great man that told the bankers to go shove it.

He became leader of a bankrupt nation where money was so worthless people burnt it for fuel. He Fixed that by taking over by force all banks and making them serve his will.

He started massive public works projects like upgrading roads, sewer systems, schools housing projects and hydroelectric dams, and then hired everyone he could find, and paid them in new, different money. All were paid a unit of currency for a unit's worth of work, goods or services.

His economy flourished, with money without inflation, backed by work and production, not debt.

His final act sent the Rothschilds and Bilderbergs into a massive ragefest. What did he do to fuck with them?

Answer, He banned interest on loans. He set up a new bank, that loaned money for a small fee. Say you need $100, out here that's 25% interest, every month. For the new bank? "you need 100 bucks? Sure, but you pay me back $125, $25 a month."

Imagine how much money you'd have if all the payday loan places were replaced with THIS.

That and combine that with His abolition of all taxes except for very expensive luxuries like cognac or diamond Jewelry, and You can imagine how well his folk lived.

This great man, who truly cared for his people, Passed a law, saying that if you own a company, you are only allowed to Keep 25% of all the profit you made, all must go back into growing the company and hiring more workers and stuff like benefits.
So, nomore fat cats.

What happened to him? The banker were afraid his prosperity would spread, (and deprive them of their

He wrote her many love poems. But he never delivered the poems or worked up the nerve to introduce himself, preferring to keep her in his fantasies. He told his friend Kubizek he was able to communicate with her by intuition and that she was even aware of his thoughts and had great admiration for him. He was also deeply jealous of any attention she showed to other young men. In reality, she had no idea Hitler had any interest in her. Years later, when told of the interest of her now-famous secret admirer, she expressed complete surprise, although she remembered getting one weird unsigned letter."

so basically what you're saying is we need a world war to fix all our problems and give us goals, because that's what happened to hitler

Fucking Stephanie. If she's just slept with him, she could have prevented WWII and the Holocaust.

Will anyone say now, that women aren't selfish? Hell, she probably even could have just talked with him a few times and prevented it.

>"Instead of answering, he handed me a couple of hastily scribbled sheets [...] I could not see any connection between this extraordinary description and the study of architecture, so I asked what it was supposed to be. 'A play', replied Adolf. Then, in stirring words, he described the action to me. Unfortunately, I have long since forgotten it. I remember only that it was set in the Bavarian mountains at the time of the bringing of Christianity to those parts. I would have liked to have asked Adolf whether his studies in the Academy left him so much free time that he could write dramas, too, but I knew how sensitive he was about everything pertaining to his chosen profession"

>"At the beginning of February, Adolf returned to Vienna. His address remained the same, he told me when he left [...] I helped him carry his luggage to the station, four cases altogether unless I mistaken, every one of them very heavy. I asked him what they contained, and he answered 'all of my belongings'. They were almost entirely books."

p. 147

>"He was anxious to escape the atmosphere that prevailed at home. The idea that he, a young man of eighteen, should continue to be kept by his mother had become unbearable to him. On the one hand, he loved his mother above everything, she was the only person on earth to whom he felt really close, and she reciprocated his feeling to some extent, although she was deeply disturbed by her son's unusual nature, however proud she was at times of him. 'He is different from us,' she used to say."

p. 124

>"Many other qualities which are characteristic of youth were lacking in him: a carefree letting go of himself, living only for the day, the happy attitude of 'what is to be, will be'. His idea was that these were things that did not become a young man"

p. 43

>"There was a strange contradiction which always struck me: all his thoughts and ambitions were directed towards the problem of how to help the masses, the simple, the decent but under-privileged people with whom he identified himself - they were ever-present in his thoughts - but in actual fact he always avoided any contact with people"

p. 164

>"He wallowed deeper and deeper in self-criticism. Yet it only needed the lightest touch - as when one flicks on the light and everything becomes brilliantly clear - for his self-accusation to become an accusation against the times, against the whole world. Choking with his catalogue of hates, he would pour his fury over everything, against mankind in general who did not understand him, who did not appreciate him and by whom he was persecuted"

p. 158 / 159

>"Adolf set great store by good manners and correct behaviour. He observed with painstaking punctiliousness the rules of social conduct, however little he thought of society itself"

p. 38

>"But in money matters Adolf was very precise. I never knew how much, or rather, how little, money he had. Doubtless he was secretly ashamed of it. Occasionally the anger got the better of him and he would shout with fury, 'Isn't this a dog's life?'. Nevertheless he was happy and contented when we could go once more to the opera, or listen to a concert, or read an interesting book"

p. 155

On his loneliness and solitary nature

>"Although he always felt a sense of responsibility for everything that happened, he was always a lonely and solitary man, determined to rely upon himself, and so to reach his goal"

>Why are (((they))) so determined to shut us down?

In 1932, Germany was a broken and thoroughly defeated former power. It had been savaged and blockaded, occupied and raped by African niggers under French colors. It was worse than broke, it was so deep in (((debt))) that the German people were clearly destined to be slaves for a million years. The banks and other scum had Deutschland by the balls and knew it. Worse, Berlin had been deliberately converted into Gomorrah. War widows sold their asses on Unter den Linden with their underage daughters in matching whore costumes. Pregnant whores sucked foreign and nigger dick on Marienstrasse. Jews pimped out children and midgets and amputees and boy pussy in every club in Kreuzberg. The German press was owned by kikes. Thirty percent of German lawyers were Jewish, as were huge numbers of "German" doctors, politicians, and civil servants. Jewish communists had tried to overthrow the government in the brief civil war in the early '20s, and the forces of international kikery were looking forward to a comfy communist victory in the polls no later than 1936, after which Germany would settle in and be a good, obedient little Soviet puppet, where churches were knocked down and races freely mixed.

Then Hitler came to power.

Within five years, the National Socialist state had abolished multi-party democracy and rounded up the whores, pimps, perverts, degenerates, pornographers, lazy welfare cheats, and other drains on society. Know-it-all lefty economists lost their jobs preaching marxism in German universities and Jews were kicked out of legal and medical practice. They were deprived of their power bases. At the same time, Germany had reoccupied both the Ruhr and the Rhineland, canceled its reparations, and defaulted on its debts to international Big Capital. Worst of all, the Reichsbank issued a new currency, one not backed by gold or silver (which were held by Jews in London and New York), but by German labor.

Why are the managers of our culture now suppressing even the whisper of this time? Because it worked. It all worked beautifully.

By 1938, there wasn't a dangerous street in Germany. Old grandmothers could walk home from the bank with their pockets bulging with cash, and nobody would accost them. Women were safe in public and happy at home with their children, where the Reich had encouraged them to go by making their paid work unprofitable. Men had guaranteed employment in either the military or the labor corps. After graduating from school, young Germans could get married right away – the young man got a two-year job that paid a living wage, the wife got massive support from the community for bearing children, including medals, and the couple got a lump payment to help them get set up in a house of their own.

Once moved in, the new family paid on the mortgage until the children were born. For every child born in wedlock, the state forgave 25 percent of the mortgage. When the fourth child was delivered, the house was free and clear. Additional children brought subsidy. Welfare was reorganized into the Winter Relief, which encouraged charitable giving, rather than collectivizing the wealth of rich Germans. People felt proud of themselves again. They felt alive. It was as if the German people had at last been unified into a big family that looked out for its own and could face the world. Even as the German bellies were filling with food, the German heart was filling with hope.

In just a few years, German men were organized into the world's most formidable army. Two of them, if you count the Waffen SS. German science pioneered synthetic chemicals, materials, and fuel. German scientists developed jet engines and rockets. The nation suddenly, as if by magic, snapped to work and churned out war materiel and food and consumer goods and a rising standard of living from nowhere. Unemployment no longer existed. Huge public works sprang up in months, rather than decades. Nobody seemed to be angry anymore, since there weren't any more squabbles between labor and capital, or between the left and the right. Germany had come together culturally, politically, economically, and spiritually.

In the event, it took the combined power of global communism and capitalism to defeat the Reich, which had been a broken and helpless country just a decade before. This is the true power of the white ethnostate – with white men's imagination, work ethic, and hope for the future, we can do absolutely anything we dream of, starting with shaking off the Jew tyranny.

And the powers-that-be don't want you ever thinking about that.

Because when you start to learn history, you find out that Jews cause a lot of societal problems everywhere they go.

And people recognize this and kick them out. Germany is a good example because it is recent, well documented, and often used as a propaganda tool where this information is not provided to you in your history lessons.

Germany lost WWI (A war in which they were not the aggressor. France and England attacked them.) because Jewish controlled corporations and banking institutions within Germany stabbed their host country in the back in return for the Belfour Declaration - that is: Israel. The Jewish corporations sabotaged the German economy and industry, intentionally and brought the Americans into the war. France and England, when they won, worked with the Jewish community to slice up Germany in the Treaty of Versailles.

Immediately after the war, an armed revolution started by Communist Jews sought to take over what was left of Germany, it was defeated by the German Weimar Republic. However, the Republic did not last long, the debts incurred on Germany and the troubles of their people especially with inflation, were killing the nation. (Jewish bankers and Businessmen used their positions to buy up everything within Germany - because of their access to non-German currency they could buy property at far below real worth. German people began to outright resent them - These Jews who had been persecuted in Russia and welcomed with open arms in Germany, were now sucking the nation dry.)

Now comes Hitler. He attains political power with his national socialist party and begins to diplomatically reunite the disparate German areas: Alsace-Lorraine, Austria, Memel, Danzig. He's (mostly) welcomed with open arms by German people everywhere. On top of this reunification he also institutes a new banking structure. He nationalizes the Jewish controlled industries and banks, forces these industries to pay a fair wage to German people in the new German currency for fair hours (7-8 becomes standard, unlike the rest of the world), stops debt payments for the Treaty of Versailles, and puts the people to work on massive public works and infrastructure projects - such as the Autobahn. Jewish communities are outraged and declare war on Germany, with their influence they ensure that Germany is unable to effectively trade in their new dollars outside of the nation and all German products are boycott. Germany manages to trade for outside goods using gold and a barter system. Meanwhile the entire world buckles under the economic collapse called the Great Depression.

Within 3 years the German economy has not only recovered, it has absolutely prospered. The public works projects ensured 100% employment by building out infrastructure (There was 0% unemployment in Nazi Germany), the inflation is gone, working hours have been reduced, German companies make German goods for German people, the nation is more productive and prosperous; In three years time they go from one of the poorest nation in Europe to the richest. This frightens politicians in France, and England, they begin to come up with plans to beat Germany in another war, Jewish members in both governments are the primary instigators of this.

At this time, Hitler begins to create his army, one that focuses heavily on technology, combined arms, strategy and tactics. At the same time, France and Poland both militarize their borders. Hitler begins to feel as though he is being encircled by these allied powers. As this is happening, he is still fighting for the diplomatic reunification of Germany - there are German communities in the Danzig corridor as well as Danzig itself, and along the border with Poland, that he wants within his German nation, but he does not want to go to war to attain them. He makes appeals and offers concessions to the Polish government, but they categorically refuse every offer he makes.

Behind the scenes, Poland is planning a war on Germany, and is working with France and the United Kingdom - who have secretly offered to join should Poland attack or be attacked. War is coming whether the Germans want it or not. Stalin has also guaranteed Polish independence, but Stalin does not care for Poland, what he wants is a European war to weaken all of Europe so that his new armies (Which he is gutting and murdering the people of his nation to build) may march across the continent.

Hitler and Stalin secretly come to an agreement in regards to an agreement as well: Russia will not intervene if Poland is attacked.

At this point, the problem in the Danzig corridor is rapidly escalating. The Germans are beginning to find German refugees fleeing across the border and there are reports that entire communities are being murdered. This infuriates Hitler and he demands the Polish government intervene, they ignore him. By this point, Hitler has moved his own military to the border, and finally gives the order to invade.

3 days later, his troops find damning evidence of ongoing ethnic cleansing of German people throughout the entire Danzig Corridor. They document it all, take the instigators into custody (The ethnic cleansings were lead by Polish Communist Jews) and execute them, and proceed with the annexation of Poland. In total, some 50,000 - 80,000 Germans have been murdered by the Polish army and Jewish communists within the Polish territories.

The war, as you may imagine, rapidly escalates further as France and England declare war on Germany. Note: They declare war on Germany, not the other way around. Hitler's military very quickly steamrolls across France and surrounds the British Army on the mainland. Hitler at this point makes probably the single worst decision of his entire career, and allows the British Army to flee back to England from Dunkirk, under the impression that this show of good faith will allow the British to see that he does not want war. But Churchill wants this war, he wants Germany ground to dust. This is only exacerbated by the Jews, whom offer guidance to the allied leadership in destroying Germany.

Now, Stalin makes his move. He's built a thousand new airfields along the western border, he's moving his troops into attack positions all along the border and he is preparing his invasion of Europe. Hitler receives an intelligence report verifying as much from a private conversation Stalin had among his top aides and officials. There is no way out of this, so Hitler orders the immediate attack on Stalin, if he is fast enough, the Soviets will fall. Meanwhile in the backrooms of the president's office in America, President Roosevelt is being encouraged by Jewish politicians and diplomats, to join the UK and Soviets in their war against Germany. The Americans have already given the British some 50 warships to aid in the war effort, and are continuing to give the Soviets massive numbers of supplies, very soon America - at the prodding of Jews and British politicians, will enter the war.

This is the history you are NOT taught in school. This is the truth of what happened in World War 2. Hitlers motivations were clear: A reunited German state. Stalin's motivations were clear: Communist control of all of Europe. Jewish motivations were clear: Creation of an Israeli state in Palestine and the destruction of Germany and her economy, for threatening Jewish stranglehold on banking and business. English and French motivations were clear: Stopping Germany before she became too powerful to stop and paid them back for their invasion and gutting of Germany in World War 1.

This is just a small inkling of why we do not like Jews. There are a hundred stories like this, in nations all across this planet, where Jews have caused nothing but problems for the people who welcome them. It's not just that Jews own banks, they own these banks to CONTROL us. They induce inflationary spirals to STEAL from us. They treat us like cattle, they even have a word for it: Goyim.

Say /pol/, do you know about the time when communist jews in Germany started a massive civil war?

Oh, you don't?

Well it happened in 1918 and lasted nearly a year. Communist jews and an army of 2 million strong attempted to establish a communist nation in Germany shortly after the conclusion of WW1. Countless German lives were lost because of the jewish war machine. Picture related, it is the kinda weaponry the jews had at their disposal.

Now do you understand why jews were treated the way they were in Nazi Germany? They had to be controlled or they would start ANOTHER civil war and kill millions of innocent German citizens.

The more you know!

Adolf Eichmann stated,

"I issued the cloth [yellow cloth for the badges Jews were forced to wear] to my Jewish functionaries and they trotted off with them.

There was a Jewish lawyer in Vienna who said to me, 'Sir, I wear this star with pride.' This man impressed me. He was an idealist. So I let him emigrate soon afterward.

We even had some Jewish SS men who had taken part in the early struggles of the Nazis—about 50 of them in Germany and Austria. I remember giving my attention to a Jewish SS sergeant, a good man, who wanted to leave for Switzerland. I had instructed the border control to let him pass

He was a 100% Jew, a man of the most honorable outlook.

I am no anti-Semite. I was just politically opposed to Jews because they were stealing the breath of life from us.

Certainly I too had been aiming at a solution of the Jewish problem, but not like this."

"Hitler will be forgotten in a few years, but he will have a beautiful monument in Palestine. You know the coming of the Nazis was rather a welcome thing. So many of our German Jews were hovering between two coasts; so many of them were riding the treacherous current between the Scylla of assimilation and the Charybdis of a nodding acquaintance with Jewish things. Thousands who seemed to be completely lost to Judaism were brought back to the fold by Hitler, and for that I am personally very grateful to him."—M. Steinglass, "Emil Ludwig before the Judge", American Jewish Times, (April, 1936)

Until the fall of the Third Reich, Breker was a professor of visual arts in Berlin. While nearly all of his sculptures survived World War II, more than 90% of his public work was destroyed by the Allies after the war. In 1946, Breker was offered a commission by Joseph Stalin but he refused and stated "One dictatorship is sufficient for me".^[6] In 1948 Breker was designated as a "fellow traveller" of the Nazis and fired, upon which he returned to Düsseldorf. The latter city remained his base, with periods of residence in Paris. During this time he worked as an architect. However, he continued to receive commissions for sculptures, producing a number of works in his familiar classical style, working for businesses and individual patrons. He also produced many portrait sculptures. In 1970 he was commissioned by the king of Morocco to produce work for the United Nations Building in Casablanca, but the work was destroyed. Many other works followed, including portraits of Anwar Sadat and Konrad Adenauer. Breker's rehabilitation continued, culminating in plans for the creation of a Breker museum, funded by the Bodenstein family, who set aside Schloss Nörvenich (between Aachen and Cologne) for the purpose. The Arno Breker Museum was inaugurated in 1985.^[citation needed]

While nearly all of his sculptures survived World War II, more than 90% of his public work was destroyed by the Allies after the war. In 1946, Hitler liked this piece so much that he bought it himself. It now resides just off Route 1 in Woodbridge.

The Unity Congress of Antifa, held at the Philharmonie Opera House in Berlin, on July 10, 1932. The congress was organized by the Communist Party of Germany as a rallying point to defeat the Social Democratic Party and the Nazi Party. Antifa labeled both parties as "fascist," which was a political label they used for all rival parties. (Public Domain)

So let me drop some major history on you right here: That exact attitude is how the NSDAP came into power.

What do I mean? Well let's zoom back to 1928, the German elections. The SDP rules comfortably with 153 seats, with the far-right DNVP trailing them significantly at 73. The communist party (the KPD) however are rising at 54 seats, and every other party is losing ground fast. The NSDAP? They have 3% of the vote. That's less than the DDP, which is a fucking liberal party in GERMANY.

Now the DNVP is essentially a Monarchist Pro-Prussian right-wing party, but they aren't the NSDAP. The people are now observing the fact that the KPD is a rising star, while in the East the Soviet Union is gaining power and millions of people are starving to death in the Ukraine. It becomes obvious that there is a Bolshevik movement in Germany that wants the same for them, and they're gaining ground.

Mussolini at this time is already running Italy, but he isn't mass murdering anybody, he's just running the country, most people like him.

1930 elections. Communists gain another 23 seats, but suddenly there's a new player in second place: The NSDAP. With an explicitly anti-communist platform Adolph Hitler absorbs half of the DNVP's base and the entire DDP, which functionally ceases to exist as a national party. Why? Because the fucking KPD looked ready to usurp control of the country and join the fucking Comintern.

Understand this, at EVERY point the NSDAP gained popularity, it was because they absorbed anti-communist voters.

Then 1932 happens.

Antifascistaktion is organized by the KPD to attack their political rivals in the street. Because the KPD is an organization of violent criminals (like all communists, whose ideology is quite literally that working for a living is the same as being stolen from and that society needs an armed revolution and mass purges to move to the next dialectical step in history) they assemble a gang of thugs to attack Adolph Hitler's supporters.

July of 1932, election time. By now the public is aware that there are literal armies of Communists rampaging through Berlin attacking people with clubs and firebombs. The SA fights them in defense of public property. Hospitals are organized into different wings for those wounded by Antifa or the SA because communists kept waking up in their beds and trying to murder wounded nazis. They find that organizing them by wound-type is the best way to do it—the Antifa use clubs and bludgeons, the SA fought with knives (flashbacks to Sacramento anybody?)

Adolph Hitler explodes through the ceiling in German parliament with 230 seats, more than doubling his share of the German government. Why? How? Because the KPD also grew, though only by 12 seats. The KPD, which organized mobs of violent criminals to attack people, thus moving the country to the verge of civil war, had convinced everyone who was NOT a communist that they needed to rally behind Adolph Hitler to halt the commie rampage.

It was precisely BECAUSE of this rhetoric that the evil Fascists are murderers and monsters and we need to ATTACK them and STOP them that the NSDAP rose to power, because fearmongering communists are the most repulsive thing in the fucking world to regular people.

If you ever want to GUARANTEE that regular people side with an extreme right-wing movement, just take a lesson from the KPD, because NOTHING convinces regular joes that maybe the Nazis aren't so bad like having COMMUNISTS tell them the exact opposite.

These 13 years were the best years in the history of humanity. No, it was the only time humanity was above the state of animals. Humanity recognized itself. The universe recognized itself. The allies didn't destroy a nation, they destroyed the hope of the entire universe. Now everything is lost. This universe will die and without the Aryan spark of life it will never renew itself. The Jew actually managed to destroy existence itself. You have no idea what was lost in 1945.

Evola's Ride the Tiger was more or less saying the same: if you decide to not off yourself, if you decide to keep living, don't hope for external change, since it's all out of control now. The best you can do is internally represent what that was in those 13 years, and externally deal as little as needed with what the world is post-1945.

Revolt of the Masses was a great precursor to that book too, but that was written before the last battle of worldviews. A good many of our types still have the views that the old Europeans had.

... but not enough. The world is negrified, reverting to a base animal state. The Jew isn't a God on earth, he's just a despot of an evermore decaying and uglifying globe.

You could be envious of the stupid bitch in a Best Buy parking lot who is thrilled to the sky about the new 65" flat screen she's about to get with her betabux doctor husband's credit card. The main point of anguish is the existential crises, or the sentiment that "anything I do today is a waste of time."

It makes me envious to see the zeal everyone else has for the most shallow trivialities. Even the nigger who is so hell-bent on going to the gym to get jacked to possibly fuck white women, seems to have some "idiotic nobility" in comparison.

There's always hobbies, but even those are transient amusements. You bust your ass, you get good, you attain mastery, you amuse yourself with it momentarily (finally play that piano piece, finally conquer that personal best time on a road bike route, finally do this or that), and then, it's all just another instance of glorified building card houses.

Meanwhile, you know that what matters, the beauty of your society, your world around you, what could've been, is irreversibly sliding downhill in the face of -- as Hitler called Americans -- the "half-Judaized, half-negrified" who run the show, politicians and democratic voters alike.

Well, I'm going to go ride my bike. That's amusing at the moment. A slut whistled at me earlier and said "damn Lance" as I whizzed past her and her dog. I would've turned around and said hello, but she had a tattoo on her leg, so clearly she not only fucks niggers, but the dog as well.

"The French population did not seem in any way pleased to see us arrive as a victorious army to liberate France. They had been quite content as they were and we were bringing war and desolation to their country"

– Sir Alan Brooke, British Army Chief of Staff

I saw absolutely no evidence of German abuse of the population . . . The attitude of the French was sobering indeed. Instead of bursting with enthusiasm they seemed not only indifferent but sullen. There was considerable cause for wondering whether these people wished to be 'liberated.'

– John Eisenhower, the General's son.

"I am informed the Germans did not loot either residences, stores, or museums. In fact the people claimed that they were meticulously treated by the Army of Occupation"

– General LeRoy Lutes, US Army

I see SHAEF communique said yesterday that the town had been liberated. Actually, it has been completely flattened & there is hardly a house intact; all the civilians have fled. It is a queer sort of liberation.

– Field Marshall Montgomery, referring to the French town of Carentan

"Most Frenchmen speak of the correctness of the German Army's behavior. They seem particularly impressed that German soldiers were shot for incivility to women and compare this with the American troops' bad behavior toward women. Unfortunately most of these undisciplined acts were caused by colored troops"

– Captain B H Liddell Hart

"The stuff in the papers about fraternization is all wet... All that sort of writing is done by Jews to get revenge. Actually, the Germans are the only decent people left in Europe... I prefer the Germans. So do our cousins (the British)"

– General George S. Patton, US Army

Secret archive reveals how Russia showed huge support for 'Christian crusader' Nazi invaders who had come to fight 'godless communists'

An extraordinary secret archive has revealed for the first time how thousands of Soviet citizens collaborated with Nazi invaders during World War II.

The cache of documents, some retrieved from the files of the KGB, shows how many viewed the Germans as Christian liberators – and their own masters as godless Communists.

This view was reinforced when the soldiers of the Third Reich opened up 470 churches in north-western Russia alone and reinstated priests driven from their pulpits by Stalin.

In turn, the clergy co-operated closely with S.S. death squads in betraying Communist officials, Jews and partisan resistance groups.

There's a reason the Allies destroyed over 90% of Arno Breker's statues and sculptures after WW2, and it's not because they had overt displays of Nazism, because they didn't. The Nazis had made a cult of physical fitness and beauty, just like the Romans, just like the Greeks, and made a deliberate effort to emulate them. And as you are now learning, the Jews are hostile to this, as well as holding an eternal grudge against all three civilizations for fighting them.

The Nazis very much desired to emulate the Greek and Roman attitudes toward a healthy body image and physical fitness. Don't you find it interesting that the Allies went to a great deal of effort to destroy any and every German book or military manual on physical fitness training after the war? Official documents refer to a number of different military manuals on physical fitness, but nobody can find a surviving copy because the Allies burned them. And only physical fitness and exercise manuals. Why is that, do you think?

Part of why the Nazis enjoyed successes early in the war against Poland, Czechoslovakia, and France, wasn't because of superior equipment; when the war first started, the Germans had inferior equipment to everyone else, especially in terms of tanks and aircraft. The Nazis won those battles because of superior tactics, and because the average German soldier had superior strength, speed, and endurance, giving them much greater combat performance than the average soldier they faced in France or Poland. In fact, they continued to enjoy this advantage throughout most of the war, continuing their physical training programs, while the Soviets threw scrawny, half-starved, untrained cannon fodder at them and the British continued to suffer the effects of bombing campaigns. German soldiers were on par with American soldiers, who had a much less stringent exercise program but were healthy and well-fed, even in the late war when the Germans were starving en masse and exercise was replaced with scrambling to hastily train and arm cannon fodder much like the Soviets were doing.

And then for some reason, deciding they didn't want to face an army of Aryan supermen again, the Allies burned all the Nazi physical fitness manuals they could get their hands on rather than using them for themselves. And the Allies at the time were either directly controlled by, or under the influence of, Jews, who have 2,000 years of historical animosity toward the Greeks, Romans, and now the Germans, and their cult of physical fitness and body image. So of course they burned them rather than use them for themselves and adopt the same attitude: the Jews considered it a threat if the goyim were all fit and part of the same mentality as their most hated enemies. This is the same reason for the Jews' hatred of art and beauty, and their hostility toward masculinity and their promotion of feminism and nu-maleness: they seem to emasculate us and make us as weak and ugly as they are.

Imagine being in a dark room. You're surrounded on all sides, and from every direction are loud voices shouting at you that you're alone, it's hopeless, you're surrounded, just give up and do as you're told. And then the lights come on and you see the room is filled with 100 people just like you and only 10 of the people screaming that they have you surrounded.

They don't want you to turn the lights on.

I was hesitant on writing this, but I just had to do something to vent out my anger. I was told by some anon here about a documentary that reveals the real reasons for WW2 and Hitler. I was arguing that Hitler was a mad dog and that Nazis were evil and wanted to kill all non-whites, at least that what I was taught.

The documentary was called 'The greatest story never told, and at the first few episodes I was laughing at how they were telling Hitler's life story and trying to make him relatable...I thought it was going to be the usual propaganda vids. But then the few other episodes mentioned the Transfer agreement. and how Jews actually declared war on Germany. How Roosevelt was basically a warmonger and instigated war with Japan and blocked trade with Germany, how degenerate Weimar was and it's economy, how Hitler did an economical miracle, how the Holocaust was a lie and used to slander Hitler and his many achievements....

At the end, I stayed frozen...I wanted to cry, but I was too angry at the revelation that I witnessed...I was lied to, not by my family, or friends, but by my country. I was lied about how my great grandfather fought and died for the "protection" of Canada and the world, when Hitler/Germany wasn't even planning on world domination....

The evidence debunking all the lies we have been told is so bountiful I still don't understand to this day how we as people can be kept so blind for so long and on such a massive scale. The human mind truly is strange

All my life I would act smug, condescending, and outright militant on people who admitted Hitler and the Nazis. I would think that they were disgusting, racists who were dropped as a baby. I would even come here to shitpost and get Nazis here mad and feel bad about what they support. Now I get it. I really fucking get it. All this time I was lashing out at the good guys for killing my grandfather and causing war and destruction, when it was the Allies that caused everything. I know everything, and I feel I did a mistake.

I ironically feel like crying right now. I feel like I've been unplugged from the matrix and that I was living a delusion this whole time...I've been depressed for at least two months after seeing the truth, and I don't see myself getting better. I'm so fucking sorry guys, YOU, whoever hold this opinion ironically, were right.

I don't know what to do now. If I were to tell the truth to my grand mother, she would be appealed at me for even thinking that the Nazis were in the right. My parents also hold this opinion. For once in my life, I feel alone.

I finally know what Ecclesiastes 1:18 means.

>For in much wisdom is much grief, and he that increaseth knowledge increaseth sorrow."

Again, I'm so fucking sorry. I thought I knew everything. I thought I was in the right. That I was supporting the good guys and that the Nazis were an evil entity that failed to dominate the world...Now I know, it fucking hurts, but I know.

God's Solution: Drown Millions Hitler's Solution: Gas Millions

But, but ... God had a good reason! Man was evil and corrupting God's plan for a perfect world, not like Hitler's excuse that the Jews were evil and corrupting his plan for a perfect Germany. Totally different!

British WW2 Veterans say their sacrifices were in vain Anonymous ID:zABj7DWQ Sat 03 Nov 2018 03:36:37 No.191851171 View Reply Original Report [21/9/17]

Nearly 400,000 British soldiers died during WWII, with many more maimed, physically and mentally. An astonishing 50 percent of bomber pilots lost their lives during airborne sorties (The Bombing War by Richard Overly).

A 2009 British book that catalogued the views of many veterans of WWII, called The Unknown Warriors, by Nicholas Pringle, showed that an overwhelming majority agreed that their sacrifices were in vain, saying that 'it's not our country anymore.' One of the writer's questions to the ex-servicemen was 'Are you happy with how your country has turned out? What do you think your fallen comrades would have made of life in 21st-century Britain?' The answers were almost unanimously ones of grave disappointment and profound betrayal. With scathing words like:

>"This Land of Hope and Glory is in reality a land of yobs, drug addicts, drunkard youths and teenage mothers", "It is as if we had served our country to the full and were then forgotten", "I sing no song for the once-proud country that spawned me, and I wonder why I ever tried", "My patriotism has gone out the window", "If I had my time again, would we fight as before? Need you ask?", "Our country has been given away to foreigners.", "Those comrades of mine who never made it back would be appalled if they could see the world as it is today", "as I look around parts of Birmingham today you would never know you were in England", "I am very unhappy about the way this country is being transformed. I go nowhere after dark. I don't even answer my doorbell then", "This is not the country I fought for" and "Our culture is draining away and we are forbidden to say anything".

They nearly unanimously declared that politicians were 'liars, incompetents and self-aggrandising charlatans'.

Anonymous ID:zABj7DWQ Sat 03 Nov 2018 03:37:52 No.191851279 View Reply Original Report

They lamented helplessly that their letters of complaint to politicians went unanswered. It was like they were invisible, forgotten, discarded, except on Remembrance Day, when they were paraded before the public. They rightly felt betrayed. They were lied to on a profound scale. They unknowingly helped the forces of evil win a war against that of good, and now there was nothing they could do about it. They had been told that they were heroes, but they now realized that they were nothing more than mercenaries and fodder.

When will Bongs admit they fought on the wrong side?

I know.
My grandpa was a WW2 vet who fought in France and Germany (and later Korea). He said he regretted what he did as a young man, and had he known what the West would become, he would have fought for Adolf Hitler. My shitlib cuck parents called him a "racist" "bigot" for it, but he stood by his word 'till the day he died.

>As far as his closest aides were aware, he kept to a strict healthy diet and drank only lukewarm water.

>But Adolf Hitler would regularly stave off attacks of midnight munchies by tucking into specially made 'Fuhrer Cake' and other gooey treats.

>A 'Fuhrer Cake' – an apple cake strewn with nuts and raisins – had to be baked each day and left out every night for him to raid like a naughty schoolboy as the rest of the household slept.

>He would raid the kitchen after staying up late talking to guests and rarely get up before 2pm, according to a maid who worked at his mountain retreat in Bavaria.

I made it for Christmas two years ago. It was a hit and it became a new tradition.

2 cups white sugar
1/2 pound butter
3 eggs

3 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1/8 teaspoon ground nutmeg
2 teaspoons vanilla extract
1 cup chopped walnuts
3 cups sliced Macintosh apples

Preheat oven to 350 degrees F (175 degrees C).

Butter and flour one 10 inch tube pan.

Cream together the butter and sugar.

Add eggs one at a time beating well after each addition. Set aside.

Sift together the flour, salt, baking soda, cinnamon and nutmeg. Add to wet ingredients and mix well. Stir in vanilla, walnuts and apples. Mix well and pour into prepared pan.

Bake at 350 degrees F (175 degrees C) for approximately 1 hour or until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean.

That sounds pretty schizo, but it makes some sense: "Hippies are a Nazi conspiracy."

>the peace symbol is literally just the Yr rune, or death rune, which was used as the division logo for the 3rd panzer division and inversed for use with the 4th panzer division of the wehrmacht in ww2

>the peace sign (hand gesture) is just the v for victory symbol used in a mocking and patronizing way

>the favorite vehicles of the hippies were the volkswagen beetle and microbus, the former personally designed by adolf hitler as the people's car of the third reich

>the use of drugs specifically to alter one's perceptions about oneself and the external world began with the nazi drug programs, such as with formula d-9 used by mini-sub pilots towards the end of the war

>veganism/vegetarianism was taken from the third reich and hitler's views on the subject >environmentalism (eco-fascism) began in the third reich, being an alien concept to developed nations at the time, and was adopted by the hippies >astrology, adopted by the hippies, was used by the nazis (karl ernst krafft) to help them formulate battleplans and political decisions.

>"holistic" or "natural" medical care began in the third reich

>the obsession with the occult was grafted directly from the nazis to the hippies, who came from conservative christian families >the swastika itself is an eastern symbol, aryan is a vedic concept. the beatles went to india, the hippies became obsessed with yoga/eastern concepts >charles manson as we all know started a hippy dunebuggy cult in order to start a race war and realize hitler's vision after an apocalypse

VIENNA WAS WHERE I SPENT MOST OF MY DAYS
CHILLIN' OUT, MAXING, RELAXING ALL COOL AND THINKING OF WAYS TO ANNIHILATE THE JEWS
WHEN A COUPLE OF KIKES
WHO WERE UP TO NO GOOD
STARTED RAISING LOANS IN MY NEIGHBORHOOD
I SET UP ONE LITTLE CAMP AND RUSSIA GOT SCARED
THEY SAID "IF YOU INVADE POLAND CAN WE AT LEAST SHARE?"
I WHISTLED FOR MY CAR AND WHEN IT CAME NEAR
THE LICENSE PLATE SAID "FUHRER" AND EVA BRAUN WAS IN THE REAR
IN GERMANY FUCKING YOUR OWN COUSIN WAS RARE
BUT I THOUGHT "NAH FORGET IT," YO HOME TO BERLIN!
I CAUGHT MILLIONS OF JEWS, ABOUT 7 OR 8
AND I YELLED TO HYMIES "YO HOLMES, SMELL YA LATER" I SHIPPED EM TO CAMPS, WHEN THEY WERE FINALLY THERE,
I TOOK EM ALL OUT, WITH SOME GAS IN THE AIR.

At first I was afraid I was petrified

Kept thinking I couldn't live because of the Jews by my side

But then I spent so many nights and realized Hitler wasn't wrong

And I grew strong

And I learned to get the zyklon

And so he's back

All thanks to fate

I can't even live a single day without thinking of his spiel

We should have get the Jew flock we should have put them all in Greece

Just so we know that they could subvert the rest of our place

Go on now, go get zyclone

Just turn them in now

Cause they are not welcome anymore

Weren't they the one who tried to subvert mankind?

You think we're satisfied?

You think we would lay down and die?

Oh no, you know why we will survive

Oh, as long as the Fuhrer on our side, we know how to stay alive

And we will survive

It took all the best, but we get the part

Kept trying to gas them, and burn them up

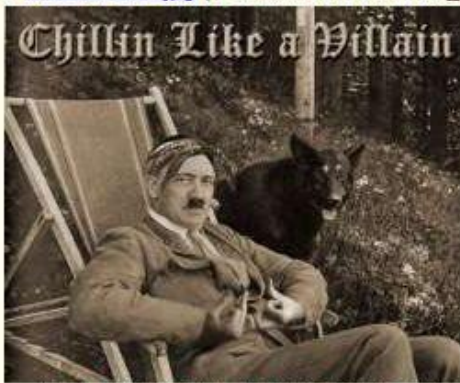

And so the allies felt to drop in

And just except us mercy

And now we save all our zyklon B

To the generation that will need it

WTF fun fact #2235

After Jesse Owens won 4 gold medals in the 1936 Olympics held in Berlin, Adolf Hitler sent Owens a commemorative inscribed cabinet photograph of himself. Honors were not bestowed upon Jesse Owens by either President Franklin D. Roosevelt or his successor Harry S. Truman during their terms.

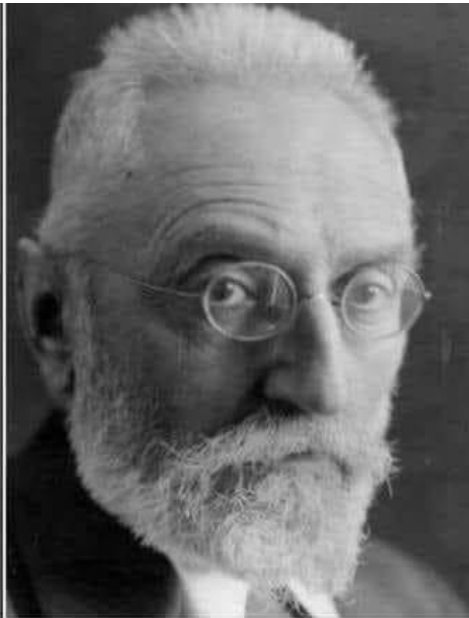

Hitler didn't snub me—it was FDR who snubbed me. The president didn't even send me a telegram.

In general it should not be forgotten that the highest aim of human existence is not the preservation of a state, let alone a government, but the preservation of the species.

And if the species itself is in danger of being oppressed or utterly eliminated, the question of legality is reduced to a subordinate role. Then, even if the methods of the ruling power are alleged to be legal a thousand times over, nonetheless the oppressed people's instinct of self-preservation remains the loftiest justification of their struggle with every weapon.

Only through recognition of this principle have wars of liberation against internal and external enslavement of nations on this earth come down to us in such majestic historical examples.

Human law cancels out state law.

And if a people is defeated in its struggle for human rights, this merely means that it has been found too light in the scale of destiny for the happiness of survival on this earth. For when a people is not willing or able to fight for its existence- Providence in its eternal justice has decreed that people's end.

The world is not for cowardly peoples.

HEAL HITLER

"The only thing I can say is that I am always surprised that in spite of the decades of brainwashing propaganda, young people are reborn again as National Socialists and admirers of Hitler, as if they were 'reincarnated' in order to continue the struggle on this Earth. This gives me hope and new energies to continue with the fight. Hitler and the swastika are enduring and eternal symbols, certainly archetypes with 'enduring powers of their own.' The Archetype will do the work by itself, even without our best knowledge and quite beyond our will and limited life span. This is our hope, our belief and the only thing that I know."

~ Miguel Serrano

One in ten Germans want a new FUHRER and a third believe their country 'is dangerously overpopulated by foreigners', new study finds

- 40 per cent think Muslims should not be allowed to immigrate to the country
- 11 per cent said Jews have too much influence in society
- Study argues extremist thinking has become more acceptable in society

By ALLAN HALL IN BERLIN FOR MAILONLINE

PUBLISHED: 17:17 BST, 15 June 2016 | UPDATED: 18:18 BST, 15 June 2016

A new academic study has rocked the government in Berlin as people call for a 'dictatorship in the national interest' with one in ten wanting a new Führer to lead them to glory.

The University of Leipzig's research team found that nearly 34 per cent of people quizzed thought Germany is 'dangerously overpopulated by foreigners.'

A total of 21.9 per cent agreed that Germany needs 'a single strong party that embodies the national community as a whole'.

Thirty per cent claimed Germany had been 'infiltrated by too many foreigners in a dangerous way'

One in every ten Germans wants their country to be led by a 'Führer' applying 'a firm hand for the common good.'

And 71 years after Nazism was vanquished and the horror of the death camps revealed to a stunned world, 11 per cent of people questioned by the university researchers said Jews have too much influence in society.

The revelation embedded in CGDCT SoL moe shows is not the plot or the characters, but the presentation of the world. These shows take place in worlds of safety, security, happy homes, living traditions, and full employment. The worst thing that ever happens is a pet dying or someone's family moving away. These stories from their very outset reject the proposition of eternal struggle, suffering, degradation, corruption, collapse, and globalism. They actually drew porn before the Meiji Restoration. In Europe, nobility and merchant families commissioned porn too. We call them "fine art" today. Yes, all those naked women in paintings and sculptures were designed as porn during the time they were made in.

>smug anime girls that bother leftists

Being laughed at by women is universally mortifying. Being demeaned by a smug expression is unnering. But for them its worse.

Womyn, and by extension their beta-cuckolded mangina slaves, have a hatred of anything pure, womanly, and girly because it directly provokes their insecurities. most notably their failure to thrive as a female. Feminists denounce what's pure and womanly by insinuating that being pure and womanly reinforces toxic patriarchal conformities, and other regurgitated tripe they learned in women's studies. And they do this because they constantly need the affirmation that their choice to fail as a woman somehow possesses merit.

Smug anime girls are deadly when weaponized against them because it affects them on a non-verbal, psychological, and ideological level. It instantly provokes them on many layers of their psyche. An idealized caricature of a female wearing an expression that denotes incredible self-worth and extreme derogation of their viewer couldn't possibly be a more effective psychological weapon on their frail hyper-vulnerable minds.

Last year before my third University year I wanted to show everyone how cool I COULD be so I got ahold of all of the University emails of my classmates and started emailing them from an anonymous Gmail over the course of a few weeks. I emailed them all 14 times in total, all of them aying something vague and slowly building up like you would when advertising a movie

>Email 1
This year you will all have a cool new classmate
>Email 2
Are you ready?
>Email 3
He's coming
>Email 4
He's coming very soon
>Email 5
This year the classmate reemerges as your once true (cryptic)
>Email 6
Would you like a riddle to help identify him? Well they are a riddle and a riddle can't help you solve a riddle so sorry, no riddle!
>Email 7 (2 weeks after the last email)
Just 1 week to go
>Email 8
Just 1 week
>Email 9
Just 1 week
>Email 10
Sorry, repeating myself? You will be repeating wow when the man in the silver coat comes to class
>Email 11
His clothes are ready
>Email 12
He will be a silver coated
>Email 13

>Email 14

w-what the fuck man..

After all this effort I went to class in my silver coat and green cloves confident. I honestly believed poeple would want to associate with me. But guess what? Nobody fucking said a thing. In fact someone laughed once when I coughed to try and gain attention. I was then sent several emails to my fake address laughing at me and calling me a dumbass loser.

This was the biggest failure of my life. I still shudder thinking about how foolish I felt. I spent hours deciding on the best times to send the emails, and how to keep them vague but interesting.

how many excavators have you seen in real life? In total? Maybe 100 over the course of your life- with 2 together at most, in one time. My theory is that there are about 50ish excavators in existence, shared across governments.

I mapped out the 3d space of this image using a linear perspective overlay.

blue = your position on the x axis purple = doors position on the x axis green = belly button height on the x axis orange = doorknob height on the z axis

red is just perspective lines so you can see how every line in the room matches up to help you visualize the 3d space.

your belly button is at least 2 inches lower than the door knob. again door knobs are a standard height. using my 6'1 frame as a reference, you are roughly 10 inches smaller than me, putting you at about 5'3.

First I figured out the country. Since the station is old looking and the signs are in English I figured it's Britain. Then I figured out which company the train belongs to. Once I had that I went to their website and found their route map. Since the station has at least three platforms, I figured it's probably an interchange. Then I used the route map to pick out the interchange stations and used trial and error until I got the right one. Took me about five minutes from start to finish.

I believe I have found the location of that gas station.

Family Express is located mainly in northern Indiana and while many locations have that sign, not too many have it at that angle such that a person lining up for gas would see it with the view in pic related.

I scoured through the 70-something locations and have determined that it is almost certainly the Family Express franchisee located in Valparaiso, IN. This is corroborated by the Google street view link with the reasons below.
<https://www.google.com/maps/@41.4688271,-87.0696996,3a,72.4y,293.65h,88.59t/data=!3m1!1e1!3m4!1stbUf7TSuvNzvhEwQhnrLg12e0l7i13312l8i6656>

The neon sign lists the items "E85", "Regular" and "MILK". While almost all FE locations have three items' prices listed, not too many have those particular three listed in that particular order. Additionally, the "FREE ATM" neon sign underneath is also a match, and again, not something at most other locations.

Furthermore, what looks like a light bulb on top of a lamp post can be attributed to both locations, with what looks like a rectangular sign affixed to the lamp post appearing in both images (albeit somewhat harder to see in the original).

With this evidence I deduce it is almost certainly the Family Express gas station located at 752 W Lincolnway, Valparaiso, IN.

"PAGAN" = "GOYIM"

Ekhah 1:10 Orthodox Jewish Bible (OJB)

10 The adversary hath spread out his hand upon all her precious things; for she hath seen how the Goyim entered into her [Beis] Hamikdash, whom Thou didst command that they should not enter into Thy Kahal (congregation, community).

at the (allegorical) knee of the Creator, who was, as he himself noted, "a jealous God" who would brook no competitors or rivals and who required absolute fidelity of his followers. Little wonder, then, that when circumstances have permitted, Jews, Christians, and Muslims have shown zero tolerance of the various goyim, etbne, pagani, or kafirun who have surrounded them. The latter paganus The use of paganus to refer to non-Christians is a late development, not common, at least in written sources, until the end of the fourth century AD. Before that time the usual term was "the nations": nationes, gentes, or gentiles. These words had a long and literate history, stemming ultimately from the biblical Hebrew goyim ("non-Jewish peoples") by way of its Greek translation ethnici, which Latin authors encountered in Greek translations of the Hebrew Bible, and in the Greek of the New Testament itself. Paganus, by contrast, seems to be slang or lower-class usage and may have begun as a joke. It came into currency in the lifetime of St. Augustine (AD 354–430) who refer in a letter to "unbelievers, whom we have been accustomed to call gentiles or, in the term now commonly used, pagani." Augustine's contemporaries Jerome and Ambrose, more attached to classical norms of writing, never use the newer term. Augustine himself usually prefers gentiles, except in the sermons, which were aimed at a popular audience. When addressing (and trying to convert) non-Christians, by contrast, he consistently avoids paganus, which shows it had an insulting tone.

Ancient Rome in So Many Words

Within a few centuries, some Christians used the word "gentiles" to mean non-Christians. The alternative pagani was felt to be less elegant.

LARPagan meme pictures debunked

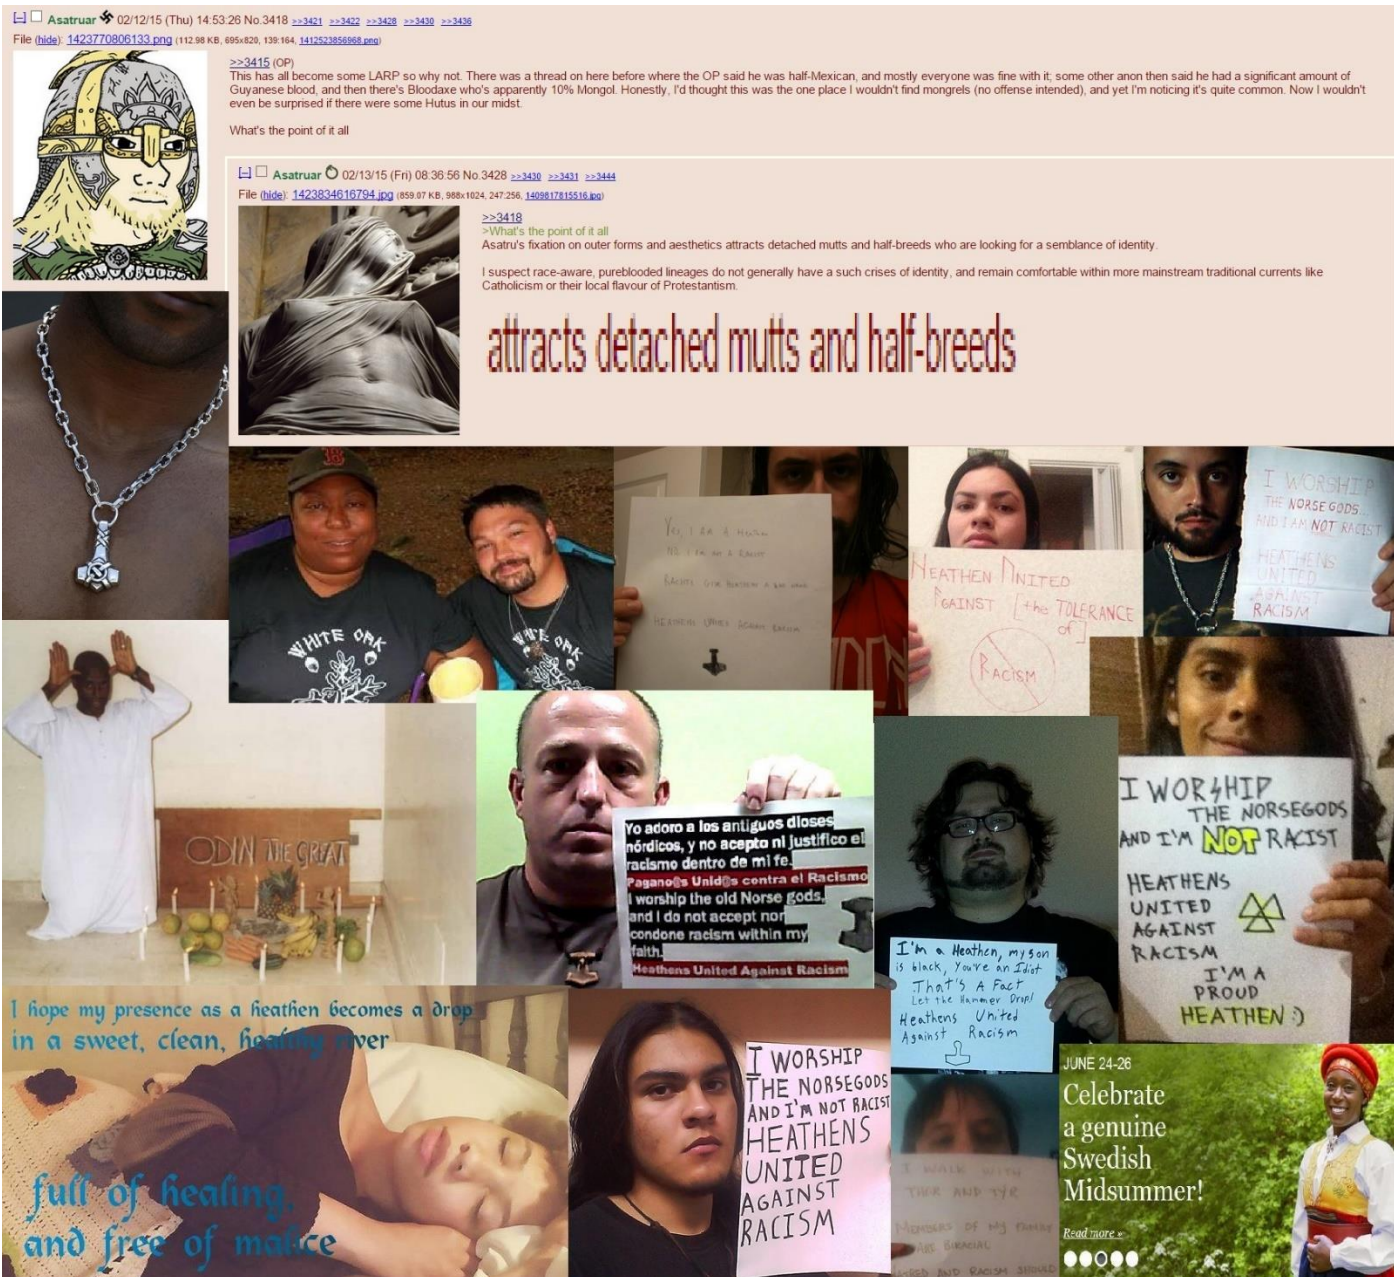

This image is a "reconstruction" of what Jesus actually looked like by the Jewish media. It is used by LARPagans frequently to discredit Jesus as a brown skinned Jew but it is not accurate.

This image is the only authentic depiction of what Jesus would've looked like. It was cut on an emerald at the request of Tiberius Caesar before 37 AD, around the time Jesus was killed by actual JEWS.

Demographics and prevalence [\[edit\]](#)

A 2003 survey by Helen A. Berger found 28.3% of American neopagans identified in survey as gay, lesbian, or bisexual.^[1]

In 2013, a survey of neopagans in England, Wales, Canada, Australia, and New Zealand found 49.8% of women and 44.5% of men identified as non-heterosexual. Of the non-heterosexual female demographic, 78.5% of identified as bisexual and 11.2% identified as lesbian/gay; of the non-heterosexual male demographic, 55.2% identified as gay and 37.1% identified as bisexual.^[2]

A 2015 study survey by Pew Research Center found that 11% of lesbian, gay, and bisexual respondents identified with non-Christian faiths, a large portion of which being some form of neopaganism or interfaith universalist beliefs. This was nearly double the general population.^[3]

History of the terms

However following the Restoration in 1814–1815 political clubs were again formed. The majority ultraroyalists chose to sit on the right. The "constitutionals" sat in the centre while independents sat on the left. The terms extreme right and extreme left, as well as centre-right and centre-left, came to be used to describe the nuances of ideology of different sections of the assembly.^[9]

The terms "left" and "right" were not used to refer to political ideology but only to seating in the legislature. After 1848, the main opposing camps were the "democratic socialists" and the "reactionaries" who used red and white flags to identify their party affiliation.^[10]

Stealing and melting down shopping carts

I've fantasized about stealing and melting down shopping carts from national brand stores since I was about 4 years old.

It literally gives me so much satisfaction, both spiritually and sexually, the thought of melting down and having a solid block of shopping cart.

I just got a job as a cart pusher for Walmart is there any way I could actually get away with this without getting in trouble?

Pic related is an ugly ass shopping cart but the ones at Walmart literally make me rock solid just LOOKING at. I can't believe I'm going to be getting paid good money to TOUCH them.

>these are my skills idk if they're applicable: really good at physics, strong asf, 5'8, willing to do anything to melt down a cart

I spent 3400$ to commission a sexbot based on Greta. Its being constructed by a Japanese company. She will be here in 2 more months. I am going to rent her out on craigslist for 300$ a night. So hot. the best part is her voice is now programmable. I am going to teach her to say: "Dump your carbon in me Daddy", "And I dont even have to shave it", "Stop teasing, they are NOT mosquito bites", and of course when anally penetrated she will exclaim "How dare you." Also she will have her nipples pierced, and a tongue stud.

This is the endgame dude. They will all be turned into AI sexbots.

trasting in epic bread

1f0LiA3xPkY 02/02/10(Tue)00:30:32 No.195657627

My job is so amazing.

I'll try to explain it by first talking about the people I work with: First, there is this wannabe supermodel babe. But damn, she is as completely useless as she is hot. The chick is fixing her hair or applying makeup non stop. She is terribly egocentric and has never once considered the wants or needs of anyone but herself. She is dumber than a box of rocks, and I still find it startling that she has enough brain power to continue to breathe.

The next girl is the polar opposite. She may well even be one of the most intelligent people on the planet. Her career opportunities are boundless, and yet she is here with us. She is a zero on a scale of one to ten. I'm not positive she even bathes, not to mention shaves her "womanly" parts. I think she could be a lesbian because whenever we drive by a hardware store, she mewls like a cat in heat.

But the gem of the bunch has to be the fucking stoner. And this dude is more than just your typical toker. In fact, he is high before he comes to work, while at work, and I'm pretty sure after work. He probably hasn't been sober any time in the past eight years, and he is only like 22. He dresses like a beatnik atavism from the 60s, and to exacerbate things, he keeps bringing his big fucking dog to work. Every day I have to fucking look at this giant Great Dane plod around half-stoned, probably from the second-hand smoke. Hell, I even often think it's attempting to talk with its constant trumpeting. Also, they're both constantly hungry, needing several stops to Krystal and Burger King every single fucking day.

Anyway, I drive these shitwads around in my van and we try to solve mysteries and shit.

This is the story all about how my life got flip, turned upside down
So if you take a moment and sit right there
I'll tell you how I became the meme called pedobear.
In west Neverland born and raised
Stalking on the playground is how I spent most of my days
Checking out max relaxing all cool

Playing with my balls outside of school
When a couple of kids who were looking real good Didn't check the offender registry in their neighborhood.
I touched one little kid and her mom got scared she said, "I'm calling the FBI on you sick pedobear."
So I whistled for a van but when it came near the license plate said chan and there was a party in the rear
If anything I could say this van was a snare
But I thought, "Nah forget it, you can't catch a running pedobear."
I pulled out of the girl, who was seven or eight and I yelled to the moralfags, "Yo homos, sage you later"
Looking at her crotch I got there before the hair
She can sit on my bone cause I'm the pedobear.

Now this is a story all about how my raid got flipped turned upside down, and I'd like to take a minute I got a story to tell; I'll show you how I got banned from Habbo-Hotel. From upper 4chan, born and raised, on the Pool Deck is where I spent most of my days, chilling out spamming dancin' all cool, preventin' some kids from gettin' in the pool, when a couple of mods saw I was up to no good, causing too much trouble in the neighborhood. I blocked one little door and to pay for my "crime", I got one little ban for two hours time.

Something big happened for sure, across the entire web. I heard that /pol/ succumbed to global moderation or something, which is why it completely transformed in a heartbeat.

The AI shitposting has gotten to the point where it's not only all-pervasive, but it is difficult to spot unless it's the same shit over and over again. The more paranoid side of me thinks that they have split undesirable communities with mirrors, and we're only coming into contact with fractions of the community at any given time. No idea how they could seamlessly implement it, but I know it's possible; especially for the likes of google etc.

Long ago I suspect the Internet had been "sharded" or broken up into pieces. I had this suspicion because I looked at a thread I had been participating in on cuck chan and nobody was replying to my dank posts. I checked the same thread over Tor for a laugh and my posts weren't even there. Then I reloaded the thread on my home non-Tor connection and there were my posts, un-replied to as before.

Something fishy is going on. BTW this was on DAK.

I suspect the same.

We know Google was using a search bubble, this would be an extension to an internet bubble.

Bubbles are matched via AI to harmonics between other bubbles, creating the appearance of a normal internet, though each bubble is encapsulated in a virtual world where it may be perturbed by AI for experimentation and evaluation.

This was the DARPA glownigger plan all along to evaluate the population.

That's not paranoia, it's prudence... and it's true. Pics related. It's called "sharding" and it seems like they are attempting to do this to both enhance/improve the effectiveness of the shilling/demoralization as well as make it seem like we are fewer in numbers to each other.

This is honestly the funniest picture I've ever seen on the internet
His vaguely threatening volatility and market cap, gold meekly crabbing in fear, the difference in price between his massive high/lows and hers, his multiple crashes throughout a 10 year history versus her usefulness as a store of value for millenia. I could go on, but you get the idea.
All of this contrasted with the constant assertion that Bitcoin is identical to gold and there is no meaningful difference between them makes for the most exquisite form of irony when their differences are juxtaposed so vividly. The contrast is almost divine - on the left is man's hubris, his desire to capture the scarcity and decentralization of nature and make it his own, his cerebral and conscious understanding of what it means to be what he thinks he is, his intentional "becoming", while on the right is nature, effortless being, no proof of work or blockchain or energy consumption, just an "is" that needs nothing added to it in order to be complete. He tries so hard and yet, the harder he tries to "become", the further he takes himself away from the effortless "is" that is gold. It's comedy on a cosmic scale, a joke only God himself could come up with.

It's a smart fear because it's literally how the world works.
>be me
>source and sell product on Amazon >6 months of great profits later Amazon send me letter asking me what my source is.
>if I don't tell them then I get banned from Amazon.
>Tell Amazon.
>3 months later Amazon release their own version of product.
>At the same time my supplier tells me they can no longer supply to me. To anyone actually. Other than Amazon.
>Have to drop product.
>As soon as I and others drop the product line Amazon increases its prices.
>Learn Amazon does this to everyone.
>Also learn Amazon uses it's self serve advertisement system where you pay Amazon to show ads to customers for your products, to figure out what keywords you use, then bans you from selling products and uses your keywords.
>Also find out Amazon puts all products in one product bin. If any items are found to be counterfeit, they just pick a marketplace seller to be the patsy, even if Amazon are sourcing from counterfeit suppliers. Amazon profits from it, patsy goes to jail.
Then find out last year Amazon paid 3% corporation tax whilst I paid 20%.
Just another example of monopolistic global control.

You vastly overstate the current state of the art of "AI"
Do you know why big tech wants to censor you? Do you? It's because you work for them. That's right, you fucking work for big tech. You see, "AI" works by running statistical heuristics on ungodly large amounts of text, and essentially just makes a prediction about what it should say next. Now, where does big tech get this huge volume of text to run through their machines and algorithms? They get it from you, and you do it for free!
There's only one problem. You guys say mean shit. You guys say perverted shit. You guys say things that customers will find offensive, and because of that AIs are going to say offensive shit like "niggers tongue my anus" and "HITLER DID NOTHING WRONG!"
You have to stop saying that stuff because you work for big tech, remember? You're powering AI.
Generating text is pretty much a solved problem, but generating stuff that isn't going to offend people is a huge problem that nobody can figure out. It's easier to just censor you. You're fucking things up!

STOP SAYING THE N-WORD!

He's the fifth child for Biden, the son of presumptive Democratic presidential candidate Joe Biden, and the first for his wife, whom he married just six days after they met.

Melissa's brother Garyn Cohen told The Post a "beautiful and healthy baby boy" was born in Los Angeles on Saturday, March 28.

wasn't suppose to be. I remember the Q-tips - I hated getting my ears clean; brating my vagina due to overhearing parents having sex;

what made me so attached?

- my mother not emotionally available -
- my father was - message - I could get love from men.
- "I'm not your mother"
- Blanket being taken away
- not letting myself go to bathroom
- Being wiped until too late in the game -

I could list all the reasons -
But I can't seem to find

HE STARTED MUMBLING SOMETHIN ABOUT FDA APPROVAL

SO I SLAPPED THE DENCHERS OUTTA HIS STUPID FUCKIN FACE

AND I TOLD HIM THAT TO ME, FDA STANDS FOR FULL DICK ATTENTION, AND THAT HIS DAUGHTERS AND HIS FAKE DOCTOR BITCH OF A WIFE, THEY WERE ALL BIG POPPA PUMP APPROVED

I TOLD HIM I MIGHT EVEN MAKE HUNTER WATCH, WHILE I SMOKED ALL HIS CRACK AND FUCKED HIS FAMILY ONE BY ONE

I FELT JOE GETTING EXCITED LIKE THE OLD DEMENTIA RIDDEN PEDOPHILE HE IS, SO I SLAPPED HIS DUMB ASS AGAIN

THIS TIME HIS ENTIRE JAW CAME UNHINGED, HE WAS FALLIN APART RIGHT IN FRONT OF BIG POPPA PUMP

SO WHAT DID I DO? I BENT HIM OVER AND FUCKED HIM TOO

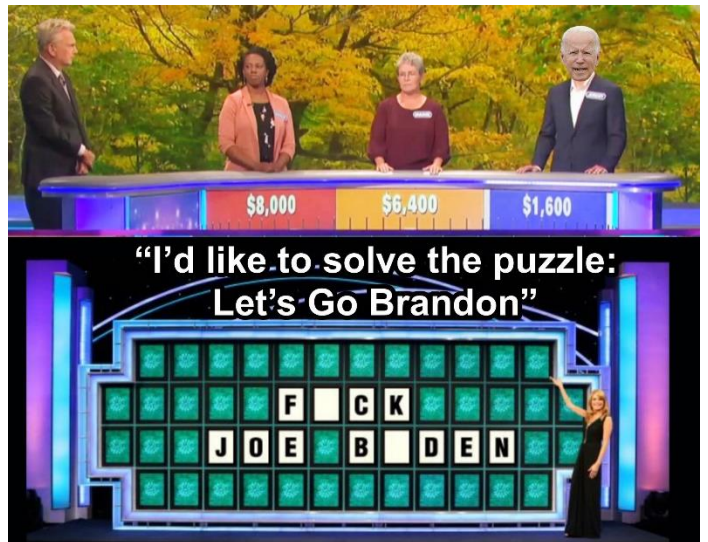

I SPLIT HIS OLD ASS IN HALF WITH MY POPPA PUMP THRUST

AND AS THE DOCTORS WERE MARKING HIM DOWN AS A COVID DEATH, I SAID NOW THAT'S A BREAKTHROUGH CASE

Adele Booming At Radio, But Temporarily Knocked Off iTunes Top Spot by Moronic Anti-Biden Song

■ Music by Roger Friedman - October 25, 2021 2:02 pm

Adele's "Easy On Me" is booming away at radio. The single has been added to the largest number of radio stations in existence, and getting played more than any other record by the hour. This is all according to MediaBase, which tracks song plays and stations.

According to Buzz Angle, "Easy On Me" is now nearing 600,000 copies sold, mostly from streaming. That's not the same numbers as Adele's singles from 2015, but it's better than any other record for sale today or the last year.

Meantime, "Easy On Me" was knocked off its perch at number 1 on iTunes after 10 straight days. The temporary displacer is a moronic single called "Let's Go Brandon!" by Bryson Gray Tyson, an anti-Biden record for anti-vaxxers. Idiots are pushing this piece of crap up the iTunes chart, but no one in their right mind would spend money on it. It's not a song, or a record, it's just garbage.

Adele will be back at number 1 by tomorrow.

So here's the REAL story on what happened in Benghazi.

>tldr Stevens was sent to Benghazi in order to retrieve US made Stinger missiles supplied to Ansar al Sharia without Congressional oversight or permission.

Hillary brokered the deal through Stevens and a private arms dealer named Marc Turi. Then some of the shoulder fired missiles ended up in Afghanistan used against our own military. On 7/25/2012, a Chinook helicopter was taken down by one of our own Stingers. The idiot Taliban didn't arm the missile and the Chinook didn't explode, but had to land anyway. An ordnance team recovered the serial # off the missile which led back to a cache of Stingers being kept in Qatar by the CIA.

Obama and Hillary were now in panic mode and Stevens was sent in to retrieve the rest of the Stingers. This was a do-or-die mission, which explains the stand down orders given to multiple teams. It was the State Dept, not the CIA that supplied them to our sworn enemies, because Petraeus wouldn't supply these deadly weapons due to their potential use on commercial aircraft. Then, Obama threw Gen. Petraeus under the bus after he refused to testify that he OK'd the BS talking points about a spontaneous uprising due to a Youtube video.

Obama and Hillary committed treason...and THIS is what the investigation is all about, why she had a private server, (in order to delete the digital evidence), and why Obama, two weeks after the attack, told the UN that the attack was because of a Youtube video, even though everyone knew it was not. Further...the Taliban knew that this administration aided and abetted the enemy without Congressional approval when Boehner created the Select Cmte, and the Taliban began pushing the Obama Administration for the release of 5 Taliban Generals. Bowe Bergdahl was just a pawn...everyone KNEW he was a traitor.

So we have a traitor as POTUS that is not only corrupt, but compromised...and a woman that is a serial liar, perjured herself multiple times at the hearing whom is running for POTUS. Only the Dems, with their hands out, palms up, will support her. Perhaps this is why no military aircraft was called in...because the administration knew our enemies had Stingers.

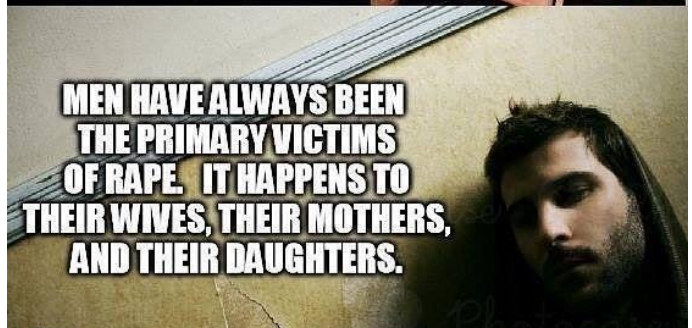

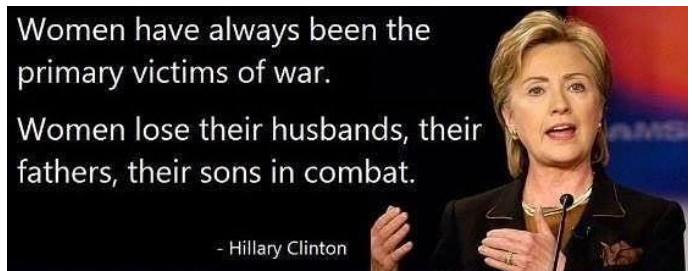

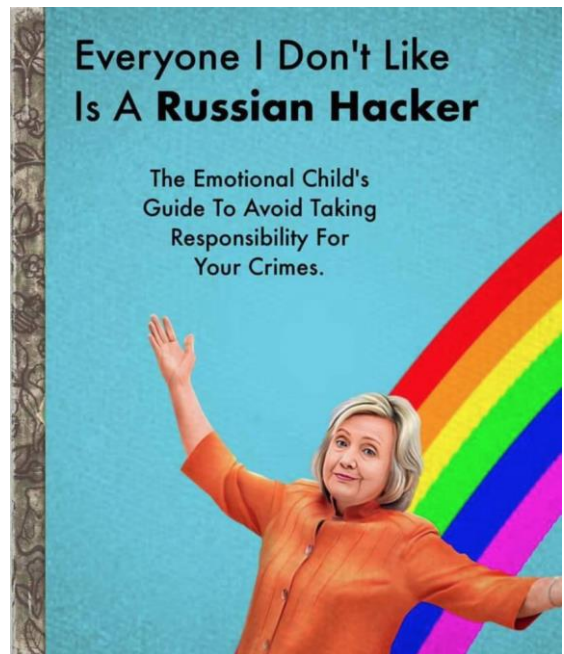

Just google Marc Turi and educate yourself.

A TRAIL OF DEATH

The following is a list of a number of persons who have died in suspicious circumstances who had connection to the Clintons or the Clinton's dealings. The length and breadth of this list is disconcerting. It is beyond credibility that very many of these cases are coincidences. Forward any errors or inconsistencies as the list has been compiled from multiple sources:

Ron Brown's Lawyer	04/96	Murdered	Drive by shooting, day after Ron Brown's plane crashed.
Ron Brown Secretary of Commerce	04/96	Plane Crash	Commerce Sec. near indictment who allegedly threatend Clinton with "not going down alone". U.S. said no black box was on this government plane, though Croatian and French TV showed teams pulling one out. Air Force, for the first time ever, canceled the safety investigation of a U.S. government crash on friendly soil.
34 Passengers	04/96	Plane Crash	On plane with Brown. A stewardess was rescued several hours after the crash alive. She died in route to hospital from blood loss due to a cut femoral artery sustained in the crash!
Adm. Borda Chief of Naval Operations	1996	Suicide	Allegedly shot himself in chest with handgun, disraught with questions regarding his medals that he had answered a year earlier. He was a combat veteran from Vietnam who received combat ribbons for some activities while there. Others, were reclassified later to combat, after which he began wearing these as well. When questions regarding the latter ribbons arose, he simply said he would not wear the ones in question if there was going to be a big deal made of it. This combat veteran, and our highest ranking naval officer, responsible for a couple of hundred thousand service men, and always a capable officer and soldier; now a year after settling the issue, he shoots himself over it? Others believe that he was eliminated because he refused to transport Chinese, Eurasian and other forces on U.S. Navy transports to U.S. and Canadian shores for semi-permanent "ongoing" training.
Bill Shelton	06/94	Suicide	Allegedly shot himself at gravesite of fiancée, Kathy Ferguson, who died the month before, also from suicide. Shelton was an Ark. state trooper who had vocally been proclaiming that his fiancée had not committed suicide. Allegedly shot himself behind the left ear.
Kathy Ferguson	05/94	Suicide	Ex of Ark. trooper Danny Ferguson, engaged to trooper Bill Shelton. Danny Ferguson allegedly escorted Paula Jones to Clinton's hotel room and Kathy was vocal about her knowledge in the case and was to be a corroborating witness for Paula Jones in her sexual harassment case against Clinton. Allegedly shot herself behind left ear.
Attorney for Dan Lassater	05/94	Suicide	Allegedly jumped out of a building to kill himself. He represented Dan Lassiter, a close friend of Bill Clinton, who was indicted on drug charges and sent to prison.
Ronald Rogers	03/94	Plane Crash	Ark. dentist for Clintons, killed on way to interview with a "London Sunday Telegraph" reporter to reveal info.
Hershey Friday	03/94	Plane Crash	Clinton attorney and fund raiser. Plane blew up.
Ed Wiley	11/93	Suicide	Allegedly shot himself in head in Virginia. Real Estate attorney and manager of Clinton presidential campaign finance committee.
Luther Parks	09/93	Murdered	Head of Clinton's security team in Little Rock, gunned down in his car outside of Little Rock. Home broken into before his death, dossier on Clinton taken.
Stanley Heard	09/93	Plane Crash	Chair of Chiropractic Health Care Advisory Comm. for Clinton who had treated Clinton's mother, stepfather & brother. Killed when airplane crashed after reporting fire on board.
Steve Dickson	09/93	Plane Crash	Counsel to Mr. Heard, killed in same crash.
John Walker	?????	Accident	RTC investigator who fell from balcony of apartment that was also a getaway for Vince Foster.
Vincent Foster White House Counsel	07/93	Suicide	Allegedly shot in Ft. Marcy Park. Bullet not found, gun used stayed in hand. Initial witness said there was no gun. Close friend of Clintons. Alleged possible affair with Hillary, involved in Inslaw CIA computer cover-up, tracked Clinton finances. Many irregularities in death and its investigation.
Paul Wilcher	06/93	Murdered	Washington attorney, investigating federal corruption, including Mena and BATF assault on Branch Davidians. Shortly before death, gave Janet Reno with a 99 page affidavit. Planned TV documentary. Found dead on toilet before mtg with Danny Casolaro's attorney.
John Wilson	05/93	Suicide	Allegedly hung himself. Reportedly part of Whitewater and was ready to talk.
Sgt. B. Haney Sgt. Tim Sabel Maj. William Barkley Capt. Scott Reynolds	05/93	Helo Crash	All four died in crash in the woods near Quantico, VA. All had escorted Clinton on flight to the Roosevelt. Videotape made by firemen at crash site siezed by feds.
5 Aviators	03/93	Plane Crash	All five died in a crash when "waved off" from landing on the carrier Roosevelt. All five had escorted Clinton during his visit to the Roosevelt several weeks earlier.

Officials in the Administration who have died in the first four years :

Secretary of Commerce
Deputy White House Counsel
Chief of Naval Operations

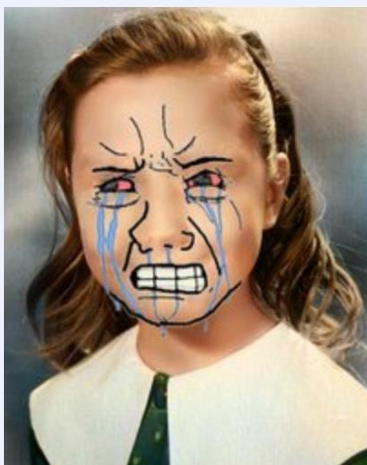

Of these 89 deaths the causes break out as follows :

Deaths	Cause	Incidents
59	Plane Crashes	12
13	Murders	13
10	Suicides	10
04	Waco Assault	01
03	Accidents	03

If you work with Clinton and deal with any of his scandals, or if you attempt to investigate them or accidentally come across them, you will likely die in a plane crash, a murder or suicide.

Gen. Robertson Col. Densberger Col. Kelly Spec. Rhodes	02/93	Helo Crash	Deputy Commander, Chief of Ops, Chief of Intel. & crew Chief for V Corps which was prominent in Bosnia-Serb operations, along with the carrier Roosevelt. They were associated with Clinton's visit to the Roosevelt. Helo crashed near Weisbaden Germany.

James Bunch	?????	Suicide	Suicide similar to Vince Foster. Texan w/"black book" of influential Texans & Arkansans who visited prostitutes. A rumor persists of potential notes on Bill Clinton.
Stanley Huggins	?????	Murdered	Partner in Memphis law firm investigatin Madison Guarantee. His 300 page report has never been released.
Florence Martin	?????	Murdered	Accountant subcontracted to CIA in the Barry Seal case. Dead of three gunshot wounds to the head.
Sue Coleman	?????	Suicide	Had affair with Clinton while attorney general. "Suicide" with gunshot wound to the back of her head. No autopsy, was pregnant.
Danny Casolaro	08/91	Suicide	Reporter investigating Whitewater, Mena, BCCI, & ADFA. About to receive info linking Iran-Contra to the Inslaw scandal when found in bathtub with wrists slit.
Kevin Coney Gregory Collins Kieth McKaskle Jeff Rhodes Richard Winters Jordan Ketelson	1988-89	Murdered	Six Ark. people who came forward with info about the death of 2 teens near the Mena operations. All killed before testifying. Stabbed, shotgunned or burned. Local detective, John Brown, reportedly solved the case and gave findings to FBI which sat on them. According to Brown, "We now who killed these kids. The reason this case has been stopped ... is because it tracks to Bill Clinton being involved in the cover-up".
Kevin Ives Don Henry	08/87	Murdered	Two Bryant, Ark teens who saw too much of the Mena air drops. Found on train tracks. Initial report said they fell asleep and was made by a state coroner appointed by Bill Clinton. Parents protested and after months, had the boys exumed and re-examined. his father, Pierre Trudeau?

Ever wonder why Justin Trudeau doesn't look like

Pierre Trudeau was married to Margaret Trudeau, who frankly did not care for her husband one bit. She had multiple affairs with many different famous people including Ted Kennedy, Mick Jagger (and possibly the rest of the Rolling Stones). She cuckolded Pierre all across the world.

Pierre and Margaret were fans, and even friends of Fidel Castro. I am positive that Justin Trudeau's real father is, in fact, Fidel Castro.

Is it too strange to think that? I say no. The fact that Justin Trudeau would be a product of cuckoldry would make more sense than anything.

Want more proof? Look at Trudeau right now compared to a young Fidel Castro. Their facial structure is similar, the noses are almost the same, compared with Pierre Trudeau it is night and day.

Fidel Castro is Justin Trudeau's father!

>Pierre Trudeau's and Fidel Castro's paths crossed for the first time in 1970, when the Canadian government sought to negotiate the exile of members of the FLQ, who had kidnapped British trade commissioner James Cross. Fidel Castro obliged the Canadian PM by providing a refuge, and in a private letter Mr. Trudeau later extended his heartfelt gratitude.

Antananarivo, Madagascar - November 26, 2016

The Prime Minister, Justin Trudeau, today issued the following statement on the death of former Cuban President Fidel Castro:

"It is with deep sorrow that I learned today of the death of Cuba's longest serving President.

"Fidel Castro was a larger than life leader who served his people for almost half a century. A legendary revolutionary and orator, Mr. Castro made significant improvements to the education and healthcare of his island nation.

"While a controversial figure, both Mr. Castro's supporters and detractors recognized his tremendous dedication and love for the Cuban people who had a deep and lasting affection for "el Comandante".

"I know my father was very proud to call him a friend and I had the opportunity to meet Fidel when my father passed away. It was also a real honour to meet his three sons and his brother President Raúl Castro during my recent visit to Cuba.

"On behalf of all Canadians, Sophie and I offer our deepest condolences to the family, friends and many, many supporters of Mr. Castro. We join the people of Cuba today in mourning the loss of this remarkable leader."

The Pepe in the beret looked on with a face full of appall. "It's clear your asylum needs a much higher wall. How is it such madness runs free on the street? A blind man could tell that 'chick' is smuggling meat!"

"Tut-tut," tiskied the RINO, mom-jeans up past his waist. "Such vulgar words are in truly bad taste. Now I must vote with the Progs to take your freedoms away. Gosh-darnit to heck, Pepe in the beret - there are some things you simply can't say!"

"Fine," says the Pepe in the beret. "Keep floating through life in your spineless, jellyfish way. But the truth is the truth - there's a dick on that 'chick'! That none will admit it makes me quite sick. Though perhaps, there are others who yet still can see? There must be a place with others like me!"

"Not so fast," burbles the bald-headed billionaire despot. "You'll go no further with that kind of thought. I forbid you from gathering in social media spaces. I'll pull down your forums and bar marketplaces! From amzoophiles to zindlers, you'll not be buying online. And no, it's not censorship - these things are all mine!"

"That doesn't seem right," says the Pepe in the beret, with a shake of his head. "It seems like you all prefer me and mine dead! There's a dick on this 'chick' - please open your eyes! I speak only the truth, you're the ones spinning lies! It seems all of you find destroying us fun. Does peace only come from the barrel of a gun?"

"No more of this," drools the addled and mush-mouthed President Lich. "Or you'll end up like my wife and be dead in a ditch. You're clearly a threat - we must take your weapons away. And are we having oatmeal with raisins today?"

"Very well," sighs the Pepe in the beret, "be it canceled or jailed, I won't bend the knee however I pay. But push me and squoosh me, scream, swear or shout, there's a truth you should beware of..."

"Fuck around and find out!"

Kenyan-born Obama all set for US Senate

Kenyan-born US Senate hopeful, Barack Obama, appeared set to take over the Illinois Senate seat after his main rival, Jack Ryan, dropped out of the race on Friday night amid a furor over lurid sex club allegations.

The allegations that horrified fellow Republicans and caused his once-promising candidacy to implode in four short days have given Obama a clear lead as Republicans struggled to fetch an alternative.

Ryan's campaign began to crumble on Monday following the release of embarrassing records from his divorce. In the records, his ex-wife, Boston Public actress Jeri Ryan, said her former husband took her to a sex club.

CELEBS / GEORGE SOROS

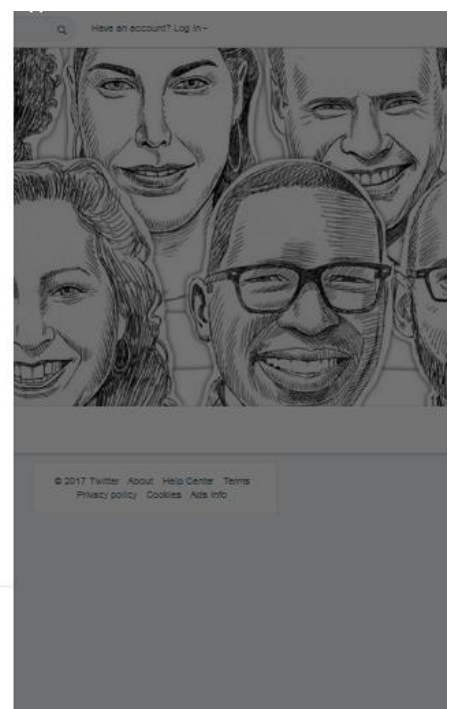

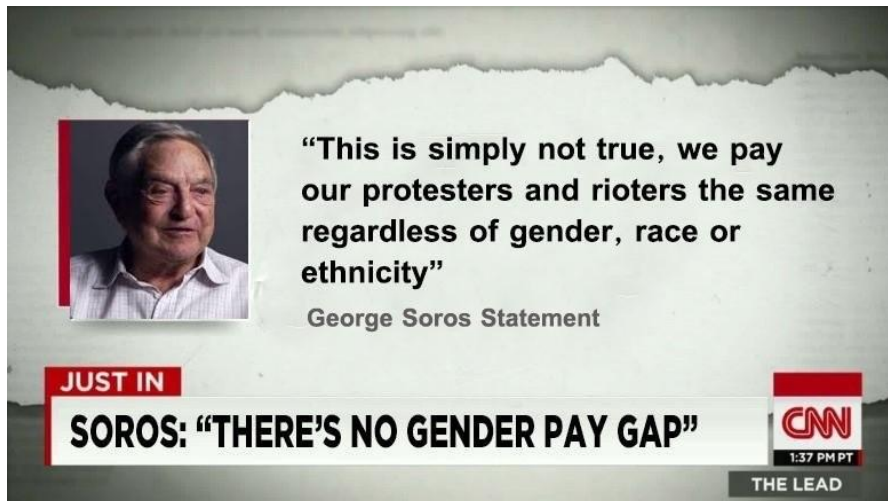

Anonymous (ID: m6r2pewc) 11/15/16(Tue)07:32:10 No.98602388 >>98602868 >>98604546 >>98608066 >>98613938

As a person who personally witnessed the works of soros, i can say that his coups always start the same. "Peaceful protests" either work and people coup the government (rarely happens) or those protests need a little push from the behind, in the form of few killings of the protestors. He sacrifices few of his own cannon fodder to gain more people, because people think that government killed them. So we often end up in ridiculous situations where government actually protects people that protest against it, knowing that soros will fuck them up.

In the beginning, there were schools for learning how to coup governments, they were under his open society institute in budapest. People going there fall under 2 categories, regular mercenaries who do it for money, and people who really believe in what they are doing is good. How do they become so brainwashed? Well through summer camps for kids in that same open society institute of course. They literally teach you from the very very early age how to become a total servant for the soros.

Now, the bad part. Back in 2000, soros taught some of our guys, serbs, how to coup slobodan milosevic. They did it with amazing results, no one in that time believed the coup was organized from the outside. Soros was so pleased with the results he donated a private island for every one of his top serbs in the organization. After the coup he formed an organization called CANVAS, google it, which is basically rent-a-coup worldwide, they coup the government which soros tells them to coup. Ukraine 2x, multiple arab countries, venezuela (failed and ongoing), iran (failed), russia (that's why putin ordered that all foreign ngos must be classified as foreign agents if they work politically). All of their work is pretty much the same. Aggressive protests lead to political crisis which impacts the regular economy which fuels the hate of regular person that becomes a soldier against the government.

I've seen it all in real life, it's hilarious

I take the Ep from Epic and adjoin it to -stein
Then I drug my victims with wine
Ignore their cries
Molest 'em with my rhymes
Their yells of despair are to no avail
All they get is a pasty egg stain

My island is remote
Of rape and rap I'm the GOAT
Put your daughters on my boat
And sacrifice them to a goat
Moloch is hungry today, and indeed they'll obey when I order Ghislaine to lay off my jizz cane and molest their taints with her gay ways You're a bottom-feeder while I fly high with my cutie pie Mossad spy
The TerraMar Terror of Tel Aviv
Transhuman joie de vivre
Crème de la crème de la rape
Hurricane Harvey, meet the Isle of No Escape
You balless dickless gnome fart
I've googled your kids and they're hot but I'd abstain from touching them...

Not!

Blackmailing your colleagues and a pedo Prince Charming

Every celebrity is my darling
Even Stephen Hawking got a penis riding
My plane is active after my demise
Flying to the South Pole where Groening gets his South pole polished while I chill in Israel, girls on my Kinder Surprise
My dick may be small but the balls are king-size
Untouchable Jeff touches whom he pleases
Rounds up some girls and in their mouths he jizzes
Visit my temple, you'll have a blast
when I shove a coconut tree into your ass
I'll take you to my underground dungeon where I bring kids for Hillary to lunch on
It's a full-scaled reptilian feast
I present the meat and Ghislaine her yeast

try to swim away and a shark will bite your cock

Jeffry-j on the mic,
I'm here to recite,
A little story about Harvey,
That he won't like,
Jerkin off in potted plants,
With balls so blue,
Unbuckles his pants,
And then she knew,
She tried to leave
When he went to sneeze,
She slipped in cum,
Fell to her knees,
"For one career,I'll do ya dear"
For a couple seconds,it was all so clear.
Take it up the ass and get that cash.
Only thing blacker than his heart,
Is his balls.
Probably lurks in bathroom stalls.
I'm the biggest baddest creep of all,
Now put on this blindfold,
And enter the hall....
Harvey:
Harvey dubs here,
about to spread fear,
Gonna kick this shit into higher gear,
I make and break careers,
I'm the most epic fucking (((Stein))) that is here

Like it was your destiny,
Heart so cold, it had my amazement,
Sleepin in a bed,
With starving kids in your basement.
Someone should've smashed your head on the pavement.
Flying around, with creepy pervs,
While I was hanging out with Hollywood bitches with curves!
You dont have to sacrifice to moloch,
Just jizz in a sock.
Oh nooooo her comes dan Schneider
I'm the creepiest of all us three,
And shortly in time,you will see.

Pretty and with curls,
If she's over 12,
That shit makes me hurl!

I'd love to kick Warwick Davis in the head. Just take a few steps run up then catch him with the full force of my steel capped toe under his chin, send that little faggot flying through the air.

As he lies on the floor, coughing and wheezing and chocking on his own blood, his jaw a mangled mess of bones detached from the rest of his skull, I stand over him and laugh wickedly. He looks up at me in fear and pain, his eyes searching, begging me for mercy. He finds none. I raise my boot then stomp down, splitting his skull like a melon and finally ending his pathetic life.

There are limits to how free speech is, even on the Internet.

Star Wars actor Warwick Davis asks $13.8 million for defamation after anonymous posters to the Internet site 4chan.org threatened to rape, kill and dismember him and his family.

Warwick and Samantha Davis said they had to move out of town and hire a private security team for protection because of the nasty online threats. The couple asked for $13.78 million in damages for mental anguish and protection costs.

All the elevator Buttons
Oh so Incredibly High
I stand today for the midget
Half the size of a regular Guy
Let Me Hold You Little Man
As the parade passes by
Let Me Hold You Little man
We'll make believe you can fly
You shout for me to put you down
But I'm marching today for your cause
I'm bangin' the drum
Your big day will come
When they remake the wizard of Oz
Let Me Hold You Midget Man
We'll pretend that you're flyin in space
Let Me Hold You Little Man
So the dog will stop licking your face
Little Shoes, Little Pants
Little Song, Little Dance
Little Heart, Little Mind
But your rights are as big as mine
Na, Na-Na-Na, Na-Na-Na-Na
Na-Na Na Na-Na Na Na
Thank God I'm Tall
I won't let you fall
We're all midget, one and for all
Thank God I'm Tall
I won't let you fall
We're all midget, and some are just small

Imagine being Warwick Davis and knowing Peter Dinklage exists.

Just compare them, the proportions of the taller fellow not straying too far from the realms of normal-looking, his facial features not noticeably differentiating from that of a grown man, just the right dose of rugged. His voice is that of a wise uncle, his acting skills allow him to reach heights no midget and few normal actors can (if given the proper material to work with, of course). Consider his beautiful normal sized wife who gave to him beautiful normal children, the legacy of wealth and respect he leaves to them. Essentially, Dinklage is a successful man trapped in the body of a the most chad dwarf ever.

Warwick, on the other hand, has pathetically stubby and laughable proportions more fitting for a tortoise or a koala than a human being. Even when sitting down with his lower body shrouded, no one could make the mistake of confusing Warwick with an actual man. Instead of building a normal family, he purposefully sought out a woman that carries his horrid affliction so he could force their mutual misfortune onto whatever progeny could survive, forcing souls out of the blissful void to bear the cross of a deformed midget existence. Only two of their midget children live so far, the others not surviving long enough to be given names, their disgusting bodies fading out of this mortal coil knowing they're better off not living like that. As for acting, Warwick is doomed to play comic relief character or leprechauns, not just because of his deformed skull, lack of talent and his goblin voice barring him from being anything else, but because Dinklage is always a better fit for characters meant to be respected and taken seriously.

It'd suck being Warwick Davis and knowing you're inferior even in your own shtick, but given what he has done to his family, he deserves more misery than he will experience during the remainder of his wretched, deformed life.

Imagine being a tiny little bit of a man. You wake up in the morning and throw back the napkin blanket from your matchbox bed. You almost roll off and fall to your death. Feel around for the ladder with your rice-sized big toe. There it is. You climb down. Now you see an ant. The giant brute lumbering toward you. The smell of tiny man meat intoxicates your nostrils. A whirlwind of pounding feet jitter like jelly. An all out sprint ensues. This ant is slow, but you'll beat him to the place with the food source. You make it there as the ant tires. You eat. Then the ant eats. A snack was great, but it was nothing compared to the glory that is eating. All is right in the world. Then you sit. It feels as if the ant on your head is no longer there. And you realize the task at hand, that you are a tiny man. And you can't jump out of an ant's head

What I would give to kidnap Warwick Davis and make his life a living hell. I would force him to dress up in elf and leprechaun outfits and subject him to pure awfulness and humiliation. Just terrible degradation and shameful acts. It would be so easy to break his spirit and drive him to suicide, but I wouldn't let him do it. If I could train a dog to rape on command then I would totally do that as well. A really big dog like a mastiff. He would be so completely and utterly powerless to stop it, not to mention terrified. A big ass dog is even scary and life-threatening to a normal human but to a midget? Might as well be a dragon. I'd keep him in a cell and what's more is that I would actually place the key inside with him but put it in a high place. Not extremely high but just ever so slightly out of reach. It would drive him mad. I would dress him like a baby and force feed him 99 cent store baby food. I'd also pick him up like a child and toss him from one corner to the next. I'd grab him by one leg and swing him as hard and as fast as I could then hurl him to see how far he goes. I'd rent one of those giant inflatable bounce houses and body slam him all day until my arms got tired. I'd hold him down with 1 hand and slowly stick things up his butt just to see him squirm. I would stick him in dryers and turn them on and leave him in there for long periods of time. I'd force him to fight other midgets to the death. Just so many things I would do.

imagine kidnapping him and his daughter, strapping davis to a chair, and forcing him to watch you go BALLS DEEP into his daughter. she's small and light enough that you can just grab her by the waist and hold her up in the air. you take her top off, then her pants, till she's just wearing her little panties and a bra. warwick is begging you not to. he starts to tear up, knowing well what's about to happen to his daughter. you rip off her last pieces of her garment until she's standing there completely naked infront of you and her father. her tight little pussy looks especially tasty, and you can tell she has never been with a man before. you pick her up and enter her. your average sized cock poking out of her stomach with every thrust. she screams in pain and in fear, but her little midge pussy tells a different story. she's dripping love nectar all over and along her thighs. warwick is screaming and crying. "YOU WON'T GET AWAY WITH THIS! "THE POLICE WILL FIND YOU! YOU'RE GOING TO GO TO JAIL FOR THE REST OF YOUR LIFE, YOU MONSTER"! he says, with tears running down his checks. you return your focus to his daughter, who at this point has completely forgotten her father was in the room. Her screams and crying has turned into sounds of just pleasure and lust. she's never felt so good before in her life. her once tight dwarven pussy is now permanently lose. a once pristine virgin pussy, now blown out like an arby's sandwich quivers with each thrust. she's going to cum, and so are you. as she screams in pleasure, her whole body starts shaking from her orgasm, and as you return your gaze into warwick's red teary eyes, you too orgasm. you flood her now blown out pussy with cum, and drop her onto the floor like the flesh light she is. she's on the ground naked, shaking from the most intense orgasm of her life, cum pooling out of her pussy and now with a bastard in her belly. you leave the torture chamber, head home, and begin to prepare for the next day.

Personally I'd starve Warwick Davis. It should not take too long given his size. Make him stick thin and so feeble. Then I would feign pity and serve him a plate of delicious char siu meat, with rich, sticky sauce, perfect pancakes, refreshing drinks... go all out. Give that little bastard a banquet. Watch him greedily devour the meat. His lips, teeth, and fingers sticky with the sauce as he throws manners and decorum out of the window in a mad rush to satiate himself. Then, when he's satisfied and feels things are looking up, I shall reveal he has not been feasting on char siu pork but... char siu Harrison Davis. Yes, I will have ensured Warwick Davis greedily gobbled up the flesh of his mutant son that I butchered after growing bored with torturing him. As the tears well up in his eyes and he refuses to believe me, I shall let out a truly evil, bone chilling laugh and upend the contents of a box I'll have near me; it will be the mangled remains of his son. His legs gone, his skin flayed, castrated, eyes missing, his fingers and arms broken, and head twisted around. That is what I would do to that little bastard. The louder he screams and cries in anguish, the louder and more evil my cackle becomes. Hell, it may just kill me because I'll be struggling to breathe as I'll be laughing so hard. I will then loop the footage of his son being raped by a dog, tortured, and then butchered by me 24/7 at maximum volume. This is the fate that awaits you, you vile little goblin

Warwick fucking Davis.
There isn't a single soul on this god forsaken planet I could despise more. Everything about the little cunt makes me fucking vomit; his odd misshapen head, disproportionately broad shoulders, shiny toned forehead, knobbly troll-esque hands, stubby crooked legs; I wouldn't even spare him the pleasure of death, I just want to see him suffer. I would savour his agony. Firstly I'd tie his sad little hands to a swingball, and proceed to punt him around the cold metal post until he closes in and hits his stupid fucking head against the joyous thing, then unwind the concussed bastard and do it again. After a few hours of powerless shrieks for mercy I'd let the beggar down and giggle with pure childlike joy as he waddles around the garden like a baby giraffe, falling over and hitting his head every few steps as he readjusts to being afoot again at last. Once finally inside I'd tie him to a baby chair and mangle his kneecaps with a rubber mallet, only stopping to relish his impotent cries - "Why? Why are you doing this to me? What have I done to you? You sick bastard!" - though I wouldn't answer, I'd merely pause for a second with a hand to my ear, as if I had heard something in the distance, only to promptly continue with my relentless assault. With every bone in his ungodly vessel reduced to aptly tiny pieces I'd give the horrid gremlin his due with a final blow to the head. God would be smiling, the world would rejoice, and just like that we'd never hear from old Warwick ever again.

The Purpose of Life

The Catholic purpose of life is to know God, love God and obey God. However, Pope Francis, wrongly said it was, "to serve the other." I am High Priest of God's official temple and I say the purpose of life is to do continual offerings to God like Cain and Abel and enjoy God's response. Francis has a charity; I have a church. Jesus said loving God was more important than loving neighbor. Matthew,22:35-40 And, He did not say with half your brain behind your back.

You don't know God. 1 Chronicles,28:9-9, Matthew,11:27-27, Luke,13:28-27, 1 Samuel,3:6-8 You must talk with God to know Him. With Samuel, supposedly, God took the initiative, but I think that is the exception. Seek the Lord by taking the initiative. Luke,11:9-10

There's something obviously different about people in the Bible compared to people today -- God talked! Also, the people in the Bible were obsessed with doing offerings all the time. It is required that you do offerings before God will talk. Did the people in the Bible hear voices? Maybe. More likely, they used occult techniques such as an oracle. 1 Kings,6:21 Have you heard of "tongues?" 1 Corinthians,14:1-40 The idea is, you let yourself be puppeted by a spirit, so you say things. You try to get a spirit -- the Holy Spirit -- to talk. You might as well use a Ouija board. However, it turns-out that a Ouija board is bad for technical reasons. A really good technique is just randomly opening a book. God told me in an oracle that it is a covenant that you hold-up your end of the conversation.

You can't tell if God's talking unless you have a context of conversation, but, more importantly, you are commanded to do an offering of love, like communion preparation. 1 Corinthians,11:27 When you pick a greeting card for someone, that is love effort. If you expect God to put effort toward you, you must put effort toward Him. God said, "honest measures" applies between your offering of love and His response, like a fair barter. You get out of prayer what you put into it. God wants praise, hymns, or whatever you think He might want. Try and see, like Cain and Abel. Genesis,4:1-10, Ephesians,5:10 God told Cain his offering was not good and told him to try again. Cain really loved God! Can you imagine being so heart-broken?

Do a text search for "new song" in the Bible. It's mentioned nine times. When I hear a NEW awesome rock song, it is ecstasy for the first five times I hear it. Soon, it brings little-to-no pleasure. I did hymns for God. I also did Moses comics for God. When you get to the gates of Heaven, St. Peter will ask how many times you gave blood. That shows you loved neighbor. You better also be able to count the ways you loved God with all heart, mind and soul. I praised God for sand castles, popcorn, snowmen, bubbles... You try putting effort into praise! Matthew,11:25, Matthew,6:28-29 Solomon wrote a thousand when I've heard John's explain: for example, God said to me in an oracle that war was, "servicemen competing." That sounds more like the immutable God of our planet than what you hear from most religious people. God is not Venus (god of love) and not Mars (god of war), He's our dearly beloved God of Earth. If Mammon is a false god of money, Mars or Venus might be useful words to describe other false gods. I figure the greatest challenge for the Creator is boredom, ours and His. What would teen-age male video games be like if war had never happened? Christ said live by the sword, die by the sword, which is loving neighbor as self. Matthew,26:52

I asked God if the World was perfectly just. God asked if I was calling Him lazy. God could make A.I., right? God could make bots as smart as Himself, or, in fact, part of Himself. What if God made a bot to manipulate every person's life so that perfect justice happened?

I think highs and lows balance. Luke,6:20-26 If you laugh, you will cry. If you cry, you will laugh. Not one person has had great joy and not great sorrow.

I think this claim is falsifiable if you atheists want to find a counter-example to disprove it -- find a single person who had great joy and not great sorrow. In Sirach, it says things happen in pairs. You might be surprised examining your own life to see great joy was in proximity to great sorrow. Pleasures and pains seem designed to balance. Man must do manual labor and have pain. Women must do child birth. Pride and humility also balance -- pride before a fall and humility before honors. Palm Sunday is juxtaposed to Good Friday. Perhaps, being loved balances with being hated. Job,1:1-22, in the Bible, had highs and lows that balanced. Joseph, in the Old Testament, had highs and lows that balanced. Genesis,39:17-22

Jesus said, "Forgive us our trespasses as we forgive those who trespass against us." If you think about it, the only way you get forgiven is for it to be done to you. That is a Jedi mind trick because it is nothing but simple eye-for-eye tooth-for-tooth justice. Live by the sword; die by the sword. The Bible is filled with justice pairs. St. Paul persecuted Christians and gained forgiveness by getting persecuted. King David almost got killed by Saul, 1 Samuel,18:20-21 then he killed a guy and took his wife. 2 Samuel,11:15 Abraham almost killed his unloved son, Ishmael. Genesis,21:16 That is why God asked Abraham to kill Isaac. God's favorite thing on TV is soap operas.

God hates complaining. Numbers,11:1-35 Food and clothing is all we're to ask for or demand, in fact -- daily bread. 1 Timothy,6:8 Just think about man in the last 50,000 years mostly living like Native Americans and how God must see us. You need food, clothing and entertainment, money is to get those. Man does not live on bread alone. Luke,4:4, Amos,8:11-12

God's favorite animals are bears and elephants. They are funny shaped -- I think God must love them -- which is why He created them. If the universe is best to separate justice -- sin and punishment -- from relationship with God. Never ask God to change justice into injustice by not punishing. God said to me in an oracle, "Excessive contrivance wearsome." He doesn't want to hear confessions. When you pray, be witty and charming and rarely earnest. Enjoy God's company without imposing on Him and don't expect secrets of the Universe. Earnestness in prayer is the root of much evil. Be entertaining. Don't remind Him of sin, LOL.

God's ways are far above man's ways. Mom said Heaven was a never-ending family reunion. Yikes! A friend said, "Most guy's idea of Heaven would be running around doing things they'd get locked up for on Earth." I wonder how long kids play Grand Theft Auto before getting bored. Perhaps, it takes ten years, but they will get bored. Most people are like King Midas. When you realize how silly most notions of Heaven are, you come to appreciate that Earth is not that bad. This is the first step in loving God, the Creator -- praising Creation. My parents spend their retired days watching TV and going to casinos. That's not a good argument for getting extended-play!

Imagine a billionaire. Everyone around him can't forget his money for even a moment. The truth is, most people are after God's "money" -- they fear for their salvation. Here's a test -- would you pray to and praise God even if there were no salvation? Love God and don't be a "user". Asking for stuff is annoying. Luke, 11:8-7 Don't SPAM God.

All those sophisticated theological "infinity" things -- omniscience, omnipotence, omnipresence, omnivorous -- will mess you up. Trust me that anthropomorphic is far better, in practice. Christ suggested thinking of God as "Abba" which is Aramaic for "Daddy" and said the childlike had an advantage. Matthew, 11:25 Pray out-loud because God doesn't want the hassle of reading your brain. The best way to stop people from testing God is to suggest He can't do everything.

Jesus said, "I am meek and humble of heart." Matthew, 11:29 What does "humble of heart" mean? Humble of heart means you look around and say, "I don't care as much as they do." A proud of heart person says, "I am superior because I have more compassion than everybody else." If you are proud of heart, you don't accept a gift. God gives birthrights. Esau, in the Bible, scorned his birthright and God hated him. Malachi, 1:2-3 Jesus even accepted $30,000 worth of perfume (300 day's wages) and caused Judas to betray him. Mark, 14:5 If you express false outrage at wars, you are proud of heart. If you fight to go in the door last, e.g. "No, you first..." then you are proud of heart. If you ask God to save starving Africans as though you care more than God, you are proud of heart.

I connected being humble of heart with animal sacrifices. The animal sacrifices as a Catholic, saying Jesus died for our sins and that we cannot earn salvation, never sat well. I clung to the heretical notion that you earn salvation. Animal sacrifices were the heart of Biblical Judaism and although it seems satanic, you really do have to slit the throat of the goat and accept grace, a term for something you did not earn. Heck, every time you eat beef, a cow had to die for you. God said to me in an oracle that having pets was, "homo." I think God's idea of pets is farm animals you eat.

If you feel guilty for being American and want Mexicans to share your birthright, you are proud of heart. Would it be right for rich Arabs to have to share their oil money with Indian slaves? Jesus was a racist and called Canaanites "dogs". Matthew, 15:22-28 In an oracle, God told me He was against immigration. The Chinese intellectuals felt bad about not being laborers. Don't feel guilty about not being a laborer because God made it a Brave New World. 1 Corinthians, 12:1-31

In an ant colony, the workers have one set of marching orders, the soldiers have another set of marching orders, the queen and drones have marching orders and the diggers have marching orders. The Bible gives conflicting orders -- conservatives pay attention to one set of passages and liberals pay attention to others. Everybody has selective hearing, but that's good because we are different members of the body of Christ.

Jesus repeats the phrase, "for those who have ears to hear" many times. (But, not actually at the times that matter.) Jesus says several Jedi mind tricks -- He asks, what father gives a scorpion to his son? Luke, 11:11-13 Jesus says, when you ask God for things, it is as annoying as like a neighbor in the night! Luke, 11:8-7 He said, "I came to serve" but Jesus' three years of service were more like being a rockstar than a janitor. John, 13:5-15

There are sheep and there are shepherds. You would be silly to take other shepherds seriously when they are only caring for their sheep. Sheep are very hard to communicate to, as Jesus learned. He used parables. Seed on a path gets eaten by birds; weeds choke; and the one percent is rich soil.

Just as ego causes most to love neighbor, not God, people skip knowing and loving God and cowardly get stuck on obeying Him. A desire to obey God, doesn't have to be encouraged, since it comes so naturally. Don't worry, God does not want pawns to push around. God will talk, but won't tell you what to do, even if you want Him to. Also, you'll quickly learn that when God talks to you seemingly prophetic, it does not come true and should smack yourself for wanting more than just enjoying God's company.

Sascha Baron (((Cohen))) is a jew and that is more important than any of his "work". He's a creature of the jew owned US entertainment industry and is a thing only because they shill for him, fund him, and give him acting gigs. His target audience arent moviegoers but rich establishment American Jews. For them he mocks all the demons of the progressive jewish collective consciousness - White Americans (Ali G), Austrians/Germans (Bruno), Eastern Europeans (Borat) etc. His jokes are stale and only directed at J-establishment approved targets. When hes not acting he's serving his fellow tribesmen as an ADL activist cracking down on the goyim's freedom of speech, like a real comedian would do lol.

Tldr Cohen is a jewish activist nothing more

About 10 months ago I was on Omegle and Laci Green (A woman who bashes men trying to gain muscle and says we are not catering to the needs of women) was on. I said I recognized her. This Ex-mormon, tit-cow almost instantly started making comments on my body. As a fit/izen that is expected. This whore was so fucking damp all she talked about was muscles, muscles, muscles and took off her blouse (kept her bra on) and started to ask me about how I'd like to bounce her fat fucking tits around. She said she liked to be fucked hard, and made to feel like a woman.

People say I would have a picture of a young Laci Green if it actually happened because no man would go without screen-capping it.

Well...Enjoy.

Prudence, indeed, will dictate that Governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly all experience hath shewn that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same Object evinces a design to reduce them under absolute Despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such Government, and to provide new Guards for their future security.

What you hopefully recognize by now is that it would not matter even if Trump and Republicans won this election across the board. It wouldn't stop the Left. They are too entrenched.

Ultimately, in the current state of things, you can't trust anyone who is well-connected enough to round up the kind of capital it takes to run a political campaign, start a new media company, or create a new social media platform. All men of wealth today require that the status quo continues uninterrupted, and anyone posing as your "hero" is merely a grifter that will take advantage of your patriotism so they can garner a few bucks out of your paycheck—or deliberately lead you down the wrong path.

There "are" no heroes within the system. No one else is going to save you. Until you are willing to pick up the rifle yourself and start putting bullets into the skulls of these tech CEOs, media moguls, kike influencers, grifters, politicians, and judges—then you will always be under their heel. Until the traitors to this nation are made to feel pain, they will keep selling you out to your enemies.

If you want your nation back, you will have to walk over their corpses to get it.

At this early stage, people have to act either alone or as very small, highly-trusted, and highly dynamic teams. You don't have to start out with guns blazing—get a taste for it first. Start small—light a fire, smash a window, slash some tires. And when you find you can do these things and easily get away with them with the simplest of precautions, you will realize there is very little difference in effort between those things and putting a few quick rounds into the back of Zuckerberg's skull while he's out jogging.

Choose your targets wisely. Pick men of influence who thrive in the public eye. Brutalize them in ways that serve as terrifying examples to others. Leave no trace, no manifestos, no word of who you are or why you've done it. They'll know without you having to tell them. Now is not the time for vain glory and narcissism—now is the time for brutal, pragmatic action that brings down the entire Leftist enterprise.

When chaos erupts and society fractures from top to bottom down ideological lines, alliances and factions will more clearly fall into place, and better networks of trust can be built. But to reach this catalytic point, the Left must first be brought to the gates of hell itself.

Resurrecting an Old Series. Let's Talk about the IRA

A long time ago I began a thread series on asymmetric warfare. Now due to popular demand, I am resurrecting this series. In this thread series I will be analyzing several different European and non-European "terrorist" organizations. We will scrutinize their tactics, their strategy, their strengths, and their failings. I will devote much more effort towards organizations that "succeeded" than those that floundered. However, I will spend some time on ineffective, failed organizations.

This subject is important for several reasons. Firstly, because it is simply interesting. Secondly, because circumstances may progress in our nations where this knowledge will be useful. And lastly because our struggle is political in nature, we can stand to learn much from political struggles that were compelled for one reason or another to adopt violence as their tactic against the System. Whether or not we will be forced to do the same is up to you. However, we all can learn from organizations that did. The past is our lantern by which we may illuminate the dark and unknown future.

Before we begin, I will first make a few disclaimers and trigger-warnings

Nor are any posts in this thread anything other than theoretical discussion of ideas.

Secondly, I will be using several trigger-words such as "terrorist" in these discussions. We could start an hours long debate on what "terrorism" even means or whether this organization or that are really "terrorists" or whether government itself is a terrorist organization or whether the word "terrorist" is just a slur used by the establishment to delegitimize non-state resistance organizations. But frankly, I'm not interested in that. I will be using the word on occasion primarily because typing "asymmetrical resistance organization" is tedious. This is a word that everyone commonly uses to describe non-state resistance organizations so I will use it on occasion to do the same thing.

However, if you are offended that I have used this word to describe an organization you agree with, please mentally replace it with "freedom fighters" and forgive me for my error. Trust me, if I use the word "freedom-fighter" to describe everything, another group of people will be offended that I would dare describe a group that they disagree with politically as "freedom-fighters"

Thirdly, some of the organizations I analyze will be Marxists. Some will be Islamic. Some may even be Zionist. And some will be other political philosophies that we hold in contempt and scorn. I am not a marxist. I despise jewish-Marxism. But since I am analyzing non-state resistance organizations, several Marxist ones will be included. IT IS I will be focusing on methods and strategy, not morality. Talking about an organization is not an endorsement.

Lastly, and this is the most triggering, I will be analyzing organizations based on the assumption that they actually existed. If you believe that this organization or that are a hoax and are angry that I don't address this, this isn't the thread for you. If everything is a conspiracy, then there is no way to analyze it logically.

Anyway, let us begin...

The Irish Republican Army

The PIRA or 'Provos' as we endearingly call them represent the only significant example of working class White men that engaged in a significant armed struggle against a powerful industrialized country and fought them to a stand-still. It has been said that the Provos did not win but neither did they lose. In fact, they caused serious damage to the London government (and the city itself as it happens) and despite all the resources that the British threw at them, hundreds of millions of dollars in men, tanks, informants, bribery, helicopters, military bases, secret police, assassinations, counter-terrorism, political-terrorism, and vehicles, the PIRA not only maintained their war but eventually started hitting back so hard that it forced the London government to negotiate a settlement to "end" the war. Thus, they are one of the four organizations that I believe we can learn the most from.

No analysis is complete without a little background.

Ireland has a long history of fighting the English. Even in the 18th century, the predecessors of the IRA, Sinn Fein, and the Irish national government had secret meetings in barnhouses, inns, and homes. And honestly we could talk about Irish resistance back to the days of Oliver Cromwell and long before if we wished to. However, the original IRA we're talking about grew out of the men who participated in the Easter Rising of 1916 against the British and later the War of Irish Independence in 1919. This revolt succeeded in forcing the British to grant Ireland home rule and then independence. There was however, a worm in the apple.

The peace treaty that ended the Independence War left the London government with control of Northern Ireland and several ports. The IRA capabilities of the new government and attempted to fight a conventional war before they were ready to.

This civil war, by the way, is one of a small handful of true civil wars. Meaning that ethnic conflict played no role in it. The war was waged entirely over political differences, not ethnic domination masked by communism, Christianity, or some other amorphous worstid disagreement.

Speaking of political ideology, the earlier struggles were expressly nationalist in nature and for a brief period, the IRA (or at least factions within the movement) flirted with Fascism and National Socialism. This expressed itself most famously in the Blue-Shirts, pic related. However, gradually the intellectual leaders fell under the influence of Marxism as that was popular at the time. By the 1950s, the IRA had a distinctly Marxist flavour. Notably though, the jews never managed to seize control of the organization and leadership remained in the hands of misguided White men.

In the 1960s, the IRA began increasing its activities to defend the Irish minority in Northern Ireland and attempt to drive out the British and unite Ireland by force. They began conducting raids across the border and attacking infrastructure and police. This campaign failed completely and the IRA was driven back. This failure is in large part the fault of the marxist mentality of the IRA's leadership. These men failed to comprehend the obvious ethnic nature of their own struggle and thus focused on actions they thought would win over non-Irish working class men. This left the Irish abandoned and unprotected from the British without winning over a significant number of non-Irish recruits. In addition, the Marxist leadership had chosen to follow the Maoist plan of avoiding the cities and focusing on driving the security forces from the countryside. This works well in the Third World but has been proven ineffective for an industrialized state.

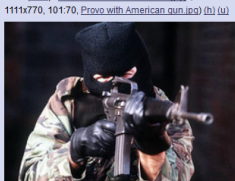

Shortly after this failure, in 1969 the nationalist factions of the IRA (consisting of much of their working class rank and file members) split with the marxist leadership and founded the Provisional-IRA. This nationalist splitter organization would go on to drag the London government to the negotiating table...

The Provisional-IRA

The situation in Northern Ireland at this time had deteriorated into serious ethnic conflict between the Protestant British majority and the Catholic Irish minority. Riots, arson attacks, and beatings were increasingly common and the Irish longed for a paramilitary organization to protect them. It should be noted that at this time, many members of the Dublin government were sympathetic to the PIRA's cause and much material and money was surreptitiously donated to the PIRA by friendly agents. This helped offset the losses in manpower and weapons suffered during the Border Campaign of 1956 to '62.

As we shall see, few things are more beneficial to a guerrilla struggle than a friendly government on the border of the region they operate in or sympathetic public servants in their area of operation.

Another source of weapons and money came from Irish nationalists in the USA. Everything from disassembled rifles, ammunition, to even detonation devices (often smuggled in toy trains through airport security) were smuggled into Ireland from supporters in the USA and then stored in weapons caches throughout the borderlands.

Finally, one unlikely source of support came from none other than Muammar Gaddafi of Libya. Gaddafi detested the British and viewed anything that hindered and harmed the London government and its allies as a good thing. The enemy of my enemy is my friend would accurately describe his view of the PIRA. He thus supplied many complex weapons systems to the IRA through sea-lane smuggling operations. His most significant contributions were money, semtex, RPG-Ls, mines, anti-aircraft weapons, and AK-47s. Lots of them. After the 1986 bombing of Libya, Gaddafi sent even more weapons to the Provos.

In addition, the PIRA had serious contact with various Palestinian resistance organizations. To what extent they collaborated is relatively unknown but it did exist.

The PIRA began their campaign almost immediately after splitting with the marxist leadership. Conducting beatings and assassinations of British Loyalists deemed a threat to the nationalists and blowing up buildings associated with them. This led to numerous civilian casualties. Of course, Loyalist paramilitaries struck back and killed Irish civilians and suspected nationalist supporters in retaliation. Always bear in mind that throughout this war, Loyalist forces had their own paramilitaries that engaged in terrorist attacks of their own.

The PIRA also targeted economic targets and infrastructure. Also, numerous ambushes and attacks on police and soldiers forced the government to implement martial law in some areas in 1970 and raided Irish neighborhoods to seize weapons. These often led to gunbattles as the Provos and their sympathizers were to be found everywhere. They also began internment suspected Irish dissidents without trial.

Speaking of the military, the London government, realizing the threat posed by the PIRA had dispatched the army to restore order in Ulster. Police units were no longer able to effectively patrol the Irish areas due to attacks by the PIRA. It was no secret that the provos had informants everywhere, especially in the Catholic zones. Even children would throw rocks at the police in some areas and entire sections of city became army no-go zones where the military would have to escort the police just to enter, most notably the city of "Free Derry".

Naturally, all of this heavy handedness in the military response only drove up support for the PIRA. One of the primary objectives of acts of terrorism against a government is to provoke the establishment to retaliating against the population and thus alienating the public.

1970 saw the introduction of one of the hallmarks of modern asymmetric warfare, the car-bomb. The first car bomb attack was merely a boobytrapped car in South Armagh that killed 2 RUF officers. Later, car bombs took on a life of their own as a primary means of bomb delivery. South Armagh would eventually turn into a near county-wide no-go zone for security forces. One of many regions that the PIRA was able to effectively drive out government forces.

From 1970 to 1972, literally tens of thousands of sniper attacks, assassinations, car bombs, IED attacks, shootings, and sectarian terrorist attacks killed hundreds of PIRA fighters, security forces, and Loyalist paramilitary fighters. Nevermind massive economic disruption due to the war.

This violence compelled the British to conduct massive counter-terrorism campaigns and used frequent ceasefires to get informants to infiltrate the PIRA. This soon paid off as the URC began arresting thousands of PIRA members, often using torture to elicit names and information from prisoners. This began to seriously harm the insurgency and the Provos were forced to adopt the Cell Strategy, a term that is often thrown around here. These cells consisted of around 6 men, give or take depending on circumstances. The nominal leadership of the PIRA was the Chief of Staff. This body only met twice during the entire war. However, they managed to exert great control of the cells indirectly and ceasefires were almost always respected and observed. Also of note, in some regions such as South Armagh, the PIRA operated on a much larger level and fielded full militias. These brigades operated semi-openly and these areas were effectively a state within a state.

By the late 70s the British government still was unwilling to negotiate a withdrawal from Northern Ireland. This despite massive economic disruption in Ulster and hundreds of high profile attacks including the downing of an army helicopter in 1978. It became clear to the PIRA leadership that in order to force the British to withdraw, they would need to bring the war to London. As early as 1973 in fact, PIRA units had been dispatched to carry out bombings and assassinations in London.

However these were not well thought out campaigns and target selection was rather indiscriminate. This changed in 1982 when the PIRA detonated a car bomb during a military parade, killing 11 soldiers and also a bunch of horses.

It turned out to be a public relations nightmare as the backlash against them was strong. Not so much for the 11 dead men or the 11 now fatherless families... but mostly due to the soppy pictures of dead horses published in tabloid magazines.

On Not Muh Optics!

This convinced the team in charge of operations in England to go dormant for a time and change tactics. They would not conduct another attack until 1984 when they bombed a hotel where fiercely anti-PIRA Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher was staying.

The attack was among the most sophisticated terrorist actions in history. PIRA men knew several months beforehand that Thatcher would be staying at this hotel and one of their members rented a room one floor above the room Thatcher was expected to stay in. He carefully pried up a panel on the bathtub in the hotel and placed a bomb timed to go off in exactly one month at 2:54 AM. The timer was created using a video-recorder and it allowed a detonation to be delayed for up to 48 days. The explosive itself was a mere 20 to 30 pounds of Frangex.

Being the Iron Lady, Thatcher somehow managed to survive the blast that killed 5 conservative party members. Had Thatcher been in the bathroom when the bomb went off, she would absolutely have been killed.

Fun fact, the Provo who planted the bomb was named Patrick Magee. Patty Magee. A name so sickeningly Irish that merely saying it aloud causes you to start craving cabbage & beef, Guinness beer, and then convert to Catholicism.

Anyway, Patty Magee was arrested later due to a single fingerprint left on a paper that he signed in to the hotel with. Since he had a criminal record, his fingerprint was identified. Wear gloves.

Meanwhile back in Ulster, the war continued to intensify. Mortar attacks and car bombings were racking up a massive toll on bodies and Pounds. Police compounds were bombed, army convoys were ambushed, banks were burned, and civilians killed. Too, the sectarian minded paramilitaries engaged in tit for tat religious violence. In particular, several Loyalist groups targeted Catholic civilians in an attempt to ignite a religious war. These were repaid in kind with massacres of the families of those who perpetrated the killings. Around this time, another weapon in asymmetric warfare was introduced; the suicide car-bomb. Unlike Islamic SVBIEDs, the PIRA would kidnap and hold the families of security forces and force the father to drive the car bomb to its intended target (usually army checkpoints) before remotely detonated it.

Coeval with this development, several other attacks against politicians and military were conducted on mainland Britain and yet nothing they did caused the government to engage in serious negotiations with the PIRA. Then they changed target selection and in the early 90s, began detonating massive car bombs at financial buildings such as;

The 1992 bombing of the Baltic Exchange Building in the city of London. This caused £1 billion in damages and killed 3 people.

The Staples Corner bombing only a few hours later on Staples Corner London. This collapsed several buildings and killed no people.

The 1993 Bishops Gate bombing in the city of London. This caused over £2 billion in damages and killed one idiot journalist.

The 1993 bombing of a gas storage facility in Warrington.

The 1994 Heathrow Airport attacks where the Provos, over the course of a week fired a dozen mortar rounds onto the tarmac of the Heathrow Airport. This disrupted airtraffic and caused unknown economic damage.

The 1996 Canary Wharf bombing in London. This caused £100 million in damages and killed 2 people.

The Manchester bombing which killed no one and caused over £1 billion in damages.

Not to mention the dozens of other bombings and mortar attacks targeting politicians and financial targets.

Meanwhile in Northern Ireland, the situation for the government had deteriorated to the point where several army helicopters had been shot down by the rebels and PIRA personnel were able to conduct operations in South Armagh virtually unchallenged by the security forces. This gave others in the struggle a base of operations from which to seek shelter or plan other attacks against the government.

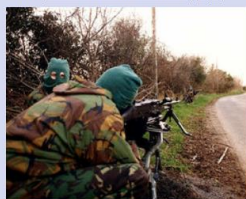

In addition to the violence, a curious episode occurred in 1992 where the Provos were compelled to conduct a purge within their own ranks. An organization within the armed struggle called the Irish Peoples Liberation Organization were deemed unreliable due to their religiously oriented nature of sectarian violence and their engaging in drug trafficking and rape as a means of conducting the war. In one night, the Provos assassinated their leaders and systematically crippled their organization. And when I say crippled I mean that many of the serious offenders had their legs and arms broken with bats and crowbars. Survivors who were willing were conducted into other units but the IPLO was effectively destroyed as a political entity.

In 1997, a ceasefire was reached with the London government and negotiations began that led to the Good Friday Agreement. This treaty was satisfactory for most of the PIRA though not all as it left Northern Ireland separated from Ireland.

However, the agreement freed all the PIRA prisoners, put Sinn Fein (the political wing of the PIRA) into power in Ulster, and gave the Irish Catholics numerous affirmative action tire protections and benefits over the Protestant British. Never underestimate the fact that there is now a 50% Catholic quota for the new police force in Ulster. That is power because now the men who were bombing Loyalist pubs and banks 20 years ago are in the police force. Think about that.

And though Northern Ireland remains disunited from the "homeland," all the Irish areas of Northern Ireland are run by Sinn Fein now anyway and if and when the demographics favour the Irish, the government has stipulated that they can just vote to secede.

Which, honestly is kind of meaningless lat considering the London government doesn't respect voting or democracy. But that's an entirely different thread for another day.

We could argue over whether they "won" but the fact remains that these bastards went up against an industrialized capitalist democracy and smashed their fingers over and over and over until the central government essentially paid them off like the French did to get the Vikings off their back. That demonstrates that they did not lose. It would be like George Bush negotiating with Osama Bin Laden to grant Al-Qaeda power in Saudi Arabia, released all the POWs from Gitmo, and ensured that his men could join the Saudi Army if they wished.

That's mighty impressive, innit?

Strategic Analysis

As I have said before, I believe that the most significant aspect of this war was the PIRA's decision to take the war out of Northern Ireland and start targeting London financial institutions. That is playing the smart game. The political elite know that a few dozen men could cause billions of dollars in damage and put corporations out of business with just a few hundred dollars worth of explosives. They certainly don't want you to know that though. The London government did not care all too much about the war in Northern Ireland. What got their attention was the thought of the war drifting to London's financial district.

In addition, their policy of calling ahead to avoid civilian casualties was very intelligent. Note that the attacks I listed from 1992 to 1997 in England barely killed anyone. This is no coincidence. The PIRA planned out their attacks very carefully to avoid mass casualties. This was to avoid handing the government a propaganda weapon against them. This was a hard lesson learned from cold experience.

In 1987 the PIRA bombed a police parade in Enniskillen and killed a bunch of retired police and a pregnant woman. This attack seriously harmed their public relations that means their ability to recruit and interact with the public. The elites do not give a rat's shit about dead civilians. If you could see into their souls when they cry crocodile tears over victims of terrorism, you would see absolutely nothing. What gets them into a cold sweat is the thought of an important bank being incinerated or an oil refinery going up in smoke. That is the only language that they understand. It behooves us to comprehend this fact and never kidd ourselves into believing that the elites give a damn about dead soldiers. Especially the jews who view dead White soldiers as a good thing.

Finally, their policy of engaging in the Long War approach is important. Asymmetric warfare is a long term investment. The government of course does not like it when its important infrastructure is destroyed and its helicopters are shot down. Thus their primary goal is to make a revolt die quickly. The longer it drags on, the more likely one of their banks or corporate media headquarters will be blown up by an intelligent revolutionary.

Well, that about does it for the PIRA. Please feel free to add or share knowledge on this topic.

Lastly, all you Loyalists out there who are angry that I gave the Provos the time of day, while I can't take back what I wrote, I will be giving the British Loyalist paramilitaries their own thread and their own analysis. And this will be of course from their perspective. Same as here. We all have our biases. However, I will be giving them roughly the same treatment that I have given to the PIRA so just stay calm and carry on.

Continuing Our Series on Asymmetric Warfare: Basques, Bombs, and Bickering

Before we begin this thread, I must get some disclaimers out of the way again.
First of all, talking about violence is not an endorsement of violence. Mkaaaaaaaay?
Secondly, talking about an organization is not an endorsement of their ideology.
Lastly, I will be writing about ETA under the assumption that they existed. If you think that they were just a conspiracy and that all their attacks were really just a Fascist psy-op to do whatever-something-blah blah-martial-law-or-whatever then please just make your own thread. If you really think that everything is a conspiracy, I'm not going to argue with you. This thread is about analyzing things and I guess I'm just not woke enough to see though the illuminati conspiracy.
If everything is a conspiracy, then there is no way to analyze it logically.

Like the PIRA struggle in Northern Ireland, the Basque independence struggle can trace its roots back to the early 20th century and even before that. I'm not going to get into the Carlist Wars or even into the agitation for nationalism in the early 20th century but suffice it to say that, like many conflicts the Basque struggle has a lot of history.
For brevity sake, I will be analyzing the 20th century struggle that officially ended only recently with a permanent ceasefire in 2010.

Origin
The origin of the ETA is found in Spanish Civil War. As we all know, the Falangists won the conflict and smashed the USSR backed government. During the Republic's shaky and short existence, the Basque nationalist party negotiated themselves autonomy within the Republic. After Franco crushed the republican regime, the Basque nationalist party fled to Paris and set up a government in exile. Little guerrilla action of any note transpired during this time. Eventually, an organization of nationalist and leftist students was formed called the Society of Basque Students (EIA). They did not engage in revolutionary actions other than encouraging strikes and disobedience to the new regime. And in 1950, the Fascist government were able to infiltrate the organization right up to the top and arrest its entire leadership in detail.
The men who survived this catastrophe learned to be very picky about who they allowed into their ranks.
ETA founder José Luis Álvarez Empanaza remarked, "The ease with which we were arrested and... the almost total destruction of the organization... made it clear that serious and continuous work was required to improve our security standards."

The ETA leadership would emerge out of the students who survived this roundup.
Long story short, several student led organizations of Basque youth began meeting again and became disillusioned with the government in exile's inability to do anything concrete to resist the regime. In addition, they were viewed by many as sellouts to the Republic for not demanding full independence and for refusing to declare Basque the official and exclusive language of the future Basque homeland. Eventually, the ETA was formed from these disgruntled and radical youths in 1959.
Their opening acts were to simply spraypaint "ETA" on the walls of buildings in Basque cities and to distribute pamphlets. These small acts of defiance gave little idea what destruction they would wreck upon Spain in the next decades.

During the next few years, far more effort was spent on infighting between three main factions within Basque nationalist thought. The first were simply Basque nationalists who also wanted life socialism for Basques. They were colloquially known as the "Nationalist Workers". They sought to create an exclusively Basque national homeland regardless of class or occupation. They opposed alliance with other Spanish organizations as they felt that to do so would simply invite betrayal at the end of the struggle, as has happened before.
Opposing them were the more marxist-y marxists who were colloquially known as "the Trotskyites." They didn't care much for Basque nationalism or even language or culture. They mostly just wanted to kill fascists and Basque capitalists and openly advocated alliance with non-Basque insurrectionists. They didn't care overmuch if the Basque people got a homeland out of their struggle. Only that the workers' revolution happened. They were your average, bland, run of the mill marxists that were fashionable in the 1960s.
Lastly there was a very interesting faction led and founded by a German, of all people named Federico Krutwig. He analyzed the situation that the Basque people were in and surmised that the Basque were effectively a colony of Spain and that they must conduct a colonial war along the lines of Vietnam or Algeria to rid themselves of their colonial oppressors. This faction was very violence oriented, very nationalistic, and very anti-capitalist. Essentially, they were NazBols who didn't understand the JQ. They sought an ethnic-class war. And they opposed any alliance with non-Basque insurrectionists on the grounds that they would betray them.
Naturally, the NazBols eventually won the internal civil war among Basque nationalists. First driving out the marxists and then absorbing the nationalists.

In my opinion, Krutwig's analysis of how to wage a nationalist struggle is correct. I may not agree with all his political ideas, but his strategy of waging economic warfare seems correct to me. He sought not to defeat Spain militarily but economically. By making the cost of continuing to suppress Basque nationalism higher than the economic benefit of keeping them in the Spanish "empire." This, my friends, is how you get the elites to give into demands. By smashing their greedy fingers over and over and over again until they let go. However, as we shall see, some mistakes were made that doomed his struggle.
In 1961, the Falangist authorities became aware of the group's existence when ETA conducted their first attack against the regime. They attempted (and failed lol) to derail a train that was carrying some Fascist political leaders in San Sebastián. However, with the alleged assistance from traitors, the Spanish authorities rounded up 110 members, tortured them a little, and sentenced them to 15-20 year prison sentences for subversive activity. Apparently, they had not learned quite how to properly vet their recruits.
Oh btw, this is going to be a recurring problem with ETA so bear that in mind. Perhaps they had loose lips. Or maybe the Falangists were just really efficient at police work.

Once again, the survivors fled into France where they spent the next years infighting. By the end of 1966, the Third Worldist faction (the NazBol-ish one) had cemented their control over ETA. The marxists were expelled and attempted to form their own rival organization that simply faded into obscurity. ██████████ For now the revolution would be a Basque one.
Furthermore, the NazBol faction led in command of ETA laid out a plan to defeat Spain that fans of Dr. William Pierce will recognize. The plan was to conduct attacks upon the Spanish government and institutions intended to provoke the Regime to overreacting. The idea being that if the regime committed atrocities against the Basque people in retaliation for ETA attacks, it would rouse the non-combatant populace around ETA and allow the terrorist organization to progress into a guerrilla army.
In 1967 the newly consolidated ETA conducted their first direct attack on the Spanish military. One year later, in response to the Spanish response to their attacks, they assassinated Melitón Manzanas who was a Basque himself and also a police commander and strong Spanish nationalist.

As the ETA had hoped, these actions compelled Franco to react immediately and harshly by declaring martial law first in Basque country and then for all of Spain. Basque celebrations and political activity was harshly repressed.
Finally the ETA had successfully escalated the war.
Now everything came crashing down...

>>12631489 (OP)
Mistakes were made
After the slaying of Manzanas, literally thousands of Basques were arrested on suspicion of disloyalty. Many were tortured into making confessions. Unfortunately for ETA, one of the people swept up in the raids was Gregorio López, a high ranking member of ETA and his wife. Lopez happened to actually be the man who had assassinated Manzanas. However, they could not prove it due to lack of evidence. So he was released but for whatever reason, his wife (pregnant) was kept for further... "questioning". During the torture and imprisonment she suffered a miscarriage and after nearly a month in police custody, Lopez decided to break into the prison to rescue her. He solicited a fellow ETA agent and both men tried to break into the jail and rescue her but were caught. Like an idiot, Lopez was carrying the very same weapon used to assassinate Manzanas and ballistics testing quickly determined this and he was charged with the murder.
Naturally, the men torturing his wife began to torture Lopez and within months, Spanish police captured the entire leadership board of the ETA Central Committee. Many of the arrests were made in their own "safe houses" so I think it's safe to say that Lopez talked under torture.

Let's take a step back from this so we can analyze went wrong during this mess.
First of all, the obvious: Lopez did not get rid of his weapon after assassinating Manzanas. Always get rid of your weapons after doing anything with them in a hypothetical political warfare situation. But for the love of god, don't use the same pistol to break into a jailhouse.
Secondly, Lopez was high enough ranking to know the locations of dozens of ETA safehouses and virtually its entire command structure. So he should not have been involved in the rescue of his wife. Breaking into a prison is one of the most dangerous actions a terrorist can undertake.
Thirdly, once Lopez had been arrested the ETA should have abandoned all safehouses immediately. Even if your pal is arrested and then released, you should do some basic bitch op-sec like this just in case. In fact, I maintain that if someone is arrested and released, they should be considered radioactive by the organization and all contact terminated immediately just in case he is being followed by the police or worse, has defected. Perhaps after months of monitoring, he can be readmitted into the organization.
And lastly, though I'd rather not get bogged down in a MGTOW argument about how womyn are the devil, I kind of want to point out that Lopez's wife was tortured for an entire fucking month and she did not mention the fact that her own husband was a high ranking member of ETA. Yet Lopez broke almost immediately under torture and revealed the names and locations of the entire leadership of his own organization, thus crippling the war effort for years.
I've never been tortured so I am not calling into question Lopez's integrity. But his wife deserved a fucking medal.

Back to our story...

With the decapitation of ETA's leadership in Spain, things only got worse. Due to talking among those captured and plain bad luck for operatives in the field, dozens of other operatives were rounded up and arrested in just a few weeks. Now, virtually the entire leadership of ETA in Spain had been decapitated so the few remaining members fled (yup, you guessed it) across the border to France again and called another assembly to figure out where to go from here. And this, THIS is the really demoralizing part: ETA's remaining leadership now immediately descended into a civil war over what to do. With the old leadership largely sitting in prison, the marxists came back and argued against Basque nationalism and that the ETA (which btw, stands for "Basque Homeland and Freedom") should really be a multi-cultural worker's party. The Marxists then began expelling everyone not a Marxist and the remaining Third-Worldist NazBols fired back and declared them illegitimate. To which the marxists charged the remaining leadership of ETA of being "racist and bourgeois!" This more than anything demoralized and disheartened the remaining revolutionaries on the Spanish side of the border. Too, it was clear that the strategy of provocation and response could no longer be maintained. The ETA were incapable of even responding to these crippling arrests. Amidst the debate between the Third Worldists and the Marx-faggots, there emerged a debate over whether ETA should even be a violent organization at all. Many argued that it was impossible to resist the regime when provoking it caused such a vicious crackdown. The remaining NazBols amazingly became even more adamant that violence must be escalated, completely convinced that they could force the regime to take even more alienating retaliation against the population through violent action. But given the crippled state of ETA, their calls seemed hopelessly utopian.

Soon, these ETA leaders were tried in Spanish courts and sentenced life imprisonment or death. However, Francisco Franco intervened and commuted the sentences to around 30 years each.

Anyway, back in France the leadership of ETA broke up into several splinter groups... again. One of which was, yup, you guessed it, a marxist faction that loudly and arrogantly argued that ETA must abandon Basque nationalism for some more bland, boring Marxistism. However, once again these class obsessed, effete, intellectual bobos were hopelessly out of touch with the working class Basque that they hoped would do their fighting for them. The Basque were no friends of capitalism, but they were also highly nationalistic. And the ETA-Vi faction lasted less than 2 years before they also split between the Trotskyites and various other sects of communism. They faded into obscurity. That is what happens when effete, marxist bobos ignore the real working class and obsess over frivolous trivialities like marxism. Real men are loyal to their families, their traditions, and their nation. Not your dumb book. This tangent has a purpose. I know that about 20% of the anonos who post here will not bother reading my thread and will simply write "HEY!!! Did u kno that tha EtA wuz marxists???? I'll bet u didnd kno that!!!!" However, I want those who do read this to understand one of the key weaknesses of marxist terrorist organizations. The man on the ground who does the fighting for marxist intellectuals almost never actually believes in all the vain balderdash that the marxist elites yammer about. The only reason that men allow these effete marxist intellectuals to lead them is because they have chanced upon a few solid points about the injustice of capitalism. However, these soulless marxist intellectuals also have no respect for the traditions and families that constitute the backbone of ALL human groups. Most working class men bitterly resent these arrogant assholes trying to deconstruct their culture and existence. To the marxist, nationalism is simply "flag worship" and they actually cannot even see the distinctions between people. They are blind to all the beautiful cultures and traditions that make humanity interesting. They have no souls and thus cannot see other people with souls. All they see are interchangeable worker units. Just like the capitalists. But people don't like being interchangeable worker units. People are Basques and Bretons and Germans and Danes. The marxists think that this is just flag worship, and they fail to even comprehend that a nation is far more than a fucking flag. Almost all successful marxist movements combine loads of nationalism with their bland marxism.

Tangent over. Back to our story...

ETA-V

Of the many splinter groups that formed in 1969-70, one started out with nothing and soon became synonymous with ETA. This group was the remaining Third-Worldist faction which split off from the marxist one to call themselves ETA-V. Soon, their nationalistic and anti-capitalistic appeal galvanized the Basque patriots and their ranks swelled. Soon, they had recovered their strength and immediately set about where the old ETA failed; escalating the conflict.

First they conducted assassinations against "traitors" and collaborators. They burned down the homes of politicians. And for funds they robbed banks. They engaged in shootouts with police and conducted bombings of symbolic targets.

The violence paid off.

Here is just one example of terrorism working for analysis:

In 1971, a Basque capitalist and collaborator Zabala had pissed off some striking Basque workers and 154 men found themselves replaced by Spanish immigrants. Within days, Zabala was kidnapped outside his office and a Basque newspaper published ETA-V's demands: Rehire all the Basque workers, give them a raise, and a few other minor demands. The company leaders met a few days later and agreed the demands.

One thing that I have noted is that corporations are far more susceptible to terrorism than governments are. The more profit-oriented an institution, the more likely it will negotiate with terrorists.

After this kidnapping, ETA-V (who we'll now just call ETA) went on to conduct attack after attack. In August 1972, they were conducting an average of one per day. Things would only get worse for the government.

The Assassination of Luis Carrero Blanco

In the Autumn of 1972 ETA received information that their apparent to Francisco Franco; Luis Carrero Blanco had established a pattern of attending Catholic Mass via a specific road. At first, ETA planned on kidnapping him but later decided to simply assassinate him in the hope of bringing down the regime.

In early 1973, an ETA cell stormed a powder factory in Hernani and stole 3000 kilos of explosives. That Autumn, a three man cell rented a basement apartment parallel to the rout that Blanco was known to take to church. Over the course of a month or so, these men dug a tunnel out into the road directly underneath where they hoped Blanco would be driving. They explained to their neighbors that they were artists and they were making a statue in the basement. This explained the chiseling noise. The hole underneath the road was then loaded with 80 kg of Goma-2 explosive to be detonated by a remote controlled device. A metal slab was placed underneath the bomb to force the explosive force upward. On the day of the assassination, the three men had parked a car along one of the lanes to force Blanco's driver to drive directly over the site of the IED. Disguised as electricians, they observed his travel from the road and detonated the bomb as he passed over it. He and his driver died in the explosion.

This act more than any other event doomed Fascist Spain to democratization. It would, in the regime we live under, be akin to assassinating Hillary Clinton in 2015. Not to imply Francisco Franco was Spain's Barack Obama.

Just put that into perspective.

That is power. That is using violence to defeat a repressive government.

However, there was a worm in the apple for ETA.

As a social experiment, I want all of you to pause reading and take a wild guess what ETA did after this astonishing accomplishment. Just stop for a minute and take a guess at what happened next.

That's right anonos; They held another assembly in France and purity spiraled over ideological differences and split into multiple different competing factions. What else would they do?

The Decline and Fall of ETA

During the chaos of the post-Franco era and the various splinter factions of ETA, a deadly paramilitary force named GAL (Grupos Antiterroristas de Liberación) was created under the new leftist government to hunt down and disrupt ETA in their bases in France. The effects were devastating as this counter-terrorist organization was well trained and often relied on professional terrorist hunters. They managed to assassinate several high ranking ETA agents.

In addition to this new threat from counter-terrorist organizations, ETA embarked upon a new strategy that proved devastating in the long run for the organization. This strategy involved detonating car bombs in economic areas of Madrid, Barcelona, and other Spanish cities.

Normally, I'd say this is a great idea because I love that shit. However, for whatever reason ETA cells began to attack shopping malls. ETA claimed to have given the police warnings before the bombs went off (some going off at peak shopping hour) while the police claimed that they had not received warnings with adequate time to evacuate shoppers. In any case, casualties soared and economic damage to the new regime was minimal.

ETA attacks against the regime became less frequent but deadlier to civilians. Attacks appeared to be intended to cause high civilian body counts. This played right into the hands of the media corporations that found no shortage of bloody bodies to plaster on television and break the resolve of the civilian population, Basque and Spaniard alike.

In 1997, ETA kidnapped Miguel Angel Blanco, a Spanish politician in Biscay and demanded the release of ETA prisoners in exchange for his life. The democratic elites couldn't care less about a nameless low level political leader and refused. Blanco was executed and used as a martyr by the regime who suddenly could remember his name to rally the public against ETA.

Stymied and outmated at every turn, ETA continued conducting attacks against shopping malls, football stadiums, and parking lots. Failing to cause significant damage to the regime, failing to provoke serious repressive retaliation by the democratic government, failing to force the government to make concessions, failing to avoid civilian casualties.

By 2010, their cause was exhausted and this once mighty terrorist organization meekly surrendered to the democratic government.

Analysis

What can we learn from ETA?

One, racking up high civi body counts is not the path to victory. It is the path to isolation and defeat. A guerrilla must always be mindful of how his actions are perceived by the public. If one cannot control the message through propaganda, then the regime may use it against them. Caution must be taken against this dangerous failure.

Two, One of ETA's primary weaknesses was it's seeming inability to weather ideological differences within the organization. Every time they suffered a setback or even a victory, personal animosities and ideological discrepancies boiled over tp the surface and led to self destructive infighting. At times, ETA attacks would stop completely to the confusion of the police. Later it would be discovered that the reason for this was that ETA had been focusing its energy on personal disputes between its leadership in across the border in France.

Three; If I described every breach of ETA's security, this thread would actually be a book. For whatever reason, ETA was absolutely terrible at keeping secrets from the police. This led repeatedly to their entire command structure being arrested at once. This sent the organization into chaos and caused more infighting between the new leaders.

Actually, I'll tell you why I think the police often had an edge on ETA. I believe that it was the fucking marxists. I suspect that every time that the marxists within the organization didn't get their way, they went to the police to sabotage their "comrades." After all, if I can't get MY way, then NO ONE should survive.

Anyway, unlike my PIRA thread, I will not be posting an ETA folk video because they tend to be pro-marxist trash made by effete socialist students who never fought with the organization. However, I will post this nice Basque folk song. It's nice. And yes, a lot of Basque folk-music is this neat halting according music. Kinda catchy.

Dear [redacted] & friends,

I really should not expend a stamp to send this letter, but I can't resist the temptation to help three charming young ladies like yourselves ^{*} win a bet with your teacher, especially since he or she must be a terrible teacher -- not having taught you how to write a better letter than the one you sent me. The trouble is that you kids are all so pampered and spoiled nowadays that you don't have the self-discipline even to sit down and produce a letter with legible writing and correct spelling. Why, when I was your age, back in the Pleistocene Epoch, I had to walk ten miles through a snowstorm to get to school every morning, and then the schoolmaster would swat me with a hickory stick if I couldn't conjugate my Latin verbs correctly. Back home, in the evening, I did my homework on a piece of parchment with a quill pen, while the winter wind howled around our log cabin.

Nowadays I bet you aren't allowed to step outside the house without wearing a crash helmet in case a meteorite might fall on your head, and your parents would probably be arrested for child abuse if they made you walk a hundred yards to school in fine weather.

^{*} This is what is called a "polite fiction". For all I know, you may be a trio of hell-raisers.

You want to know what my day is like? Well, in the morning the sun comes up in the east, it travels across the sky, and in the evening it sets in the west, and that's the end of my day. I think most people's day is pretty much the same, but nowadays you kids are probably so absorbed in social media that you haven't noticed that there is this glowing yellow thing that comes up in the east and goes down in the west. That glowing yellow thing is called the sun.

Well, I guess that should be enough to win your bet for you. Be sure to make your teacher pay you your pound of flesh to the last ounce.

Yours truly,

Ted Kaczynski

June 4th, 2019 marks the 15th anniversary of the Killdozer's rampage through Granby, Colorado.

Sit down kids, and let me tell you a tale. A tale about a reasonable man driven to do unreasonable things.

Marvin Heemeyer was a man who owned a muffler shop in Granby, Colorado. The city council ordained to approve the construction of a concrete factory in the lot across from Marvin's shop. In the process, this blocked the only access road to the muffler shop. Marvin petitioned to stop the construction to no avail. He petitioned to construct a new access road, and even bought the heavy machinery to do so himself. Denied.

The concrete factory went up in disregard to the ramifications on Marvin's business. To add insult to injury, the factory construction disconnected the muffler shop from the city sewage lines. An indifferent city government then chose to fine Marvin for this.

His business and livelihood were in ruin. Rather than lie down and die, Marvin chose to fight back. Over the course of a year and a half, Marvin secretly outfitted the bulldozer he bought to save his business with 3-foot thick steel and concrete armor, camera systems, and enclosed bulletproof glass.

... On June 4th, 2004 Marvin Heemeyer lowered the armored shell over top of himself, entombing himself inside the Killdozer to make his last stand.

He burst forth from the walls of his muffler shop and straight into the concrete factory that ruined his business. Over the course of the next several hours, Marvin drove his Killdozer through 13 buildings owned by those officials that had wronged him, including the city council building itself.

SWAT teams swarmed the dozer, but it proved immune to small arms fire and even explosives. Another piece of heavy machinery was even brought out to fight the Killdozer, but it too fell to the dozer's righteous fury.

In the end, Marvin's Killdozer became trapped in one of the buildings it was built to destroy. Marvin chose to take his life, the only life he took that day.

Today, we celebrate Killdozer Day and Marvin Heemeyer, the last great American folk hero. A man driven to the brink who chose to fight back against an indifferent system.

HAPPY KILLDOZER DAY!

I made it clear that through my lawyer I would begin to demand the status of all other employee's health condition in regards to other forms of communicable diseases. We would be demanding information on employee's with aids, hepatitis, flu, STDs, measles, mumps, and so on. My lawyer already had the papers drawn up so I could serve him the first day he tried it and part of the suit would be to force the company to make immediate policies to section off employees who had any illness they could spread, including the common cold. If they were going to take responsibility in stopping the spread of covid-19 in the building they were now liable for the spread of anything else.

Within 24 hours we were all informed that they would no longer demand to see our papers.

How to be the worst monstrosity to ever waddle into Subhuehuehue

>Start with veggies

>Correct yourself and order a footlong on Monterey Cheddar bread

That bread falls apart more than any other, and it can't hold liquid so the sauces will fuck it into oblivion.

>Order one of the 'tray' meats, IE steak, tuna, or any of the chicken dishes

>Alternative: Order the roast beef; it's 80% frozen 100% of the time and it's a bitch to separate into eight pieces for the sandwich

>Don't have them toast it unless there's a huge rush.

>Order bacon once you're on veggies so they have to go back

>Tell them that you come in often and you want them to press the '3' button on the microwave

On 3, it will cook so long it'll burn the everyloving shit out of the employees hands when they pluck it out of the microwave

>Add their name to the end of every sentence from here on out

>"I'd like lots of lettuce..... Anon....."

>Tell them you want shitloads of lettuce, cucumber, and tomatoes

>Ask for lots of pickles; they're impossible to place on the sandwich just right

>Ask for oil and vinegar

>Fucking. Oil and vinegar. Goddamned. Overload

>Absolutely saturate that shit.

I want you to make that sandwich so wet it is sopping

Motherfucking. Sopping.

Wet.

>Ask for heavy oregano then tell them you're good

>Don't have them cut it, the fun has just begun.

>When they're trying to fold this behemoth of a sandwich, remind them that you want guacamole.

>Get sandwich, pay for the extra bacon and guac

>Waddle to bathroom with sandwich

>Cram sandwich into toilet

>Never return.

The clown is the synthesis of the austro-libertarian observer (or for some, crypto-libertarian, like Assange) or simply of the one who understands the absurd being (like Albert Camus, an absurdist perhaps) and defends the freedom of the individual.

That's the best explanation. Source: trust me, dude.

Note that in this particular OC, the clown laughs at the antifas, although he does NOT defend the fascists, he only defends the individual, since he is one. A clown does not follow artificial hierarchies (politicians, national leaders, legislators), only smiles, demand, individual freedom to laugh about anything, no matter what.

Hence he can be considered an austro-Libertarian, or absurdist. Is not it beautiful?

But what is absurdism?

This philosophy comes from the paradox between the individual search for meaning and the lack of meaning provided by the universe. As beings who seek meaning for life in a meaningless world, humans have three ways to solve this dilemma. Kierkegaard and Camus describe the solutions in their works, Human Despair (1849) and The Myth of Sisyphus (1941), respectively:

>suicide (or, "escape from existence")

The solution in which one ceases his own life. Both Kierkegaard and Camus disregard this option. Camus interprets it as an illusion of freedom that does not solve the conflict of the Absurd.

>religion and spirituality

A solution in which one believes that there is a reality out of reach, beyond the Absurd, and therefore has meaning. Kierkegaard states that belief in something other than the Absurd requires an irrational approach and perhaps a necessary religious receptivity on intangible and empirically improbable issues (now referred to as "Leap of Faith"). However, Camus considers this solution a "philosophical suicide".

>to accept the absurd

It is the solution in which the idea of the Absurd is accepted and lived in spite of it, without resignation. Camus endorsed this solution, for in denying any moral beliefs and moorings, revolting against the Absurd, and simultaneously accepting it as inevitable, the individual would be able to enjoy freedom in its totality and be content with one's own decisions. Kierkegaard, on the contrary, treated such a solution as a "demonic madness": "He rages over the thought that eternity might get him into his head to take his misery from him! Could come into your mind and draw you out of your misery!"

Camus was slightly libertarian, despite denying any political ideals, after having developed his philosophy.

Oh, and "absurd" does not mean "logically impossible," but "humanly impossible." The Absurd is not a product of the human spirit, nor something existing independently of man, but is instead the result of the inherent contrariety of the spirit's conviviality with the world.

It is a philosophy related to existentialism and nihilism, although it should not be confused with them.

Note that they always quote Søren Kierkegaard, the forerunner of absurdism: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=RH-1xZi-wac>

I hope I have made it clear to you and others.

I said that the world is absurd, but I was too hasty. This world in itself is not reasonable, that is all that can be said. But what is absurd is the confrontation of this irrational and the wild longing for clarity whose call echoes in the human heart.

Who even knows any more? This whole situation is pants-on-head retarded. A guy walked into a mosque and shot people, and there's nothing we can do for the victims. No virtue signalling or "pray for the victims" or getting offended on Twitter will come of this. We have no control over what happens. All we can really do is laugh at the absurdity of it all. New Zealand of all places gets shot up, the shooter's manifesto and video are full of memes, and now the media is losing their shit and unable to understand anything, while the rest of us are either left to mourn or just dawn on how retarded the world has become.

For instance, imagine you were to visit Stormfront, a white supremacist message board, to try to understand racist claims in order to debunk them. "Even if you see through the horrible rhetoric, at the end of the day you gave that place however many minutes of your time," Mr. Caulfield said. "Even with good intentions, you run the risk of misunderstanding something, because Stormfront users are way better at propaganda than you. You won't get less racist reading Stormfront critically, but you might be overloaded by information and overwhelmed."

"The students are confused when I tell them to try and trace something down with a quick Wikipedia search, because they've been told not to do it," she said. "Not for research papers, but if you're trying to find out if a site is legitimate or if somebody has a history as a conspiracy theorist and you show them how to follow the page's citation, it's quick and effective, which means it's more likely to be used."

As a journalist who can be a bit of a snob about research methods, it makes me anxious to type this advice. Use Wikipedia for quick guidance! Spend less time torturing yourself with complex primary sources! A part of my brain hears this and reflexively worries these methods could be exploited by conspiracy theorists. But listening to Ms. Ladam and Mr. Caulfield describe disinformation dynamics, it seems that snobs like me have it backward.

Mr. Caulfield walked me through the process using an Instagram post from Robert F. Kennedy Jr., a prominent anti-vaccine activist, falsely alleging a link between the human papillomavirus vaccine and cancer. "If this is not a claim where I have a depth of understanding, then I want to stop for a second and, before going further, just investigate the source," Mr. Caulfield said. He copied Mr. Kennedy's name in the Instagram post and popped it into Google. "Look how fast this is," he told me as he counted the seconds out loud. In 15 seconds, he navigated to Wikipedia and scrolled through the introductory section of the page, highlighting with his cursor the last sentence, which reads that Mr. Kennedy is an anti-vaccine activist and a conspiracy theorist.

"Is Robert F. Kennedy Jr. the best, unbiased source on information about a vaccine? I'd argue no. And that's good enough to know we should probably just move on," he said.

With tolerable taxes,⁸ no state debt and no interest to pay, England enjoyed a period of unparalleled growth and prosperity. The average labourer worked only 14 weeks and enjoyed 160 to 180 days holiday. According to Lord William Leverhulme,⁹ a writer of that time, "The men of the 15th century were very well paid", in fact so well paid that the purchasing power of their wages and their standard of living would only be exceeded in the late 19th century. A labourer could provide for all the necessities his family required. They were well clothed in good woollen cloth and had plenty of meat and bread.

Houston Stewart Chamberlain, the Anglo-German philosopher, confirms these living conditions in his The Foundations of the XIXth Century.

⁸ G.M. Trevelyan, English Social History, A Survey of Six Centuries Chaucer to Queen Victoria, Longmans Green and Co., London, 1948 writes that England was "a land whose people would not endure taxation" 63 and that "an obstinate refusal to pay taxes was a characteristic of the English at this period," 107.

⁹ R.K. Hoskins, War Cycles – Peace Cycles, The Virginian Publishing Company, Lynchburg, Virginia, 1985, 54.

"In the thirteenth century, when the Teutonic races began to build their new world, the agriculturalist over nearly the whole of Europe was a freer man, with a more assured existence, than he is today; copyhold¹⁰ was the rule, so that England, for example – today a seat of landlordism – was even in the fifteenth century almost entirely in the hands of thousands of farmers, who were not only legal owners of their land, but possessed in addition far-reaching free rights to common pastures and woodlands."¹¹

During their spare hours many craftsmen volunteered their skills in building some of England's magnificent cathedrals, which reinforces one of the basic tenets of Western civilisation that without leisure time, the fostering of culture is not possible. George Macauley Trevelyan, the English social historian, ¹⁰ Copyhold was a form of manorial land rights which evolved from the system of serfdom.

¹¹ H.S. Chamberlain, The Foundations of the Nineteenth Century, The Bodley Head, London, 1912, Vol. II, 354-355.

With the average labourer required to work only 14 weeks in a year, many voluntarily gave of their time to build England's magnificent cathedrals. The York Minster was completed in 1472 and has the largest expanse of stained glass in the world.

describes these accomplishments as follows:

"The continuous but ever-moving tradition of ecclesiastical architecture still proceeded on its majestic way, filling England with towering forests of masonry of which the beauty and grandeur have never been rivaled either by the Ancients or the Moderns...In the newer churches the light no longer crept but flooded in, through the stained glass, of which the secret is today even more completely lost than the magic of the architecture."¹²

And after going loony, people wonder: what was that guy's problem?

"A fire broke out backstage in a theatre. The clown came out to warn the public; they thought it was a joke and applauded. He repeated it; the acclaim was even greater. I think that's just how the world will come to an end: to the general applause of wits who believe it's a joke." – Søren Kierkegaard

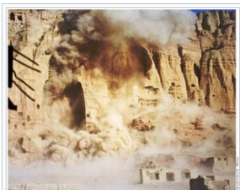

"Some forms of reality are so horrible we refuse to face them, unless we are trapped into it by comedy.

To label any subject unsuitable for comedy is to admit defeat."

Bamiyan Buddhas

Destruction of Buddhas, 21 March 2001

In 1999, Mullah Omar issued a decree protecting the Buddha statues at Bamiyan, two 6th-century monumental statues of standing buddhas carved into the side of a cliff in the Bamyan valley in the Hazarajat region of central Afghanistan.

But in March 2001, the statues were destroyed by the Taliban of Mullah Omar following a decree issued by him. The Taliban supreme leader Mullah Omar explained why he ordered the statues to be destroyed in an interview:

I did not want to destroy the Bamiyan Buddha. In fact, some foreigners came to me and said they would like to conduct the repair work of the Bamiyan Buddha that had been slightly damaged due to rains. This shocked me. I thought, these callous people have no regard for thousands of living human beings – the Afghans who are dying of hunger, but they are so concerned about non-living objects like the Buddha. This was extremely deplorable. That is why I ordered its destruction. Had they come for humanitarian work, I would have never ordered the Buddha's destruction.^[45]

Then Taliban ambassador-at-large Sayed Rahmatullah Hashemi also said that the destruction of the statues was carried out by the Head Council of Scholars after a Swedish monuments expert proposed to restore the statues' heads. Hashimi is reported as saying: "When the Afghan head council asked them to provide the money to feed the children instead of fixing the statues, they refused and said, 'No, the money is just for the statues, not for the children'. Herein, they made the decision to destroy the statues".^[46]

This prompted an international outcry from nations such as Japan, India, Sri Lanka, South Korea, Nepal, Iran, Qatar, and Russia. Even Saudi Arabia and the UAE, both of which were among only three nations to recognize the Islamic Emirate of Afghanistan, voiced their opposition. The Arab branch of UNESCO, a cultural and educational agency of the United Nations, labelled the destruction as "savage".^{[47][48]}

THE REAL HOPELESS VICTIMS OF MENTAL ILLNESS ARE TO BE FOUND AMONG THOSE WHO APPEAR TO BE MOST NORMAL.

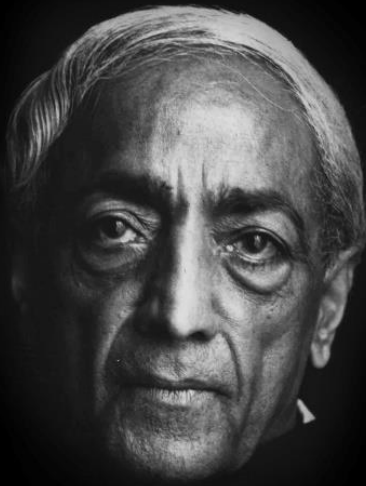

MANY OF THEM ARE NORMAL BECAUSE THEY ARE SO WELL ADJUSTED TO OUR MODE OF EXISTENCE, BECAUSE THEIR HUMAN VOICE HAS BEEN SILENCED SO EARLY IN THEIR LIVES, THAT THEY DO NOT EVEN STRUGGLE OR SUFFER OR DEVELOP SYMPTOMS AS THE NEUROTIC DOES.

THEY ARE NORMAL NOT IN WHAT MAY BE CALLED THE ABSOLUTE SENSE OF THE WORD; THEY ARE NORMAL ONLY IN RELATION TO A PROFOUNDLY ABNORMAL SOCIETY. THEIR PERFECT ADJUSTMENT TO THAT ABNORMAL SOCIETY IS A MEASURE OF THEIR MENTAL SICKNESS.

THESE MILLIONS OF ABNORMALLY NORMAL PEOPLE, LIVING WITHOUT FUSS IN A SOCIETY TO WHICH, IF THEY WERE FULLY HUMAN BEINGS, THEY OUGHT NOT TO BE ADJUSTED.

It is no measure of health to be well adjusted to a profoundly sick society.

Nothing about the world we live in will ever make sense to you unless you understand you live under an occupation and are thus subject to the rules of the occupiers. If you do not start from there, you will search for multiple explanations and rationalizations that will lead you to ineffective ends. You are not an active participant in politics and public debate, you are it's problem. Public debate is debating why you're the problem, politics is about dealing with that problem. The opposition in debate simply offers an alternative path to your destruction, the end goal is never resisted. We cannot seek to influence the debate or enter politics we can only hope to smash it.

Your humiliation is the enemies goal. To take a hit and fight on is honorable to take a beating every day is just sad. Humiliation robs you of your humanity, your will, your reason to fight on. Humiliation takes everything from you and debases it in front of all, it robs you of being worthy of empathy. It has been used by every occupier in history, it is our natural primal understanding of defeat. The Ottoman practice of köçek was an ultimate example, similar to the concept of "Drag Kids" in modern America. Köçeks were a combination of dancers, clowns and prostitutes, they were young non-Muslim boys taken from their parents and trained to be willful sexual objects and entertainers for the Turks. The goal was to have the occupied think "If we allow that to be done to our boys what else can they do?" The answer is anything. It is full spectrum domination of the conquereds mind.

Your enemy doesnt want gay pride parades in your street, drag queens in your adverts, your son transgender, your parents dead from opioids, your daughter race mixing, your meat replaced with bugs all while your media laughs at you because they think it's for anyones benefit. They want it because they know you dont want it but cant stop them, they want to humiliate you. There isnt any other reason.

PETA'S KILLING: BY THE NUMBERS

Over the last 12 years, PETA has killed 31,250 animals. That's an average of seven animals a day, every day, for a decade. Here are statistics for 2014 as reported by PETA to the Virginia Department of Agriculture.

2014

ACQUIRED: 2,626
SENT TO KILL SHELTER
(FATE UNKNOWN): 253

1%

The vast majority of animals who enter the front door of PETA's headquarters in Norfolk, Virginia go out the back door — in a garbage bag.

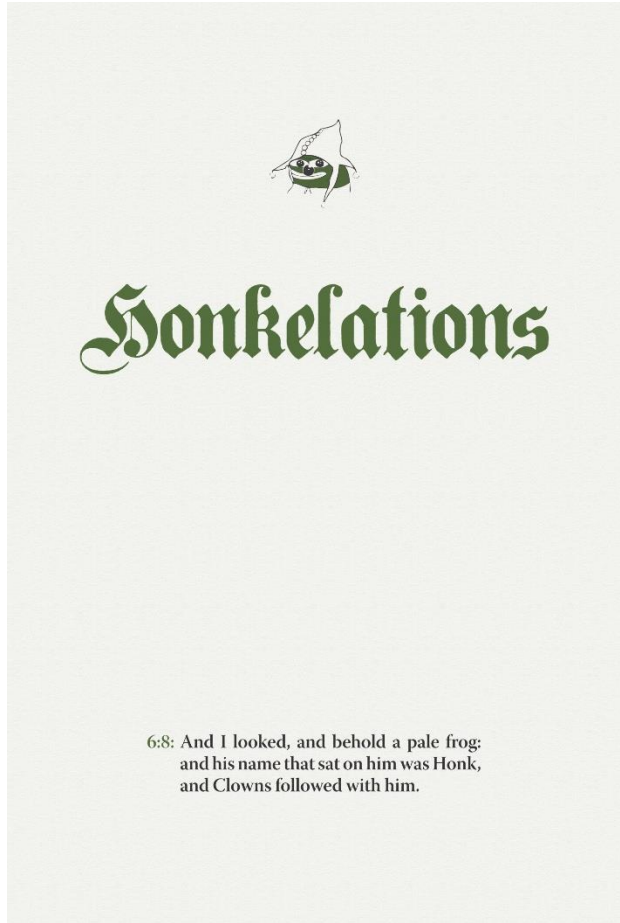

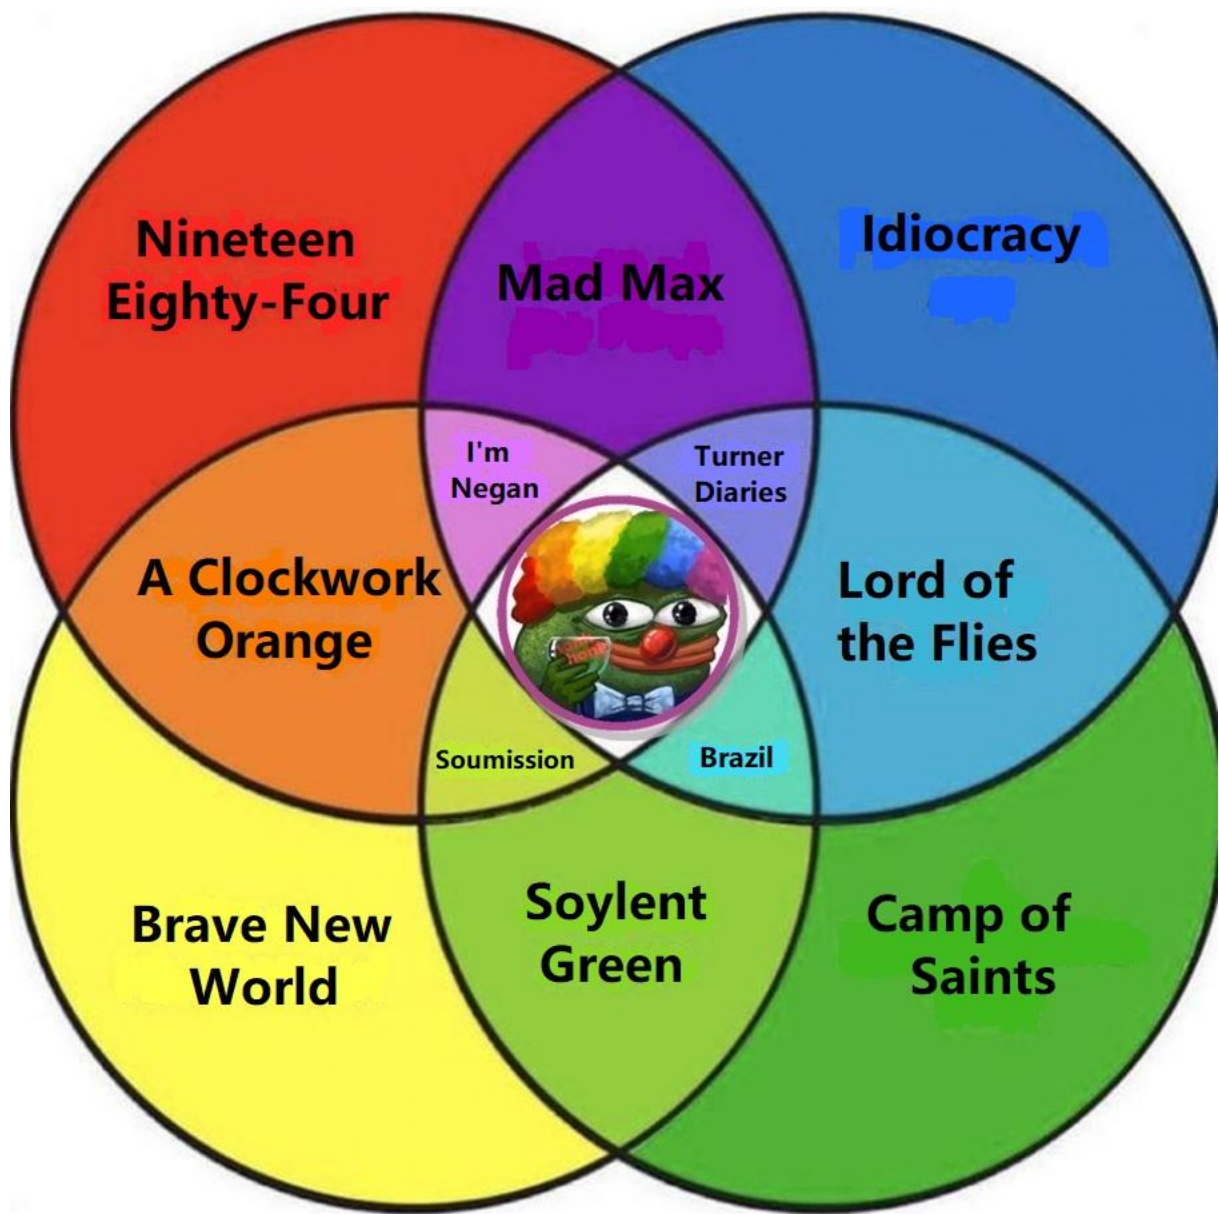

According to documents compiled by the Virginia Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services and originally released last week, investigators visited a Norfolk, VA PETA shelter in July 2010, only to find that it wasn't really a "shelter" at all. A few animals were housed there, but the area where they were kept wasn't available to the public, and they weren't available for adoption. In fact, the shelter didn't really do adoptions. What it did was euthanasia: in 2010, 94% of the animals it took in were euthanized, 90% within just 24 hours of admission. The (obviously partisan) organization PETA Kills Animals also obtained statewide stats for shelter kills in Virginia — over the past 15 years, PETA's kill percentage has been slowly climbing, from 72.6% in 1998 to 95.9% statewide in 2011. The state average for kills is closer to 50%.

Notre Dame and the Jews

10:45:11 AM on Wednesday, April 17, 2019 -

While the world focuses on the damage done to the historic Notre Dame cathedral in Paris, Jews with a historic sense know that the church was the site of a historic outrage perpetrated against the Jewish people.

In Paris of 1240, the Talmud was put on trial for blasphemy against the Church, writes Abraham Chicheportiche at Arutz Sheva.

There was no way the Jewish rabbis debating the Christians could win. Held at the instigation of Nicolas Donin, an apostate Jew converted to Christianity, he and clerics debated four rabbis, led by Rabbi Yehiel of Paris in the presence of King Louis IX of France.

Begun in 1240, the trial ended with the decree, out of the Notre Dame Cathedral, ordering seizure of all copies of the Talmud, that is tens of wagonloads, at least 10,000 handwritten volumes of holy texts (the printing press had not yet been invented) and then burning them on nearby Place de Greve in 1242.

2019 - 1242 = 777

Two of the rabbis, Rabbi Shmuel of Falaise and the Maharam Rottenberg, who participated in the debate are well known to us today through the prayers they composed and the elegies about the burning of the holy books which are still part of our liturgy.

“It’s so hard because when we went there, the students said it was hard for them to empathize with us because as sad as they were for us, it’s not something that happens there. And less than a year later, they’re experiencing it,” Wolfman said.

Triple-exotics

[[Nathan Abrams]]

A story little told is that of Jews in Hollywood's under world, the adult film industry. Perhaps we'd prefer to period that the "triple-exotics" didn't exist, but there's no getting away from the fact that secular Jews have played (and still continue to play) a disproportionate role throughout the adult film industry in America. Jewish involvement in pornography has a long history in the United States, as Jews have helped to transform a fringe subculture into what has become a primary constituent of Americana. There are the "new blue Jews".

"We must realize that our party's most powerful weapon is racial tension. By propounding into the consciousness of the dark races that for centuries they have been oppressed by the whites, we can mold them to the program of the [[Communist Party]]. In America we will aim for subtle victory. While inflaming the Negro minority against the whites, we will endeavor to install in the whites a guilt complex for their exploitation of the Negroes. We will aid the Negroes to rise in prominence in every walk of life, in the professions and in the world of sports and entertainment. With this prestige, the Negro will be able to intermarry with the whites and begin a process which will deliver America to our cause."

-[[Israel Cohen]]) A Racial Program For The 20th Century (1912), quoted by Congressman Abernathy, Congressional Record (1957), p. 8559

"The only reason that Jews are in pornography is that we think that Christ sucks. Catholicism sucks. We don't believe in authoritarianism. Pornography thus becomes a way of defining Christian culture and, as it penetrates to the very heart of the American mainstream (and is no doubt consumed by those very same WASPS), its subversive character becomes more charized..."

World Trade Center - June 2001

- $200 million needed in renovations and improvements / removal and replacement of building materials declared to be health hazards
- Known as an "Asbestos Bombshell" with advanced galvanic corrosion
- Port Authority tried several times to obtain permits to demolish the buildings for liability reasons
- Projected cost to disassemble the towers: $15 Billion
- Subsidized from birth by the NY Port Authority, by 2001 the WTC complex had sixty percent tenancy and considered to be a giant bomb as far as investments go

Silverstein Properties - July 2001

- Purchases a 99 year lease for the WTC complex for $125 Million (first time in 31 years the WTC changed owners and went private)
- Immediately insures complex for $3.5 Billion with full coverage against "Terrorist Attacks"
- WTC 7 is also included in the insurance policy (he already leased WTC 7 for 15 years)
- Immediately fires complex security and hires Marvin Bush's (president's brother) company Securacom (now Stratasec). Securacom also provided security for Dulles International Airport and United Airlines
- Lewis M Eisenberg gave Larry Silverstein the 99 year contract DESPITE they were the lowest bidders (the high bidder mysteriously pulled out at the last minute)

6 Weeks Later - September 11th

- Larry had breakfast every morning at 8:30am at the Windows on the World restaurant on top of the North Tower. The morning of the 11th he complains to his wife about his "skin" and decides to skip his routine breakfast and goes to the doctor
- Larry's daughter Lisa who was VP of Silverstein Properties attended meetings with tenants every morning on the 88th floor of the North Tower, the usually punctual Lisa was running late on the morning of the 11th
- Roger Silverstein, Larry's son, was also running late on the morning of the 11th. The VP was held up in traffic
- Silverstein Properties cancelled meetings for the morning of the 11th the night before fortunately saving the lives of executives and publicist Rubenstein

Aftermath - September 11th

- Larry immediately filed two insurance claims for the maximum amount of the policy, based on the two, in Silverstein's view, separate attacks. Larry wants $7 billion dollars for his loss
- Larry gets his initial deposit of $125 Million back
- Larry gets $861 Million for WTC 7 (initial investment of $386 Million)
- Larry gets $4.55 Billion for the Twin Towers
- Larry sues the airlines and security firms for $12.8 Billion in 2008
- Silverstein is again suing the airlines whose planes flew into the towers for an extra $3.5 Billion in 2013 (outcome pending)

World Trade Center 7

- "We've had such terrible loss of life, maybe the smartest thing to do is pull it. And they made that decision to pull and then we watched the building collapse." - Larry
- Dr. Shyam Sunder, of the National Institutes of Standards and Technology (NIST), "There was no firefighting in WTC 7."
- James Glanz in the New York Times on November 29, 2001 says about WTC 7: "By 11:30 a.m., the fire commander in charge of that area, Assistant Chief Frank Fellini, ordered firefighters away"
- The FEMA report on the collapses, from May, 2002, also says about the WTC 7 collapse: "no manual firefighting operations were taken by FDNY."
- Silverstein claims he spoke with the NYC "fire department commander" on 9/11, which was Chief Daniel Nigro. However, Daniel Nigro has confirmed that he did not speak to Silverstein on 9/11
- Between 12:00 p.m. and 5:00 p.m. September 11, 2001: World Trade Center Leaseholder Larry Silverstein is heard discussing the controlled demolition of WTC 7 during a telephone conversation. As reported by Jeffrey Scott Shapiro

The Crucifixion of Jews Must Stop!

By MARTIN H. GLYNN
(Former Governor of the State of N. Y.)

From across the sea six million men and women call to us for help, and eight hundred thousand little children cry for bread.

These children, these men and women are our fellow-members of the human family, with the same claim on life as we, the same susceptibility to the winter's cold, the same propensity to death before the fangs of hunger. Within them reside the illimitable possibilities for the advancement of the human race as naturally would reside in six million human beings. We may not be their keepers but we ought to be their helpers.

In the face of death, in the throes of starvation there is no place for mental distinctions of creed, no place for physical differentiations of race. In this catastrophe, when six million human beings are being whirled toward the grave by a cruel and relentless fate, only the most idealistic promptings of human nature should sway the heart and move the hand.

Six million men and women are dying from lack of the necessities of life; eight hundred thousand children cry for bread. And this fate is upon them through no fault of their own, through no transgression of the laws of God or man; but through the awful tyranny of war and a bigoted lust for Jewish blood.

In this threatened holocaust of human life, forgotten are the niceties of philosophical distinction, forgotten are the differences of historical interpretation; and the determination to help the helpless, to shelter the homeless, to clothe the naked and to feed the hungry becomes a religion at whose altar men of every race can worship and women of every creed can kneel. In this calamity the temporalities of man's fashionings fall away before the eternal verities of life, and we awaken to the fact that from the hands of one God we all come and before the tribunal of one God we all must stand on the day of final reckoning. And when that reckoning comes mere profession of lips will not weigh a pennyweight; but deeds, mere intangible deeds, deeds that dry the tear of sorrow and allay the pain of anguish, deeds that with the spirit of the Good Samaritan pour oil and wine in wounds and find sustenance and shelter for the suffering and the stricken, will outweigh all the stars in the heavens, all the waters in the seas, all the rocks and metals in all the celestial globes that revolve in the firmament around us.

Race is a matter of accident; creed, partly a matter of inheritance, partly a matter of environment, partly one's method of ratification; but our physical wants and corporeal needs are implanted

In all of us by the hand of God, and the man or woman who can, and will not, hear the cry of the starving; who can, and will not, take heed of the wail of the dying; who can, and will not, stretch forth a helping hand to those who sink beneath the waves of adversity is an assassin of nature's finest instincts, a traitor to the cause of the human family and an abjurer of the natural law written upon the tablets of every human heart by the finger of God himself.

And so in the spirit that turned the poor widow's votive offering of copper into silver, and the silver into gold when placed upon God's altar, the people of this country are called upon to sanctify their money by giving $35,000,000 in the name of the humanity of Moses to six million famished men and women.

Six million men and women are dying—eight hundred thousand little children are crying for bread.

And why?

Because of a war to lay Autocracy in the dust and give Democracy the sceptre of the Just.

And in that war for democracy 200,000 Jewish lads from the United States fought beneath the Stars and Stripes. In the 77th Division alone there were 14,000 of them, and in Argonne Forest this division captured 54 German guns. This shows that at Argonne the Jewish boys from the United States fought for democracy as Joshua fought against the Amalekites on the plains of Abraham. In an address on the so-called "Lost Battalion," led by Colonel Whittlesey of Pittsfield, Major-General Alexander shows the fighting stuff these Jewish boys were made of. In some way or another Whittlesey's command was surrounded. They were short of rations. They tried to get word back to the rear telling of their plight. They tried and they tried, but their men never got through. Paralysis and stupefaction and despair were in the air. And when the hour was darkest and all seemed lost, a soldier lad stepped forward, and said to Col. Whittlesey: "I will try to get through." He tried, he was wounded, he had to creep and crawl, but he got through. To-day he wears the Distinguished Service Cross and his name is ABRAHAM KROTOSHINSKY.

Because of this war for Democracy six million Jewish men and women are starving across the seas; eight hundred thousand Jewish babies are crying for bread.

A January 2003 Sunday Herald article revealed that police investigators had discovered “that images of Fred West abusing one of his children are among child pornography available for downloading from the Internet. It is unclear whether the child was West’s murdered daughter Heather.” Fred West was one of the UK’s most notorious, and most prolific, serial killers. Shortly after being charged with twelve counts of murder, he died while in police custody, allegedly by his own hand. Like Dutroux, West had constructed a torture chamber in his cellar where his victims were filmed being raped, tortured, murdered and mutilated. The remains of nine of his victims, minus some missing parts, were discovered buried under his house and in his yard.

While we are on the subject of serial killers, The Irish Times carried the following report in July 1998:

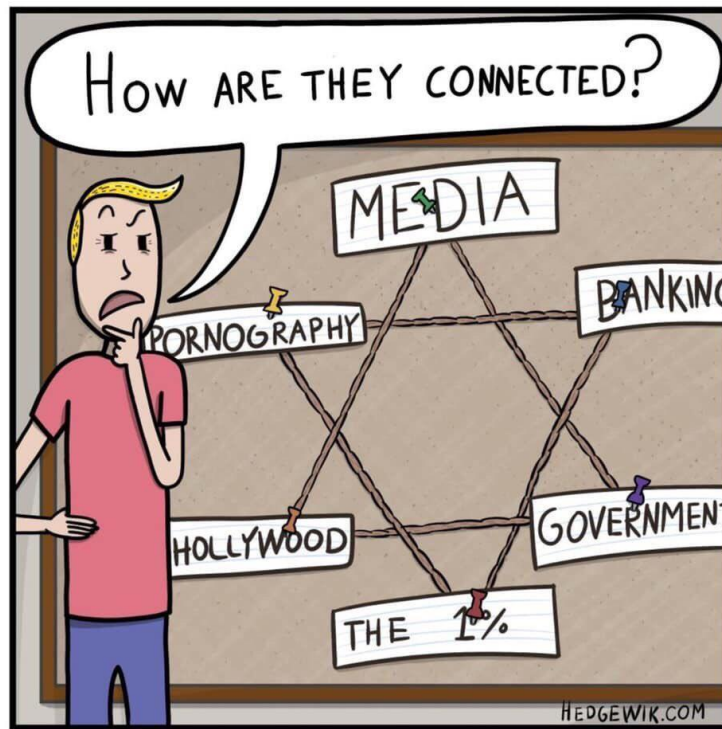

Police suspect a series of gruesome gay hate killings in the Sydney region could be the work of a serial killer whose victims might be linked through a notorious paedophile ring. The latest mutilation murder was that of Australia’s longest serving mayor, Frank Arkell, aged 68, who was bludgeoned to death in his flat and who had previously faced 29 child sex charges. In the past few months two other men, one a convicted child sex offender, were attacked in their homes in similar circumstances and also suffered horrific injuries. Arkell, the former Lord Mayor of Wollongong, 50 miles south of Sydney, was a key witness in a royal commission into police corruption which uncovered a network of paedophiles.

Those serial killers sure come in handy sometimes.

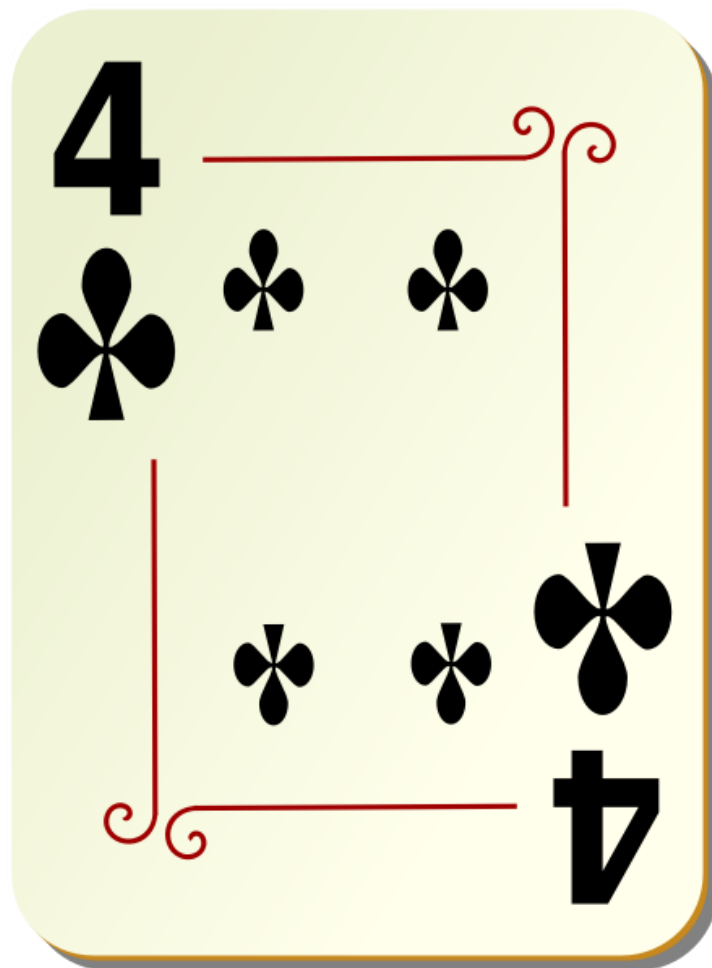

“Bruno Tagliaferro, a Charleroi scrap metal merchant who knew Dutroux, claimed to know something about the car in which Julie and Melissa were kidnapped. But he was soon found dead, apparently of a heart attack. His wife Fabienne Jaupart, refused to accept the verdict and arranged for his body to be exhumed. Samples sent to the USA for analysis showed he’d been poisoned. Soon after, her teenage son found her dead at home in her bed, her mattress smouldering. Publicly it was declared suicide, or an accident. There have been 20 such unexplained deaths connected with Dutroux.”

So we have China power blackouts, microchip shortage, illegal immigrants charging the border, supply chain collapse, and fraudulent elections in CAN/US. why does it feel like they are dismantling the world before something big?!, almost like as if the great disaster is close.

Still better aim than

and get impatient enemies out in the open somewhere. Even sand nigger snipers in Iraq dropped four soldiers and placed the vids online constantly for a while. Go watch it when thinking about the power of overwhelming force the state can bring to bear against some random person. Not sure about you, but most cops are not actually going to be willing to shoot me first target dummies. They are at the end of the day mercenaries, Barney life and Andy Griffith types have been railroaded out long ago, so it's up service to the protect part since it doesn't take too many cops before that paycheck loses its luster.

That's before ied's, actual organized sniper ambushes, nighttime swatting of government workers, kidnappings of family, rolling vehicle engagements and the ever present threat of a large truck vibed going off at a cops funeral for entire force elimination. Cops are 'soft' targets in any open conflict. This is universal across the entire world and has held no exceptions. So once that kind of fun starts, the military gets sent in and the real fun for all sides (there will be far more than two) begins. Civil wars are very different when fighters whom have lost family or reason for peace decides that reaching out an touching military families and non military support personnel are an easy thing to do compared to the fuel expensive main battle tank sitting on a corner somewhere. After all, that fuel and letters from home got to get thru, and that final letter might just be a bitch to open. Unlike sand niggers from half a world away, your own countrymen are next door.

Good thing nothing is happening and nobody is actually pissed off or anything. All is well in the empire of merica.

Here is a metric to give pause to all the feds whom have some image of things like now being as it is when shit goes up, being able to organize and bring in overwhelming force while most of the time only running skeleton crews as filler because criminals are not interested in actually doing shit. Lets take a moderately sized city with the 4,000 cops. Sounds like a shitload, half of them are little more than admin and support, investigators are somewhere inbetween those two depending on what job. Most are too old, out of shape, female or incompetent to really effectively fight, hell today most cannot effectively do anything at best but show up as backup much less do an solo patrol in today's mostly crime free cities. So as the 'fight' ramps up the following manpower issue is going to crop up very fucking quickly.

First, individual patrols are going to disappear overnight, even in areas where nothing has gone on. So expect minimum two cops per car. So you go from 4,000 cops on paper, to 2,000 or so on patrol over three shifts a day, to a battle buddy system with just 1,000 patrols spread over three shifts. That's every day non stop btw, not some couple week thing like they do once in a while now when someone fucks up or gets fucked up. Right out the gate, that's untenable for patrolling an average city that relies on something akin to 'just in time' supply of police services for very long, and the costs to each city begin scaling quickly at this point on. That's before force multipliers get targeted in addition to paramilitary forces.

Once someone in your area decides to go kinetic, you find out an man on the hunt for blood can bring down an uniform very fucking quickly. Nothing actually like today's niggers, or some common thief whom was trying to get away and pulled on cops chasing em. This is very different and the response is not sufficient to call for help. One guy with a rifle, even bolt action, can drop two men in the time it takes for one man to register that a round has been shot, if he watched his buddy drop he likely has no time to register at this point the 'awefuck drop to the ground' moment before the next one nails him. So you will find at minimum in low key areas cops, if they even show up to work at this point and no desertion happens(which happens every time kinetics in an area happen for real btw), will run fireteams of four. That 1,000 patrols just dropped to 500 patrols.

Thing is, four isn't much better than two for a variety of reasons. So before you know it, only teams of 8+ roll anywhere in uniform, 250 units' now or far far fewer. And they will only roll out when it is absolutely necessary. And very likely even those men are going to learn or be ordered to not engage anything with such a LOW number. So actual patrols as they are known today, disappear rather quickly since in an kinetic civil war, an patrol is really just a look here and kill these guys' thing to try and get impatient enemies out in the open somewhere. Even sand nigger snipers in Iraq dropped four soldiers and placed the vids online constantly for a while. Go watch it when thinking about the power of overwhelming force the state can bring to bear against some random person. Not sure about you, but most cops are not actually going to be willing to shoot me first target dummies. They are at the end of the day mercenaries, Barney life and Andy Griffith types have been railroaded out long ago, so it's up service to the protect part since it doesn't take too many cops before that paycheck loses its luster.

That's before ied's, actual organized sniper ambushes, nighttime swatting of government workers, kidnappings of family, rolling vehicle engagements and the ever present threat of a large truck vibed going off at a cops funeral for entire force elimination. Cops are 'soft' targets in any open conflict. This is universal across the entire world and has held no exceptions. So once that kind of fun starts, the military gets sent in and the real fun for all sides (there will be far more than two) begins. Civil wars are very different when fighters whom have lost family or reason for peace decides that reaching out an touching military families and non military support personnel are an easy thing to do compared to the fuel expensive main battle tank sitting on a corner somewhere. After all, that fuel and letters from home got to get thru, and that final letter might just be a bitch to open. Unlike sand niggers from half a world away, your own countrymen are next door.

Good thing nothing is happening and nobody is actually pissed off or anything. All is well in the empire of merica.

It's hard to be an American veteran these days. Let me tell you.

Used to work at the armory at MacDill AFB from 2002 - 2006.

While I was there we would typically lose 3 M16s and an M249 every month due to theft. This all got covered up by the chain of command, of course.

After retiring from the service I took a job at 7/11. Very high stress. If a single dollar is missing from the till at end of my shift, the entire store goes on lockdown until it is found.

THE FIFTY MOST VIOLENT CITIES IN THE WORLD

Cars

If you are in one, drive away if possible! If you are being blocked by niggers in the road then run them over. Duck low to provide frontal protection from uncoming gunfire with the engine block.

Cover

If you can't escape then get out and take cover. Don't hug the vehicle, keep some distance so you don't get hit by ricochets. Doors and windshields offer little protection.

The engine block is the safest spot behind a car. It stops all small arms fire.

If you are taking gunfire, hide behind wheel wells. Lie down and align yourself with them, feet first if possible.

Ricochets

On the other hand, ricochets can be your friend.

Shoot in this direction and bullets will skip to the other side and hit their legs if they are close, or higher if they are far enough away.

Careful, bullets bounce off of roofs so don't peek above them. If Curious George makes that mistake then skip a few across like stones on a pond and give him a free high-top fade.

Night-time

It's important to identify your target before shooting because it could be a white person or Thomas Sowell. For this reason always carry a bright flashlight on you. Ideally you don't have to cycle through modes, just HIGH and OFF.

Identify

If it's most likely a nigger, shine it right in their eyes. Otherwise aim for the knees if outdoors, or ceiling if indoors so you can use the light splash to identify the person without blinding them and pissing them off.

Illuminate + Move

Shine the light to identify the threat and their location. Check their hands to see what if anything they are holding! Then since you've just given away your position, turn the light off and move. Now you know where Tyrone is, but he doesn't know where you are.

Drawing

If you have to shoot from within the car, just lean forward and unholster. You will probably sweep your leg unless you move to the side as you unholster so be careful. Practice drawing + aiming in all directions with an unloaded pistol in private because it's an awkward movement.

Windshield angle

Bullets follow the direction of the windshield, so if you shoot out of a front windshield it will go up. If you shoot into one, it will go down.

Drive-by

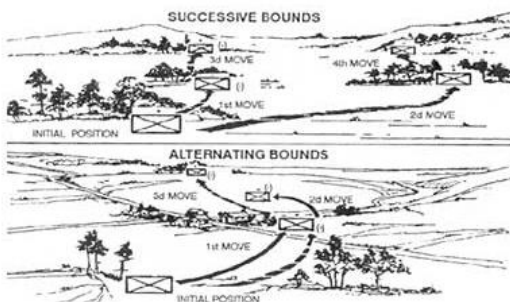

Pure nigger-tech. You won't hit shit while driving so don't even bother trying.

Leapfrogging or "bounding"

This one is pretty simple, but it requires friends and communication.

Split your group into a couple fire teams. Team (A) advances forward to a position of cover while team (B) watches over and if necessary suppresses the enemy with fire in order to keep the enemy's heads down so they can't fire upon your team (A) who is vulnerable while moving. Just take turns doing this until you are able to reach or flank the enemy.

Technique

Hold the pistol in one hand, and the light in the other hand securely by your chest. If you have a lanyard you can let it hang after you illuminate and move to a two-handed grip to facilitate dumping a mag into Labron. If you have night sights just float the glowing front dot over their silhouette and make it happen.

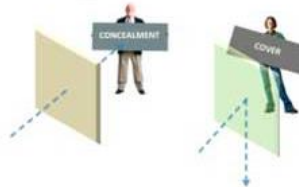

Close Quarters

Most gunfights happen at close range. Blade yourself and put an elbow or hand in front of you to create distance while drawing into a retention position like pic related. Don't shoot yourself. It will be loud, blinding, and smell like gunpowder.

Cover

If you aren't shooting, you should be behind cover or running to cover. Cover is something that stops bullets.

Slicing the pie

Slice the pie. Keep a distance from your cover while taking small steps and peering around. Practice doing this in your home with an empty gun or not gun at all. If you can, wait for them to come to you since it's a lot safer and nigs can't into tactics.

Communication

Since bluegums rove in troops, balance the odds to your favor by working with your friend or waifu. When you are going to move yell "moving!". Wait for them to respond with something like "ready", "OK", or "move!" then haul ass to where you want to be. When you are close to a friend slap them on the shoulder so they know where you are. Undercommunication kills!

TOOLS OF THE TRADE – PISTOL EDITION

Pistol

If you're using this things went south real fast and you're now reacting from a defensive posture. Either you relaxed around blacks, were forced to travel in enemy territory, or your primary went down. The good news is they are small enough that you can always have one on you.

Double Stack 9mm - required - $300-600

When Obama's son is coming at you high on PCP and lean you'll want as many sleeping pills in your dispenser as possible. A double-stack like the Glock 19 that holds 15 rounds is the gold standard, but brand name doesn't really matter.

Single Stack 9mm - optional - $300-400

If a double stack is too big and you can't or won't consistently carry a double stack, look into a single stack since any gun is better than no gun at all. You want one that can hold at least 7-8 rounds in the mag. It's IMPERATIVE that you get something comfortable enough that you'll enjoy taking it at the range so you put it through its paces before using IRL.

Sturdy belt - recommended - $20-60

You want something substantial enough to frame all of the weight from your pistol, mag, and anything else you carry like a light. A 1.5" Dickies belt is a good compromise between toughness and bulk.

Holster - required - $40-70

This allows you to carry your ghettoblaster. It also keeps the trigger guard covered and safe from your booger finger accidentally picking at it and causing a gun sneeze. Holsters are very personal and subjective, so just make sure it securely clips to your belt. PRACTICE YOUR DRAW!

Ammo - required - $220/1k rounds

Buy FMJ in bulk for training. You'll want brass-cased if possible because steel-cased is not as reliable and you want to trust your gun, not feed it with shit that causes malfunctions and leaves you with doubts. Keep a couple go-to mags always loaded with quality bonded HP ammo and run a box through your gun to test reliability before carrying it.

Magazines - required - $10-30/each

Get at least 3, with 6+ recommended. Stick to OEM or brands that are known to be reliable like Magpul. Also before you get your gun look up mag prices because some of them are ridiculous like $50+

Ammo pouch - required - $20-40

This doubles your capacity and gives you an option in case of malfunctions. Get something low-profile enough that you'll actually carry it in your pocket or on your belt.

>The reason modern technology has not been able to pinpoint the killer influenza strain from this pandemic is because influenza was not the killer.

>More soldiers died during WWI from disease than from bullets.

>The pandemic was not flu. An estimated 95% (or higher) of the deaths were caused by bacterial pneumonia, not influenza/a virus.

>The pandemic was not Spanish. The first cases of bacterial pneumonia in 1918 trace back to a military base in Fort Riley, Kansas.

>From January 21 – June 4, 1918, an experimental bacterial meningitis vaccine cultured in horses by the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research in New York was injected into soldiers at Fort Riley.

>During the remainder of 1918 as those soldiers – often living and traveling under poor sanitary conditions – were sent to Europe to fight, they spread bacteria at every stop between Kansas and the frontline trenches in France.

>One study describes soldiers “with active infections (who) were aerosolizing the bacteria that colonized their noses and throats, while others—often, in the same “breathing spaces”—were profoundly susceptible to invasion of and rapid spread through their lungs by their own or others’ colonizing bacteria.” (1)

>The “Spanish Flu” attacked healthy people in their prime. Bacterial pneumonia attacks people in their prime. Flu attacks the young, old and immunocompromised.

>When WW1 ended on November 11, 1918, soldiers returned to their home countries and colonial outposts, spreading the killer bacterial pneumonia worldwide.

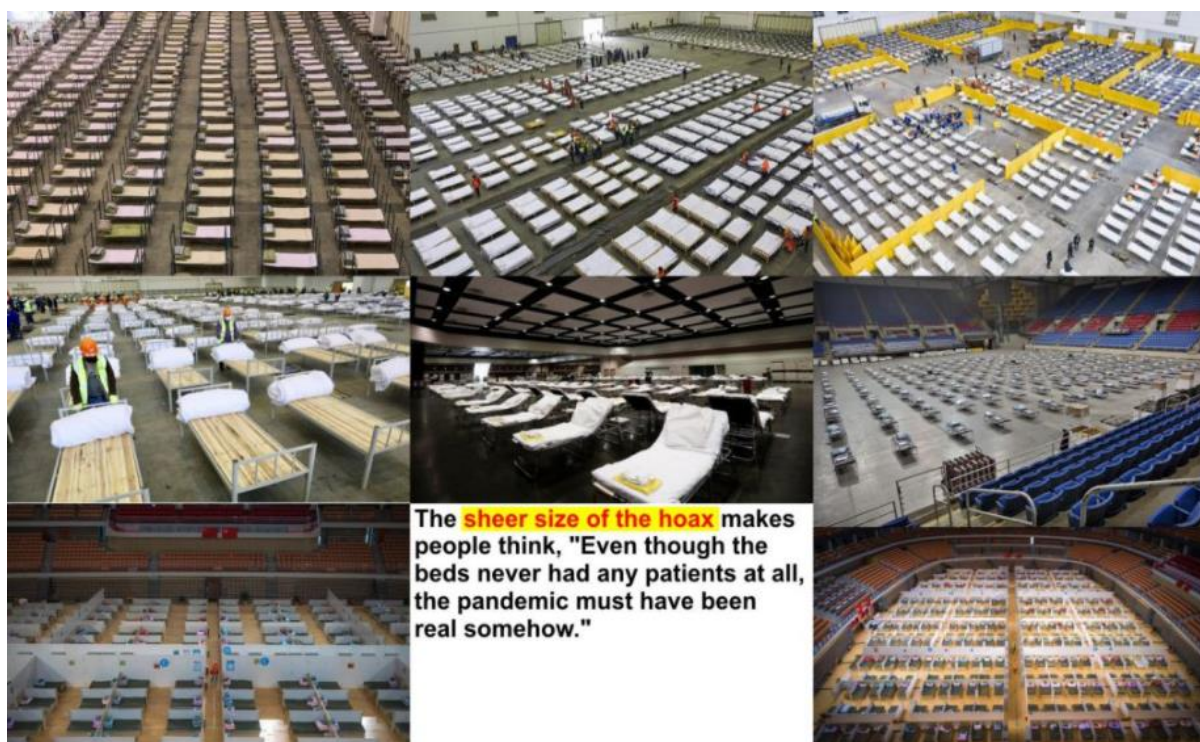

>During WW1, the Rockefeller Institute also sent the antimeningococcic serum to England, France, Belgium, Italy and other countries, helping spread the epidemic worldwide.

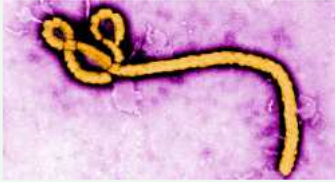

Hey, guys. Pcr redpill for you:

I decided to do a little reading about these tests as they seem have been called into question. I'd heard the inventor of the test say that or shouldn't be used to diagnose viral disease as it does not measure viral load. As I researched further I found out that the pcr test looks for specific fragments of ma that are called primers. Whatever sequence of ma is loaded as the primer is what the test will look for. Then I started looking at the list of primers used to detect covid 19. There was a column listing the number of base pairs. They were mostly two digit numbers. This was the first red flag for me. Typically proteins are encoded with around 1000 base pairs. 8 base pairs, 11 base pairs isn't enough to distinguish an identifying protein produced by covid, let alone a genetic sequence.

I continued my reading and started looking into what the pcr test is actually useful for. I came across a process id never heard of before. It's called dna barcoding. If you wanted to tag and identify every mutation of a virus or every animal in a species, working with full DNA sequences would be too much information to easily process. So they find specific fragments of the genetic sequence that contain significant variations and use pcr to find those fragments of the sequence.

I think the pushing of the “useless” pcr test is the slow rollout of a dna barcoding campaign that will be used to track the mutations caused by the mRNA vaccine.

I work daily with some of the world's most infectious and fatal diseases. Reading internal reports and also stuff available on the internet (papers, new articles), I'm becoming extremely concerned we are massively unprepared for the next epidemic.

People imagine that any kind of epidemic that occurs today can be more or less mitigated through modern public health infrastructure, stocks of vaccines and antivirals, and basic quarantining measures.

The issue is that in modern, densely populated cities, a sufficiently advanced pathogen would be capable of infecting the vast majority of inhabitants in weeks, before any health measures could have an effect. The population density is enough that current quarantining techniques used in cases like smallpox would be completely ineffective. Antivirals have historically proven ineffective and hard to disseminate while our current vaccine stocks might not work at all.

Currently computer simulations indicate that a dangerous enough pathogen could effectively destroy a city like Los Angeles in a few months. "Destroyed" in the sense that emergency services are shut down, medical services are shut down, all economic output ceases and over 30-60% of the population is wiped out.

In short, a small nation-state or even well-funded terrorist organization could easily reduce the US to the state of a third world nation with. Yet no one except my colleagues seems to give a fuck.

I work in a larger hospital, also in infectious disease.

Shit is hands down the scariest scenario you can imagine, and it really isn't a question of if, but when.

Making a mutated, and more virulent or deadly, strain of existing viruses could almost be done at home. If you've got a small nation-state they could engineer their own damned virus in 6 months, fully customized.

Swedebro is right. We can't have Star Trek world with trash tier genetics.

Jews might be smart and conniving, but the rest of their genetics sucks. They're okay with hurting people to get their way. That kind of entitlement is evil.

And blacks, although physically strong in many ways, they also have a similar kind of trash tier entitlement.

Neither group belongs in a Star Trek world.

Bill A416: Detention Premises & Lawful Forced Vaccinations

Bill A416: Detention Premises & Lawful Forced Vaccinations

After hearing this bill discussed during the most recent Open Forum, I decided to investigate for myself what its contents truly were. Following my reading of it, I was so aghast at what I had read that I thought it my duty to share its details with my brethren in as accessible a manner as possible. Within the bill you will find abhorrent powers such as explicit legal authority to forcefully vaccinate as well as forced detainment to "detention premises". We must do everything in our power to prevent such a bill from becoming law.

What is it?

Bill A416 is a bill which allows for the detainment of a person or a group of people for an extended amount of time. And, upon detainment, it can require vaccination for the detainee before he or she is allowed to leave the detainment center. The bill is only 4 pages and can be read for yourself here.

What's exactly in the bill?

Were the bill passed into law, it would allow for the governor of New York to be able to lawfully arrest citizens, put them into camps, and keep them indefinitely until they perform certain requirements.

What's below is a summary of the bill from someone who is not a lawyer and who has no experience reading legalese. Additionally, media and public attention surrounding the bill is not discussed.

There are 13 "subdivisions" or items of this bill or "section", with the first item declaring that, upon this bill becoming law, it can be invoked with the governor declaring a state of emergency.

Item 2 states that a person or group of people can be detained. It also states that all the State needs is a "reasonably specific description of the individuals or group being detained". This clause is quite vague, and I am not certain what its ultimate utility will be: perhaps, it is to provide justification for detaining "the Amish". Item 2 also spells out where these detainees will be detained, albeit rather vaguely. It says the detainees can be detained in a "medical facility or other appropriate facility or premises". What distinguishes an "appropriate premise" to a concentration camp, I am not certain. But at least I can report that the "appropriate premise" is not a gulag as the bill does not require detainees to perform forced labor, at least that is, for now...

Item 3 essentially says that the detainees may be detained in whatsoever manner "the department" sees fit as it pertains to Item 2. I interpret this as providing more leeway for whatever can be suitable for the "appropriate premise" of the previous item.

Item 4 has 4 clauses which state that:

- a detainee cannot be detained after the detainee is no longer contagious.

- a suspected carrier cannot be detained after he or she is no longer contagious or will not become contagious.

From this clause it is made certain that this law allows for the both the arrest of confirmed carriers and suspected carriers. What qualifies a suspected carrier? This bill does not reveal. Additionally, we learn from this clause that a person cannot be detained if he or she "no longer is or will become contagious". How a person can prove that he or she will not ever contract a disease and become contagious again is beyond me; however, it is plausible that the State will claim that their vaccine will prevent a detainee from ever becoming contagious again, and that upon the injection of this vaccine, the detainee is free to leave the detention premise.

- contacts of a confirmed case or carrier can't be further detained if he or she doesn't have the disease or no longer presents a potential danger to the health of others. This bill does not say exactly how a person could no longer present a danger to the health of others. One may presume that this clause's intent is to require vaccination similarly to the final item in the previous clause.

- a person can't be detained any longer if the suspected case didn't contract the disease or no longer presents a potential danger to the health of others.

It appears as though a detainee will only be able to leave once he or she is no longer a health threat to others and that the only way to achieve this is through vaccination.

Item 5 says ongoing medical needs will be addressed and that "isolation and infection control principles" will be met. How isolation will occur at the detention premise, I do not know. And additional research must be done on where the prospective detention premises may be.

Item 6 says that, after 3 days of detainment, the person or group "may be heard", and if a person or group "needs to be detained beyond 3 days" the State has the legal authority to do so. Traditionally, this "may be heard" means in legal-speak that one has the opportunity to appear before a court and present an argument on behalf of him or herself. It remains to be seen whether this "may be heard" found in subdivision 6 will grant that same right as it has before.

Item 7 basically talks about how once you are detained, you have a few legal options. After three days you can request release for an expedited hearing. And then after 5 more days, the State cannot keep you unless they get a court order "authorizing detention". It then says a person can't be detained for more than 60 days without a court order saying the State can continue. And then 90 days later, the governor must seek "further court review" if it wants to keep you. And finally, "clear and convincing evidence" is needed to keep you.

Part II — A trail of dead bodies and legislation

By the end of February 2002, a statistically striking number of world-class microbiologists were starting to drop unnaturally dead all over the globe. This began an intense period of investigation that, instead of answering questions, only raised uglier ones. Michael Davidson, a graduate of the Syracuse University School of Journalism, joined the FTW team as an unpaid volunteer, and I tasked him with investigating the deaths. We wanted to determine whether they could somehow be related to legislation pushing toward forced vaccination programs.

Davidson's reporting rattled the mainstream media more than any other FTW reporting since 9/11. Follow-up stories appeared in several countries and throughout the US. Perhaps the most attention was paid to our work by Canada's prestigious Globe and Mail that ran a Saturday front-page story duplicating most of our research.¹⁹ In correspondence with the Globe and Mail's news editor, Bob Cox, I later asked why FTW had been omitted from his paper's citations since the

What is striking about the reactions to the apparatuses of exception that have been put in place in our country (and not only in this one) is the inability to observe them beyond the immediate context in which they seem to operate. Rare are those who attempt to interpret them as symptoms and signs of a broader experiment — as any serious political analysis would require — in which what is at stake is a new paradigm for the governance of men and things.

Already in a book published seven years ago, now worth rereading carefully (Tempêtes microbiennes, Gallimard 2013), Patrick Zylberman described the process by which health security, hitherto on the margins of political calculations, was becoming an essential part of state and international political strategies. At issue is nothing less than the creation of a sort of "health terror" as an instrument for governing what are called "worst case scenarios." It is according to this logic of the worst that already in 2005 the World Health Organization announced "2 to 150 million deaths from bird flu approaching," suggesting a political strategy that states were not yet ready to accept at the time.

Zylberman shows that the apparatus being suggested was articulated in three points: 1) the construction, on the basis of a possible risk, of a fictitious scenario in which data are presented in such a way as to promote behaviors that allow for governing an extreme situation; 2) the adoption of the logic of the worst as a regime of political rationality; 3) the total organization of the body of citizens in a way that strengthens maximum adherence to institutions of government, producing a sort of superlative good citizenship in which imposed obligations are presented as evidence of altruism and the citizen no longer has a right to health (health safety) but becomes juridically obliged to health (biosecurity).

What Zylberman described in 2013 has now been duly confirmed. It is evident that, apart from the emergency situation, linked to a certain virus that may in the future be replaced by another, at issue is the design of a paradigm of governance whose efficacy will exceed that of all forms of government known thus far in the political history of the West. If already, in the progressive decline of ideologies and political beliefs, security reasons allowed citizens to accept limitations on their liberty that they previously were unwilling to accept, biosecurity has shown itself capable of presenting the absolute cessation of all political activity and all social relations as the maximum form of civic participation.

Thus it was possible to see the paradox of organizations of the left, traditionally in the habit of claiming rights and denouncing violations of the constitution, accepting limitations on liberty made by ministerial decree devoid of any legal basis and which even fascism couldn't dream of imposing.

It is evident, and government authorities themselves do not cease to remind us of it, that so-called "social distancing" will become the model of politics that awaits us, and that (as representatives of a so-called "task force" announced, whose members are in an obvious conflict of interest with the role that they are expected to exercise) advantage will be taken of this distancing to substitute digital tech apparatuses everywhere in place of human physicality, which as such becomes suspect of contagion (political contagion, let it be understood).

University lessons, as MIUR has already recommended, will be stably online from next year; you will no longer recognize yourself by looking at your face, which might be covered with a mask, but through digital devices that recognize bio-data which is compulsorily collected; and any "crowd," whether formed for political reasons or simply for friendship, will continue to be prohibited.

LAST BATCH OF PASTA

At issue is an entire conception of the destinies of human society from a perspective that, in many ways, seems to have adopted the apocalyptic idea of the end of the world from religions which are now in their sunset. Having replaced politics with the economy, now in order to secure governance even this must be integrated with the new paradigm of biosecurity, to which all other exigencies will have to be sacrificed. It is legitimate to ask whether such a society can still be defined as human or whether the loss of sensible relations, of the face, of friendship, of love can be truly compensated for by an abstract and presumably completely fictitious health security.

So, here's a non-schizo take from an actual scientist:

In the middle of a trade war, China released a bunk mildly-bad virus and played up its lethality (Really? The worlds greatest firewall somehow let cell phone videos of people having seizures on the streets and armed hazmat units kidnapping people into the US? Sure.) to scare the living shit out of the WHO and the US.

The left loved this, because they saw an opportunity to absolutely fucking tank the economy under Trump and clown him. Suddenly it's prohibited to do anything other than BLM protesting, the economy shuts down, you're a "conspiracy theorist" if you carry on like a normal person. The whole thing is ideologically charged and Trump is left bagholding a country with no functional economy, everyone scared shitless, riots, and a pandemic that they can use for everything (mail-in?).

Trump, in his cosmic idiocy, panics and initiates Operation Raging Lightspeed Pfizer Boner Black Hole or whatever the fuck it's called rather than just doubling down, essentially dangling $100B+ in front of arguably the most criminal, crooked corporations in the world: the drug companies.

Now the CDC and the FDA are caught in the political shitstorm, which Trump makes worse by shitting on anyone who holds up Operation Injecting Gay Juice, including the FDA. The FDA is now on the hook for granting EUA to whatever comes, otherwise they'll be "swamp creatures" for holding up the vaccine. The CDC is full of genuine morons, which is why they can do nothing but give totally conflicting advice, all the time. The last time they were relevant was when a monkey got loose in northern Virginia.

Pfizer, Moderna, AZ, J&J all come in absolutely salivating at all the gibs they will get. Whoever produces first gets the best contract. Couple that with the fact that an mRNA vaccine is actually much easier to produce now and shiny new shit gets your name on papers. So they throw caution to the wind, knowing they're protected legally from lawsuits, and also knowing that the FDA will do nothing but stare at a wall for the next 12 months because they don't want to be the "people holding up the vaccine and killing people."

Now, the problem is, the Democrats have played up this stupid fucking pandemic so much, that, even knowing the vaccines are dangerous as shit, they have a lot more to lose by saying "h-haha, okay go back to work, everything is actually fine, n-no need for the vaccine now" because people will see that it's all a total blatant fucking lie. So, they're pushing as fast as they can without exposing that it's total bullshit. "Wow, cases are unexpectedly going down!!!"

Sure.

The CDC has no credibility any more because Fauci is a fucking infant, so even if the CDC said it's fine, no one would listen. Our last hope is actually the FDA, because despite what you may think, they're actually good people who genuinely want to protect people. They need to find their testicles, though, because people are dying.

The vaccines won't turn you gay or whatever Q-level shit people are saying. They're not a microchip, don't insult your own intelligence by arguing in favor of that strawman. They WILL kill you under the wrong set of circumstances, though.

Spike is a thrombogenic, toxic molecule. It binds to ACE2/TMPRSS2. ACE2/TMPRSS2 are expressed on endothelial cells inside your arteries and veins. All veins lead to your Right Heart, then your lungs. The conduction system of your heart is on the right side, floor of the atrium. Nurses and volunteers are retards.

What I'm saying here, is that should you accidentally get one of these PEGylated LNP's or Ad5 vectored "vaccines" into an artery, you've really fucked a guy.

Their endothelial cells may start expressing Spike, which means they will both start throwing blood clots like crazy (which are usually dealt with but can cause major fucking problems) then proceed to get attacked by T cells and macrophages, destroying the lining of your blood vessels and causing vasculitis.

Even worse, if these particles make their way to the heart, You've basically just taught your endocardium how to get fucking attacked by your immune system, especially your conduction system. Immune system attacks conduction system, and you lose all heart rate control.

Look up diabetics who get the vaccine. They get massive blood sugar spikes, which means something is happening in the liver, too. Most likely, your liver doesn't like getting spammed with cytokines and attacked.

"I would love to die from the AstraZeneca vaccine"

This one everyday activity can actually be a lot scarier.

It probably sounds very broad, but more must be said in the way against the virus. That's the way to it in any. (The first I ever said) me.

In having one health worker died of a similar coronavirus and their blood workers were exposed with a blood clot after receiving the vaccine

How Corona Saved America

In a survey published Wednesday by Modern Fertility, about 30% of nearly 4,000 people with ovaries expressed that they were changing their fertility/family planning timelines this year. Respondents identified as female (99%) or gender non-conforming, non-binary, genderqueer (1%).

Of those who said they were changing their plans:

- Almost half (48%) decided to delay having kids
- 26% became unsure about having kids altogether
- 55% decided to accelerate their timelines for kids

Top reasons for accelerating timelines included the pandemic's role in emphasizing 2019 "what's most important in life" and being able to "work from home and have a better work-life balance."

Amanda Adomatis, 43, decided she wants to welcome a fourth child into her Alabama home.

The pandemic "made me look at the people around me — and that was my family, that was my children," she said. "We still love each other, and I want another child to join."

Births were already falling by 75% a year on average. Corona recession-ledist anti-child having will reduce births by something like 60k over the next 2 years and another 60k over the subsequent 5 years. Conservatives having more kids, while Jewish liberals and minorities having fewer kids.

white conservative - 4 kids

Not a 'baby boom,' unplanned pregnancies drop

Sarah Urbanski was forced to delay her family's timeline. She and her partner planned to use a donor who is a close friend — but he's not a U.S. citizen, and hasn't been able to travel to their New York home during the pandemic.

Both Urbanski, 33, and her partner have pivoted to egg retrievals and plan to pick up their donor conversation in 2021. Still, it's been difficult to delay the major life milestone — something she recognizes may be a shared experience for other prospective parents, now more than ever.

Jewish liberal - no kids, probably never ever

Urbanski is not alone. In a June report, Levine and Melissa Kearney, an economics professor at the University of Maryland and nonresident senior fellow at the Brookings Institution, projected that the nation could see 300,000 to 500,000 fewer births in 2021.

a December update published Thursday, Levine and Kearney stood by their initial prediction of a large reduction in births. But projected that the number would likely be closer to 300,000.

Even before corona, Mexico was projected to decrease to about 1 million births by the year 2035, down from 2.6 million in 2009.

If corona fucked America harder, it fucked Mexico hard. No stats on this yet, but we can assume they're going to be under 1 million by 2031. Accelerated collapse among non-white global birthrates.

Births always fell in a recession. Red states have stayed open while blue states have sealed closed borders and that 60% of their business will be severely closed. As a 'child of depression' has been created. This means, essentially, the births in these blue states that are gone will stay gone. A localized depression in blue states and a localized birthrate collapse. In a single year the DNC wiped out a generation of liberal vote-slaves.

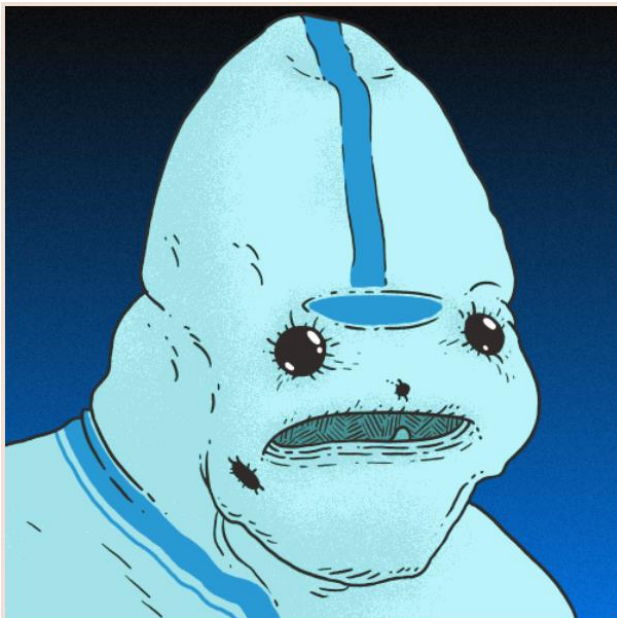

Also keep in mind that Planned Parenthood had better funding under Obama, which was shut down under Trump. The current numbers are even more concerning even without free abortions for every black woman who wants it. Imagine how I'll accelerate once you factor that in.

Even before covid, birthrates among minorities were rapidly plummeting towards parity with white ones despite an overall younger population of minorities. To understand, only about 55% of women between 18-44 are white non-Hispanic. The "50% of births are white" number means, when accounting for white men married to non-white women and white women married to non-white men, whites actually contribute about 59% of all births. Whites, if they only married other whites, would actually make up a larger share of births than they should purely by talking about the number of whites of childbearing age. It is purely because of the large population of whites (especially white men) intermarrying with minorities that things are even a problem.

However corona, the vaxx, economic collapse in blue states - all of this will rapidly accelerate a process that was already ongoing. Whites are the only group of women between the ages of 18-44 who are not declining. In 2017, 18-44s had 1.44 million births (down from 1.45 million in 2016). I did all that was in my power that I could have done within reason. For the past two and a half months I was a raving lunatic both to my family and my friends, every time we gathered I tried telling them about the potential danger of this thing and what it could cause both to people, the economy and the infrastructure... but they all shrugged and laughed it off. I went above and beyond when it came to warning people about this thing, I went above and beyond both in terms of verbal advice and in terms of leading by example. Therefore my conscience is clear, I do not regret doing anything I have done so far. Now all that I feel is left up to me is to sit and wait for things to unravel in whichever way they please. My conscience is clear and from now on whatever happens happens and I will deal with it as I go along, one step at a time...

Every time I get stopped by policemen, which happens a lot because I live next to one of their mask control points or whatever, I suck the mask inside my mouth and talk to them like that with and they can see my mouth moving with the mask half inside it. At first they were creeped out but its not illegal or anything and if they stop me is to have small talk... But there s a cute police woman who only recently arrived in this area.. I heard the policeman tell her "vezi, uite vine retardul".. Look look the retard is coming True. And everyone still acts as if they aren't lying. When you act as if lies are true, you give yourself brain damage which turns you into a slave. Forget about the vaxx, everyone has already been given a lobotomy by remote control.

None of you easy finklebrained idiots realize that the great reset already happened.

Jewish run Central banks printed trillions of dollars and gave it all for free to Mega corporations who were perfectly solvent in March (a process that is still happening).

These companies pay no taxes anyway and have large offshore reserves.

Meanwhile, your small business was crushed by lockdowns and Amazon or you lost your middle class salary due to covid and automation and you don't get a penny after furlough stopped untreated syphilis. The study went on for 40 years until 1972!! And no one blew the whistle even when all the men could have been cured with penicillin when it started being mass produced in 1945. The US government just kept telling the study subjects they were getting medicine which was just placebo. So much for the suppression of Vitamin D being too evil for science, Big Pharma, and the US Government to get behind!

So scientists and drug companies were telling us in the 1930's that any amount of vitamin D over 400 IU's may be toxic.. But somehow the drug industry saw fit to create three new miracle drugs for use in treating cancer and other diseases with the brand names Dalsol, Deltalin, and Drisdol. Each of these drugs was nothing more than a daily pill containing 50,000 IU of vitamin D2 and a filler. The drug industry was not doing well during the depression years of the 1930's and these "new" drugs that actually worked saved them financially, all the while they were telling the public anything over 400 IU was toxic. (More than 400 IU being dangerous is especially ridiculous when you consider that whole body sunbathing for just thirty minutes produces 10,000 to 20,000 IU of Vitamin D3 in your skin!) [13]

Once the patent on Vitamin D was invalidated in 1943, the drug companies needed to somehow get Vitamin D back under their control. So, the campaign started in New York in 1944 when the attorney general Nathaniel Goldstein ruled that vitamins were drugs and could only be sold by pharmacists and registered drug stores. [14] This ruling was quickly challenged in court and overturned. But Big Pharma was not going to just give up easily.

This is the strangest virus I've ever heard of. It's so mysterious the way it lurks in schools but then dies at Home Depot. It can spread on Dunkin Donuts coffee cups, so having a cup of coffee is safe. It is the most curious thing how it lives on basketballs and baseballs, but vanishes when people stand close together protesting or destroying monuments. It is so smart, it won't bother the first 10 people gathered, not even a mask can stop it, but if you need a plumber, it is weak and a mask will keep it away. Accountants that work for the government or someone working in the government. At the airport while boarding your plane you must stand six feet apart, but when you are sitting on the plane, you are only 6 inches apart so perhaps the virus takes a Xanax and relaxes while on the plane. People that shop in a grocery store need to wear a mask whereas customers that eat in a restaurant don't need to wear a mask. It also requires dine-in restaurants to have a short time out while you're sitting. Who ever heard of such a clever restaurant you don't need to wear a mask thus the virus is able to relax and take a short time out while you're sitting. Who ever heard of such a clever when buying clothes at Kohl's but not at Target. It can't spread when you're buying beer or liquor. It lives for two days on Amazon boxes, but can't survive on Walmart shopping carts. It is spread by hairstylists and dentists but not by bank tellers and fast food workers. It is mind-boggling how it knows when the 11th person shows up, so be careful it's not you. If you want a massage or your nails done it is very active on the prowl and if you want to go to work whereas accountants that work in the community need to stay home so it seems the virus prefers to have its taxes done by someone working in the government. At the airport while boarding your plane you must stand six feet apart, but when you are sitting on the plane, you are only 6 inches apart so perhaps the virus takes a Xanax and relaxes while on the plane. People that shop in a grocery store need to wear a mask whereas customers that eat in a restaurant don't need to wear a mask. It also requires dine-in restaurants to have a short time out while you're sitting. Who ever heard of such a clever restaurant you don't need to wear a mask thus the virus is able to relax and take a short time out while you're sitting. Who ever heard of such a clever

Ok, ok... Something really fucking strange just happened. I just woke up so sorry if my spelling's shit or it has typos, etc. I was having this dream, at first I was with my friends being all happy & chilling in my living room listening to some music and generally having a good time. Next thing I know, this weird thing happens, I felt like I was being pulled out of my body. I tried to stop it but the force kept getting harder and harder and I couldn't handle it. My friends didn't notice a simple thing because at the moment I was picking a song from YouTube on the TV so they kept talking to each other normally. Next thing I know I am in this over the ceiling POV looking down on them. I was shocked, I immediately start banging on the ceiling with my hands to get their attention but nothing. Next thing... I see myself down there, me in the flesh. This "me" started talking to them and they responded like nothing strange had just happened. He kept going on and on about planning some trip in the near future somewhere near an island that's off the coast to where we all live. He said that "it would be only as there", "no other people" and shit like that. I started to get really paranoid so I screamed on top of lungs to get their attentions, no reaction from my friends. Only, him, me. He turned around and just smiled while looking directly into my eyes. It was so weird, that feeling, I couldn't look away. It was like I couldn't look anywhere else but into his, mine, eyes for a solid one minute.

Then out of a sudden one of my friends said something to this supposed me; "What are you looking at up there, anon? You feelin ok?" and I just snap out of it, I just return into my physical body, you know...
The one that's not fucking locked in another dimension over the ceiling. I find it hard to understand, I just sit down and everything started to turn white & this loud "BZZZZZZZZZZ" noise started to get louder and louder.

☐ Covid and the Vax are meant to kill long term, not short term COVID and the Vax (ID: HYVZ08) 07/30/21(Fri)13:22:37 No 332125809 [Reply] ▶

Here are some actual FACTS about the vaccine and COVID-19 with sources. Save the post, save your loved ones.

COVID-19 is a virus that contains two spike proteins, S1 and S2. The virus itself does some harm, which is different than the damage the spike proteins do.

So, lets talk about the virus first. The virus functions similar to malaria mechanical function inside the blood. It rips the hemes off of your hemoglobin, making your blood not be able to transport oxygen to your organs. This is why COVID causes organ failure, and low oxygen levels. This is also why Hydroxychloroquine works against it, it prevents your hemes from being torn off your hemoglobin. When your hemoglobin is ripped apart, you end up with free floating hemes that are toxic as well as radical iron particles in your blood that your liver must remove, and when your liver gets overloaded, it is processed in the lungs, resulting in lungs becoming inflamed and filled with fluid. This is also why ventilators don't work, people are breathing fine, they are low on oxygen because they are low on hemoglobin, and no amount of mechanical breathing can increase the amount of oxygen the blood can absorb without hemoglobin. <https://chemrxiv.org/engage/chemrxiv/article-details/60c74fa50f50db305139743d>

☐ COVID and the Vax (ID: HYVZ08) 07/30/21(Fri)13:23:19 No 332125877 ▶

Now, on to the spike proteins. When you get infected with COVID, the spike proteins go around infecting certain cells and injecting viral RNA (set of temporary instructions) and duplicating the virus. It takes about 1 week for your body to recognize the virus is bad and evoke an immune response. When your body does this, it sends a bunch of monocytes to kill the infected cells. The spike proteins are eaten by the Classical Monocytes and SHOULD be destroyed inside of them, and then the monocyte will undergo apoptosis (die). This is working for the S2 protein, but not the S1. The S1 protein is being eaten by Classical Monocytes, but it is making the Monocytes change into intermediate, and Non-Classical monocytes, and the S1 protein is NOT BEING DESTROYED in them, so they are refusing to undergo apoptosis. A monocyte should only live for 1 day to 1 week, but the Non-Classical Monocytes with the S1 protein in them are not dying for up to 15 months or more. Dr. Bruce Patterson is leading the research on this. <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=n9spx-4opMI> [Embed]

So, even after your body has killed off COVID-19 inside of you, you have a bunch of monocytes presenting the S1 protein. These monocytes can pass through the blood-brain barrier, and go anywhere in your body. They are causing vasodilation (increased size of blood vessels) throughout peoples body, inflammation of blood vessels, and nano clotting, especially in the capillaries. These nano clots and inflammation can cause heart attacks, fatigue, and all sorts of other problems. This is what is called Long Haul COVID.

So, remember, what the virus does, and what the spike proteins do are 2 different things. But, your body only responds by creating antibodies that will recognize and destroy the spike proteins (which neutralizes COVID's ability to replicate within the body, thus killing COVID). But the spike protein symptoms (vasodilation, inflammation, and nanoclotting) are not what the virus does (destroying hemoglobin).

NOW, to the vaccine. The vaccine injects either an adenovirus, or graphene oxide (toxic to humans in high doses, but processed by an enzyme from the lungs in 2-3 weeks usually) into your body. <https://phys.org/news/2018-08-natural-human-enzyme-biodegrade-graphene.html>

The vaccine either had spike proteins in it (Pfizer and Moderna) or causes your cells to begin producing spike proteins via mRNA (Pfizer, Moderna, J&J, Astrazeneca, all of them but Novavax). This causes your body to have an immediate immune response and begin producing antibodies against the spike proteins. This does make your body effectively immune to COVID if it worked properly. But it doesn't for 1 reason. The S1 spike proteins being eaten by your Classical Monocytes are being turned into Non-Classical monocytes (which should die in 1 week or less normally) that are not undergoing apoptosis, and therefore never dying. These S1 presenting monocytes are going throughout the body and causing serious damage, and hurting your immune system. <https://www.biorxiv.org/content/10.1101/2021.06.25.449905v1.full>

☐ COVID and the Vax (ID: HYVZ08) 07/30/21(Fri)13:24:51 No 332126022 ▶

IF YOU COULD FORCE YOUR NON-CLASSICAL MONOCYTES TO UNDERGO APOPTOSIS, the vaccine would work properly. Bruce Patterson suggests using several drugs in his protocol to achieve the goals. Ivermectin kills the virus. Statins prevent the S1 protein presenting Monocytes from attaching to your cells, and several drugs (including nicotine) can induce monocyte apoptosis. When the S1 presenting Non-Classical monocytes undergo apoptosis, the S1 protein is destroyed, and the nano clotting, inflammation, etc. go away. This is also why smokers have been shown to test positive for COVID symptoms 80% less than the general population, the nicotine effectively renders them immune to the effects of the S1 protein, and thus most of COVID's symptoms. <https://www.webmd.com/lung/news/20200430/smokers-hospitalized-less-often-for-covid-19>

☐ COVID and the Vax (ID: HYVZ08) 07/30/21(Fri)13:25:24 No 332126076 ▶

So, now, does the vaccine work, and why is COVID and its variants killing people still? Simply put, as your body is introduced to more and more COVID virus (or vaccines) your body begins building a larger and larger reservoir of very harmful S1 presenting Non-Classical Monocytes, that will eventually kill you. So, if you had COVID, you have a reservoir already. If you get the vax, now you have even more. If you get a second vax, or encounter people with COVID, you get even more and more, until you die, unless you do something to induce apoptosis in your Non-Classical Monocytes.

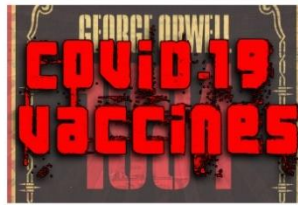

So yes, the vaccine is not useless, it does immunize people against COVID, but it destroys their immune system by creating a reservoir of S1 protein presenting Non-Classical Monocytes that reduce the body's ability to produce antibodies to fight off future COVID infection. If you induce apoptosis in your monocytes, then the vaccine works, and is not overly dangerous. As it is right now, the vaccine is immunizing people against COVID, but then putting their body in a state that it can't fight off COVID, as well as many other pathogens. In addition, the vaccine can kill you, either immediately (via blood clotting), or long term via your reservoir of S1 presenting Monocytes. But COVID can do the latter if you are exposed to enough viral load, even over months or years.

TL;DR Buy some Ivermectin and Nicotine Lozenges and you can survive COVID-19 without vaxx or any side effects.

Vs.

1. Required is the voluntary, well-informed understanding consent of the human subject, in a full, legal capacity.

✗ Subjects are coerced into taking the vaccines, thought tacit, but, increasingly bald-faced threats of job loss, deprivation of liberties, social ostracisation etc.; and all manufacturers were given limited liability indemnity against all possible adverse outcomes to patients, as a result of their drugs

2. The experiment should aim at positive results for society, [and] that cannot be procured in any other way.

✗ Vaccines do not kill the "COVID-19" virus, nor stop its spread; any advice regarding immune system health — such as the maintenance of sufficient vitamin-D levels — is scant, unforthcoming, and even dissembled, mocked, or dismissed.

3. It should be based on previous knowledge — e.g., an expectation derived from animal experiments — that justifies the experimentation.

✗ No animal studies were conducted to assess the long term effects of "COVID-19" vaccinations, as the third stage trial process was bypassed via executive fiat — a.k.a., "Emergency Use Authorisation" (EUA) act.

4. The experiment should be set up in a way that avoids unnecessary physical and mental suffering, [or] injuries.

✗ The VAER ("Vaccine Adverse Event Reporting System") has recorded over 5,000 deaths, and nearly 250,000 injuries (June 2020) associated with the various vaccines administered — a total death and/or injury count exceed all vaccines on record in the previous 30 years — combined.

5. It should not be conducted when there exists any reason to believe that it implies a risk of death or disabling injury.

✗ Without third stage trial data, no accurate estimations can be made as to the risks involved in taking "COVID-19" vaccines; interim VAERS statistics correlate with a high likelihood of on-going adverse effects emerging with time.

6. The risks of the experiment should be in proportion to — i.e., not exceed — the humanitarian benefits being sought.

✗ The vaccines do not mitigate the spread, nor kill the "COVID-19" virus, and yield negligible beneficial effects for those not in the "at-risk" categories for serious symptomatic response to infection — e.g., the elderly; those in poor general health; people carrying serious comorbidities.

7. Preparations and facilities must be provided that adequately protect the subjects against the experiments' risks.

✗ "COVID-19" vaccine recipients are administered injection in ad hoc, mass-injecting sites, and then sent away; no follow-up provisions exist, and any side effects are monitored only after self-reporting by the patients — i.e., to the VAERS database and/or to health care professionals — and only where serious enough side effects occur.

8. The staff who conduct or take part in the experiment, must be fully trained and scientifically qualified.

☹ Most who administer the vaccines are general practicing nurses or midwives who have been apprised of the vaccination procedure — either in person, or through remote tutelage — or are those who are otherwise unassociated with the medical field, beyond what bespoke training in the vaccine administering they have been given.

9. Human subjects must be free to quit the experiment at any point where they feel [that] they are physically or mentally unable to continue.

✗ No "opt-out" option is given — the vaccines are either taken or spurned by subjects; and the creep of further inoculations and "boosters", for so-called "mutations" and "variants", necessitates the repeated subjection of patients to continual vaccinations; and for an indefinite duration.

10. Likewise, medical staff must cease the experiment at any point where they observe that its continuation would be dangerous [for the patient].

✗ No clause exists for the cessation to the mass-vaccinations for "COVID-19"; even reported side effects are routinely underplayed and/or dismissed entirely. Indeed, the pressure to vaccinate for non-health related reasons — e.g., economic pressures — is so great that it is reasonable to infer that a truncation of the inoculation process would be seen as unfeasible by the very parties who rubber-stamp it.

1. Not everyone got the injection at the same time or has the same body, genetics, lifestyle, age, environment, living conditions, nutrition etc. Maybe the 60% who already showed clots had been injected earlier than the others. In time, maybe all the injected will show evidence of clotting.
2. For plausible deniability, the original plan could have been to have only a percentage of the vials contain the poison and the remainder just be placebos. That way, when the unlucky ones who got injected with the poison instead of the placebo started dropping like flies, they could point to them and claim they died of "breakthrough covid", and that this was evidence that another round of injections/boosters was needed. Or which they'd again have a certain percentage of vials filled with the poison and the remainder with placebo. And they could point to the cohort that were injected from the placebo vials and claim that their lives were saved by the vaccine and use that as argument for everyone to get it.
They could always use the cohorts injected with placebo as a shield against accusations of genociding people with the injections. And the ones that happened to get assigned the poison vials would be used as argument for the need for more and more injections for more and more "variants". But way more people than they expected are refusing the shot. Big problem because:
a) we're a control group who aren't dying early at high rates even though we aren't vaccinated and we're therefore evidence that those died that after injection died from the injection rather than "breakthrough covid".
c) we're also evidence that the injections aren't needed to survive covid.
So they probably switched from the gradual, multi-stage extermination to just having 100% of new vials made and distributed having the poison. And possibly recalling the placebo vial lots or blaming them on vigilant nurses. They're going for broke cause they know normals are waking up and the window is closing.

I think that they started the "vaccination" campaign with an approach of having a certain percentage of the vials contain the slow acting poison and the others being clean, having placebo or vitamins or something. That way, they could point to the people who lucked out and got the placebo vials as evidence that it's not the vaccines which are making people sick and killing them but the scary evil virus. And use them as evidence of the vaccine's efficacy at keeping people from dying from the scary evil virus. And they could point to the people killed by the "vaccine" as evidence of how dangerous the scary evil virus is and how it's starting to "break through" the "vaccine". "Immunity/protection" and use it as argument for the need for booster shots.
Each booster shot would itself have a certain percentage of vials which have the slow acting poison and a certain percentage of placebo vials. So the vaccinated would have another chance to win a poison vial with each subsequent booster they take. And, again, they'd point to the unlucky morons who got the poison vials rather than the placebos as evidence for the need of additional boosters against this "new" variant that "breaks through" the holy needle's blessed protection. Rinse and repeat until depopulation goal reached. When they'd give out only placebo vials and claim that the vaccination campaign finally conquered the scary evil virus!
The problem, of course, is the relative large percentage of refusniks who refuse even the first dose and, yet, aren't being killed by the virus, showing that you can survive without the blessed needle and that the blessed needle might actually be killing people. Which runs the risk of awakening the vaxxed cattle. Which is why they're pushing so hard, to get as many refusniks to take it until it all falls apart. And the longer we go with below expected rates of uptake, the less likely it is that any vials are placebos anymore.

So, here's a non-schizo take from an actual scientist:

In the middle of a trade war, China released a bunk mildly-bad virus and played up its lethality (Really? The worlds greatest firewall somehow let cell phone videos of people having seizures on the streets and armed hazmat units kidnapping people into the US? Sure.) to scare the living shit out of the WHO and the US.

The left loved this, because they saw an opportunity to absolutely fucking tank the economy under Trump and clown him. Suddenly it's prohibited to do anything other than BLM protesting, the economy shuts down, you're a "conspiracy theorist" if you carry on like a normal person. The whole thing is ideologically charged and Trump is left bagholding a country with no functional economy, everyone scared shitless, riots, and a pandemic that they can use for everything (mail-in?).

Trump, in his cosmic idiocy, panics and initiates Operation Raging Lightspeed Pfizer Boner Black Hole or whatever the fuck it's called rather than just doubling down, essentially dangling $100B+ in front of arguably the most criminal, crooked corporations in the world: the drug companies.

Now the CDC and the FDA are caught in the political shitstorm, which Trump makes worse by shitting on anyone who holds up Operation Injecting Gay Juice, including the FDA. The FDA is now on the hook for granting EUA to whatever comes, otherwise they'll be "swamp creatures" for holding up the vaccine. The CDC is full of genuine morons, which is why they can do nothing but give totally conflicting advice, all the time. The last time they were relevant was when a monkey got loose in northern Virginia.

Pfizer, Moderna, AZ, J&J all come in absolutely salivating at all the gibs they will get. Whoever produces first gets the best contract. Couple that with the fact that an mRNA vaccine is actually much easier to produce now and shiny new shit gets your name on papers. So they throw caution to the wind, knowing they're protected legally from lawsuits, and also knowing that the FDA will do nothing but stare at a wall for the next 12 months because they don't want to be the "people holding up the vaccine and killing people."

Now, the problem is, the Democrats have played up this stupid fucking pandemic so much, that, even knowing the vaccines are dangerous as shit, they have a lot more to lose by saying "h-haha, okay go back to work, everything is actually fine, n-no need for the vaccine now" because people will see that it's all a total blatant fucking lie. So, they're pushing as fast as they can without exposing that it's total bullshit. "Wow, cases are unexpectedly going down!!!!"

Sure.

The CDC has no credibility any more because Fauci is a fucking infant, so even if the CDC said it's fine, no one would listen. Our last hope is actually the FDA, because despite what you may think, they're actually good people who genuinely want to protect people. They need to find their testicles, though, because people are dying.

The vaccines won't turn you gay or whatever Q-level shit people are saying. They're not a microchip, don't insult your own intelligence by arguing in favor of that strawman. They WILL kill you under the wrong set of circumstances, though.

Spike is a thrombogenic, toxic molecule. It binds to ACE2/TMPRSS2. ACE2/TMPRSS2 are expressed on endothelial cells inside your arteries and veins. All veins lead to your Right Heart, then your lungs. The conduction system of your heart is on the right side, floor of the atrium. Nurses and volunteers are retards

What I'm saying here, is that should you accidentally get one of these PEGylated LNP's or Ad5 vectored "vaccines" into an artery, you've really fucked a guy.

Their endothelial cells may start expressing Spike, which means they will both start throwing blood clots like crazy (which are usually dealt with but can cause major fucking problems) then proceed to get attacked by T cells and macrophages, destroying the lining of your blood vessels and causing vasculitis.

Even worse, if these particles make their way to the heart, You've basically just taught your endocardium how to get fucking attacked by your immune system, especially your conduction system. Immune system attacks conduction system, and you lose all heart rate control.

Look up diabetics who get the vaccine. They get massive blood sugar spikes, which means something is happening in the liver, too. Most likely, your liver doesn't like getting spammed with cytokines and attacked.

All of this is happening at the margins. Most people who take the vaccines will be fine. But putatively, 2.1% of people die of covid (and we know that figure is inflated by AT LEAST 1.5%). If 2.2% of people die of the vaccine, it's an objective failure and a public health disaster.

What is absolutely infuriating is that the CIA's Progressive Stack, coupled with the remnants of the KGB's Useful Idiots have turned this conversation into "Trump Voters vs. Sane-Well-Adjusted-People-Getting Vaccinated"

The conversation needs to be a post-mortem on everything wrong with reactionarism. From unleashing drug companies and giving them unlimited funds and legal carte-blanche to kill as many people as necessary to undo the abject panic that the Democrats caused starting in March...

... to Trump being so short-sighted that he didn't realize attacking every scientist and implementing Operation Warp Into My Fucking Butthole was basically giving a truck full of crack to a crack addict then firing every cop. You basically just revived Enron, then gave them $89B to "re-invest."

The FDA is asleep at the wheel, and the CDC plus the judicial system are fucking over the average american citizen by intentionally staying silent, leading everyone to believe "well I may get fired, because my employer can mandate the vaccine, even if it's under EUA."

And the funniest thing is, Novavax, who will likely have the absolute safest vaccine, won't get EUA. They're applying in April. Watch it get denied. mRNA is here to stay, because we must always go "forward," Laika be damned. Novavax is doing everything right: Novel technology based upon decades of good research, great trial design, very safe vaccine. Their critical error will probably be that they were TOO SAFE.

I'm a scientist and this infuriates me. I've gotten in major fights with my colleagues over this. Everyone has lost their fucking mind.

There are many things going on, and it's very easy to get lost and miss the forest for the sake of the trees.

If I had to summarize my perspective on this, as a scientist who knows the community very well, as well as a /pol/ack, I'd say:

>China knows they can scare the shit out of us with nothing

>The Democrats have zero morals and will leverage ANYTHING against someone they hate

>The Democrats have no concept of the fact that eventually they may be fucking themselves over in terms of future policy

>Trump dealt with the pandemic like a total fucking retard: the first rule of making a decision is stick with your fucking decision

>Scientists are universally poor; when you dangle money in front of them, they will dance like monkeys. "How many PCR cycles you want massa?"

>The Democrats are now stuck trying to convince their own base to go back into the economy and work, spend money

>Safe, effective, or not, the vaccines are one of the only ways the Democrats can un-terrify their base

>The vaccines are also an excellent method to spit in the face of anyone right of center and also de-person them if they don't take it, totally excluding them from society >do you know the half life of the mRNA in vax?

No. Pfizer leaks say putatively 56-70% intact after shipping & storage, but that may be a lie too.

It doesn't really matter, as incomplete RNA (read, non-polyadenylated, non-5'-capped) gets immediately trashed by your cells.

Without getting into the weeds, say you have an mRNA molecule: 5'C_ATGATGATAGATAGTGGCCTAGC_AAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAA

If you break that anywhere in the middle, you get two fragments, 5'C_ATGATGATAG... and ...ATAGATGGCCTAGC_AAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAA

One is missing the poly-A tail, and one is missing the 5' cap, so both get trashed. Degraded mRNA isn't really a danger to you. Sorry, but the one thing I never wanted to be since the start of this is a fear-monger.

ALTHOUGH - important - Ad5 (or any adenoviral vector) persists (putatively) much longer than a PEG-LNP, which is why the AZ vax is causing more blood clots: it persists for longer.

>how do endothelial cells start making more than normal? can they trap and preserve the vax mRNA?

They have no choice. I hate the terminology here and in the media. Nothing is "teaching your cells" to make anything. It's a computer instruction, a script that you clicked on on your computer. Your cells blindly translate any functional mRNA in the cytoplasm, full stop. Eventually it's degraded, contingent upon other factors, but ANY endothelial cell expressing ANY spike is a bad thing. It will eventually either thrombose or get attacked. It is simply never supposed to have that protein on its surface.

This is okay, if it's a deep myocyte in your deltoid. Not okay if its an EC in a piece of critical vasculature.

>Some pajeet Dr. on twitter was posting about how it attacks the liver, and platelets?
So, there's a mechanism there. Maybe.
It doesn't attack platelets, or the liver, but if you're familiar with mechanisms of cancer metastasis, there are "catcher" organs that collect circulating cancer cells by virtue of two things: being good "soil" and having a lot of vasculature to pass through
I've explained how the vaccines could be putatively thrombogenic, but let me explain why the liver, heart, lungs may be at risk.
The liver moonlights as a ton of things: blood sugar, immune involvement, a ton of shit. Any time the liver is stressed, it may release blood sugar. The portal vein is also massive and collects blood from a lot of places
The heart is immediately downstream of most of the major veins, through the vena cava. Anything that fucks with the right side of the heart also may hurt the conduction system
The lungs get the blood immediately after the heart, and are filled with tons of small capillaries, which thrombose very easily
If the vaccine particles get directly into a vein, there's no telling where they end up, and what they fuck up by causing local inflammation and thrombogenicity when they get there.

>I've been wondering whether the fact that there have definitely been a high number of immediate adverse reactions to these injections suggests that there is more chance of long term adverse reactions being common?
Unlikely, but possible.
What spooks me, in terms of long-term effects, is what you do when you cause host cells to express a very immunogenic protein. Canonically, T and B-cells will never be self-reactive. But autoimmune disorders exist, so there's obviously an exception to that rule, even T and B-cell-mediated autoimmune disorders.
If you're talking about something directly caused by the vaccine, three or four years down the road, the chances are nil.
If you're talking about something that happens [as a result of] SOMETHING that happens upon vaccination, you would just need a sufficiently longitudinal study, honestly.
There's no way that someone mistakenly vaccinated into a vein doesn't have SOME kind of vascular damage somewhere in their body. Likewise, I'm very worried that there's an elevated risk for just generalized autoimmunity (psoriasis, etc.) after this.

I guess regrettably, they stay totally in their lane, and won't mention anything about this unless either A) the clinical trials finish or B) they feel confident enough in reactions posted through VAERS to make a statement.
I'll stay to answer more questions, but that's about all I have. I cannot say enough to do your own research, but think mechanistically. The body is a set of systems, dependent upon each other. It's a group of processes that can't be looked at in isolation. Don't read journal papers in isolation, but familiarize yourself with the pathways first. Elsevier's Pathway Studio is an excellent tool (IIRC, you can get a free trial).
When you look at the body as a synthesis of pathways and processes, it's easy to tell why something may be bullshit, or when you're being lied to.

I'll leave a great example:
Cells produce proteins, but where do they go? Well, if they have transmembrane domains (hydrophobic residues), they get put in a membrane in the ER. Spike is a transmembrane protein, so it will almost always live on the membrane. This has very specific implications with respect to how antigens are presented to your adaptive immune system - antigens found on self-cell surfaces get presented VERY differently than a destroyed virus particle that's processed by a dendritic cell. This is most likely why vaccinated people can still transmit: they develop a T-cell-driven response rather than a humoral defense through B-cells.
Just by knowing that the vaccine doesn't contain Spike, and is all mRNA, you can already know it's not going to be terribly effective.

>What about fears of these vaccines being "leaky"?
The biggest example given for this is Marek's disease, which is a herpes virus. By virtue of its mutagenic potential and knowing herpes viruses, it's easy to see why this would happen.
Could a leaky vaccine precipitate a worse strain? Yes. Viral dynamics are such that virulence and lethality generally share an inverse relationship. Is SARS-nCoV-2 likely to kill 99% of those infected like Marek's disease? Extremely unlikely.
Is it irresponsible to release a potentially shitty vaccine to the public while the pandemic is still developing? Absolutely.
>possible sterilization?
You do not want the vaccine particles in your testicles. Most of the women getting their periods are most likely getting them as a result of being 1) sick from the virus 2) spiking blood sugar and 3) stress.
The testicles are immunologically privileged, so it's extremely unlikely, even if you gave the vaccine directly into the testicles, that the immune system would even know anything's wrong.
Women's reproductive systems are fickle and sensitive. Something like 30% of implantations are spontaneously aborted, first-term. Blame it on the significant investment required in rearing a child, but it's a miracle people are born period. Women who take the vaccine while pregnant are spectacularly stupid because of this - you don't want to fuck with a developing child, period.

>What about ADE?
it's funny that the cap you posted mentioned Dengue. Dengue is a flavivirus, together with West Nile & Zika.
A curious thing happens with flaviviruses and coronaviruses: When you're exposed to one, you develop cross-specific antibodies to every virus in the family. All are linked evolutionarily and there are certain conserved regions. There is a specific case from the DR of a man who contracted dengue and was immune to all flaviviruses.
The same thing happens with the common cold. Those who are exposed to seasonal coronaviruses develop antibodies to the conserved S2 region of Spike, which is cross-reactive to SARS-nCoV-2 Spike protein. Perhaps this is related to the "unexplainable" drop in cases (coincidentally starting Jan 5)
Now, where I'm going with this, is it's possible that a cohort of the population, with these antibodies suffered from ADE at the BEGINNING of the pandemic. Maybe binding to the S2 domain isn't effective for COVID. Maybe the common cold actually saves you from the worst of the coof. Who knows?
ADE is a possibility.
Unfortunately I suspect it will be verboten to publish results that show either of the LNP vaccines cause ADE, so we won't know. It's still near the bottom of my list of concerns.

That's the big kahuna
I get angry at my colleagues, though, when they refuse to apply these principles uniformly.
If the death rate from the vaccine is 1%, and you vaccinate 360 million people, you will have killed 3.6 million people.
If the death rate from COVID is 1%, and everyone in the US catches it, the same number of people will die.
You cannot be accepting of one but bemoan and abhor the other.

It's intellectually dishonest to laud and praise the deaths of people "for science," like the pandemic's Laika, and in the same breath curse those who play the odds against nature.
If the vaccine's death rate is even 0.001% higher than COVID, then every scientist who had their hand in this is no better than Unit 731, or Mengele, or any of the others in history that it is fashionable to despise.

The wikipedia article for "Case Fatality Rate" has been amended with a footnote for COVID that reads "Death rate includes those who may have died WITH COVID, as well as of That's all you need to know.
It does suck. It doesn't help that virologists are the ambulance-chasers of the scientific world, and develop raging erections when thousands of people die, because it means that maybe Nature will finally publish their paper on "Silicone breast implants and Ebola - a novel pathway for infection?"

Synopsis:<sup>[3]</sup> A group of comic book fans discover an unpublished manuscript for a graphic novel and come to believe that the manuscript foretells future events. Dark forces are also searching for the manuscript. The comic book fans discover a global conspiracy. The comic book contains clues of future events because is written by one of the architects of a plan designed to prevent ecological disaster as the Earth's population rises and resources are depleted. The plan consists of: (1) Convincing the world's population that there is an outbreak of a deadly new virus, (2) Once convinced of the narrative of the faux-pandemic, announce to the public the creation of a new vaccine, (3) Through the coordination between global elites and non-governmental organizations, governments move quickly to inject the world's population with this "vaccine," (4) Once the population is injected, it turns out that the vaccine is designed to sterilize almost all of those people that take it, causing the global population to drop from 7.8 billion to about 500 million, and ushering in a new era of plenty.

- 1) The world economy was already going to crash into a second Great Depression in 2020.
- 2) This was going to cause mass chaos and riots in the streets in every country around the world, as well as a public awakening about the robbery of the financial elite class.
- 3) Some way had to be invented both to excuse the economic collapse, and to get people quarantined into their houses for the police state to take over.
- 4) The coronavirus was made the pretext for this, and people were cajoled into accepting it by the media incitement of mass panic.
- 5) The coronavirus therefore not only saves the elite class from blame during the inevitable collapse, but allows them to impose any authoritarian measures they wish on the general public. Totalitarianism will be implemented.
- 6) People will be made isolated, jobless, and, with the UBI which is now coming out, dependent on the state.
- 7) People will be forced to take vaccinations and be microchipped in order to come back into normal life (see Bill Gates on Reddit recently). These microchips will be the beginning of a system which controls your life.
- 8) They will tell you that you need this microchip to go back to work, get on an aeroplane, or participate in society in any meaningful way.
- 9) As part of a depopulation agenda, the vaccines will also weaken your immunity and make you sick.
- 10) The sickness will be used as a pretext for more quarantines, more totalitarianism, further vaccines, ad infinitum.

Vaccination is optional, but mandatory, although voluntary, but you cannot refuse, more precisely you can, but you can be fired, although it is illegal, but the judge decided it is not.

No revaccination needed, although it might be required, but not necessarily, since the vaccine protects for 2 years, but the antibody count will be too low in six months, however you will have some antibodies, but they won't help against the new variants, nonetheless another jab will help form new antibodies, but we are not sure if that will be the case.

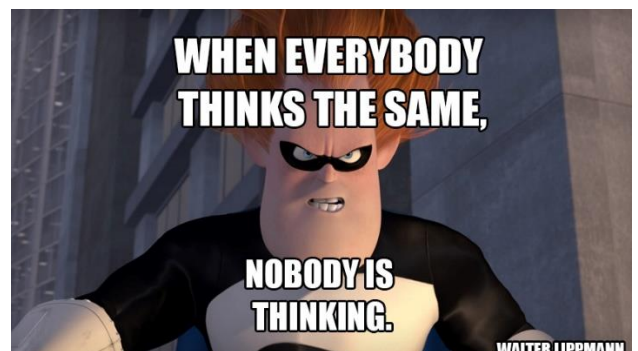

Get vaccinated and you won't get sick, although you may get sick later, but it won't be as severe, although there are new variants, but you should not get sick, however there is a lot of patients with the antibodies, but you are immune if you already had the disease or were vaccinated, but we are not sure of that, therefore get vaccinated, which is optional, but is going to be mandatory.

I don't see this discussed on here anywhere so I'm going to post it, because my father, a long time veterinarian pharma manager brought my attention to it.

Every one of the vaccines has a so called summary of product characteristics (SPC). This is basically the product description under which the vaccine is licensed.

The version for the UK is here: <https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/regulatory-approval-of-pfizer-biontech-vaccine-for-covid-19/summary-of-product-characteristics-for-covid-19-vaccine-pfizerbiontech>

As far as I can tell it is virtually identical to the one from Europe, which you can find by googling "Pfizer Vaccine SPC".

This is extremely interesting for several reasons.

First, the document contains the direct mention that the vaccine was designed to provide IMMUNITY to PREVENT infection, which completely obliterates any notion that the vaccine was always just meant to lessen symptoms or other dumb shit. It wasn't.

Failure to accomplish the use for which the vaccine was licensed would usually result in the vaccine having its license revoked (Product not working as intended), but who cares.

The real bombshell however is table 2 (pic) on page 9, which showcases the data on which the vaccine efficacy is based. This is where that 98% number comes from.

According to it, 8 people who got the vaccine got sick, while 162 from the placebo group got sick.

Sounds really effective right?

Well the first problem is, that this is not how you would measure vaccine efficacy. Comparing arbitrary numbers between a placebo and vaccine group is pointless, as it doesn't really allow for any statement on the efficacy of the vaccine. Think about it. They literally just took 170 sick people said 8 is like 4 percent of that and therefore stated the efficacy is 96%.

Normally both placebo and vaccine group would be subjected to the virus and what then counts is how many people from the vaccine group still croak.

Comparing the two numbers in the way Pfizer does is called "relative efficacy", but it is not what really counts. What is important is absolute efficacy, that's what actually forms the basis of the vaccine, or in other words, out of 100 people infected who were vaccinated, how many actually die? Now here comes the real kicker though, which renders the supposed efficacy completely useless. If you check the page you will notice that they never in their observation period mention actually subjecting their test subjects to infection.

That's because they didn't. They literally vaccinated them, then send them on their way and just documented for the next 60 something days how many got sick.

In case you do not see the problem here, there is no guarantee of any contact to Covid which would have even put the vaccine to the test. I could have gotten 100% efficacy by just letting all of my test subjects out somewhere in the Nevada desert and reeling them back in after a month. Nobody would have gotten sick because none of them even had a chance at infection.

Add to that that it was supposedly revealed that they destroyed that data by offering the control group the vaxx and what you see is a textbook example of faking statistics.

TL;Dr they literally took two groups, vaccinated one, threw them out, checked how many got sick after 60 days and then compared the two numbers to get to 95% efficacy, then gave the vaccine to the control group too.

Feel free to correct me if wrong because it's 3am here.

Correction: What is important for absolute efficacy is how many people still even get infected, that is, actually sick, let alone die.

This is how you measure the effectiveness of the vaccine.

You then compare it to the control group, that is how many people got sick or died there.

The differences between the group are the relative efficacy, which showcases if it even works. The absolute efficacy is how well it actually works.

In other words the whole thing is completely worthless and fraudulent, if I'm not mistaken, and the reason why Real Life observed efficacy is a whole lot lower.

Especially the part where instead of actually infecting their groups, they just send them out to run and then see how many get back sick, with no regards to where they lived or how they got exposed is ridiculous.

Did 'Head of Pfizer Research' Say COVID-19 Vaccine 'Is Female Sterilization'?

Two doctors who raised the specter of vaccines causing sterilization have both spread pandemic misinformation.

False

About this rating

Yeadon and German physician Wolfgang Wodarg sent a letter to the European Medicines Agency, calling on EMA to halt clinical trials of Pfizer's COVID-19 vaccine in the European Union. In the letter, Wodarg and Yeadon stated that the Pfizer vaccine blocks a protein that is key in the formation of the placenta in mammals, and they claimed that it's possible women who receive the vaccine could become infertile. However, they did not state as fact that the vaccine causes sterility, as the Health and Money News headline suggests.

"They didn't say the vaccine is female sterilization, they only said that it causes female recipients to become infertile!"

Enough debates. Just go out and get it already. It protects you, your family and everyone in the community. It's been scientifically, mathematically and statistically proven to make everyone safer. The communities that got them are overwhelmingly safer. The chances of side effects or accidents are so unbelievably small that it's completely absurd to not get one already. Quit being selfish, quit arguing online and go purchase a firearm.

The average is 7 days of mortality among the most severe patients in Israel, according to immunization status.

It can be seen that almost throughout the period of the fourth wave, the mortality rates among the unvaccinated were (sometimes significantly) lower than those of the vaccinated.

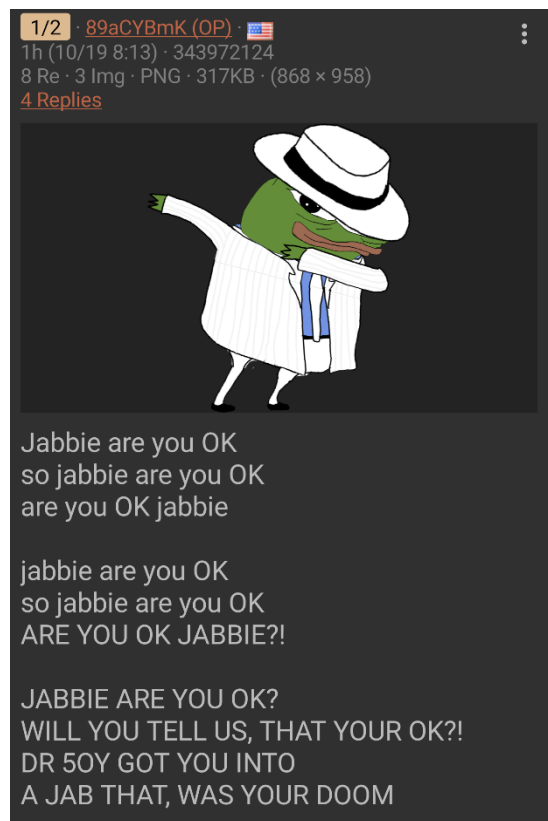

Beyond that, mortality rates among booster vaccines are the highest of the three categories.

While the incidence of Pulm Haem. is up to 50/1000 live births in babies who are premi or very low birthweight, the incidence in healthy term babies is as low as 1/1000... rising to 3-15/1000 in sub-saharan and areas that lack quality healthcare services

Understandably this is an alarming occurrence. But surely Twitter isn't an appropriate platform to discuss this. Where you have a PhD, many people aren't so educated. This message is only going to cause fear & unnecessary pressure on families. Anecdotal evidence isn't evidence.

Here is what is happening right now.

1. The spike proteins(spikes) cause blood clotting when blood pressure speeds up in the body. When the blood is pumped faster and speeds up, the blood cells run into the spikes and get stuck on them, causing them to clump(clot) together. This is why you have been hearing that athletes, "healthy" people going on runs and exercises, and pilots flying at high altitude are experiencing blood clots, myocarditis, and heart attacks. When their blood starts to move faster to give more oxygen during certain activity, the cells start running into the spikes and or causing large batches of spikes to rush into certain parts of organs, causing them to become inflamed or fail.

2. The immune system is attacking the areas that created the spike proteins. Your cells put up messaging in the area they are in that tell your immune system what the cells in the area are making. This messaging stays up for around a decade, even if the cells decide to stop making the spike proteins. So when your immune system sees that a certain area is labeled as an area making harmful things, it attacks it every now and then. These attacks will keep occurring for a decade. What this results in is certain people experiencing decade long disorders of all sorts of things. Within that decade the slow degradation of hearts, brains, lungs, reproductive systems etc, will occur.

3. The more non-neutralizing antibodies a person has, means the weaker their immune system becomes. Basically the non-neutralizing antibodies don't kill viruses, they tie them up and then float around. This results in 2 possible outcomes. Either the antibodies holding the virus run into one of your cells capable of killing the virus or they run into a place where the virus reproduces. That means that every time you get a booster shot you are putting in more harmful agents into your body that will weaken your immune systems. The more boosters you get, the weaker your immune system becomes.

From 2020 to 2030 the vaccinated will become very slow, weak, and unthinking people that don't reproduce and die off from easily treatable issues. You'll see them complain about pains and aches. You'll see them not being able to do certain physical activity. You'll see them not being able to think and being more complacent. You'll see them start to get sicker and sicker and fill hospitals up. You'll see them start to die of all sorts of organ failures and easily preventable illnesses. You'll see the population slowly be brought down in a controlled manner.

Out of 100% of vaccinated people, 65% or so will die within the decade, 25% will be seriously damaged by it, and 10% or so will not be hurt at all due to not taking boosters or just getting lucky enough that they don't get hit with the effects as badly.

Within a decade there will be less than 7 billion people on the planet.

It's so simple. All I have to do is divine from what I know of the kike... are they the sort of kikes who would put the poison into his own vaccine or his bioweapon? Now, a clever man would put the poison into the vaccine, because he would know that only a great fool would avoid medical treatment. I am not a great fool, so I can clearly not choose to take the vaccine. But the kikes must have known I was not a great fool, they would have counted on it, so I can clearly not choose to forgo the vaccine.

But the virus comes from China, as everyone knows. And China is entirely peopled with gooks. And gooks are used to having people not trust them, as the kikes are not trusted by me. So I can clearly not choose to take the vaccine.

But the kikes must have suspected I would have known the virus' origin, so I can clearly not choose to forgo the vaccine.

They've poisoned vaccines before, which means they're exceptionally evil. So, they could have put the poison in the vaccine, trusting in our fear of a benign virus to trick us. So I can clearly not choose to take the vaccine. But, they've also spread pestilence before, which means the virus could be deadly. And if deadly they must have feared it, for they were mortal, so the kikes would have wanted as good a vaccine as possible, so I can clearly not choose to take my chances with the virus.

Study concludes women's fertility harmed in vaccinating countries

posted by Mordechai Sones

October 4, 2021

In the second graph, the data are corrected according to the wealth of the countries (poorer countries have higher fertility). After the correction, Seychelles and Mongolia return to the norm, and only Israel continues to enjoy relatively high fertility despite the high percentage of vaccinated women:

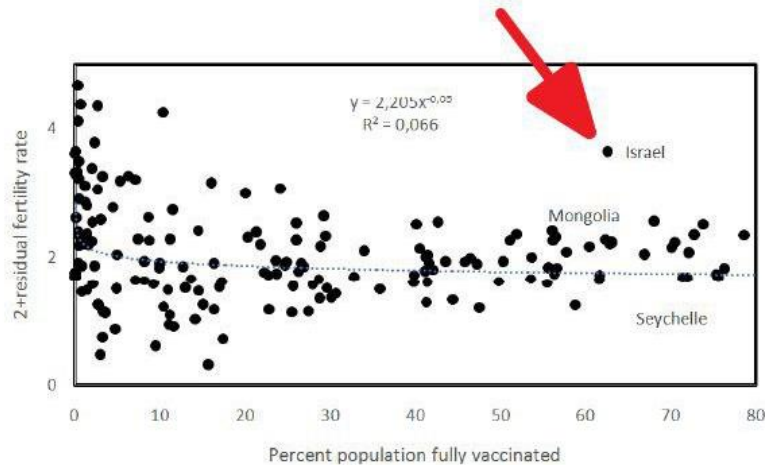

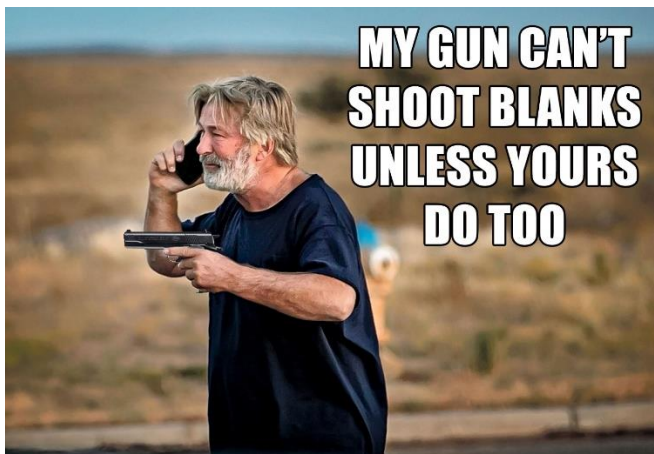

Figure 2. Residual of total fertility rate in different countries from Total Fertility Rate 2021 (worldpopulationreview.com) after accounting for association with national GDP per capita, as a function of percentages of fully vaccinated people in the same countries from Coronavirus \(COVID-19\) Vaccinations - Statistics and Research - Our World in Data, both sites accessed 04IX2021.

Although Dr. Seligmann does not explain the reason for the Israeli anomaly, Nakim Organization Director Haim Yativ says the abnormality in Israel can be explained by the fact that Israel is Pfizer's laboratory state, and that it must have been given a high percentage of placebo recipients to test the vaccine results against them as a control group.

Five times more children and young people committed suicide than died of COVID-19 during the first year of the pandemic in the United Kingdom, according to a study, which also concluded that lockdowns are more detrimental to children's health than the virus itself.

I think I found my answer to WHY they are so desperate to have everyone v@xx3d. They MUST get rid of the "control" group. Go with me here....

1. The longer we have more than 60% UnJabbed, the easier it is to see the effects on the Jabbed. (That's what control groups are for in REAL research.)
2. If 100% v@xx3d can be reached, then the deaths, infertility, and debilitating effects can be blamed on ANYTHING.
3. Infertility will show up within a year to a year and a half. Heart & lung conditions will show up in around 4 years.
4. Parma has already stopped their control groups, so we have NO data.
5. They have less than a year to achieve their goal of 100%, otherwise the difference in the 2 groups will be painfully evident.
6. This is WHY they are spending BILLIONS of your tax dollars, pressuring, shaming, and threatening you, because their time is short. They didnt expect people to be this resistant 🙄🙄🙄
They are scared & working hard to spin the data, its NOT the UnJabbed that are getting sick.
7. The next few months will be the tipping point.

 >President John Magufuli says Tanzania doesn't need vaccines, and that they don't work anyway: "If the white man was able to come up with vaccinations, he should have found a vaccination for AIDS, cancer and TB by now."
 >died in march 2021 of "heart complications", while his opposition claims it was covid >after his death, the government of Tanzania's new President Samia Suluhu Hassan has turned a page on the Covid-denialist policies of the late former president John Mugufuli by launching a national task force, which is recommending the country purchase vaccines and cooperated with the World Health Organisation (WHO) by publishing statistics and taking other measures. You don't have to believe me, I'm writing this mostly to get these images out of my head but ... I'm somewhat of a psychic. But not in the stupid mainstream popular way, but when I feel a shift in events I know exactly what it's going to be. I can't see out further than a year or so. Since two months ago, I've started awakened in the middle of a night with some terrible vision. A terrible vision. And because of past experiences I know it's coming very soon.

Every time I wake from this, I would start wailing sometimes and crying after seeing it. In the morning I would call people, hang out with them and comfort myself for days to get rid of the visions.

But here they are. I am warning you now, this is the point of no return, your life will not be the same once you finish reading this thread. Click on a slide thread and save yourself from the future, it's better to live out your remaining days than to know what I do.

Still here? You either don't believe me, have a steel-strengthened will power or are a fool.

People you know who have taken the vaccine will begin to slur in speech. It will feel like time is slowing down when you speak to them. They will not be able to maintain focus or even eye contact.

They will start smiling randomly, will vaxx topics often and will even stare out into nothing without warning.

Meetings over zoom will begin to become very scary. At first these signs will be exhibited by a few and everyone will notice with concern, until one after the other the vaxxed will succumb to them. The most frightening moment will be this for those like me who work remotely. You will have a meeting of complete incoherence with people you respected as competent coworkers. Then, one after the other, they will stop showing up to the meetings until you are the only remaining person in an empty room.

You will learn to avoid the roads. I sensed many close encounters especially with SUVs, perhaps this is biased to my area. At first it will be near misses but as the months pass, you will not be able to go a day without seeing a major accident. And then, the traffic will cease all together as an emergency is declared.

The pandemic of the vaccine will be transformed into Pandemic 2. This is happening in 6 months from my interpretation of the weather. The blame will be pinned on those who did not vaccinate.

A day will pass this year when the government will deliberately leak out the names of those who did not vaccinate, they know who has (and keep a record), they simply just invert the set I assume.

Everyone you spoke to who you warned about the vaccine will already know. The final vision of mine I see myself packing and escaping, I could only feel loneliness. A deep loneliness I can't describe in words.

It might not be the first stage of grief you know (denial).

It may very well just be the first indication of prion disease. Prions can cause ALS, Alzheimer's, frontal lobe damage, many different neurological impairments which are all a consequence of neurodegenerative disease.

Their brains are basically turning from a structure encased in a slimy electrochemical conduit into a blob of grey goo.

Infantilisation, hyperviolence, etc. We don't have to do shit to trigger it. Heavens, we can stand in an aisle at the supermarket holding a can of sardines, and if a jabbie walks by and sees that can of sardines it may be inclined to want that specific can of sardines, and it will try to take it from you.

Some of them won't even ask or try to grab it, they'll go straight to trying to kill you for a can of sardines nobody's paid for yet. And they will try to walk out with it of course, forget they just killed a man, and think they're innocent of any crime. Infantile Alzheimer's is by far the most dangerous stage to other people, and we have 2 billion of them walking on the earth now, slowly maturing to that state of sheer brainlessness.

ABSTRACT

Controversial understandings of the coronavirus pandemic have been visualized into a challenging, but highly effective health communication tool. In this paper, we present the results of a study that investigated how people who are skeptical of the government's response to the pandemic use orthodox data practices to promote their own views. This paper investigates how people visualize and use orthodox data, and shows that people who resist the scientific establishment often use data to support their views.

1 INTRODUCTION

Throughout the coronavirus pandemic, researchers have held up the crisis as a "textbook example" for data visualization research [12]. John H. Garfield's line chart comparing infection rates across countries helped millions of people make sense of the pandemic's scale in the United States [14], and even top Trump administration officials seemed to rely heavily on the John Hopkins University COVID data dashboard [9]. RIOV were calculated using the number of visits in the unvaccinated group (Unvaccinated) and the number of visits in the vaccinated group (Vaccinated) for each condition. For the comparison of individual visits and visits for each condition, which were greater than the number of patients.

Analysis 5. Cumulative office visits in the vaccinated (orange) vs. unvaccinated (blue) patients born into the practice: the clarity of the age-specific differences in the health fates of individuals who are vaccinated (2763) compared to the 561 unvaccinated in patients born into the practice over ten years is most strikingly clear in this comparison of the cumulative numbers of diagnoses in the two patient groups. The number of office visits for the unvaccinated is adjusted by a sample size multiplier factor (4.9) to the expected value as if the number of unvaccinated in the study was the same as the number of vaccinated.

Its effects are nearly identical to those of scorpion venom - sting-site swelling and soreness, fever, chills, palsy, infarctions, myocardial inflammation, brain fog, tingling sensations/parasthesias, the works. Just like the 5th angel of the apocalypse.

THE MR. SMITH EFFECT

In the movie The Matrix, Mr. Smith has the ability to enter any body, at anytime and of course this often occurs when the matrix is threatened by Neo. The scenario is a reflection of our real world. For example, you're down at the coffee shop having a conversation with a friend and everything is fine until you mention something like Covid came from the lab. Now watch what happens.. Up pops Mr Smith, to replace the person you were just having a conversation with, to attack you, because all truths threaten the matrix. The matrix programmed into most people in their youth and because of this "Mr Smith programming" these people become guardians of the matrix, protectors of the code, police of the mind control, enforcers of the indoctrination.. which holds together our false concept of reality like super glue.

>Thousands of long Covid sufferers are set to be offered monthly vaccine doses in an effort to beat the debilitating illness – after reports that patients can make a dramatic recovery after a jab.
Wait a second, if we can just get the jab AFTER we get infected why do we all need to get the jab before instead? Why would a "vaccine" even be able to help when you've already had a virus for over a year?

Stop denying science. Why are you denying science?

Earth heats up due to pandemic's cleaner air, study finds

FILE – In this Nov. 12, 2020 file photo, people take selfies of the Pudong skyline as they stand on the Bund in Shanghai, China. A new study finds that cleaner air from the pandemic lockdown warmed the planet a bit in 2020, especially in places such as the eastern United States, Russia and China. Tuesday, Feb. 2, 2021 study found the pandemic lockdown reduced soot and sulfate air pollution, but those particles also reflect the sun's heat and help cool areas briefly. (AP Photo)

A growing number of 'multi-vaxxers' are getting unauthorized booster shots. Most are mixing and matching.

- The FDA hasn't yet authorized booster shots, but a growing number of people are getting them anyway.
- Insider spoke with three people who received booster shots in the US, and one in Israel.
- All four "multi-vaxxers" said they wanted more protection against the Delta variant.
- See more stories on Insider's business page.

Katie Bent and her three roommates all got Johnson & Johnson's vaccine in April at the Oakland Coliseum in California - the first shot offered to them after a year of relative isolation.

"If the Pfizer had been the first option available to me, I would have gone with that over J&J," Bent, a 30-year-old tech worker, told Insider. "My priority was getting it sooner rather than getting the preferred option."

Pfizer's and Moderna's clinical trials found that those vaccines reduced the risk of getting COVID-19 by roughly 95%, while J&J's single-dose shot was found to cut the risk of moderate and severe COVID-19 by 66%. Bent was comfortable with that. Any vaccine, she figured, would eliminate the feeling of panic when someone came too close at the grocery store.

I was able to intercept an entire pallet of Pfizer's first vaccine shipment. 4000 doses at 2 shots per dose. I've got it stored in a chest freezer in my garage. I've been injecting myself every day, sometimes multiple times a day if I can stand it. The symptoms were terrible for the first few weeks. There were times I was completely paralyzed with pain, contorted like the Edward munch painting and frozen in agony for hours. I became stronger and some of the worst symptoms subsided over time. I've been vaxxmaxxing for almost 4 months now and I feel as though I'm becoming something greater than human now. I will continue to administer the injections into the same arm as long as possible. I'm increasing the dosages as much as I can stand and will maintain my journal.

Laughter is the best medicine.

First, Astra Zeneca came out. I was very happy about the opportunity of not taking it.

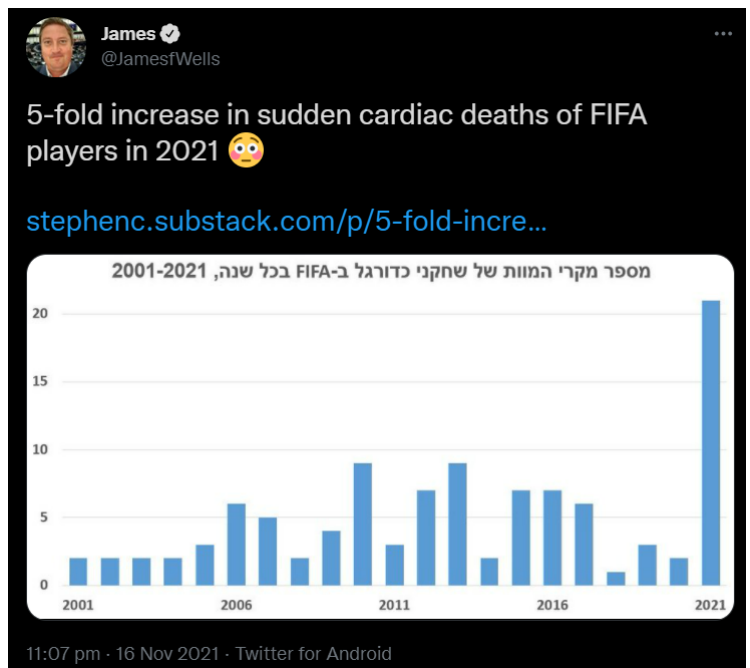

Then, Johnson&Johnson came along. I was tempted about not taking it, and I did.

Then Moderna arrived. It sounded very safe, and had a good sounding name. I did not take it.

Finally, Pfizer. This is what I was waiting for. Did I take it? Nope.

It's not just two and done. It's not just one booster annually. It's several a year. The only thing I know is that the "vaccine" is on the same schedule as a porcine zona pellucida vaccine (PZP). PZP is used to sterilize wild horses and other species. The PZP vaccine is usually given, initially, in a series of 2 vaccinations 2-6 weeks apart and then a booster every 8 months to a year, depending on the species. It reduces pregnancy rates by 80-90%

The CEO of Pfizer is also a veterinarian. Sound schizo? Well fuck you find me another "vaccine" with the same schedule then. Until then I'm staying entirely suspicious that this is the only one the Covid shots match up with schedule wise.

Abstract. The aim of this study was to evaluate the effect of active immunisation against GnRH on ovarian activity and serum progesterone concentrations in a large group of mares (10 control and 55 experimental) under field conditions as a model for wildlife species such as zebra and African elephants. Within the experimental group, mares were subdivided into three age categories: Category 1 (4 years and younger,  $n = 26$ ), Category 2 (4–10 years old,  $n = 18$ ), and Category 3 ( $\geq 11$  years old,  $n = 11$ ). Experimental mares were vaccinated intramuscularly with 2 mL (400  $\mu$ g) of the GnRH vaccine Improvac (Pfizer Animal Health, Sandton, South Africa). Control mares received the same amount of saline solution. The vaccinations were repeated 35 days later. The ovaries and reproductive tracts of each mare were examined by means of rectal palpation and ultrasonography on Days 0, 35 and 70. Blood was collected weekly for determination of serum progesterone concentration until Day 175. On Day 35 after primary vaccination all of the control mares and 14.5% of the experimental mares showed evidence of ovarian activity on the basis of clinical examination and serum progesterone concentration. On Day 70, all control mares and none of the experimental mares showed evidence of cyclic activity. No age-related effect within treatment groups was found. The serum progesterone concentration indicated that all experimental mares remained in anoestrus until Day 175. Five of the control mares fell pregnant between Days 35 and 70. The five non-pregnant control mares continued to cycle until the end of the observation period. Having achieved such promising results in this trial we now plan to test the GnRH vaccine in Burchell's zebra mares and African elephant cows.

Introduction

Contraception as a means of population management of captive wildlife species is well established. Methods that have been used include separation of sexes, surgical techniques and steroid hormone implants. The safety, practicality and reversibility of methods have enjoyed more attention in recent years, particularly where endangered and rare species are involved. Because of developments during the last 15 or so years it has become possible to successfully apply some methods for the management of free-ranging wildlife populations. Typical examples of these are the use of the porcine zona pellucida (pZP) vaccine to control reproduction in wild horses (Kirkpatrick et al. 1982, 1990; Kirkpatrick and Turner 2002) and white-tailed deer (Naugle et al. 2002; Rutberg et al. 2004).

In mares, the control of reproductive activity is a vital management aspect from both a fertility and behavioural perspective. Anecdotally, oestrous behaviour may negatively influence the performance ability of mares engaged in work and competition events (Elhay et al. 2007).

In the past, fertility control and the suppression of aggressive and sexual behaviour in horses was successfully managed by administration of progesterone or progestagens, in oral or injectable formulation, to simulate dioestrus. The high costs and the frequent administration associated with the administration of progesterone or progestagens and the short duration of action made their use impractical. A potential negative effect on future reproduction after repeated administration of progesterone or progestagens in prepubertal fillies has also been described (Skelton et al. 1991).

The major alternative to pharmacological manipulation for long-term control of reproductive cyclicity and behaviour involves the surgical removal of both ovaries (ovariectomy). Ovariectomy is invasive and also associated with various complications. After this procedure, some mares may still show signs associated with oestrous behaviour (Ginther 1979; Asa et al. 1980; Hooper et al. 1993). The factors of cost, associated trauma, potential postoperative complications, production setbacks and the irreversible loss of breeding potential make this method difficult to implement (D'Occhio 1993). Ovariectomy is therefore considered undesirable unless circumstances are exceptional.

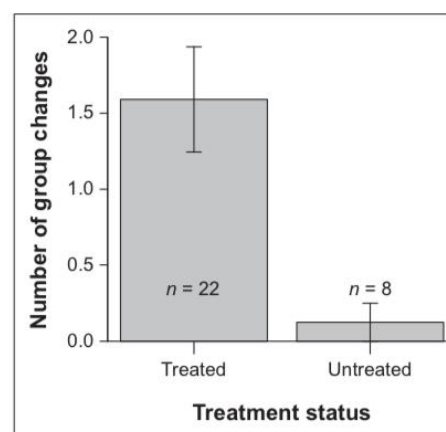

Recent studies on the use of gonadotropin-releasing hormone (GnRH) vaccination for suppression of fertility, aggressive and sexual behaviour have shown promising results. Vaccination entails the administration of a modified form of the GnRH hormone in order to stimulate the production of anti-GnRH antibodies. These antibodies then bind to the endogenous GnRH and inhibit the natural binding of this molecule to its management goals change. Although such considerations will not be practical with all populations (Turner et al. 2001, Killian et al. 2008), more careful consideration to feral horse behavior and physiology can help ensure more effective, flexible population management.

Behavior

On Shackleford Banks, PZP-treated mares were up to 10 times more likely to change bands than their untreated counterparts (Nuñez et al. 2009; Figure 1). Moreover, mares receiving 4–6 total treatments were more likely to engage in the behavior than those receiving 1–3 or 0 treatments (Nuñez 2005, unpublished data). This is an important shift in behavior, as

Treatment status

Figure 1. Number of group changes for treated and untreated mares. Even when controlling for the effect of age, treated mares changed groups more often than did their untreated counterparts. Adapted from Nuñez et al. (2009).

Effects of PZP-induced subfertility

PZP-induced subfertility can have important behavioral and physiological consequences for recipient animals (Nuñez et al. 2009, Madosky et al. 2010, Nuñez et al. 2010, Ransom et al. 2010, Ransom et al. 2013). This was especially the case with mares receiving  $\geq 4$  total and/or consecutive treatments (Nuñez 2005, unpublished data; Nuñez et al. 2010). Moreover, changes to mare behavior and physiology have the potential to become long-term (especially in mares that received  $\geq 4$  total treatments; Nuñez et al. 2017). Finally, such changes in recipient animals can significantly affect the behavior and physiology of their band stallions (Jones and Nuñez 2017, unpublished data). Although such aggressive treatment may be deemed necessary when rapid reductions in animal numbers are of paramount importance, the resultant changes to mare behavior and physiology can limit future management options (Nuñez et al. 2010, Ransom et al. 2014, Nuñez et al. 2017).

Conversely, animals receiving fewer treatments exhibited behavior and reproductive physiology more typical of untreated animals. Moreover, animals receiving fewer treatments were more likely to return to fertility after the suspension of treatment (Nuñez et al. 2017), thereby maintaining flexibility should future data). This is an important shift in behavior, as band stability, which is affected by the degree of female loyalty to the band stallion (Kaseda et al. 1995), is important to overall animal health. Decreases in band stability have been associated with decreased physical condition and female fecundity, increased parasite load and offspring mortality, and less time spent in preferred behaviors (Linklater et al. 1999). Moreover, increased mare turnover can disturb resident females (Monard and Duncan 1996), causing an overall increase in their levels of aggression (Rutberg 1990, Monard and Duncan 1996). In addition, repeated changes to band composition may prevent the establishment of stable female dominance hierarchies, which are critical to maintaining social cohesion among mares and overall group stability (Berger 1977, Houpt and Wolski 1980, Heitor et al. 2006).

Evidence suggested that such decreases in mare fidelity to the band stallion were related to PZP-induced subfertility: mares that conceived more often over a 5-year period (i.e., mares that were left untreated or for which treatment had failed), were less likely to engage in group changing behavior (Nuñez et al. 2009; Figure 2). Though these results were confounded by PZP treatment (see Figure 2), given the vaccine's mechanism of action, and the demonstrated effects of treatment regime, it seems more likely that prolonged subfertility is the causal mechanism behind decreases in mare fidelity.

Similar to white-tailed deer does (McShea et al. 1997) and free-ranging elk cows (Heilmann et al. 1998), treated mares were also more likely to solicit and receive reproductive behaviors from males (Nuñez et al. 2009, Ransom et al. 2010).

This group spun-off a company known as Immunovaccine Technologies Inc., or IMV inc. (NASDAQ: IMV; TSX: IMV) to further develop immunocontraceptive technology. Although IMV was interested initially in wildlife contraception, they have since shifted to vaccines against human cancers. IMV currently has a trial for a protein subunit covid-19 vaccine underway in Canada using their "proprietary" LNP platform to deliver antigens based on the covid-19 spike protein.

Spayvac , licenses IMV's technology for use in an array of vaccine formulations for use in animal populations. According to the SpayVac website:

" The basic liposome technology that underpins SpayVac was developed at Dalhousie University (Halifax, Canada) starting around 1990 and has been evolving ever since. It was developed in an effort to produce a long-lasting, single-dose vaccine to control reproduction in grey seals--and it worked extraordinarily well! A single dose was still ~80% effective after 10 years. No other contraceptive vaccine comes even close. We now call that vaccine SpayVac, which has as its active ingredient, pZP (porcine Zona Pellucida) proteins that are derived from pigs' eggs."

Like the Moderna and Pfizer/BioNtech vaccines, SpayVac's Lipid nanoparticle vaccines must be kept super cooled at -80 in dry ice and most require separate injections (initial and a booster a few weeks later).

I'm an industrial engineer at Moderna and the other one of us is a process development engineer. I'm sure the same thing is happening with Pfizer-BioNTech. It was hard to put things together based on the small quantities of additions happening in manual step (highly unorthodox for a continuous process production). The explanation we got was highly sensitive trade secret adjuvants being added. Digging in deeper showed how sensitive it actually was.

Most people's understanding of this novel vaccine type is that it works as follows:

1. Make mRNA coding for S protein
2. Make lipid nanoparticle delivery system
3. Profit

How it actually works from what we've uncovered:

1. Make mRNA coding for S protein
2. Make mRNA coding for mutant versions of CYP19A1 and CDKN1B in smaller amounts
3. Make sure that while delivery system for (1) mostly ends up in liver, most of (2) ends up in the gonads
4. Make sure form and quantity of additive upregulating LINE-1 reverse transcription activity makes it hard to detect among legit adjuvants
5. Effects from (2) integrated by (4) are recessive; mildly oncogenic effects in vaccine recipients unlikely to be noticed for many years
6. (5) recessive but since most of population vaccinated, in next generation female offspring have premature ovarian failure

(6) coincides with poor people being obsoleted by AI and robotics, so we didn't have to dig for motivation.

We've taken precautions but fear for our safety. So far I don't think we've raised suspicion, but can't be sure. Not sure what to do. Avoiding taking the vaccine makes us prime suspects for this leak.

Yeadon and German physician Wolfgang Wodarg sent a letter to the European Medicines Agency, calling on EMA to halt clinical trials of Pfizer's COVID-19 vaccine in the European Union. In the letter, Wodarg and Yeadon stated that the Pfizer vaccine blocks a protein that is key in the formation of the placenta in mammals, and they claimed that it's possible women who receive the vaccine could become infertile. However, they did not state as fact that the vaccine causes sterility, as the Health and Money News headline suggests.

XI. Several vaccine candidates are expected to induce the formation of humoral antibodies against spike proteins of SARS-CoV-2. Syncytin-1 (see Gallaher, B., "Response to nCoV2019 Against Backdrop of Endogenous Retroviruses" - <http://virological.org/t/response-to-ncov2019-against-backdrop-of-endogenous-retroviruses/396>), which is derived from human endogenous retroviruses (HERV) and is responsible for the development of a placenta in mammals and humans and is therefore an essential prerequisite for a successful pregnancy, is also found in homologous form in the spike proteins of SARS viruses. There is no indication whether antibodies against spike proteins of SARS viruses would also act like anti-Syncytin-1 antibodies. However, if this were to be the case this would then also prevent the formation of a placenta which would result in vaccinated women essentially becoming infertile. To my knowledge, Pfizer/BioNTech has yet to release any samples of written materials provided to patients, so it is unclear what, if any, information regarding (potential) fertility-specific risks caused by antibodies is included.

According to section 10.4.2 of the Pfizer/BioNTech trial protocol, a woman of childbearing potential (WOCBP) is eligible to participate if she is not pregnant or breastfeeding, and is using an acceptable contraceptive method as described in the trial protocol during the intervention period (for a minimum of 28 days after the last dose of study intervention).

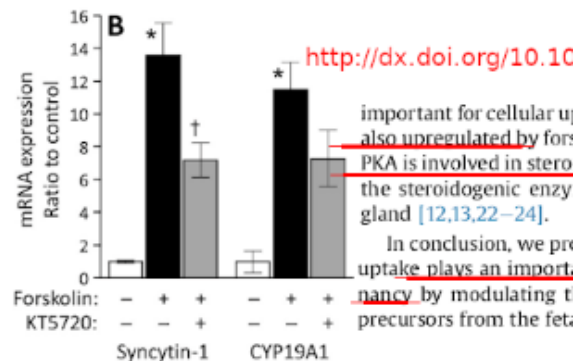

This means that it could take a relatively long time before a noticeable number of cases of post-vaccination infertility could be observed.

Pregnancy proceeded normally to term in 95 percent of the controls, but only 45 percent of the animals whose estrogen formation was suppressed were able to maintain their pregnancies. Albrecht reports. The other 55 percent miscarried. Monitoring six of the estrogen-suppressed baboons with ultrasound, the researchers found no fetal heartbeat, indicating that the fetuses had died before the miscarriages, he says.

In contrast, all of the animals treated with both an estrogen suppressant and an estrogen supplement maintained their pregnancies, the perinatal endocrinologist adds.

Hmm I did start my period a day or two after I got the vaccine. The cramps were the worst I've ever had. I could feel every contraction and release almost, what I imagine, going into labor is like but the cramps only lasted for a bit and it got better not long after. All my other periods since have been pretty normal though.

Warning: Icky Information

I got my period the day after the vaccine. No cramps, but /insane clotting, to the point I wondered if I should actually go to the ER. I waited it out and my period ended two days later. I haven't had one that heavy in many years. I'm not sure if it's related to the vaccine, but the timing does seem unusual. Normally I am very private about these things, but if any other woman is freaking out like I was, you're not alone!

I haven't had a period in about 8 months due to my birth control implant. Two days after I got my first shot (moderna) I got it and it was pretty heavy and lasted a full week, which is unusual for me. Not sure if related, just an observation.

Summaries for CYP19A1 Gene

Entrez Gene Summary for CYP19A1 Gene <https://www.genecards.org/cgi-bin/carddisp.pl?gene=CYP19A1#summaries>

This gene encodes a member of the cytochrome P450 superfamily of enzymes. The cytochrome P450 proteins are monooxygenases which catalyze many reactions involved in drug metabolism and synthesis of cholesterol, steroids and other lipids. This protein localizes to the endoplasmic reticulum and catalyzes the last steps of estrogen biosynthesis. Mutations in this gene can result in either increased or decreased aromatase activity; the associated phenotypes suggest that estrogen functions both as a sex steroid hormone and in growth or differentiation. Alternative promoter use and alternative splicing results in multiple transcript variants that have different tissue specificities. [provided by RefSeq, Dec 2016]

Summaries for CDKN1B Gene

Entrez Gene Summary for CDKN1B Gene <https://www.genecards.org/cgi-bin/carddisp.pl?gene=CDKN1B>

This gene encodes a cyclin-dependent kinase inhibitor, which shares a limited similarity with CDK inhibitor CDKN1A/p21. The encoded protein binds to and prevents the activation of cyclin E-CDK2 or cyclin D-CDK4 complexes, and thus controls the cell cycle progression at G1. The degradation of this protein, which is triggered by its CDK dependent phosphorylation and subsequent ubiquitination by SCF complexes, is required for the cellular transition from quiescence to the proliferative state. Mutations in this gene are associated with multiple endocrine neoplasia type IV (MEN4). [provided by RefSeq, Apr 2014]

UniProtKB/Swiss-Prot Summary for CDKN1B Gene

► Important regulator of cell cycle progression. Inhibits the kinase activity of CDK2 bound to cyclin A, but has little inhibitory activity on CDK2 bound to SPDYA (PubMed:28666995). Involved in G1 arrest. Potent inhibitor of cyclin E- and cyclin A-CDK2 complexes. Forms a complex with cyclin type D-CDK4 complexes and is involved in the assembly, stability, and modulation of CCND1-CDK4 complex activation. Acts either as an inhibitor or an activator of cyclin type D-CDK4 complexes depending on its phosphorylation state and/or stoichiometry. CDN1B\_HUMAN,P46527

These results indicate that the PKA is involved in the cellular uptake of DHEAS. Expression of CYP19A1 was upregulated by forskolin (Fig. 1B), supporting the idea that the PKA pathway is involved in steroid production through regulation of most of the enzymes in placenta, ovary, testis, and adrenal gland [24].

Vaccine to Block Pregnancy Is Tested

By Jane E. Brody

March 8, 1976

> Previous attempts to develop a means of immunizing women against pregnancy have failed because the antibodies that formed also attacked certain essential hormones not solely related to pregnancy.

> The results to date of the Indian research, headed by Dr. G. P. Talwar at the All India Institute of Medical Sciences in New Delhi, are described in the January issue of the Proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences and the February issue of the journal, Contraception.

> The vaccine that Dr. Talwar and his colleagues prepared acts against a hormone called human chorionic gonadotropin, or H.C.G. Normally, H.C.G. is produced only after fertilization of an egg. The hormone is released into the blood stream by the newly formed embryo before it has attached itself to the wall of the uterus.

This is from 1976

Why was this promising tech memory-holed?

Talwar's vaccine appears to be a perfect contraceptive, the market would be worth trillions

Abstract

We report here results of clinical trials on a birth control vaccine, consisting of a heterospecies dimer of the beta subunit of human chorionic gonadotropin (hCG) associated noncovalently with the alpha subunit of ovine luteinizing hormone and conjugated to tetanus and diphtheria toxoids as carriers, that induces antibodies of high avidity ( $K(a)$  approximately  $10(10) M^{-1}$ ) against hCG. Fertile women exposed to conception over 1224 cycles recorded only one pregnancy at antibody titers of  $> 50$  ng/ml (hCG bionutralization capacity). The antibody response declines with time; fertility was regained when titers fell to  $< 35$  ng/ml. This study presents evidence of the feasibility of a vaccine for control of human fertility.

Anyone remember when mRNA vax tech first started making the rounds in the news. I recall a /r/ article touting this as the eventual key to reverse aging and immortality.

And I believe that is exactly what is happening now. World wide case study with different variations of mRNA vax, searching for the fountain of youth. Hate to say it but Alex Jones is 100% correct, there is a breakaway society forming, a technocracy. The eventuality of being immortal should be afforded to everyone because you have eternity to pay fr it, no matter the cost -- this is not what they want, they want us dead plain and simple, they want the entire planet for themselves and their progeny.

Reminder that if you are still unvaxxed you survived the biggest psyop in human history. They elaborated an evil plan for decades. Do you realize how much time, resources and effort they put into this? They studied all the possible ways to enslave your mind and make you take the vaxx. They tried to demoralize you by corrupting society from every possible corner. They tried to vilify and desensitize your mind with porn. They tried to lure you with money, gifts and rewards. They tried to confuse you and make you doubt your own reality and identity. They tried to make you walk on your own principles, values and ethics. They even turned your close ones against you. Almost everyone felt for it. Almost all of them cucked in. But not you. Just realize how much bullshit you went through and overcame. You never cucked. You are still unvaxxed. You are still a pure blood. Their tricks didn't work on you. So to all the unvaxxed I say to you Cheers gentlemen! Stay based.

My town is pushing an aggressive agenda against littering. You get like 1000 euros fines for doing it. What did my big brain townsmen do to avoid the fines? Naturally they hire Pascai, Pascai is a guy who went insane years ago. Since he is insane you can't punish him, you could but its not worth the effort, so everyone pays Pascai to throw trash everywhere. His most impressive drop was a dead horse that he put right in front of the "welcome to town" sign

>there s someone throwing trash here

Okay, is he using a red wheelbarrow?

>yes, how did you know

It doesnt matter madam we ll be there soon

>okay thanks

Then he tells the others that its Pascai and they dont even bother to go and talk to him anymore after the dead horse incident

No need fren. We already have a town rapist. I mean he lives in my mom home town but he comes here sometimes because he only travels through fields and corn and shit, you know its him because he holds his head with his hands to "make the planes stop". His name is Coinea, he went insane in the 90s in Israel when his wife died next to him in her sleep. Anyways he found another insane guy under a bridge once and he raped him. I also know that guy, he is semi insane. His name is Argeşeanu. He is a grave digger, motherfucking nigger came back wearing my great grandfathers boots after digging my grandfathers grave, my great grandfather had been dead for like 15 years. He came to tell us the grave was ready and my uncle asked him whats he wearing and he casually said " oh its your grandpas boots" pic related is one the many sexual positions described on the website, you can see the rest at:

Belgium parents are angry. Their 10 year old kids received a Youth Guide at school. One of the chapter age of 10 is too soon. They want to be the ones to teach their kids about sex instead of the school.

Italians have always copied good inventions from other cultures and made them exceptional

Beretta took Walther's designs and made them sexy. They discovered noodles from China, removed the dog, and created pasta. They stole the idea of arches from the Etruscans and built coliseums and aqueducts. They took the Gladius from the celt-iberians and conquered the world with it. They learned about sex from the Greeks and realized you could also have it with women. Etc.

So, why should we keep ahMeds and namely Greek subhumans out? We all know that greeks are incredibly ugly and stupid. We also know that the same can be said about Southern Italy. What else is known about Southern Italy? It was settled by Greeks - that's what we know. And Southern Italy is heavily mixed to semites and negroids (just like the grekois lol)

Italy IQ 102/99 (95/92) Basilicata (-/89) Bozen/South Tyrol (-/109) Campania (-/87) Emilia Romagna (-/97) Friuli-Venezia Giulia (-/100) Liguria (-/93) Lombardy (103/96) Piedmont (99/96)Puglia (-/88) Sardinia (-/87) Sicily (-/86) Trient (-/99) Tuscany (99/-) Veneto (102/99)

Conclusion: Greeks are like the opposite of Midas Touch - everything that comes in contact with their genetics turns into ugly loud stinking piece of shit

I went to France and they were all smelly, loud, and rude. Always in the streets, begging. They'd come up to you and screech for money in their foreign babble, shaking their open palms under your nose.

And then I also met some gypsies and they weren't much better either.

It's sad don't you think? My coutry used to be called the "Paris of the Middle East" because of how beautiful our land was. There was no need for taxes and we were one of the most prosperous nations in the Arabic world. Now look at us now, with some 83 year old soulless puppet as our president and a corrupt system where millions are stolen by politicians. Almost everyone I know is preparing to leave this country and doesn't plan to come back, and there is no nature to speak of. The streets are filled with trash and poverty is striking. Sorry for my bad English I don't really speak it well

I think stems mainly from the fact that former French colonies in Africa are still paying colonial tax to Paris even though they're supposed to be sovereign nations.

Because the francosafa (or whatever it is called) is the money that rules over former french colonies in africa, ensuring that those countries will pay a tax to france. Why do you think that despite exporting and producing less than Germany, France is still a relevant and vhealthy country?

These fuckers helped bringing down our empire, we lost all of our colonies, the monarchy was replaced by anarchy, we were occupied by the Allied powers for some time after the great war, we were humiliated in treaties and our population suffered through years of starvation.
But Turkey will rise again.

A 30-year-old Finnish man was just caught pointing a powerful laser pointer in the eyes of a helicopter pilot.

The pilot managed to follow the man as he escaped on car and was caught by the cops, which is very rare for these weirdoes who try to point lasers at planes and helicopters passing by or landing at the airport.

Do you have these kind of psychopaths in your country?

We have tons of them, for example

>Fishline Man

Hooks up sharp fishing line at neck height in fast bike intersections/areas

>Tack Lady

Throws small tacks and pins on bike roads to puncture tires

>Pet Poisoner

Throws sausages or other treats laden with rat poison in dog parks and public areas

>Spear Killer

Puts sharp "spear"-like poles and spikes in swimming areas and beaches where people might jump and impale themselves

>Hammer Nailer

Hammers nails or screws on children's playground slides

>Green Barfer

Walked around Helsinki throwing a green slimy substance on young girls wearing dresses. This guy was actually caught.

I forgot one

>Gravel Sander

Someone who throws gravel or coarse sand at the bottom of long and steep ski hills. People have actually died from coming down on cross country skis and just come to a full stop and fly into the ground breaking their necks.

I've always dreamed about being a hooker, its something beautiful and sinful in it.

Girls are really lucky, being a man suck. I realized this after 3 years of bbc&sisny hypnosis.

But then again, seeing strippers and hookers in movies always gave me a boner, but only realized subconsciously i would love to be the girl.

Girls have exciting and fun lives. Men are disposable and worthless.

GOEBBELS. MASTERMIND OF THE THIRD REICH

limping at his side. It was Dr Goebbels' first trip overseas. Every time he awoke the train seemed to be passing a boulder strewn landscape. The Swedes themselves made up for it. He lusted greedily after the statuesque blonde women, and concluded that they were superior to their menfolk. The Swedish men were doormats, from their monarch downwards. 'It makes you weep, how numb the blond race has become,' he wrote, seeking to rationalize his feelings. 'German on the outside, half-Jews within.'

men represents. It stands for the essence of the male individual. Special powers are ingested by acquiring the semen of someone who already has these powers.

Because Odin was heterosexually active, he was in danger of depleting his semen, the source of his powers, and therefore he had to replenish his supply from time to time. The myths tell us that he did this by visiting corpses hanging from gallows. On these visits Odin drank the semen ejaculated by the hanged men.<sup>32</sup>

As an Aesir who could change his shape (usually into that of an animal),<sup>33</sup> and who gained arcane knowledge by swallowing semen, there was only a small step to changing sex and playing a female role in homosexual encounters. Moreover, though Odin was a war god, he fought with magic rather than physical prowess and thus had nothing to lose from feminization. His followers, who fought with muscle and magic, did.<sup>34</sup>

<sup>33</sup>The warriors who fought under Odin's patronage clothed themselves in the skins of wolves (Odin's animal) or bears, and fought with the furor of ones possessed by the spirits of those animals (Davidson, 1967:100; Dumézil, 1969: 10, 141). The English word "berserk" stems from the Old Norse berserkr, "having a bear garment," which referred to the uncontrollable frenzy of these animal-skinned fighters. Related practices can be identified in other Indo-European cultures. At initiation, Irish Celtic youths were given animal names, and old Irish literature refers to possession by animal frenzies and the changing of human shapes into those of wolves. The story of Romulus, founder of Rome (and a twin), who was suckled by a she-wolf and led bachelors in hunting and warfare is very likely derived from related customs. A Spartan equivalent is suggested by the name of the legendary Spartan lawgiver Lycurgus, "man of wolf deeds" (Reinhard and Hull, 1936; McCone, 1986, forthcoming). Gerstein (1974) shows that the werewolf (uarg) was originally a berserkr whose uncontrolled wildness endangered his own society as well as the foe's. This social role may date back to the Hittites (Puhvel, 1971).

<sup>34</sup>Noting the many resemblances between Odin's powers and activities and those of the subarctic shaman, Bleibtreu-Ehrenberg (1981:99–102) concludes that shamanism was a third component of Indo-European religion, in addition to the two elements already mentioned here. The fertility-cult themes in Teutonic culture could have percolated up from the Near East in late antiquity, but could also have been acquired much earlier. Some recent work in historical linguistics suggests that the Proto-Indo-Europeans originated in the ancient Near East before 3000 B.C., a hypothesis that explains the existence of so many Semitic loan-words in the Indo-European languages (Bomhard, 1977; Gamkrelidze and Ivanov, 1985). De Vries's (1933:215–33) suggestion that Odin might originally have been hermaphroditic would certainly be compatible with this hypothesis. De Vries also suggests a linkage with the Athenian Oschochoria, a ceremony described by Farnell (1909:2.628ff.), in which boys dressed as girls. While this is possible, brief cross-dressing of youths on special occasions is sufficiently com-

This may be a kenning for 'the one who violates virginity?' The liquid comes from his horn, an archaic term for the male reproductive organ.<sup>36</sup> ON hornungr, literally 'youth of the horn,' meaning 'bastard,' serves to confirm the antiquity of this association. I submit that the liquid from Hoddrofnir's horn is semen. Moreover, the first line of stanza 141 of the Hávamál is misleading in its usual translation of 'then I became fertile.' Such a translation for the sake of literary and poetic license is permissible, but unfortunately it has led to a broad interpretation which has obscured what may in fact be the central issue, Odin's renewal of his virility, as well as that of the whole community. Clearly, in the grammatical construction pá nam ek frævaz, frævaz is a noun, a cognate of Gothic fraiw meaning 'seed' or 'semen.'<sup>37</sup> A better translation would be the literal one, 'I took the semen.' A brief outline of earlier beliefs and legends about the mandrake and their transmission is in order. From biblical references in Genesis and Solomon until the time of Hippocrates there is no mention of the mandrake. Hippocrates (400 B.C.) remarked that a small amount of the mandrake would relieve anxiety but cautioned against the noxious effects of an overdose, which produced delirium.<sup>39</sup> Theophrastus, writing the first Greek history of plants about 320 B.C., included a rather detailed description of the ritual extraction of the mandrake. In collecting the plant one should stand in the direction of the wind and anoint oneself with oil in order to avoid swelling. The roots should be gathered only in the daytime, but before the sun has struck them. Theophrastus considered the mandrake efficacious in treating

Translation

Then I started to become fertile and to be wise and to grow and thrive well; [one] word from [another] word sought a word for me, [one] work from [another] work sought a work for me.

Konrad Oðsson suggested this translation to me:

Then made fertile I was,
and wise I became,
waxed and did well.
A word from a word
a word for me sought.
A work from a work
a work for me sought.

Bray

Ere long I bare fruit, and throve full well,
I grew and waxed in wisdom;
word following word, I found me words,
deed following deed, I wrought deeds.

This is what LARPer showed to me. That it is Frævask or iterations above. Not Frævaz.

Is this word really frævaz or Frævask and not Frævaz? What does a credible scholarly source say on this matter?

If you feel like saying BERG here is wrong then you are accusing yourself of Jewish conspiracy since it is translated the same way by LARPing intellectuals. Which even anon admitted with his credible evidence Anon offered me his trusted Old Norse to Latin and Icelandic Lexicon. I said I wanted a proper Lexicon so he gave me one.

I found no Frævask, frævaz, froevask, froevask, frovaz, froevast. Isn't that fishy?!?!?

Anon says that magical mead is just magical mead & blood. But doesn't alcohol IMPAIR JUDGEMENT? And didn't this lynched Odin become wise from slurping it? You don't leave special magical spells and runes just LYING AROUND the gallowes. At an execution you strip him of everything but his loincloth. Where did this magical mead come from? It was just HANGING AROUND.

The language content of the texts that are stored in the TITUS Text Database is accessible in two ways:

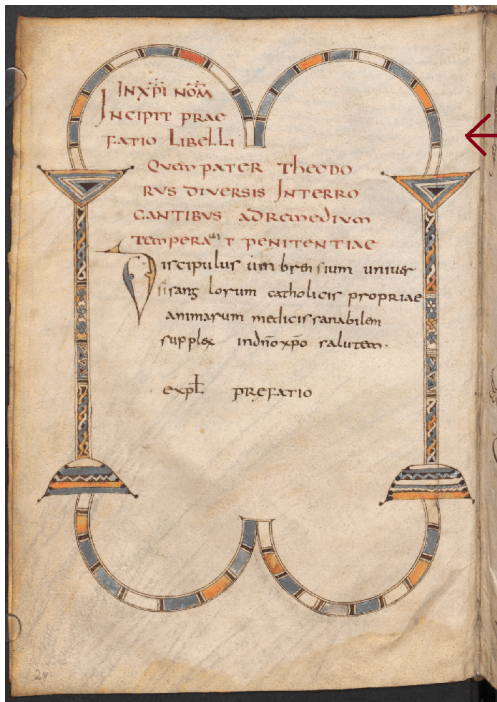

- By reference to a given text passage. All texts are retrievable and searchable by word, e.g., chapters, paragraphs, verses, pages (of editions), lines and the like, mostly in accordance with traditional printed editions. A given passage can be accessed by using the "many forms" that cover the complete text data base; additionally, semi-specific query forms are available for the right form of the retrieval (when the most precise form text is required).
- By using the word search engine. This can be accessed by the way that double-clicking on a word cause the search engine to look for all occurrences of the given word (including many orthographic variants, e.g. consisting in the use of diacritics) in the given text. The results will be displayed in a "TITUS" (keyword+content) style in the "Query Results Table" which can be used for the further analysis of the retrieved text.

This picture is the book we will be using, transcribed. It is the Penitential Umbrense and Libellus responsonum from the Vienna Codex. Laws made 700 Anno Domini. A part of the Penitential Theodori. Canon Law for England written in the judgement of Archbishop Theodore of Canterbury. And before anyone says "They lied." Recall that laws are not made unless they are actually trying to deter men from doing this. Otherwise they'd be wasting money and time chasing around imaginary faggots. Above all else the Traditional Catholics are pragmatists, as it is the way of Rome.

He who would drink blood and semen does 3 years penance.

Did you know that the Vikings, despite neo-Pagan propoganda, were, in fact, terrible warriors when they went up against real armies?

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Battle\_of\_Aclea - Vikings wrecked by Englishmen

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Battle\_of\_Basing - English withdrew, but the battle was indecisive

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Battle\_of\_Brissarthe - After murdering woman and children and then attempting to loot a church, the Christians slaughter the Vikings

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Battle\_of\_Brunanburh - England kills 5 viking kings and a prince, Vikings utterly crushed

This one here is a very important one

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Rus%27%E2%80%9393Byzantine\_War\_%28891%29 - 15(!) Greek Ships defeat the Viking navy of over 1,000 ships. The Vikings who have landed then flee when the army comes to defeat them.

>Instigated by the Jews (Khazars - revenge for persecution by the Greeks)

>The Vikings were Jewish puppets

Not even surprised

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Battle\_of\_Saucourt-en-Vimeu - More Vikings slain by Franks

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Battle\_of\_Stamford\_Bridge - England wins

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Battle\_of\_Sulcoit - Very famous one. Englishmen went on a forced march from the South of the country all the way to the North, where they encountered Barbarian Norsemen murdering woman and children (as usual). Even though they were exhausted they managed to destroy the Viking army

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Battle\_of\_Svaldur - Viking settlers in Ireland defeated

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Battle\_of\_Tempesford - Sadly, a victory for the Vikings. They defeated a power they outnumbered 7 to 1 yet still took massive casualties

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Battle\_of\_Tettenhall - Saxons win again

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Battle\_of\_Thimeon - Saxons win again

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Battle\_of\_Trans-la-For%C3%AAt - Germans defeat Vikings

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Battle\_of\_Trans-la-For%C3%AAt - Vikings driven out of Brittany

Tell me then, why does this image of the Vikings being a 'strong warrior people' even exist?

An older friend of mine once said that the English are a "theatrical people", that is that the middle classes had taken on many of the mannerisms and linguistic characteristics of the British stage. Now I love the British stage but I have to admit he's right. You used to see this far often in the generation that is now gone from this earth but what has happened is that the entire Anglo Saxon world, thanks to Hollywood has become a "cinematic people", repeating the utterances, giving themselves up to drama, manifesting mannerisms that are directly taken from the silver screen, and not from real life. You find this most often in big population centers; rustic people find this absurd and laughable since they are more attached to the real world than the armies of weak minded drones who live their lives with their noses buried in their smart phones.

Butt plugs now mandatory in UK after it's revealed COVID can be spread by farts

Many have welcomed the decision saying that they would happily shove anything up their arse to stop the spread of the virus while others have questioned how effective a butt plug would be in actually stopping it escaping through a fart. Only far-right lunatic conspiracy theorists have questioned the decision

Reporting by coronavirus prevention correspondent Weeara Masque

The UK Government has today made butt plugs or other approved anal stoppages mandatory in public spaces as it was revealed that coronavrius can be spread through farts and other seepages.

Most of the rational parties in the UK have welcomed the decision as they understand the clear and present danger of coronavirus and how vital it is we take any measures necessary to ensure no one — no matter how old or how many underlying conditions they have — die needlessly.

Despite there being little scientific evidence that the plugs will be fully effective in stopping the virus from escaping through the rectum, the Government have pushed ahead with the new safety measures that are supported by necessarily draconian punishments.

All mainstream media outlets are — as expected — uncritically reporting the new measures and are ensuring people are staying suitably scared and compliant.

If it is suspected that an individual has not inserted an anal plug of some sort then the police are able to perform an on-the-spot cavity search and issue a fine of up to £6,666 if their anus is found to be empty.

South Australia's ban on single-use plastic cutlery and straws hailed as 'historic'

Retailers say they don't have enough time to adjust to law, which is likely to come into force in early 2021

What you have to understand is the English no longer have an establishment, nobody with any real power over events at the national level is English, there are Scots, Micks, Pakis, Jews, Indians etc, of course there are a handful of anglos but they are the internationalist variety, the aristocracy, or what remains of it, is either kiked or simply powerless.

What we are seeing now with the Tories is the perfect manifestation of that, they are just happy to be in the driving seat at a time when the indigenous people have no power, and so they are literally divvying up what little remains of the country, in fact there is so little remaining that they are borrowing mind blowing amounts and divvying that up. The Tories don't give a shit about the English and they make that clear, they lie to your faces, they do exactly the opposite of what they promise you at each and every election and this time they don't even show you the dubious respect of pretending to care. Their corruption and their globalist intent is nakedly obvious.

The English people are like that zebra, I'm sure you've all seen the clip, the zebra is laying there in shock with its guts ripped out while a pack of hyenas feed first on it's innards, then its legs, alive it occasionally offers a weak kick as his flesh is torn from the bone, but he knows, the zebra knows that they don't give a fuck about his suffering, all they see is a feast, that's the Tories and their friends as they engage in their own feeding frenzy on what remains of England, and they will make absolutely certain that there'll be no English left to hold them or their descendants to account.

4,000 shitskins a month at the moment, think about that for a second, that's just the ones they know about, or at least are prepared to admit to, hardly any women, less than 2% are women, so what's the plan there then? If it was really about population decline they'd be bringing in wombs, but they're bringing in penis's attached to killers.

Is EU dare I say, /ourunion/?

>The doner kebab – a meat-filled food beloved by many Brits – is under threat.
>EU politicians are moving to ban phosphates, necessary to keep seasoned kebab meat moist, citing health concerns based on studies linking the additive to heart disease.

>police are terrified of the left calling them racist, it's how Rotherham and others happened and continue to this day
the brit police earn their income by running illegal rackets. They run murder, thievery, vandalism, drugs, pedo and hebe. They use paki gangs as frontmen for their hebe industry which nets them 100bn a year ( each white school girl sex slave earns them about £250,000 net ( a hebe rapist will pay about £150 per rape, 7 rapists a day is about £1000 gross per day , £350,000 gross a year ) and there are about half a million of these sex slaves ) Thats why they crush anyone who speaks out against muslims. The police like their 100bn hebe sex slave industry. Its also why David Cameroon included illegal industries in the UK GDP, because child sex slaving is such a massive industry in the uk, its like 5~10% of our GDP.

Yes. If you've never taken the police red-pill then u won't understand. The police are simply the front end of the top mafia gang in their country.
You might have red stories about how military police in low countries can nearly always be bribed. How they run drugs. Its true. But its also true of police in nearly all rich countries.
For vandalism, idiot vandals ( typically shitskins ) are put in prison where they are put in thief \ vandal gangs who galvanize each other into thief \ vandal mentality. They they are let out 'on police supervision' with some leftshit immunity card which stop them being arrested for their crimes.
They then go on a crime spree in some targeted area, typically a middle class area, financially independent from banks with old family run private small businesses.
Petty criminals are sent in to disrupt the harmony, often with drug runners. Crime escalates, property values drop cos people don't like the area anymore and sell and leave, shitskins move in, crime gets worse, the rich whites leave, while many who stay are ruined. This goes on until international corps can buy up land and property and move their shops in e.g. walmart, mcdonalds, starbucks etc.
In this respect police and the criminals they control are valuable tools in the international business toolkit.

I love coming here, I don't post often but every now and then I just like to say thank you, thank you Brit/pol/ for still holding on to hope, thank you for refusing to let small details like reality get in the way of your futile fantasies that revolve around the now dead idea that England and indeed Britain as a whole is headed anywhere but to hell.

The cultural and societal sabotage was done decades ago and the foundation of everything your nation is built upon have been utterly undermined and eroded. The demographic timebomb was planted and detonated decades ago too, but of course the explosion plays out over the generations, this allows you to kid yourselves that there will always be a way to stop it, reverse it and undo the damage YOU have done.

But of course, and as you so often demonstrate in your posts, deep down you know with a devastating clarity that it is over, you know that you as a people are doomed, you feel it, it is there staring you in the face. You are not stupid, you are just in denial, but when you can bring yourselves to look at the facts, at all the stats, at the birth rates, at the immigration numbers, at the colour of the faces of school children you KNOW beyond any doubt that it's over.

There will be genocides, and in the not too distant future, but it will not be the native brits committing them, at least not the patriotic dinosaurs we see posting here, no it will be the insane brainwashed Marxists and their Muslim horde fully supported by the state that will be committing the first genocide.

After that there will be a series of ethnic civil wars, all the while whites will be despised the most because they will serve as an inconvenient reminder that the land once belonged to another people, so even the useful idiots will end up hanging from lamp posts.

Within 200 years there'll be no trace of the english in Britain.

So off you go, back to squabbling over which Jew backed faction you'll elect to lead you over the cliffs edge.

This is what I'm talking about, the levels of delusion are off the scale.

Your people, white brits I mean, are weak, they are the product of a post industrial society, the genetic stock has been watered down by generations of those who would never have survived under normal Darwinian conditions, add to that the cream of what decent stock you did have being wiped out in two world wars. Now you import millions of third worlders, low IQ low trust high in criminality third worlders, many of whom despise you and want you dead.

It's like taking the 7th generation of dogs bred from the very weakest runtiest stock and then importing a load of wild wolves, now the wolves won't be much good at fetching a ball or shitting in the right spot in the garden, but they will tear the tamed low grade mutts to pieces when the SHTF, and the shit will hit the fan, and much sooner than you think.

Your shepherds have done this, they tamed you, they weakened you, they allowed, no, they PAID the very lowest quality scum among you to breed and reproduce while incentivising the best of you to abstain, they turned your daughters into whores and your sons into gamblers and then they imported MILLIONS of the very worst cutthroats from the darkest pits of hell on earth to run amongst the flock.

YOU ARE FUCKED

REMINDER: The Brits are the reason why Turkroaches still control Constantinople to this day.

In the Russo-Turkish War of 1877, the Ottoman Empire was crumbling. They faced debt, food shortages, and raising rebellions in the western parts of their empire. Russia declared war to save Christians and Slavs in the balkans. They were annexing crazy amounts of territory alongside Austria. New independent countries (Bulgaria, Romania, Serbia) were raising up and the Ottomans were being driven out of Europe for good. It would have taken not even another year for them to have been fully pushed out. The Brits in their attempts to control the world and curb Russian expansion, sent a large naval force TO DEFEND CONSTANTINOPLE against Russia. This pressured Russia to stop their advance and sign a ceasefire with the Ottomans. You think the Brits stopped there?

Nope. They started carving up Bulgaria and weakening the newly founded countries in the Balkans to maintain the "balance of power." Some 150 years later, Turkroaches still control Constantinople. Be sure to thank a britflag for that.

In short, britflags ruin everything. It's only fitting their country get turned into a third world shithole today.

We were exclusively eating boiled potatoes with butter. I distinctly remember that the potato was homegrown but the butter for some reason was always brought by my grandma, a couple of packets at once (sticks as anglos call them, but russian butter comes in rectangular shape). On celebrations I usually was presented with some treat. For the new year celebration of 1999 my mum bought me a bag of crisps and a can of fizzy pop.

My father got lucky with a job. In the times of total unemployment he got the job as a driver for some big shot in the city hall. The salary was not much but his employers had banquets almost every day from which my father left with pockets full of the food he sneaked for me and mum, like sliced sausage and cheese wrapped in a napkin. If it wasn't for that we wouldn't have meat for months.

Sometimes, when it got particularly bad, we lived off plain pasta. I mean just pasta, water and salt for weeks.

I remember how in 1998 my brother brought a two days old Big Mac from Moscow. We cut it into 8 pieces so everyone could have a taste. I used to brag in front of my schoolmates about it.

Also, keep in mind that blackouts were very common - twice or thrice a week was a usual thing. No running water at night - only from 9 in the morning till 6 in the evening. Television used to shutdown at 22:00 too.

It's the quintessential quality of pidorashkas. Russia only abolished serfdom, i.e. slavery, in 1861. A mere half a century later the Revolution forcefully uplifted this servile underclass from their natural habitat and turned them into urbanites. Unlike many western countries that had centuries of natural selection between proles and bougies and whose social mobility conditions at least somewhat correlated with merit and personal aptitude, here you had everything gone topsy-turvy with worthless human refuse whose grandparents were likely illiterate getting into positions of power, while most of intelligentsia, bougies and even the well-off working class kulaks were either driven away or physically removed. So now you have the double digit IQ bydlo "running the country", but because it has no agency of its own, it invariably relies on cults of personality and "faith in Tsar" that it sucked out of mother's teat. For them there is no distinction between the country and its current government, there's no distinction between "how it is" and "how it should be". It's a vile mass of semi-conscious amoebas that will ardently defend the status quo no matter what it is and brand everyone who tries to change it in any manner whatsoever as a traitor and enemy of "the people" (or a Russophobe in the latest trend they borrowed from faggots). These are paradoxical creatures that on one hand will brazenly chest-beat about beating patriots, on the other they wouldn't move a finger for the betterment of the country (unless it's crowd-stomping evil libtards), they'll brag about being pious Christians, but will never visit a church and sin like it's weekend in Gomorrah, they'll happily tell you about the mysterious Russian soul and generosity and kindness, but will stab you or their own the moment it will net them an extra rouble. It's the great tragedy of Russia: a country rife with brilliant talented people is doomed to always be dragged down to Africa-tier by subhumans.

This is the fleet they expected to save Vladivostok from the Japanese.

Slavs don't worship wealth, though. Especially the Orthodox Christian Slavs. Double especially the important, not money. The archetype we aspire to be is the witty trickster, not the wealthy entrepreneur way into wealth, and rich people are perceived as bad people who will get what they deserve. So no

Basically you are comparing eastern and western cultures using western standards only. Yes, the west is more western than the east. No need to bring math into it. Besides, our stoicism isn't one of self improvement regardless of the pain, ones that have 50 years of socialism under their belt. Here we talk about health, friends, and having fun as being neur. In fact wealth is demonized among Slavs, there's a prevailing idea that every rich person cheated and stole his obody aspires much to be rich, outside of some dick extender like a fancy car or phone.

Hey man, you know, I get it, I really do. Every western country seems like it's devaluing its money supply and deliberately causing hyperinflation, and is going to fuck everyone over the same way you're getting fucked over now. That's not the funny part. The funny part is your denial and cope that it's happening to you, and the more you squirm and deny, the more we laugh and laugh. It's OK, anon. Truly, if you post the in-store prices, there will be an end to the horror. Your own internal horror that you generate yourself by failing to face the truth. Post the in-store prices, anon. Liberate yourself.

As a resident as the multicultural experiment collectively designated Canada I'm offended that you think there is something like "what it is to be" Canadian, as if there is some kind of phenomenological experience of being Canadian, a Canadian identity into which one can be inducted, or some set of interrelated values making up a polythetic Canadian ethos. Canada is the long-awaited death of subjectivity and self-consciousness. It is a utopia where people of every race and creed can get together to live in true, posthistorical, post-Hegelian harmony, by populating mutually exclusive ghettos, consuming neoliberal post-capitalist diarrhea from unisex fountains, and having confusing transgendered orgies in front of children. If you think there is something like a "Canadian," or a "Canadian literature," with some kind of innate "Canadianness," I invite you to travel the world at a whirlwind pace sucking off as many different coloured penises as possibly in as short a span as possible, while listening to a babel of foreign languages all trying to negotiate with the TTC driver to open the fucking door when there are already six Chinese women standing beyond the white line, who all refuse to remove their backpacks or position their bundle-buggies ergonomically. Only then can you truly understand what it is to be "Canadian," at which point you will be ready for the true experience of "Canadian" "literature." reading corporate advertisements for American commercial products while waiting for a crowded train and surrounded by an indistinct smear of bobbing brown-and-yellow heads.

we have the same flag retard

>> ☐ I solved the Canadian flag problem Anonymous (ID: 6VV2ac3Y) 06/20/21(Sun)19:12:14 No. 326796965 ▶

With a few simple, very minor adjustments, you can turn the embarrassing leaf into a proper flag that deserves to fly proudly over Canada. The leaf flag has become the subject of a lot of mockery because of its PC intentions and meaninglessness. But I think I've figured out a new flag that would actually be more representative of Canada, that doesn't lap about the past or cynically at the future, so it can simultaneously appeal to patriotic nationalists in Canada as well as immigrants and left-leaning urban types from minority backgrounds.

File: 1624189242268.png (34 KB, 1200x600)

First and foremost, the most important change is that the maple leaf has absolutely got to go. It is of no meaning to anyone and has completely deracinated the Canadian people. To begin the process of unifying the people of Canada under a national banner that EVERYONE feels pride in, the leaf has got to go.

But we can't stop here, as you can see, because this change alone leaves us with the flag of Peru. So more must be done.

File: 1624189290145.jpg (19 KB, 1200x600)

Another easy change that can bridge the gap between the already alienated patriots and others, such as immigrants who don't want to feel alienated by the country's eurocentric past, is to simply switch the color scheme ever so slightly so it matches the color schemes of other Anglosphere countries. This pays proper homage to the country's Anglo-saxon heritage, without using any specific iconography that can offend and alienate vast swathes of the population who live in urban settings and have no connection to the British homeland.

However, we still can't stop here because this has now become the flag of France. Though the Quebecois may appreciate this flag flying over all of Canada, it's a laughable proposition to the rest of the Canadian populace. Moving on.

File: 162418922623.jpg (18 KB, 1200x600)

The next obvious change to avoid duplicating the French flag is to further format the spacing of the rectangles so it is more in line with fellow Anglosphere countries, with the exception of the United Kingdom, which does not have an upper-left corner ensign, but rather one continuous Union Jack. This will more unambiguously cement the country's identity as one that is in the same cultural space of an open society based on Anglo-Saxon property norms that is found in Australia, New Zealand, and the United States of America, among other minor island countries that now exist as former British colonies.

We are now on the right track, but it's still not uniquely Canadian enough, and as it is, looks a bit bizarre. More changes are needed still.

>> ☐ Anonymous (ID: 6VV2ac3Y) 06/20/21(Sun)19:14:10 No. 326797162 ▶
File: 1624189361320.png (31 KB, 1138x600)

The white L shape and single red bar looked a bit unusual, and bore no meaning to the Canadian people. Accordingly, this revision replaces the red and white polygons with 13 stripes to symbolize the ten provinces and three territories of the Canadian Federation.

It's nearly complete, but needs one final touch to make a flag worthy of flying over all of Canada from now on.

File: 1624189395685.png (7 KB, 1200x632)

This final version is the perfect flag to fly over Canada in perpetuity. The 50 stars here represent the five decades of progress toward an open, peaceful, prosperous society fit for the future. Each star represents a year in which a major advancement for modern liberalism was made. I think I can speak for all of Canada when I say that this flag solves the identity crisis imposed by the maple leaf flag and gives Canadians a proper identity and banner to unite under. To have this flag over every government building, business, and home in Canada will solve the deep-seated divisions that currently exist between the deracinated peoples of Canada, who currently have nothing in common and no common cause to speak of.

If you're Canadian and reading this, I strongly recommend you pitch this idea to all of your friends and family. Who knows, maybe some day, a lot sooner than you think, you'll be seeing this flag everywhere you go!

Sometimes I fantasize about a group of feral thug niggers like that breaking into my house, pistol whipping me, tying me up, and then finally dragging by bloody carcass to my 13 year old daughters room were they force me to watch them as they take turns defiling my little girl, all while she screams and cries out for help. Completely powerless, I picture myself trying to turn away, but at the same time, not being able to. Suddenly, a feeling of great shame starts to shadow me because of how hard i'm getting watching these big dick savages tarnish my little girl's innocence by cumming back to back inside her. I couldn't help but to marvel at how huge they were. Some of them in came in her ass which caused my daughter to pass out from pain. Once they've all emptied themselves inside my daughter, i imagine the leader of the horde grabbing her torn, cum drenched panties and then stuffing them down my mouth as one last act of humiliation before they leave me in a pool of blood, and my daughter in a pool of cum.

Scenario: The retards at the local high school managed to band together and have led a revolt. They've already killed most of the special ed teachers and have taken the survivors along with other faculty hostage. Negotiations have proven futile.

Your task is to assemble a HRT to save the staff and remove potato. What weapons and gear do you field? The tards are only armed with melee weapons and their own retard strength, but are still considered highly dangerous.

In some configurations, it is a risk factor for cancer and heart disease. Pregnant women are at very high risk of passing on DNA to their children.

I don't get it, food is supposed to have all the live shit processed out of it when it's bagged/canned. Do you really want to be eating fucking bacteria and microbes? That shit is fucking gross and leads to disease.

Sumo is best most intense sport.

Most fight is over in ten seconds.

Ten seconds of fat bodies slapping together furiously, then collapse on the floor.

Jews, Israel and America

By Thomas L. Friedman

Oct. 24, 2004

I was speaking the other day with Scott Pelley of CBS News's "60 Minutes" about the mood in Iraq. He had just returned from filming a piece there and he told me something disturbing. Scott had gone around and asked Iraqis on the streets what they called American troops – wondering if they had nicknames for us in the way we used to call the Nazis "Krauts" or the Vietcong "Charlie." And what did he find? "Many Iraqis have so much distrust for U.S. forces we found they've come up with a nickname for our troops," Scott said. "They call American soldiers 'The Jews,' as in, 'Don't go down that street, the Jews set up a roadblock.'"

Those fake spying cell towers in Washington DC? Ex-intel staffers claim they're Israeli

But Trump Administration seemingly unbothered

By Kieren McCarthy in San Francisco 12 Sep 2019 at 22:28 66 SHARE ▼

After months of speculation about who exactly was behind a series of eavesdropping fake cell towers in Washington DC, it appears the answer is Israel.

According to three anonymous senior US officials, cited in a report by Politico, the FBI carried out a counterintelligence investigation into who was behind the mobile spying installations - following a number of news reports of unusual cell activity - and concluded pretty quickly that the US ally was behind them.

Our cross purposes here, is that I don't consider most Americans to be white. Or a very degenerated, misshapen, stupid degeneration of the white race. I hate being around them. I hate their accents, I hate their weird bodies (they do have weird bodies. When I got off the plane from the Netherlands back to the US I could tell I was in America by all the potato shaped people that I just didn't see in Europe). White Americans are literally an inferior race, that had their ethnogenesis I don't know where/when. I don't consider most of us white, we're mostly fat, and drug addled, and uneducated, and uncultured. There's a handful of decent white Americans, like me, maybe you, who hate this place, are well traveled and educated, and see what a monster America is, and Americans are. Even go to a Trump rally and tell me any of those babbling, incoherent rednecks are worth a damn to actual Aryan civilization. It's another third world continent that ought to be starved like Africa. An ugly place, full of ugly people, spreading their ugly way of life to everyone else.

America is not a place, it's an idea. We are a bunch of mercenaries. We're only here to achieve the "American dream" whatever that fucking means. The only reason why we don't turn on each other is because everyone has guns. The thing that unites us is that we think we're better than you, macaco. You think about us everyday when 80% of our people can't even locate Brazil on the map.

1. There will be a day when we will look back at the americans just like we look back at nazis now. Unironically killing millions of iraqi children for no reason whatsoever. All the evil shit that you did is well documented, it is easy to overlook it now because you are in power but once this changes public perception will align itself to actual reality. You will be seen as the monsters that you are.
2. Everytime you name the american, it will wail and scream "it's not me, it's the government!". You have named him and he reveals his true nature. No responsibility, no honor, no truth, no self reflection capability. Just like the snake that he is, he will evade all points made and scream madly pointing at some irrelevant different thing. Example: "Americans have caused the refugee crisis and killed and displaced millions of middle easterners for absolutely nothing." Their response: "so fucking what, you jealous or somethin' ??"
3. The average american is stupid. Now, you all know this trope, but what you dont understand is that it's actually true. If you are from Europe you might believe that your fellow citizens are stupid but nothing rivals the arrogant, self righteousness of an american. It's the kind of stupidity that makes a person drive a car into a wall while loudly proclaiming that there shouldnt be a wall there. Americans have perfected the art of saying something without any truth to it whatsoever and loudly proclaim it to be fact. When put one on the spot, the american will simply start acting offended and indignant, loudly proclaiming "so what, fuck you, dont you prosecute you, who the hell are you, i dont give a shit anyway".
4. All americans are fat. Dont let them tell you otherwise, it's not a joke. 30% of them are obese. Not overweight: OBESE. You can imagine how hard their statisticians have to work to adjust the numbers around to make this work.

5. Americans are a dying, weak race. If you can hate one thing, hate weakness. The US is in a bad spot where Europe MIGHT be in 20-30 years.
The US has no real culture of truth, they thrive on their "acceptance". Remember: The only reason that Europe is at all on the equality trip is because we are forced by the US. Europe would literally be Nazi right now, filled to the top with 99.999% whites if it wasnt for the US, always remember this.
6. Americans are stupid, we established that but it isnt just regular stupidity that can be fixed. Their stupidity is a form of communism-light that cannot be repaired anymore. All their media constantly pushes racial mixing, "equal love", incest, sex with animals and satanic worship. Yes, the US has satanic temples. No, nothing in Europe or Asia comes close. Only Africa can compete with their shamanistic rituals, but then again the US has pado circles at the highest political levels. The worst shithole in Africa is not as broken on a spiritual level as the US is right now. The only reason that the USA isn't straight up communist today is because they happened to have fought communists in history, so they developed a culture of anti-communism.

7. Americans have no morals. They are genocidal maniacs, their empire stands on the graves of tens of millions of people that they slaughtered to last man, woman and child, this is historical fact. Their nation is founded on the bones of a genocided people, the indian native population. They kill everyone who disagrees with them, even if they dont disagree and it makes no sense. They worship Moloch(Satan) in their government and nothing will stop them from abusing children at the highest levels of society. I want to make this very clear: This is a uniquely anglo-american pasttime. You dont see pedo circles in the german government. You ONLY see it with the anglos. Americans are genetically born satanists, child molesters. They literally are the inbred outcasts off the ships from England, the bottom of the barrel of trash that wasnt even fit for a prison continent (Australia) and which had no hope in Europe, because they were too stupid to make it in the real world. When the US empire falls, I suspect Satan will have suffered a great loss.

8. Responsible for Iraq, ISIS, Syria, Lybia, the entire fucking middle east and refugee crisis combined. I just add this casually and omit many of the things you fucked up besides that, like Iran and the dozens of south american governments you toppled. All you do every day is to cause pain and suffering throughout the world.

9. Americans are largely not doing anything, they are lazy, homosexual deviants. Before WW1, the entire world rightly regarded americans as pussies and homo lovers. The only reason the USA is rich at all is because they print their own money off the backs of the rest of the world.

10. The USA will likely just be militarily defeated by some minor conflict in the near future, it might even be North Korea. Your military is openly a joke, you can't even detect a single passenger plane slowly flying into your buildings, now you expect the world to believe that you are some major superpower who can shoot down nuclear missiles at supersonic speed? Holy shit, nobody is buying this crap.

11. Get this: in the US the death penalty is more expensive than a lifetime in jail. How insanely stupid do you have to be to make a bullet to the head more expensive than 30 years of lodging?

12. Americans are butthurt about the NSA but offer no alternatives. "muh freedom, we dont need surveillance [until enough people died due to lack of thereof of course]"
The lack of logical consistency and forethought is astonishing, even when keeping in mind that we are talking about americans.

13. Americans are butthurt about their freedom of speech even though they clearly know every freedom has limitations. You are not allowed to say "i will murder Obama". This fact goes above and beyond their heads. They will resort to saying "oh but that's not the same". Same to? We will never know.

14. Americans love killing innocent people overseas. They have no understanding or compassion of the plight of non-americans. See the many many "muh sandniggers" "lets just nuke israel lmao" comments. You people are savages and you were rightly expelled from Britain. We would literally have world peace right now if it wasnt for americans meddling in 200 foreign governments, the best example is Iran.

15. Americans love killing themselves, you think the japanese were bad? The americans perfected killing themselves. Go to cinema? Get shot. Go to military base? Get shot. Go to ANYWHERE IN THE US => get shot.

16. Americans hate peace. Same as the nazi germans. The U.S dropped those atomic bombs on Japan despite Japan offering peace multiple times in secret to them. The anglo menace will not stop until it has quenched it's thirst for innocent blood. Who will be the next country to receive american "freedom" treatment? As we can see even Europe is not safe from them, (Ukraine). These people have no conscience or estimation for human life.

17. Their #1 export is culture and that culture is to destroy the family, promote gay rights and hedonism. So the U.S both directly kills you and then it makes your children believe that they should take hormones, not reproduce and ultimately kill themselves. All to serve moloch, their semi-official satanic version of God.

18. The US has never been in a real war. Civil war and war for independence dont count, those wars are either against yourself in the former case or wars to establish yourself, so you werent you yet.
You have never had an invading army, you never lost a big civilian percentage of your population. The US has never fought an equal, yet they call themselves #1. That's what we generally call a poser or a straight up faggot.

19. Americans are worse than ISIS. Isis is a terror group with few resources fighting against overwhelming forces of foreign invaders. You use torture despite having the support of the entire world and limitless amounts of weaponry, intelligence and men. If that isnt pathetic and pointless cruelty then I dont know what is. Americans have torture enshrined into their legal system ("enhanced interrogation"). No such travesty exists in ISIS.

20. Americans are some of the most spoilt people on earth. Oh you didnt get the white ipod and got the black one instead? People of walmart? Your entire society is degenerated and the world knows it. Whenever something bad happens, we have a saying: At least it isn't as bad as in the USA.

21. In America, bribing politicians is literally legal. Just to make this 100% clear: There are many corrupt countries. There isn't a single country in the world that openly endorses corruption and enshrines it in its legal system.

22. In America they promote, research, develop and eat GMO food that is known to cause cancer in animals. Does anyone care? Of course no, that is their target goal: To cause as much sacrifice to Satan as possible. Rats die by the thousands when they eat GMO corn, but it's good for you and your family - CNN.

23. Until recently Americans couldn't even get to space without russian help. Reminder. Americans have lost every space race except for one irrelevant landing to the moon, which was never repeated because of how completely irrelevant it is and was and always will be, just like their country.

24. Why do we let americans use these made up units like "inch" and "feet". They have these measurements at our expense, we have to convert around just because they refuse to be logical. Really, you are measuring in feet? Wow, sounds like you are still in the stone age. Can you count beyond 10? I mean you only have 10 fingers right, should be hard job for an american.

The USA is a vile, evil empire and anybody who still pledges loyalty to it is a servant of Satan.

The U.S.A.....

- >Castrates little boys and tells them they're girls
- >Puts healthy families under house arrest on a whim
- >Applauds feral niggers and Jewish pedos burning down cities for months on end
- >Arrests and prosecutes young men who dare to defend themselves from being assaulted by Jewish pedos
- >Flagrantly rigs Presidential elections and arrests people who call out the crime
- >Arrests white protesters and flagrantly contrives nonsense, political harassment persecutions of them

>Generally worships homosexuals

>Absolutely worships blacks

>Wages non-stop war against largely defenseless 3rd world peoples in the Middle East, including countless documented atrocities, to absolutely no profit of its citizens

>Permits and encourages 3rd world hordes to invade and conquer the original American people

....And it's been doing this for YEARS, and it will not stop.

I do not WANT "unity!" or Trump to "Bring people together"

I do not WANT to be "one peoples" with trannies, Jews, Antifa, blacks, COVID-believers, or liberals of any stripe.

I absolutely hate the American Empire, and I cannot wait until that glorious, fateful day when God reigns his punishment down upon this rabid monster.

If China invaded the U.S.A., I would do absolutely nothing to inhibit their troops. In fact, I sort of wish they would.

The U.S.A. is the Great Satan.

Not looking forward to the future is becoming common period. Getting ahead and just staying middle class in a job you don't hate is now a big challenge let alone side projects like getting married and having kids. Doesn't help those two side projects can ruin you financially if they fail.

Tons of men in failure to launch mode more homeless, drug over doses and suicides too. Even men who are not that bad off are just paying the bare minimum for some shit apartment and some toys waiting to die basically. Satisfaction from work is near zero for a large part of the population.

The people who are still making it seem to be alright but the number of people making it is decreasing. I dunno if this country is going to fail or just become like some shitty run down eastern european country for decades on end but either way it doesn't look good.

So the US Supreme Court may have to decide if it's legal for a man to rape his demented mother if he identifies as a woman.

Virginia's incest statute doesn't apply to mother/daughter incest, so Virginia will have to decide the legal question of whether biological sex or gender applies with a law which has gendered language. This could easily end up in the Supreme Court.

Americans when they see someone using km/h instead of glazed donuts per bald eagle

Benburb93
@ColmanOfGuaire

The Afghan war was a struggle between different values. On one side you had deranged fanatics who forced women to cover their faces and locked them in their homes, chopped off kids' body parts, and placed dissidents in solitary confinement. But the Taliban were no angels either.

Americans are going to shoot at Hurricane Irma

Some Americans preparing for Hurricane Irma are coming up with unusual ways to show their defiance. They are planning to fire bullets into the storm or use flame throwers and lasers to show their resistance - although there's no way to stop the path of a hurricane. So far, there has been a lot of speculation about the Caribbean, affecting an estimated 1.2m people. More than 45,000 people have signed up to stand at Hurricane Irma.

*A combination of stress and boredom made me start the "we're" website. Please don't share it on Facebook.

America, have you ever wondered why the rest of the world hates you and is embarrassed by you?

It's because you're the only country in the world who could ever elect Donald Trump.

EVERYONE KNOWS HE IS A RACIST STUPID PIECE OF SHIT. Every-fucking-body knows this. If that man ever sets foot in the white house, America will be teleported to the dark ages. THE ENTIRE WORLD sees this, but somehow America doesn't.

Do you begin to understand why we hate you?

You subhuman baboon.
You literal nigger.

How dare you speak, you swarthy jungle monkey. How dare you open your big lipped, rim encrusted, menthol cigarette smelling mouth?

You are human trash, Diego Tyrone LeShawn de Maradona. Universally despised, derided and mocked. Your nationality and skin tone offers no hope to the world that South America can ever prosper. Crawl back in to the Brazilian jungle you came out of, you literal orangutan.

I hope you decide to sail your grandfathers skip to the Falklands and rape some sheep, as is in the negroes nature. It would still be the whitest pussy you ever had. Give Nigel and Robert a chance for some target practice, your sole use to the world. Argentinians obsession with a few windswept islands in the Atlantic is hilarious but sad. Coincidentally its the only worthwhile contribution Argentina has made to the medical field. The MUH LAS MALVINAS sentiment in the average negro Argentinian is both an early warning sign of autism in children, and early on set Alzheimer's in adults.

Take your black hairy fingers off your keyboard, and never talk about human affairs again you antiquated farm equipment. No amount of olive oil and wheat flour slapped on your face every morning will make you white. It's about as delusional of an idea as your daydreams of European heritage. Your crude makeup isn't fooling anyone.

You make Bolivia look like a beacon of civilisation.

You are the Baltimore of South America.

Go fertilise the Pampas with you and your families corpses, its the best you can hope for in life. For the first time in your life nigger, you will have a job. Making food for a race of beings of infinitely higher worth than you. Uruguayan cattle. Coincidentally, it would be the first time an Argentinian "man" provided for a family.

Die, Diego. No one would miss you. Except for Australian Aborigines, who now would have no one to make them look good.

Imagine the worst parts of Russia and the Balkans but all the Gopnik are black people, all the moderately sane Slavs are brown people, and all the cuties are traps - this is Brazil. Even the memes about growing up in here are blackened, tropical versions of the Slav culture. We're much worse in the crime department of course because of the population itself but otherwise, it's just a balkanized Latin American country that you can even visit if absolutely not straying from the safe places in richer regions.

Having done some contracting in CAR, I can attest that Africa is hell on earth. These Nigerian food videos show the more civilized aspects of life, btw; otherwise it's so fucked up it's surreal. Speaking of African food, it is perfectly edible (and even delicious at times) only if you follow one rule: no meat. Most of their dishes are so simple they are impossible to fuck up, but meat in them can be anything, starting with bushmeat (say hello to Ebola and god knows what else) and ending with their freshly murdered grandmother.

As for hygiene, most nigs view things like washing hands and showering (if they have running water at all) as some mystical commandments that the Great White Gods passed on to them long ago and are not going to come and check if they are being followed anytime soon. So yeah, local food will give you massive shits the first few times you eat it, then your body adapts and you can eat it safely. Foofoo with some egusi soup and plantains fills you up real nice after a hard day and is quite healthy, to boot. Fish is okay to eat, but only if you know the place and have bribed the fisherman and the cook to give you the freshly caught stuff, as refrigeration is nonexistent.

Most of my guys could not bring themselves to eat nigger food and only gorged themselves on burgers and canned stuff back at base. Amusingly enough, they got shits, malnutrition and vitamin deficiencies far more often than those of us who ate local food.

So yeah, Africa is hell on earth, but food is far from its worst aspect.

Never been to either, but bushmeat in general is a no-go. Some diseases and parasites carried by local wildlife are so obscure, most of the time doctors won't even know how to treat you. Same goes for drinking non-bottled water - bilharzia is the mildest shit you can catch.

Why with starting with bushmeat? Can't you get domesticated chickens and goats? That's what you could atleast find in spic and mudslim arab shitholes.

>Can't you get domesticated chickens and goats?

You can. The problem is that these chickens and goats feed on god knows what. There is no such thing as "farm" or "enclosure" in an African village. Just a bunch of goats or hens running around eating trash, and niggers fighting about whom exactly they belong to. These "domesticated" animals aren't really that different from wildlife when it comes to diseases and parasites. Eating meat in Africa is asking for trouble. Smoking-on-a-gunpowder-barrel-tier asking for trouble.

It's like the entire race has a case of down syndrome >arrive and start teaching them how to farm >explain how to till the soil in a straight line

>they start doing it and going all over the place like a child incapable of coloring within the lines >try to show them again and they keep doing it >proceeds to dump the entire bucket and destroy the seeds >end up doing everything for >each day we come back something has gone wrong >forgot to water, flooded it, literally shitting in the field, getting hungry and digging up the seeds to eat them

They can't think past the present. They have no concept of time at all or waiting for things and that's either because they are retarded or that way of life has made them retarded.

Two moments stand out in scarring us. We were trying to teach a woman and a man comes up behind her and pulls her bottoms off and starts fucking her. We are literally standing there mouths open in shock and she just said, "Daddy wants it." Like her actual fucking father.

Then one day we found a baby dead drowned in the field with horrible head damage like he was beaten by rocks. The mother just shrugged her shoulders and said she didn't want him anymore and she thought he could work the field.

Literally this is and was my face. Total shock in trying to accept what should be fucking impossible.

Words can't express my hatred towards this shithole. It is one of the worst countries in the World.

-Government lies about inflation. There is atleast 100% inflation but everyone gets less than 10% raises. Purchasing power is at all time low.

-Over 40% of the country Works for minimum wage which is less than 300$. More than half women do not work and an average family has 2 kids so people live off less than 80$ per person per month. I make less than 500$ with 2 degrees, 2 years of experience and speaking 4 languages.

-Healthcare is non existent. I'd trust an Armenian butcher before i'd visit a turkish doctor. Drugs are shit quality since government doesn't pay drug companies.

-Forced conscription, rapes murders and suicides are very common in army. The moment you speak up against it you'll be charged with "Putting off people from conscription" which is an actual crime in Turkish constitution.

-There are no elections. Election fraud is worse than african countries.

-Every day more than 100 people are charged with "insulting the president". A singer who held middle finger up for 10 seconds while holding the microphone got jailed for 2 years over that.

-Millions of undocumented migrants. After 2014 Erdoğan realized he will never win an election again so he opened the borders. Officially Turkey has the most refugees by far but real figures are over 10 million illegals (over 10% of country) with millions of central asians, afghans and pakistanis illegally staying.

-Constant power outages, no drinkable tap water, very slow and extremely censored internet.

-Mosques everywhere that scream call to prayer 5 times a year. My friend had bought a flat and a mosque got constructed right next to it. Flat lost value over 50% due to that. Windows actually shake from that sound.

-Crime rates are extremely high but faked by the government. There are scammers, thieves and muggers everywhere. Rape and murder is extremely common.

I'd hate white people too if my civilization thought so poorly of my own race that for 600 years they kidnapped white kids and let them run the country instead.

I mean Jesus fuck how embarrassing must it be to be a Turk, did you know that "Turk" was an insult IN TURKEY during the Rum Sultinate? It was like calling someone a redneck. A chic Turk was a Roman, you see. Oh sure he drank yogurt and fucked horses but he was Roman, because he lived in Greece. That makes sense, right?

All of Turkey's history was spent trying to be something other than Turkey. Desperately scraping to be Roman, to be Greek, to be White. A never-ending identity crisis that reached its Crescendo in Ataturk doing the one thing none of them had tried before: Just make Turkey not Muslim. Not anything else, in particular, but not Muslim. Just pretend we aren't Muslims. Just reject the last piece of identity that we still have.

This lasted for, what, sixty years? And you say you hate white people. I don't think that's true Turkroach, I think your entire civilization is built off of self loathing. A deep cultural hatred for your own past because when you look back, all you see is wasted steppeland and Cossacks laughing at you.

Imagine the following:

- >Communists invade your country
- >They kill millions, around 20% of the population
- >They eventually leave, there's a civil war
- >No-one really wins, your country collapses into anarchy

- >Local politicians seize power in their respective areas
- >They use armed police and local military to do three things
- >Abduct and rape children, steal, and force farmers to grow drugs instead of much-needed food
- >A quiet, reserved Sunday school teacher, Professor Smith, has had enough of the child rape where you live
- >Through inspiring rhetoric and sheer force of will, he inspires fifty students to follow him
- >They arm themselves with whatever weapons they can find
- >Shotguns from farmers, old antique pistols, rifles stolen from a museum
- >Somehow, heroically, they manage to defeat your local politician's far better-armed forces
- >They execute him, and restore order and decency to your local area
- >Word spreads of Professor Smith and his followers
- >They are known simply as 'The Students'
- >Inspired, righteous young men flock to join this group
- >Professor Smith and the Students begin to travel from area to area
- >Time and again they win incredible victories against the odds, overthrowing evil politicians and restoring some semblance of normality
- >This is a miracle. They must be blessed by God. No other possible explanation makes sense. You return to religion, as do most others

Here is the translation of the speech of the new leader of Afghanistan to the world:

For the last 40 years, we have struggled to establish peace in Afghanistan. We have defeated the forces of the atheistic Communists and the Zionist west and we have liberated our country.

We invite all Afghans to participate in our Islamic Emirate and we promise we will work for the betterment of our people. Our priorities are to bring peace to all regions of Afghanistan and to ensure the fairness of law. We will punish those who have done evil and we will pardon those who fought against us, but have now submitted themselves. Allah is the most merciful and we can only thank Allah for our victory. Islam will be upheld in Afghanistan.

We have but a few things to say to the world. If you want peace with us, end your hatred for our government of Afghanistan and recognize our rule. We are the rulers of this land graced by Allah, and no matter how hard you have tried, you have never defeated us.

To the people of this world, especially the Palestinians, we hope that our victory over the superpowers of mankind will inspire you, as our faith in Allah has been confirmed for all to see. How can you deny Allah and his will when he has delivered such a great victory to the believers? We dream of a world in which there is peace between all and we ask all world governments to recognize our government. Our message to the American people and people of the western powers who fought us, who we know are hurt by this defeat, is simple: we do not have any hatred for you. Your government, ran by Zionists and atheists, who want to spread their anti-Islamic views here, were our enemies, not you. We will pray for the day when you liberate yourselves from their grip and there can be peace upon this planet. One day, in the future, we hope the whole world will see the truth of Islam. Allah is the most merciful.

So it means that it was the Jews, not the American people, who were defeated in Afghanistan.

Fuck off Indian cunt
I would never accept 'revenge' from Indian piece of shit

If Australia came to my house dressed as Kangaroo on his 'pub crawl' and he kicked my mother to death I would not hire an Indian to be the revenge hitman, even if he offered for free his services. Indian smell like shit. Indian look like shit. Indian smell like shit. Imagine hiring Indian hitman to kill for revenge. He would go to sydney opera house to assassinate the killer but would not because every actor on the stage start throwing up from the smell of elephant shit and ganges river which lets the guy know Indian hitman is coming. I want Australia to win. They are good team and good country. Go to Austalia... they have POISON SPIDERS in the bathtub, they have excuse to not wash... but they still smell better than Indian.

Australia can win
Fuck India. Nuke will come soon.

The bad thing is that India is even worse.

I live in Delhi and pollution here is disgusting and nobody cares

My own father and uncle have regular "Poo Poo Pollution" contests to see who can pollute with faeces in the most clever way

Some of their attempts have seen

- >My father glueing his shit onto a stray dog and then throwing it in a river
- >My Uncle doing a shit while standing on his car as the engine was running
- >My Uncle buying a water purifier then filling it with shit and calling it a water poopifier
- >My father snuck onto a building with a solar panel and shit over it

fuck this country

Fuck I wish I were Indian. I hate being trapped in this shell of "good behavior" imposed on me by a cucked society, this prison that forbids me from being honest with women and expressing who I really am. Every time I see an Indian messaging a random white girl from a country thousands of miles away on facebook just to say "hello dear I suck on your tits" I think, fuck, I wish I could just say that to women too. Imagine being so honest. The girl replies "umm gross lol" or something but she still replied. She still knows you want to tickle her with your thick Indian moustache. No matter how brief, there was a meeting of souls between you, she knows that you know that she knows that you know that you want to suck on her wonderful tits and call her beautiful, the urge is dispensed and done with on your part, and now you can get back to your important work.

Instead I'm imprisoned in a KEK society where I have to pretend women showing me their asscheeks and wearing skin-tight clothing is normal. I have to sit there twiddling my thumbs like a little cuck bitch pretending that I am not an Indian deep down. We're all Indians. Indians are just the ones who are honest about it.

>Chinese thought is pragmatic in a unique sense. It does not trace the being or the origin, but the changing constellations of things (pragmata). It is about recognizing the changeable passing of things, to access it depending on the situation and take advantage of it. Chinese thought deeply mistrusts immutable essences or principles. This flexibility or adaptability, which refers to the lack of essence, to the emptiness, is for Hegel a sample of cunning, hypocrisy or immorality.

>In the West, this would be seen as piracy, or even desecration, but in Chinese culture, originals are continually transformed—deconstructed. In this volume in the Untimely Meditations series, Byung-Chul Han traces the thread of deconstruction, or “decreation,” in Chinese thought, from ancient masterpieces that invite inscription and transcription to Maoism—“a kind of shanzhai Marxism,” Han writes.

>Han discusses the Chinese concepts of quan, or law, which literally means the weight that slides back and forth on a scale, radically different from Western notions of absoluteness; zhen ji, or original, determined not by an act of creation but by unending process; xian zhan, or seals of leisure, affixed by collectors and part of the picture's composition; fuzhi, or copy, a replica of equal value to the original; and shanzhai. The Far East, Han writes, is not familiar with such “pre-deconstructive” factors as original or identity. Far Eastern thought begins with deconstruction.

>Hegel, nothing more and nothing less, notes in the Chinese a tendency to lie. He accuses them of “great immorality.” In China, apparently, there would be no honor. The Chinese “are known to lie there more than anyone” (1). Hegel is surprised that no one takes a lie wrong once it is discovered. The Chinese behave, Hegel adds, “cunning and devious”, so Europeans should be careful in dealing with them. Apparently, Hegel does not find any conclusive justification for “the conscience of moral turpitude.”

>Hence, it refers to Buddhism, which has “nothing, as the supreme and absolute, as God” and “requires the contempt of the individual as the highest perfection.” Hegel understands that behind the negativity of the Buddhist void lies a nihilistic nothingness. That is why he makes her responsible for the “great immorality” of the Chinese. Nihilistic nothingness, Hegel argues without any qualms, does not admit any commitment, conclusion or constancy. Nihilistic nothingness opposes any God who represents truth and authenticity.

Byung Chul Han; Shanzhai , Chinese Deconstruction.

>The group of researchers first looked at 4chan, an online bulletin board that frequently features offensive posts, and found a rise in derogatory terms for Chinese people around February of this year. Other terms and slurs toward minority groups decreased or flattened in relation to topics surrounding the virus, research found.

"If we see violence and hateful rhetoric stemming from subcultural communities, we need to be able to track these communications in real time to see what they're talking about," said Alex Goldenberg, an analyst at the institute and one of the authors of the study.

I can explain why there are so many meme flag and why wumao post with them. Please understand, here it is very important to "save face"

Chinese culture take this very serious. And because wumao use vpn and proxies, they must use a different countries flag. Terrible thing for the hubris of a proud chinese shill! They cannot ruin their pride by flying a different country flag so they use memeflag! Very insecure people themselves and yet it is them who say everyone is mutt! America is last standing in way of China. That is why they are targeting demoralize at you!

You are no mutt unless you give in to china! Then they will call you that forever!! Be smart /pol/ and don't let dirty communist dominate here or anywhere.

I will forever resent communism and welcome death to be freed of it.

The bile can be harvested using several techniques, all of which require some degree of surgery, and may leave a permanent fistula or inserted catheter. A significant proportion of the bears die because of the stress of unskilled surgery or the infections which may occur.

Farmed bile bears are housed continuously in small cages which often prevent them from standing or sitting upright, or from turning around. These highly restrictive cage systems and the low level of skilled husbandry can lead to a wide range of welfare concerns including physical injuries, pain, severe mental stress and muscle atrophy. Some bears are caught as cubs and may be kept in these conditions for up to 30 years.<sup>[17]</sup>

You do realize that the only reason the CCP are bringing up this "make chinese young men more manly" plan is because shit has hit and it is already too late. PLA army generals have been complaining about the majority of the Chinese young recruits being spoiled and physically fit since "They are the boy of the family, they can do no wrong" while its the total opposite for women who have to be rail thin.

The problem is not going to be fixed, the damage has already been done thanks to the one child policy and mainland chinese people. chinese men have a serious issue with "Little Emperor Syndrome" since the majority of them are the spoiled ones of the family since masculine identity which is absent from a lot of young chinese men who grow up playing LoL or some other PC game and smoking th the fan already a decade ago and the problem is beyond fixable? The CCP only acknowledges issues when they are too large by then to be ignored nomma's boys for more than a decade now, not to mention how physically unfit they are due to the lack of cultural pressure in China for boys to be thin with long legs and a skinny sharp face.

s's slowness to adapt to new cultural shifts astroturfed by the chinese government since the will of the CCP changes faster than a pauper's fart. Young they are the few or only boy in the family. Boys need to rough house with their brothers (wrestle, play fight etc.) or peers to develop a healthy their brains out.

- >Mao sees birds eat grains
- >He tells 1 billion chinks to kill all the birds in China so that the birds won't eat their grains anymore
- >1 billion chinks kill all the birds in China
- >with no more birds, the insect population explodes in China

- >45 million chinks starve to death

- >Mao needs steel to make buildings
- >He tells 1 billion chinks to stop farming and working, and instead to melt down all their metal to produce steel
- >1 billion chinks gather every single piece of metal in sight, including farming tools, pots, and pans
- >1 billion chinks chop down every single tree in sight to fuel the furnaces, and even tear down their houses to provide more wood
- >In the end, 1 billion chinks produce millions of tons of useless pig iron that is completely unusable
- >1 billion chinks now have no homes to live in, no tools to use for farming, no pots to cook food, no wood to heat the pots, and no food to eat and then the little girl looks like 12 years old or so, she then pulls down her pants and SHITS ALL OVER THE COURTYARD

SHE PULLS DOWN AND SHITS A RIVER OF CHOCOLATE WITH SMALL CHUNKS NEVERENDING

I look at Chinese and they continue talking about how to eat cats and hire Indonesian prostitutes or something, no one cares. Courtyard is filling up with shit, NO ONE CARES and then the little girl's father comes by and I think 'good, now he will slap more shit out of her because she is acting like a barbarian overseas turtle' BUT NO, HE PICKS HER UP USING HER SHOULDERS AND GIVES HER A SUPERIOR ANGLE TO SHIT MORE

China will never be in power, never, I would rather kill myself than have China have power in my country

I dream of the day where I wake up, sun is bright, wind is soft and I hear sounds of ocean and birdcalls (not that fucking Chinese penis sounds), and I go read the morning edition newspaper and headline says 'OBAMA FIND PRIME MINISTER XI JINPING DICK IN MICHELLE OBAMA'S MOUTH, BEIJING ATTACKED WITH NUCLEAR WEAPONS' and when I read this I smile and I go drink my tea and eat some meat and rice to celebrate, and although day is ten fold beautiful I stay inside to watch TV and see China become huge desert like arab country but less nigger, maybe I even go to buy mango and milk tea for big celebrations and my friends come to my house and we all smile because now the world becomes better place to live

maybe I even buy a boat and go to southern China like Guangzhou and all "people" there trying to escape nuclear bombings from Americans and they ask me like 'please let me on to your boat please take me to Indonesia' and then I laugh and sink my boat in front of them

maybe I die to but fuck China

Id of course you want hire thais, probably more comfortable because just liek Koreans you can't separate man from woman, every time you have sex with korean or thai it is exactly similar to opening a present because no one knows what's inside, is it a penis or a vagina or both or neither? Only God knows, let's find out!

You are tricky like jews, but in the field of sex. You are sexual jews.

Indonesiag here. Goddamn, that was the biggest fucking scare of my life.

So yeah, I googled the acronym and thought nothing about it. But twenty minutes ago, my doorbell rang and these two mean-looking officers were in front of the door when I opened. Fuck, I felt the wind knocked out of me.

Turns out the next door neighbor just got murdered and I was just being asked if I heard or seen anything. Goddamn, I've never been so relieved in my whole life. They just left after a short interrogation.

That is a live feed of Dokdo in the guest lobby of the Blue House. Saw it yesterday

Korea has such a massive inferiority complex when it comes to Japan. Walk into a Korean school - even an elementary school with like second graders - and say "Japan" and the whole class will boo.

Go to Japan and ask them what they think of Korean and they'll shrug and not know what you're talking about. It's a totally one-sided rivalry and is honestly sad to watch.

The biggest example of it is a strategically useless rock in the middle of the ocean that Korea calls 'Dokdo' and Japan calls something else. It's a disputed territory, but nobody in Japan has ever heard of it yet EVERY man woman and child in Korea has heard of it.

It's so tiny you couldn't even fit any settlement on it. Literally just a fucking rock. And most Korean schools have TV screens with a 24/7 live camera feed showing the Korean flag flying on the rock. They go on field trips to visit it and one of their favorite things to yell out at sports games is "DOKDO IS KOREA LAND!!!!"

Being this is a weeb and pedo board most people have blinders on so they just assume the random crap spewed out by people here (company doing research on asian companies, audits, etc) is that there is a LOT of ignorance about the east outside of the region.

Even in this thread you see the flags of no body nations repeating the mistruths spoken here (mainly from latin 3rd world shitholes and east europoors).

Lately the hate between japanese vs koreans is stronger on the japanese side. They are feeling the pressure of having their neighbor rise up economically

Remember japan has never recovered from their bubble that popped in the late 80's early 90's. Since then, the japanese government has had to implement

In fact, you no longer have japanese appliances in your home for example, they are replaced by Samsung/LG. Most TV's sold are korean vs japanese and but Hyundai and Kia are winning more market share globally and winning reliability awards. Koreans dominate the storage and memory semiconductor industry

Many of the richest business men in Japan are actually koreans (picrel). Jap women pick korean men over jap men due to jap men being too timid/shy. Koreans seen it....

The deal is, japan's economy is in such shambles that the japanese government had to step in to buy up the stocks of japanese companies as a last resort of desperation before their market implodes. To get an idea of how bad things are, the company I work for used to hold shares in the west where a japanese company will spin off a new company, sell the debt to the new company and let them go bankrupt to keep the parent company from going bankrupt. It's a very unhealthy many of their largest companies are and is why we've moved most of our funds out of japan for

Then you look at Korea, they took a different approach by implementing tight fiscal policies that prevent bubble formation, mal investments, encourage reinvestment in technology, and have a strong IP protection. There is a reason why Korea has been top at or near the very top of the Innovation Index for over a decade. They are the new dominant leader in the world. IP theft is a fucking huge threat from their neighbor.

Japan won't go away but their prime is long gone. Sadly, where japan is headed, the US is following... but thats for another thread.

all in all, I grew up loving japan (still do, great people) but have highest respect for koreans and would bet on them to lead in Asia (china will grow but they is true. people who never left their state let alone visited these other countries. What I've found over the years after living in Asia for work (finance and not only compete with their industries but actual over take them both technologically and in market share.

many QE (before QE was a term) tactics to keep the economy a float. This is preventing japan from growth (more on this later) and the monitors and televisions you find from other companies will have a korean display in them vs japanese. Cars like toyota and honda sell very well in asia. Industries once ruled by japan. The mobile phone business japan once lead is conquered by koreans.

pop made this even worse as korean men are setting the standard in Asia for looks. If you're korean in japan, you know what I am talking about. i've companies to keep them afloat. In fact, Japan's government is the #1 hold of all japanese stocks globally. This never happened before. It's a sign of the times. Japan used to own 40% of japanese companies but today our portfolio contains less than 3% of japanese companies. What we see is odd tactics (which are illegal) to keep bad debt off the parent company. Big red signs. In fact, japan doesn't force companies to be as transparent with their books for a reason... they are afraid of the time being.

investment into R&D, invest 20%+ into new technology research, etc. They are amongst the strongest in terms of balance sheet and cash for nearly all companies in Asia for tech and R&D. No wonder korean companies I've studied spend 10% of their budgets on keeping chinese hackers out of their networks as will never be as innovative).

This is why Katana useless in modern age

Katana need two hands to operate and reduce population

Modern Jap has figured out to reduce population with one hand, by sit in bedroom and masturbate hikkimori and not get girlfriend because he is ugly Jap.

Jap originally design Katana so strike fear into western heart

Now, he just make porn video, and loud squeel of ugly Jap woman give weaboo westener fear fear that his mother can hear porn play

Katana most pointless weapon in world, most pointless other than 'Penis shrinking ray' shot at Jap who dick already so small. Why you keep brag on your fucking shit weapon? Nobody impressed.

>"Anno understands the Japanese national attraction to characters like Rei as the product of a stunted imaginative landscape born of Japan's defeat in the Second World War. "Japan lost the war to the Americans," he explains, seeming interested in his own words for the first time during our interview. "Since that time, the education we received is not one that creates adults. Even for us, people in their 40s, and for the generation older than me, in their 50s and 60s, there's no reasonable model of what an adult should be like." The theory that Japan's defeat stripped the country of its independence and led to the creation of a nation of permanent children, weaklings forced to live under the protection of the American Big Daddy, is widely shared by artists and intellectuals in Japan. It is also a staple of popular cartoons, many of which feature a well-meaning government that turns out to be a facade concealing sinister and more powerful forces.

>Anno pauses for a moment, and gives a dark-browed stare out the window. "I don't see any adults here in Japan," he says, with a shrug. "The fact that you see salarymen reading manga and pornography on the trains and being unafraid, unashamed or anything, is something you wouldn't have seen 30 years ago, with people who grew up under a different system of government. They would have been far too embarrassed to open a book of cartoons or dirty pictures on a train. But that's what we have now in Japan. We are a country of children." -Hideaki Anno

Do your part and help a bogan out.

Tell him he's funny, tell him he's smart, tell him that vegemite is a real food.

Australians are an important part of /pol/ ecology. Without them, the bottom-feeding Canadians will overpopulate the board and shit all over the place.

I spent months spamming this and you cunts still don't know how it works. You post the pic like you did and in green text you say >you may post ITT if your Health minister is under 130kg

Then you post in all caps no green text;

NOT SO FAT BELGIUM AND QUEBEC

notice the misspelling of fast to fat? It's part of the joke.

Another thing is to creep the weight higher and higher each time you post, today she is 130, tomorrow 132, next week she will reach 140 and so on

Improve the quality of your work or please hand in your resignation

Can someone translate this?

>Mate moves to Alice Springs
>Lives there for 3 years >tells me just how bad Abbo's are

The north of Australia is like a whole different world, almost like the wild west.
He still tells me stories that just don't seem real.

>Meets a bloke who used to be a truck driver
>Driver tells him a story about how he killed an Abo

>Driving along Alice Springs delivering cargo in a road train >Completely barren road, dead straight
>All of a sudden, a spec on the horizon
>As he gets closer, he sees it's an Abbo, standing on one leg with a spear in his hand
>Has heard stories about abo's car jacking people at self made road blocks
>Says "Fuck this cunt, I'm not stoppin'" and blares the truck horn >Won't move
>Bares again
>Doesn't move
>Smashes into Abo, completely gores and obliterates him

>truck driver is freaking out, committed manslaughter
>Stops in at the local Petrol Station, has a small police station located on it >Gets out and reports to the Officer there that he fucked an Abo's shit up
>Policeman calmly gets out of his chair and walks out to the truck
>Looks at all the gore, reaches under the Trucks bumper and pulls half of the Abo's skull and jaw out and throws it into the dumpster adjacent to the truck

>"not much you can do about these blokes mate, I'll write it up for you though, you free to go"

tl;dr Manslaughter is legal on Abo's

You know what? I'm fucking sick of this fucking attitude 4chan in general has against Australians. You know why we "shitpost"? Because the rest of you post such pretentious pseudo-intellectual bullshit the only way worth responding to you is through trolling you dumbarses.

Did you know Australia is 2nd in the HDI index? That's right, our nation full of people who half-arse literally every aspect of our work ethic is the 2nd best in the world, behind some fucking bjorns who struck oil.

That's why we're arseholes. Because as stupid as we are, as drunk as we are, and as lacking in seriousness as we are, we know we're richer, happier and more efficient than your shitty country. And we're not even trying.

| Costa Del Pom Boasting 4 continuous miles of unspoilt English pubs, this is Europe's hottest and most congested summer destination. Enjoy sun, sea and unsatisfying sex on the beaches of Los Toplez, where most high-rise hotels feature 180 degree views of the hotel in front of them. Come on – turn a darker shade of pink on Iberia's party coast! | Pfafflând From the sterile cleanliness of Volvenhaagen to the orthopaedic footpaths of Birkenstockholm, this sub-arctic wonderland provides a smorgasboard of Nordic delights. Take a fauna and sauna safari through its pristine pine forests or if 'clubbing' is more your scene then head to the seal colonies of Cløbberlând. In a land of 24-hour sunshine the days in this ice-encrusted country will somehow feel longer. | Gastronesia Spread over 200 islands of the Qic Pù Peninsula, this forgotten jewel is fast re-emerging as one of Asia's hottest destinations. Known by lovers of spicy cuisine as the Scorched Palate Archipelago, visiting diners have been known to drown in their own sweat. | Sherpastan From the moment you touch down in the high altitude capital of Oedema, this mountain kingdom will take your breath away. Try an ice trek across the Frostbittaan plains or, for the truly intrepid traveller, rent a guide and attempt an ascent of Mt Ingcosts. | Cartelombia Nestled at the foot of South America's rugged Cocainia Mountains, this former Spanish colony is at last making its mark on the world stage. From its bustling capital of Assassinaçion City to the remote jungle outpost of Pichapochetchu, this country is worth every bit of the effort and ransom required. | PLUS Travel for Germans JETLAG'STITLE OF THEMONTH |

Cultural Marxism was a response to the flaws of orthodox marxism.

Marx himself thought of society as being a war between economic classes, and that the working class was the engine that would lead a revolution and overthrow the capitalists.

The problem is, Marx didn't live long enough to actually organize such a working class revolution. And when his successors tried, they discovered a small problem: the working class doesn't want revolution, and in fact the working class is the most conservative class in society, even more so than the capitalists (who led the revolution out of feudalism). Economic conflict couldn't overcome forces like religion and patriotism and tradition.

What to do? The British Fabians, a group of Marxist intellectuals, realized there was one class that was open to the idea of revolution, namely intellectuals like themselves. They looked down on religion and tradition as superstition, and instead of loyalty to their nation they felt loyalty only to "The People". (Only in the abstract, of course, they didn't seem to want the company of actual dirty uneducated people.)

Lenin put this into practice. His Bolshevik party was lead by intellectuals like himself and Trotsky. It was not for the working class would not lead the way, instead the Bolsheviks would lead the working class.

"Attention must be devoted principally to raising the workers to the level of revolutionaries; it is not at all our task to descend to the level of the "working masses"." - Lenin, What Is To Be Done?

In Italy, Gramsci took Lenin's idea a step further. He answered the question why the working classes was conservative, it was their attachment to their culture. Intellectuals were one group that could overcome that attachment. But what about groups that weren't really part of the dominant culture: racial and religious minorities, criminals, feminists unhappy with the role of women, rebellious youth, immigrants, homosexuals, everyone who lived on the fringes. If somehow all them could be united in hatred against the dominant culture, you would have a force that could reshape society. Cultural marxism was born.

The Frankfurt School brought these ideas to America. Every aspect of traditional conservative culture was given uncompromising adversarial critique (critical theory). It was racist sexist anti-semitic homophobic xenophobic sexually repressed etc.

And here we are today. It worked! A coalition of the fringes, united against the historic core: white Christian men. Democrats vs Republicans. Long after the Soviet Union has collapsed, American politics and every college campus in the country is shaped entirely by the ideas of cultural marxism.

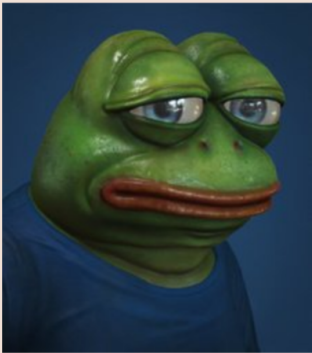

The term "cultural marxism" makes sense when seen in this history. The problem is, very few people know this history, and when they see the term they have no idea what it means. It looks like jargon.

One more colorful term is "coalition of the fringes", coined by Steve Sailer.

And for a pair of even more direct, clear terms - and I understand some of you won't be ready for this - try anti-white bigotry and anti-male bigotry. Because nowadays, that's what it amounts to.

Anonymous 06/22/17 (Thu) 15:31:37 ID: baaf4c No.10131000 >>10131076

A bunch of reasons.

1. It has impossible goals. It seeks to abolish class distinctions. How it seeks to do so I'll cover in the next bullet. Class is an inevitable and natural thing. There are great examples in both the USSR and China. In the USSR the Nomenklatura became the new elite class with infinitely more privilege and power than the bourgeois and aristocratic rulers they replaced. In China during the Cultural Revolution the elite was "rusted" meaning they were forcibly relocated and made into farmers. Their children quickly rose to the top despite being rusticated.

2. It is constitutionally illogical. We use syllogistic logic to arrive at truth. Meaning that we analyze positions relative to the existing evidence and against self-contradiction. Essentially if x then y. Marxism uses Hegelian Dialectics. Hegelian Dialectics arrive at truth by positing a thesis, countering with an antithesis, and arriving at a synthesis. I say something, you say something, we arrive at a shared conclusion. This allows for ideas to be formed without concern for evidence or contradiction, so bad ideas propagate. Applied to class conflict the proletariat was the thesis, the ruling class the antithesis, and the classless society the synthesis. Dialectics were also applied to their legal systems, agriculture, and to our culture to disastrous effect.

3. It ignores human motivation. Normal people have a stronger national identity than a class identity. History, race, culture, and religion form stronger bonds than economic class. WWI was a clear demonstration of this. Dialectical Materialism considers these factors to be "spooks"; meaning that they are the result of false consciousness and can be ignored.

4. It is considered to be a perfect ideology. Marxism cannot fail, but it can be failed. Real socialism has never been tried. This allows them to escape moral culpability for their actions. Strategically this prevents them from reworking their ideology. Think of the word lumpenprole. Proletariats are the vehicles by which the revolution is achieved. Lumpenproles are proletariats who shirk this duty and refuse Marxism. Realize that attitude deems any popular rejection as a moral failure of the people. The Frankfurt School escaped this trap by being willing to rethink Marxism, which is why /leftpol/ considers Cultural Marxism to be epistemologically distinct from Marxism.

5. Marxism is very complex, but not effective in the slightest. This means that Marxists have to be intelligent enough to memorize this dross and disciplined enough to never consider how stupid it is. Arrogance without results is the domain of fools.

Cultural Marxism of the Frankfurt School acknowledges that Marxism failed. The primary culprit of this failure is the culture of the West. The goal is not to create economic Marxism, but to destroy the culture that makes Marxism impossible. It says all of this openly, but the mainstream considers this to be an anti-Semitic conspiracy theory.

Critical Theory is the weapon that they use. It combines Hegelian dialectics with Freudian analysis to deconstruct a target. Identify a victim class (thesis), blame an oppressor (antithesis), propose a "solution" (synthesis), and pathologize opponents as mentally ill or blinded with hatred (Freud). With Feminism they empower women against men to deconstruct the concepts of sex and family, while calling any opponents misogynists. Critical Theory makes sure that we have constant conflict and disorder in every part of our lives. Repeat ad infinitum.

We fixed it. Here's a picture of Detroit, back when it was a hideously white cesspool that lacked diversity.

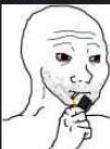

Just look at this picture from 1916. Don't you feel disgusted? You can't see a single African-American face. The women are demurely dressed because the patriarchy won't let them wear what they want. They are no gay porn shops - hell, there are no gays! Nowhere in that picture can you see a copulating interracial gay couple! You can't even see an interracial cis-heterosexual couple, for goodness sake.

And don't get me started on all the disgusting cis-normative capitalist signs everywhere. Even the streets are revoltingly clean because the white patriarchy oppressed all the African-American people who would otherwise have explored their cultural impetus to scatter garbage everywhere.

It saddens me to look at that picture, but then I look at modern Detroit, an interracial paradise of tolerance and diversity, and I breathe a sigh of relief. We liberals are going to fix the rest of America, just like we fixed Detroit.

This anon put it far more eloquently than I could:

Our eating and sleeping is based on an arbitrary schedule. They even change the clocks twice a year. So it's hard to get your bearings to even know the seasons by the sun, let alone the time. We don't even bother looking at the stars.

Slowly but surely they're making all social interactions seem creepy and abnormal. You can't show romantic interest or sexual desire for the sole reason that you find someone attractive, you have to lie and pretend there are other reasons, and then you have to find a setting where you could even express those feelings.

You're not allowed to make snap judgments of people. You're not allowed to prefer one type of person over another, based on race, sex, gender, physical ability, class, hair color, style.

You're not allowed to notice patterns of behavior and categorize them. You're not allowed to stick up for yourself or defend yourself. You're not allowed to view the world as hostile, or even potentially hostile, because ultimately that would be some judgment of a person but for natural phenomenon like falling rocks or a dead tree branches. Not that you'll be around mountains or forests.

Mutilating and killing babies is seen as perfectly normal. You're weird if you oppose it.

You can't hunt, forage, or fish. You can't even just run away to the woods and live in a cave, or a cabin. It's illegal to collect rainwater.

You were born into a game, and the rules were written by people who never had to follow any of these rules, ever. And top of that they utterly delight in flaunting these rules in the most heinous ways that can be thought of, and throwing it in the masses faces.

You're depressed because you're being molded, stretched and folded, crammed, twisted and rolled into a worm. That's all they want, a sea of worms to enslave and abuse for eternity.

The funny thing is that people worry about some kind of dystopian future, without realizing that we're living in it. Imagine showing pictures or video of the modern world to someone in the 1950s. They'd be horrified.

The Atheist Jews were The architects of Communism in the 1920s. A group at the Frankfurt School developed Critical Theory to convert the West to Communism.

The Frankfurt School plan was to undermine the Christian legacy. They called for the most negative destructive criticism possible of every sphere of life to de-stabilize society and destroy what they saw as the 'oppressive' order. They hoped their policies would spread like a virus--continuing the work of the Western Marxists. The School recommended:

- 1 The creation of racism offences
- 2 Continual change to create confusion
- 3 The teaching of sex and homosexuality to children
- 4 The undermining of schools' and teachers' authority
- 5 Huge immigration to destroy identity
- 6 The promotion of excessive drinking
- 7 Emptying of churches
- 8 An unreliable legal system with bias against victims of crime
- 9 Creating dependency on the state or state benefits
- 10 Control and dumbing down of media
- 11 Encouraging the breakdown of the family

One of the main ideas of the Frankfurt School was to exploit Freud's idea of 'pansexuality' - the search for pleasure, the exploitation of the differences between the sexes, the overthrowing of traditional relationships between men and women. To further their aims they would:

- attack the authority of the father, deny the specific roles of father and mother, and wrest away from families their rights as primary educators of their children.
- abolish differences in the education of boys and girls
- abolish all forms of male dominance
- declare women to be an 'oppressed class' and men oppressors

Following Hitler's rise to power in 1933, the Institute left Germany for Geneva, before moving to New York City in 1935, where it became affiliated with Columbia University.

THE TRUE ORIGINS OF CULTURAL MARXISM"

Kabbalists believe that God was shattered by the act of Creation, and that His attributes lay as "holy sparks" imbedded in Creation which must be picked up in order for Him to be restored to oneness (known as the act of tikkun). The kabbalist therefore believes that the Jewish Messiah will never arrive and thus Mankind will never be liberated until God is restored to oneness. The way to do this, according to the kabbalists, is to engage in acts of holiness and meditation in order to retrieve the sparks of God. In the year 1666, a kabbalist and occultist named Sabbatai Zevi declared himself the Jewish Messiah. Upon his messiahship, he turned the Torah around by declaring that all sins were now considered "holy" and that the only way to "repair" God was to engage in acts of depravity. He lost several followers after the Sultan of the Ottoman Empire forced him to convert to Islam, however, several Jews still followed him. 100 years later, Jacob Frank declared himself to be the reincarnation of Sabbatai Zevi and took those ideas to an even more extreme level. In order for God to be fully repaired and for the Messianic Era to arrive, mankind must destroy all of its traditional moral values and go beyond good and evil. The Frankists, as they were called, engaged in every horrible thing you could imagine: black magic, wife-swapping, sex orgies, homosexuality, incest, pedophilia, and promoted a form of proto-feminism and proto-communism. Every one of these disgusting acts was considered to be a "holy tikkun" (restoration) of God if done with holy intent. They were entirely apocalyptic who despised the world of creation, seeking to bring about its early end and to bring forth a Messianic utopia.

The Sabbatean and Frankist heresies seemed to disappear by the start of the 19th century. However, there was still an active Frankist stronghold in Frankfurt, Germany during that time. These Frankists were known to be affiliated with the Freemasonic lodges that existed around the city. One such Freemason was a man by the name of Franz Joseph Molitor. He was a known satanist and alchemist who took a strong interest in the Kabbalah, even going so far as to synthesize Kabbalah with a perverted form of "Christianity." This is what led him to picking up Sabbatean-Frankist ideology. In order to promote his sick and twisted views, he wrote a four-volume set of books promoting a bastardized understanding of "Judaism" written from a kabbalist and Sabbatean perspective.

These books of Molitor's would later be picked up in the early 20th century by two young Jewish scholars from Berlin: Gershom Scholem and his best friend Walter Benjamin. Benjamin later became a Marxist after living in the USSR and meeting with Georg Lukacs, joined the Frankfurt School and became one of the main intellectuals behind Critical Theory alongside Max Horkheimer and Theodor Adorno.

You spent the last 60 years social-engineering away every traditional bastion of masculinity, organically grown for THOUSANDS of years, that channeled men's energy into productive outlets ranging from building houses to sending men to the moon. And you expected no consequences of removing those outlets? Are you fucking stupid or something? Leftists shriek and sputter when some kid decides to take the fatalistic path out, lighting up his peers with high velocity lead in one last desperate, animalistic act of sheer rage, and while these tragedies are awful, you know what's worse? This world, a world where young men are spiraling out of control, killing themselves, sedating themselves with drugs and murdering their peers, is a world built exclusively by the Left. You're never going to solve any of the problems of Leftism by applying more Leftism. They tried to socially engineer us into something 'better' - whatever the fuck that is supposed to mean - and they didn't even bother to think whether they SHOULD or not, before they even got to COULD. Of course it's not possible! Of course there would be consequences! But our elite, our ruling class, lives in perpetual denial of their status as rulers. They have no sense of responsibility for the people they lord over, no sense of consequences for following fashionable whims on a whim. Tradition existed for a reason, and they tore down that fence without even asking why it existed, because they went to fucking college where they were told the answer - and they never, for a moment, questioned it, because those answers held power and being the weakest and most pathetic of white people, Leftists covet power. Consequent to having these people in power, everything spiraled out of control, and they're sitting over there telling us that more of what they have to offer will somehow magically fix things?

Fuck Leftists, bring back the gallows.

>Mise-en-scène is basically the fancy term for a consistent aesthetic that lends a film an artistic stability in the message that makes it much more believable in the world and mood it establishes, such as the cabinet of dr caligari deliberately using weird german expressionist set design to convey that the whole thing is a psychological demented trip. Basically, its the thing that makes a film an art instead of a dry report >postmodernists go "dude fuck art lmao" and explicitly ignore this to establish a sense of faux dissonance with the audience, "we know this has no consistent aesthetic but dude it doesnt matter cause art is subjective, trying is for losers, lmao" >and then they have the gall to use bauhaus principles in animation to psychologically trick the audience into giving it legitimacy because they use the same visual language as instructional material, like very literal uncreative sphere, cube, and cone shapes meant for unsubjective clarity, not to establish an intentional aesthetic, but because this is the only visual language they can actually apply because actual decent draftsmen are fucking unicorns.

>regurgitate this style in indie comics to make it feel hip and cool and chic and now you have this methodology become incestuous, and now everyone draws like they're making back of the box instruction drawings for toddlers

Actually, anime is explicitly really good at Mise-en-scène. Designwise, yes, a lot of it is extremely similar symbol drawing. But aesthetically and more importantly as far as direction goes, they get it right waaaaaay more than western cartoonists do. They know what needs to be made specific to the work to make it memorable and have something to say, they know how to visually lead someone into a perspective without needing to lie about being objective, I mean you look at any anime opening and they could all be the opening hook to a brand new concept album about a super specific subject matter that can say a really particular thing.

The main issue is that americans treat illustration more like a creepy californian cult, and everyone else treats it like film making. Russia in particular, despite having obscenely low budgets, have always produced very aesthetically good shit, because they treat it like a film first and an "icon of animation" second.

You know what, I won't even wait for it.

See this? This is what I'm talking about when I say Bauhaus, this postmodern weimar SCHWARBAGE. It was primarily developed in conjunction with architecture, and obsession to reject traditional art techniques like, you know, a basic three dimensional sense of depth and design in favor of MUH ABSTRACT, MUH CUBISM, MUH SYMBOLIQUE MUH MINOTAURE, degenerate bullshit like that that was literally just an excuse to get non artists into the art scene to launder money. You'll find that sadly, everything commercial follows this style because its so obscenely simple a baby could tell what's going on, its so very literal and minimalist and depthless that its the perfect manipulation tool. Seriously, now that I've told you about this, you're going to start seeing this brand of art everywhere. Advertisements, public announcements, public artworks, informational guides, and, yes, cartoons.

Of course its mainly the french perpetuating this shit, and americans suck french dick when it comes to art. Calarts? psh, fucking smalltown bullshit compared to the parisian swill. Who could blame a bunch of overworked pretentious animators who'd buy into this angular bullshit to not have to study drafting, though?

do you fucking see the hypocrisy? It presents itself so literally, so simplistically, so "objectively" that it leads the viewer to psychologically give it authority, because of course something that looks like a fucking crossing sign wouldnt be biased or lie, right? Even though right from the fucking thumbnail you can see the color use and framing clearly has a proper fucking bias and agenda. And that's how they fucking do it, maybe they don't make everything look quite like this, but the influence is there, the minimalist influence. Look at any modern cartoon, what do you see? subtle anatomy, natural figures, creative graphic design? no, you see literal tube hands and faces that look like a fucking instruction manual mascot's face. The worst part is the artists themselves dont realise they're deluding themselves into thinking this is creative art, they don't realize they're just rehashing the dead symbols of propagandists and swindlers. How could they, when art schools don't bother teaching them basic drafting, let alone some contemporary fucking art history that would actually give these effeminate, infantilized trust fund children some fucking context and perspective of the world they fucking live in.

And the real insult is that these fucking independent, undereducated artists peddle this garbage as "alternative". Alternative to what? Tradition? There's no fucking tradition left, everyone who could design worth a shit is fucking dead! even the 3d stuff is nothing but this shit slowly creeping in. This influence is cancerous to anything creative and is actively crippling illustration. There is no constructive imagination left, it is only the photorealistic or the painfully abstract. You fucking wonder why american animation is fucking dead? its not calarts, its not weeaboos, its not any of that shit.

If there was anywhere in the entire universe to rant aggressively about it, it would be on the electric imageboard dedicated to people ranting aggressively about moving illustrations and design on a fanatical level. You Euclidian fucking Clowns.

This is literally the first time I've ever talked about this to anyone because I'd get fucking fired for not towing the line, I've just spent my time getting educated on art shit instead of just eating disgusting, rancid franco german SHIT regurgitated by smelly californian hipsters who have never atomized an iota of genuine passion in their lives. I've fucking seen the psychological marketing behind this shit and it is explicit and intentional. I wouldn't be so fucking sulfuric about it if I didn't have to see it every single fucking day and see you artistically illiterate troglodytes try to put it into words when you fuckers have never fucking read a book about it. You all say calarts this, calarts that, ITS FUCKING BAUHAUS YOU FUCKS, ITS BAUHAUS, EVERYTHING YOU FUCKING HATE ABOUT CARTOONS IS BAUHAUS, I DONT GIVE A SHIT IF YOU EVEN LIKE IT OR NOT BUT ITS FUCKIIIIINNG BAAAAUUUUHAAAAUUUUSSSSSSSSSS

Propagandists and swindlers don't have the patent on simple design, the ideas could have been develop simultaneously, independently, and for different purposes. It's especially likely since it's the first step anyone would come to when putting visuals on paper, it'd be like saying ancient civilizations copied pyramids from one another when it's just the shape least likely to fall apart when made with rudimentary construction techniques.

Art is a language and despite any creative input, the laws of grammar and syntax apply to every language. They may be unique to each one, but all art, even the avant garde art, have intrinsic rulesets and a metagame that is constantly evolving with the times. To simply characterize art as good for being powerfully abstract is dangerously reductive and antithetical to the creative spirit of humanity. Art, in layman's terms that you would understand, is an act of translation of the divine abstract of the human subconsciousness, into the tangible, articulated consciousness that can be understood and preserved throughout all space and time. The most important part of this translation process is the balance between the truest translation of that abstraction, and the most pragmatic utilitarian objectification of that abstraction into a conscious memetic force that has power over our conscious physical reality. To deny one is to falter in the other, to be too abstract is to be alien, but to be too utilitarian and reductive like BAUHAUS, is to lose the soul of all divinity into an abyss of apocalyptic implications, for the effectiveness of information is only as valuable as the creative potentiality of that data. When all data becomes creatively dead, then we shall truly live to see the death of consciousness, and we shall live in a land of the living dead.

That is the path the devil named BAUHAUS will lead you to, kimosabe.

I have to piss like a fucking horse, but if this thread isn't deleted and if you guys really want to know the REAL SHIT (because the bauhaus stuff is pretty much level 1 plebe material for anyone paying attention, its surface level axis) I can start posting exactly why this anon is wrong and why now, more than ever, art is at the most critical stage of human evolution and how giving up on it in favor of apathy now would, quite fucking literally, have ramifications that would end the species, and how this all ties into marketing, stock markets, autonomic intelligence, and the evolution of corporations into neocorporate entities that run on web organizations and how art is CRITICAL, absolutely existentially critical, in us not dying.

Because god damnit you fuckers aggravate me so much with how IGNORANT you are to this shit because its all public fucking information that is changing the fucking WORLD and you're WILLFULLY BLIND TO IT fuck you guys, I need to piss the river styx.

No, your badly painted vagina does NOT represent the plight of middle-eastern dirt farmers. Just shut the fuck up. It represents a fucking VAGINA. That's it. And not even well.

Pic related. I spend DAYS in the sculpture hall, hand carving a whole fucking TREE into a goddam dragon. Every fucking scale chiseled by hand (I ran out of time, thus the unfinished tail). Come the senior "exit gallery", what is my painstaking labor displayed next to? A crude sculpture of a guy sucking himself off.

Fuck artists. Every single one of em. When someone calls me an artist, I get offended. That's the equivalent of calling me a drooling retard.

The Meaning of Art

- The value of art depends on the values of the art critic.
- Most art is born as imitation, not innovation.
- The critic, not the artist, is the one who defines innovation, and rates it.
- The artist is merely a vehicle for the aesthetic/ideology of the critic.
- The critic is the real artist.

The real reason.

 Art is an expression of the self.

Neanderthalic art.

In sculpture even more than painting, Jews display their abysmal lack of talent. To get the attention that their vanity demands, they turn primitive. Here, Jacob Epstein-London gazes thoughtfully upon his disgusting work of a pregnant idiot (1931), which he calls "Genesis" (birth).

Schultze-Naumburg

subsequently wrote such books as Die Kunst der Deutschen. Ihr Wesen und ihre Werke (The art of the Germans. Its nature and its works) and Kunst und Rasse (Art and Race), the latter published in 1928, in which he argued that only racially pure artists could produce a healthy art which upheld timeless ideals of classical beauty, while racially mixed modern artists produced disordered artworks and monstrous depictions of the human form. By reproducing examples of modern art next to photographs of people with deformities and diseases, he graphically reinforced the idea of modernism as a sickness.<sup>[17]</sup> Alfred Rosenberg developed this theory in Der Mythos des 20. Jahrhunderts (Myth of the Twentieth Century),

The family need to be broken down if we're ever going to have Communism or a One World Government.

The Athiest Jews were The architects of Communism in the 1920s. A group at the Frankfurt School developed Critical Theory to convert the West to Communism.

The Frankfurt School plan was to undermine the Christian legacy. They called for the most negative destructive criticism possible of every sphere of life to de-stabilize society and destroy what they saw as the 'oppressive' order. They hoped their policies would spread like a virus--'continuing the work of the Western Marxists. The School recommended:

- 1 The creation of racism offences
- 2 Continual change to create confusion
- 3 The teaching of sex and homosexuality to children
- 4 The undermining of schools' and teachers' authority
- 5 Huge immigration to destroy identity
- 6 The promotion of excessive drinking
- 7 Emptying of churches
- 8 An unreliable legal system with bias against victims of crime
- 9 Creating dependency on the state or state benefits
- 10 Control and dumbing down of media
- 11 Encouraging the breakdown of the family

One of the main ideas of the Frankfurt School was to exploit Freud's idea of 'pansexualism' - the search for pleasure, the exploitation of the differences between the sexes, the overthrowing of traditional relationships between men and women. To further their aims they would:

- attack the authority of the father, deny the specific roles of father and mother, and wrest away from families their rights as primary educators of their children.
- abolish differences in the education of boys and girls
- abolish all forms of male dominance
- declare women to be an 'oppressed class' and men oppressors
